GOVERNOR SMITH of New York is nominated again. The crowd yells, "Al, our next president." Governor Smith replies, "one nomination at a time, please." Everything is done by acclamation.

The loud acclaim of the Democratic nomination contrasts unpleasantly with the pussyfooting that follows in the platform.

NEW YORK Democrats think it would be wise to go into the world court, with ifs and buts, and hope "our participation will promote the elimination of future wars."

That is Democratic silliness. Our participation would promote future wars, Europe relying upon us to finance them.

ALSO, Democrats walk gingerly over the eggs of prohibition, planning a memorial to congress, asking that each state be allowed to determine for itself "what constitutes intoxicating liquor."

REALLY big news ... Paris. An ... and secces ... instead of ... Wood or charcoal, heated in an apparatus attached to the car, provides gas that runs the motor.

A motor bus, carrying 14, using the new power, made a complete circuit of France, 3,280 miles, at a cost of $25. That means travel for one-third of a cent a mile per passenger, which should interest railroad owners.

It is said seriously by responsible ..., that the new fuel will operate a light motor truck for one-fifth the present fuel cost. If the farmer should run out of "gas" he could stop at a woodpile, put a little wood in his cart and be on his way.

One thing is certain—in this or ... other way, human beings will ... ... independent of whale oil by using kerosene, and independent of kerosene by using electric light.

MR. HEBERLEIN discovers in Java "a complete skull of the missing link," called pithecanthropus erectus, which means "monkey-shaped man standing up." That interests intensely the scientists of the Smithsonian institution and you. Pithecanthropus, according to science, is your first name.

IT IS a pity that the skull of our ancient ancestor cannot tell us what life was like in those Javanese jungles when monkey-shaped men hunted big animals and the animals hunted them, when evolution had practically ended in the physical body and was continuing inside the brain.

WE PRAISE the inventor of the sewing machine, steam engine, wireless and airplane. Who invented the sharp flint at the end of a club, giving to weak man a blow stronger than that of a tiger's paw?

Who first lifted a sail to blow a log across the water? What genius first made a bent piece of wood send a sharp arrow through the air, man's first conquest of space?

Watch Star Ball Player Re-produce Games in Classic

"Ruth smacks homer into right field bleachers"—

Or, "Hornsby crashes double down left field line with two on"—No, this is not a world's series forecast, but either event is far from purely imaginative when these two premier clubbers take a whack at the ball in the big games which get under way tomorrow. And the next best thing to actually seeing any such occurrences is to watch them played out on the Review-Tribune's Star Ball Player which will be in operation throughout the series.

On its mechanical baseball board, the Review-Tribune will follow the series through, play by play, for East Liverpool fans, reproducing every detail, insofar as is mechanically possible, from the first pitch to the last out. In addition, there will be provided up-to-the-minute megaphone service from the Star Ball Player platform.

The first game starts tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. The Review-Tribune megaphone service will start at 1:15. Come on, fans, you're all invited!

CREW OF 39 BATTLES AT SEA AGAINST FIRE IN THEIR SHIP'S HOLD

New Britain is Proceeding to Savannah Under Her Own Steam After Desperate Fight to Control Flames, According to Radio Message to Georgia Naval Station.

FIRE STILL BURNING AS VESSEL REPORTS POSITION 230 MILES AWAY

No One is Seriously Hurt, While Steamship Firmore and U. S. S. Chaumont Stand by to Render Aid if Needed, Says Latest Wireless Dispatch From Captain.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 1.—Fearing she may be unable to reach Savannah, the freighter New Britain with fire raging in her hold has decided to try for Charleston, S. C., according to latest radio advices to the government wireless station here today.

"Will try for Charleston but may not be able to make it," the freighter said at 10:30 a. m.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 1.—With the fire in her hold under control after a desperate battle at sea by her crew of 39, the freighter, New Britain was proceeding to Savannah under her own steam today, according to a radio message received by the ... wireless station here.

The latest message from the burning vessel declared that no one was seriously hurt. At 7:30 a. m. today she reported her position at approximately 230 miles from Savannah.

"Fire still burning but under control," the New Britain's message said. "Plates of vessel very hot. Making ten to twelve knots. No one seriously hurt."

Fire Tug Called.

The S. S. Firmore and the U. S. S. Chaumont were standing close by ready to render aid if needed.

The first S. O. S. message from the New Britain was picked up at 4:30 o'clock last night by the Independent wireless company's station at New York. Another message was intercepted by vessels in the vicinity of the burning freighter, and the Firmore immediately went to her assistance.

A fire tug of the Atlantic Towing company was dispatched from Savannah.

The New Britain is a steel freighter, oil burning, of 5174 gross tons. She was built in 1919 by the Downey Shipbuilding company of Arlington, N. J.

Few Registrations Reported Here on Enrollment Day

Less than 50 names, elections officials estimated today, were placed on the registration books in East Liverpool yesterday. In some precincts not even a transfer was issued.

In Cleveland only 23,000 voters qualified on the initial day, by far the lowest figures since women became franchised.

Youngstown reported less than 10 per cent of its potential voters as having registered. The total was 5,267.

Politicians and election officials expressed the opinion that the subsequent registration days—Oct. 7, 15 and 16—will bring out greater numbers.

Potters Will go To Meyers Lake for Outing Next Year

Third annual reunion of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters will be held at Meyers Lake park, Canton, on Saturday, June 11, 1927, the picnic executive committee has decided.

Other amusement centers, who sought to land next year's picnic, were Rock Springs park, Chester; Cascade Park, New Castle, Pa.; Summit Beach Park, Akron; Wheeling Amusement Park, Wheeling, and Idora park, Youngstown. Representatives of the Canton park were the only ones to appear before the committee in person, the other invitations having been received in writing.

Improvements and additions, costing $200,000, including a $50,000 zoo, will be made to the Canton resort before next year's outing, the park management told the Brotherhood representatives. No gate charge will be made for potters who attend the picnic, but all others will be charged 10 cents.

Red Cross Chief Raps Florida Hotel And Realty Men

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. — By minimizing the loss in Florida's hurricane, state officials, including Governor Martin, and real estate operators "have seriously handicapped" the Red Cross in its efforts to provide relief for the storm victims, John Barton Payne, chairman of the Red Cross, declared today in a message to C. C. Pickney, chairman of the Richmond, Va., chapter.

"The poor people who suffered are regarded as of less consequence than the hotel and tourist business of Florida," said Payne.

SUPREME COURT REFUSES TO PREVENT VOTE ON PROPOSED AMENDMENT MODIFYING PRIMARY LAW

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 1.—Secretary of State Thad Brown today began mailing out to election boards all over the state ballots containing the proposed amendment to the Ohio constitution modifying the primary law.

Brown also asked the state board of control today for funds to defray the cost of mailing to 1,500,000 voters printed pamphlets containing arguments for and against the proposed amendment.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 1.—Rebuffed in its efforts to obtain from the supreme court a writ of prohibition to prevent a referendum in the November election on the proposed constitutional amendment modifying Ohio's primary law, the Primary Defense league, headed by John F. Burke, of Elyria, former state senator, was undecided today on its next step in the matter.

"Until I have conferred with Mr. Burke, which probably will be sometime today, I do not know what further action, if any, we will take in the case," James A. White, counsel for the league, said.

"The supreme court late yesterday dismissed the suit brought by Burke to prevent the amendment from going on the November ballot, thus balking, temporarily, at least, the Primary Defense league's efforts to halt the referendum in the forthcoming election. The suit alleged that signatures to the petition for the referendum were obtained by fraud.

Earlier in the day the court heard arguments on the suit, counsel for Secretary of State Thad Brown on whom falls the duty of placing the proposed amendment on the ballot, contending there was insufficient cause shown for issuance of the writ and that the league should have sought remedial action in lower courts. This argument was upheld by the supreme court in its decision.

Regardless, however, of whether the league takes further legal steps, it will continue its efforts to defeat the proposed amendment to the constitution, White declared.

"We immediately will launch a state-wide campaign among the voters against the proposed amendment," White said, "and we feel that when the people are acquainted with the facts it will be overwhelmingly defeated at the polls."

The supreme court's action in dismissing Burke's suit, White stated, disclosed the "necessity for legislation to preclude the possibility of such fraud again being perpetrated."

The fraud charges were based on allegations that signatures were forged to the petitions asking for the referendum.

"And we mean to seek such legislation at the forthcoming session of the general assembly," White said.

Under the existing primary law in Ohio, the voters select nominees at primary elections. The amendment proposes to give the general assembly the right to provide by law for the nomination of all elective officers, but it preserves the right to nominate by petition and if nominations are made by conventions the delegates to the convention shall be chosen by the direct vote of the electors.

There would be no change in the manner of choosing delegates to the national conventions of political parties.

ELYRIA, Oct. 1.—Belief that the voters of Ohio would repudiate the proposed constitutional amendment against the present primary law was expressed here today by J. F. Burke, president of the Primary Defense league, as a result of the supreme court's action in permitting the referendum to go on the ballot at the November election.

Few Registrations Reported Here on Enrollment Day

Less than 50 names, elections officials estimated today, were placed on the registration books in East Liverpool yesterday. In some precincts not even a transfer was issued.

In Cleveland only 23,000 voters qualified on the initial day, by far the lowest figures since women became franchised.

Youngstown reported less than 10 per cent of its potential voters as having registered. The total was 5,267.

Politicians and election officials expressed the opinion that the subsequent registration days—Oct. 7, 15 and 16—will bring out greater numbers.

Potters Will go To Meyers Lake for Outing Next Year

Third annual reunion of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters will be held at Meyers Lake park, Canton, on Saturday, June 11, 1927, the picnic executive committee has decided.

Other amusement centers, who sought to land next year's picnic, were Rock Springs park, Chester; Cascade Park, New Castle, Pa.; Summit Beach Park, Akron; Wheeling Amusement Park, Wheeling, and Idora park, Youngstown. Representatives of the Canton park were the only ones to appear before the committee in person, the other invitations having been received in writing.

Improvements and additions, costing $200,000, including a $50,000 zoo, will be made to the Canton resort before next year's outing, the park management told the Brotherhood representatives. No gate charge will be made for potters who attend the picnic, but all others will be charged 10 cents.

SUPREME COURT REFUSES TO PREVENT VOTE ON PROPOSED AMENDMENT MODIFYING PRIMARY LAW

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 1.—Secretary of State Thad Brown today began mailing out to election boards all over the state ballots containing the proposed amendment to the Ohio constitution modifying the primary law.

Brown also asked the state board of control today for funds to defray the cost of mailing to 1,500,000 voters printed pamphlets containing arguments for and against the proposed amendment.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 1.—Rebuffed in its efforts to obtain from the supreme court a writ of prohibition to prevent a referendum in the November election on the proposed constitutional amendment modifying Ohio's primary law, the Primary Defense league, headed by John F. Burke, of Elyria, former state senator, was undecided today on its next step in the matter.

"Until I have conferred with Mr. Burke, which probably will be sometime today, I do not know what further action, if any, we will take in the case," James A. White, counsel for the league, said.

"The supreme court late yesterday dismissed the suit brought by Burke to prevent the amendment from going on the November ballot, thus balking, temporarily, at least, the Primary Defense league's efforts to halt the referendum in the forthcoming election. The suit alleged that signatures to the petition for the referendum were obtained by fraud.

Earlier in the day the court heard arguments on the suit, counsel for Secretary of State Thad Brown on whom falls the duty of placing the proposed amendment on the ballot, contending there was insufficient cause shown for issuance of the writ and that the league should have sought remedial action in lower courts. This argument was upheld by the supreme court in its decision.

Regardless, however, of whether the league takes further legal steps, it will continue its efforts to defeat the proposed amendment to the constitution, White declared.

"We immediately will launch a state-wide campaign among the voters against the proposed amendment," White said, "and we feel that when the people are acquainted with the facts it will be overwhelmingly defeated at the polls."

The supreme court's action in dismissing Burke's suit, White stated, disclosed the "necessity for legislation to preclude the possibility of such fraud again being perpetrated."

The fraud charges were based on allegations that signatures were forged to the petitions asking for the referendum.

"And we mean to seek such legislation at the forthcoming session of the general assembly," White said.

Under the existing primary law in Ohio, the voters select nominees at primary elections. The amendment proposes to give the general assembly the right to provide by law for the nomination of all elective officers, but it preserves the right to nominate by petition and if nominations are made by conventions the delegates to the convention shall be chosen by the direct vote of the electors.

There would be no change in the manner of choosing delegates to the national conventions of political parties.

ELYRIA, Oct. 1.—Belief that the voters of Ohio would repudiate the proposed constitutional amendment against the present primary law was expressed here today by J. F. Burke, president of the Primary Defense league, as a result of the supreme court's action in permitting the referendum to go on the ballot at the November election.

Red Cross Chief Raps Florida Hotel And Realty Men

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. — By minimizing the loss in Florida's hurricane, state officials, including Governor Martin, and real estate operators "have seriously handicapped" the Red Cross in its efforts to provide relief for the storm victims, John Barton Payne, chairman of the Red Cross, declared today in a message to C. GOVERNOR SMITH of New York is nominated again. The crowd yells, "Al, our next president." Governor Smith replies, "one nomination at a time, please." Everything is done by acclamation.

The loud acclaim of the Democratic nomination contrasts unpleasantly with the pussyfooting that follows in the platform.

NEW YORK Democrats think it would be wise to go into the world court, with ifs and buts, and hope "our participation will promote the elimination of future wars."

That is Democratic silliness. Our participation would promote future wars, Europe relying upon us to finance them.

ALSO, Democrats walk gingerly over the eggs of prohibition, planning a memorial to congress, asking that each state be allowed to determine for itself "what constitutes intoxicating liquor."

REALLY big news
Paris. An

Wood or charcoal, heated in an apparatus attached to the car, provides gas that runs the motor.

A motor bus, carrying 14, using the new power, made a complete circuit of France, 3,280 miles, at a cost of $15. That means travel for one-third of a cent a mile per passenger, which should interest railroad owners.

IT IS said seriously, by responsible people, that the new fuel will operate a light motor truck for one-fifth the present fuel cost. If the farmer should run out of "gas" he could stop at a woodpile, put a little wood in his hopper and be on his way.

One thing is certain—in this or some other way, human beings will gasoline supply selves independent of whale oil by using kerosene, and independent of kerosene by using electric light.

MR. HEBERLEIN discovers in Java "a complete skull of the missing link," called pithecanthropus erectus, which means "monkey-shaped man standing up." That interests intensely the scientists of the Smithsonian institution and you. Pithecanthropus, according to science, is your first name.

IT IS a pity that the skull of our ancient ancestor cannot tell us what life was like in those Javanese jungles when monkey-shaped men hunted big animals and the animals hunted them, when evolution had practically ended in the physical body and was continuing inside the brain.

WE PRAISE the inventor of the sewing machine, steam engine, wireless and airplane. Who invented the sharp flint at the end of a club, giving to weak man a blow stronger than that of a tiger's paw?

Who first lifted a sail to blow a log across the water? What genius first made a bent piece of wood send a sharp arrow through the air, man's first conquest of space?

MARINE CORPS OFFICER DIES AS AUTO GOES OFF PIER END

"Cocktail Party" Trial Defendant Accident Victim.

TRAPPED IN CAR

Swerving Machine Plunges Into San Francisco Bay.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1.—Colonel Alexander Williams, marine corps officer, was drowned here early today when his car plunged from the end of a pier.

Witnesses saw the car as it ed down the embarcadero, re its way through the curbg and plunged into the bay. hey said the machine was traveling at a fast rate of speed and swerving in an alarming fashion.

Car Was Spee

Police were immedi notified and the car was raised in a few hours. Colonel Gi was trapped in the enclosed car and had no chance to escape.

Joseph McFarland, a night watchman, told officers that he saw the car driven by Colonel Williams as it sped along the waterfront. He said the machine was going at a fast rate and was swerving.

"I next heard the brakes on the machine squealing," he said, "but the driver was unable to bring the machine under control. It leaned as it plunged over the railing."

Wife Indentifies Body.

Colonel Williams' wife identified the body at the city morgue a short time after police succeeded in raising the car from the bay.

But little information could be found concerning just how Colonel Williams met his death. His wife said that he called her on the telephone about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and told her he was to have dinner with friends. She said he called again about 9 o'clock and said that he was having a good time but would be home early.

PACKET, SENATOR CORDILL, SINKS IN KANAWHA RIVER NEAR GALLIPOLIS

Cargo Escapes Damage, While Loss to Craft is Covered by Insurance.

GALLIPOLIS, O., Oct. 1.—The packet Senator Cordill plying between Pittsburgh, Pa., and Charleston, W. Va., was resting on the bottom of the Kanawha river near here today after striking a pipe line and sinking in 20 feet of water last night.

The crew and a half dozen passengers took to small boats and landed safely on shore.

Captain M. O. Irwin was in command of the steamer which is owned by the Shippers' Packet company of Pittsburgh and is valued at $75,000.

Cincinnati divers will try to raise the ship.

One of the Green line steamers will be placed in the Pittsburgh-Charleston trade while the Cordill is in dry dock undergoing repairs.

Watch Star Ball Player Re-produce Games in Classic

"Ruth smacks homer into right field bleachers"—

Or, "Hornsby crashes double down left field line with two on"—No, this is not a world's series forecast, but either event is far from purely imaginative when these two premier clubbers take a whack at the ball in the big games which get under way tomorrow. And the next best thing to actually seeing any such occurrences is to watch them played out on the Review-Tribune's Star Ball Player which will be in operation throughout the series.

On its mechanical baseball board, the Review-Tribune will follow the series through, play by play, for East Liverpool fans, reproducing every detail, insofar as is mechanically possible, from the first pitch to the last out. In addition, there will be provided up-to-the-minute megaphone service from the Star Ball Player platform.

The first game starts tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. The Review-Tribune megaphone service will start at 1:15. Come on, fans, you're all invited!

Governor Says State's Jails Are Out of Date.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—Florida's increasing number of convict escapes from state road camps, the state prison at Raiford and by prisoners being taken from one place to another has resulted in a quiet but intensive investigation of the state's penal system by official and private sources which may lead to revolutionization of Florida's prison methods.

Very few days pass when an escape of one or more prisoners is reported from one of the Florida road camps maintained at several points, from county and city jails or even from courtrooms.

The prisoners for the main part are not classified as desperadoes, but many of them have been incarcerated for serious crimes. Most of the escaped prisoners are recaptured and returned to imprisonment, but the state prison bureau has records of scores who apparently have dropped off this planet completely.

Cause of Probe.

The recent escape of Joe Tracy, notorious killer, robber and underworld Lothario centered the attention of the state on the prison situation. Tracy who had been confined at Raiford penitentiary since his sentence to life imprisonment for killing a negro taxi driver was released in custody of prison guards and his attorney on his promise to unearth $130,000 worth of stolen bonds.

After a meandering course over central Florida in which he led his captors from one city to another Tracy made an easy escape, and despite a statewide scrutiny of all possible hiding places has not been heard from.

The investigation immediately started to determine responsibility for the escape of Tracy and one of his captors was dismissed from the state service. J. S. Blitch, superintendent of the state farm at Raiford was ordered not to allow prisoners to leave the penitentiary unless he was sure their guards were competent to prevent escapes.

Reports from Moore Haven that prisoners were allowed to leave the prison farm without guards for visits to relatives resulted in another investigation which ended in more strict rules being placed in effect.

Prison Out of Date.

Several newspapers began private investigations of the numerous escapes and the Tampa Times in a series of articles entitled, "What is wrong with our state prison? Can't we prevent prisoners from escaping?" discovered that fifteen guards, eight on duty during the day and seven at night watch over 900 prisoners.

Governor John Martin in a letter to the Times described the Raiford prison as hopelessly out of date.

"Some of the walls could be kicked out by prisoners to escape, and only the honor system keeps more prisoners from leaving," Governor asserted.

Bloodhounds and trusted convicts who have extensive knowledge of the countryside near Raiford bring back many of the escaped prisoners, in fact the number of escaped prisoners who are recaptured is exceptionally high, accentuating the Governor's statement that only the morale of the prison keeps the number of escapes lower than it might be.

Look for the Best, Expect the Worst, Weatherman's Tip

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Woe, ye baseball fans, if you're not careful, the weather man will get you.

He issued a bulletin today, warning one and all that they might hope for the best but must expect the worst when the opening game of the world series is played tomorrow. The forecast called for probable showers tomorrow, with slightly rising temperature and moderate winds.

However, the same forecast demanded partly cloudy skies and possibly light showers today. And the sun was shining this morning.

Sir Jagadis Base, a Hindu plant specialist, tells of a "praying plant" that each evening postrates itself about the hour that the temple bells calls the people to prayer. The plant is like a tree and twice the height of a man, it is said.

Says Cat's Eyes Tell Time.

The Abbie Huc, one of the first Europeans to explore China and Thibet, maintains that the Chinese can tell approximate time by looking at a cat's eyes. He explains that as the noon hour approaches the cat's pupils are drawn more perpendicular, dilating gradually as the afternoon wears on.

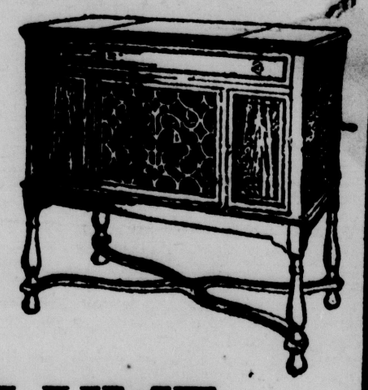
Now every NEW EDISON is a FULL VOLUME Instrument



THOMAS A. EDISON has given owners of the New Edison all the advantages of his marvelous FULL VOLUME invention for the insignificant cost of a mere accessory. Your New Edison is just as modern as any phonograph; in fact, it is a distinct advancement—two phonographs in one. Living room and ball room volume! Variety, versatility, untiring charm! Your New Edison is twice as entertaining, twice as useful.

The transformation from modulated Re-Creation to FULL VOLUME is made as easily as changing a record. You're playing a snappy dance number for the bunch. Eager young feet are just "rarin' to go"—but you've found out before that the usual phonograph music hasn't volume enough to drown out the shuffling of feet—then you remember the DANCE ATTACHMENT—it takes just two shakes to slip it on in place of the regular reproducer. Oh boy! Hear that orchestra zipping it up, get that saxophone duet, listen to the traps, and can't that fellow pick a mean banjo?

You actually forget all about the Edison—you've got the orchestra right in your home. Let joy be unconfined. You can't lose this music. Stocks With Big Returns

The glib-tongued stranger who assures you that if you buy his stock you will make a hundred per cent on your money is always a cheat. Your friends who believe some new stock will pay 10 to 12 or 15 per cent, or even more, and who urge you to invest, in however good faith, are usually wrong. Stock which promises big returns is nearly always shaky. There isn't any such thing as a combination of safety and high return.

Where there seems to be safety combined with high return, as in the case of old reliable public service companies, always quoted by the salesman, the fact is that such stocks are sold in the market at a price so much above par that the returns on the investment are not far above the common levels of income.

It is true that there are new inventions, and that these sometimes pay beyond wild dreams. But they are always a gamble. If one has a safe income and money to throw away besides, it may be all right to take a chance on such stuff. But for the man of family on moderate salary, for the widow and the orphan, they are full of danger.

The world is full of good investments, safe ones, paying moderately but continuously. If you have money to invest, ask your banker. Ask him about the stock urged by your friend or by the stranger with the promises. It is one of the things bankers are for, to help with such advice.

The banker might possibly make a mistake; but he is to your money what the doctor is to your health. He has training, and facilities for knowing the truth not possessed by the ordinary citizen. You stand a hundred to one chance on his advice, and probably one to a hundred on the adyice of the other fellow.

Insects Against Insects

Science is setting insects to kill insects. Thus is man's worst enemy dealth with most unsuccessfully by craft.

Insects are by far the most numerous creatures in the world. Some modern thinkers have feared that eventually they would dominate the earth, exterminating the higher forms of life, including man. That might conceivably be done by destroying man's food supply. Such a fate has seemed more menacing since the notable diminution in the number of birds, which formerly kept insects under better control.

Encouraging the multiplication of birds is an obvious help, in this everlasting warfare against destructive insects, and much progress is being made now in that direction. But perhaps the ingenious use of insects to kill off each other offers still greater possibilities.

One of the latest uses of this strategy is in the protecting of the cocoanut supply. It has been discovered that a certain caterpillar which has been ravaging the cocoanut palms in various parts of the world falls an easy prey to a certain savage fly discovered in the Malay states. The fly has been identified and named by a specialist of the Smithsonian Institute at Washington. Recently it was introduced in the Fiji Islands, and is now fighting man's battle against palm caterpillars there.

For every destructive insect there seems to be some other kind of insect to destroy the destroyer. Man, with dominion over the insects as well as the animals, turns them more and more to his own purposes.

Have Yo u Flopped?

The husband of a college woman writes in her alumnae magazine:

"Gradually is borne in upon the husband the fact that women who have been to college 'flop' less quickly than their average sisters, and occasionally don't flop at all. By 'flop' he means abandon all the curiosity that was theirs when they were young, their interest in letters, sociology, science, or whatever in the beginning thrilled them because it was larger than they were or ever could be. He finds every now and then that this curiosity and the desire which accompanies it, to be allied to something which has no age and which is impersonally enormous, is still alive in her; and he realizes that had she not been to college she might never have known that it existed."

This is not only a rather a keen tribute to the effect of college upon a woman. It bears in itself an answer to the question now so often being asked: "What is education?" The answer would be: "Education is the power of arousing undying curiosity and interest in things bigger than the inquirer."

The more one considers that definition, the more powerful and comprehensive it becomes. One need add to it not even any moral or spiritual appendant. For out of definite and permanent interest and curiosity about great things must needs arise the desire for altruism and self-control.

Nor is college, while useful indeed, necessary. Anyone who can arouse in himself that permanent spirit of interest and inquiry will at length perforce become educated.

"I did it for my childen," said Mrs. Corsen. After which may be expected a national children's chorus: "Mother, please swim the channel for us!"

"How Smart Are Your Children?" asks the American Magazine. Well, so-so. Just plain, average children. Only a trifle lighter than the children next door.

Mickey (Himself) McGuire— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Thoughts while strolling: What became of lady barbers? Otto Harbach, the wealthy librettist. The library needs a sand blasting. Red faced traffic cops bawling out pedestrians and autoists. A little snow and it's like Russia.

That giddy tower on the building where Delmonico's stood. Matinee girls gorging rose-tinted ices. And starry-eyed with romance. A seedy operatic tenor of other days. With his coat collar turned up. What has become of quince preserves?

The dull foggy heat that presages winter. The town is overrun with stage twins. Who do nothing but be twins. That sudden stiffening at a fire wagon siren. A horse plunges. Helen Gold's home is open for the winter.

Those "rangy" girls who carry canes. Eddie Cantor and his children. Why do they play "Sidewalks of New York" when they show Al Smith on the screen? Those lean, clipped clubmen with gray-touched temples. Who eye the world coldly.

More skyscrapers with step-ladder tops. A cafe asks for New York's eve reservations now. Anyway the weekend season is over. Rea Irvin, the artist. A Chinese restaurant called the Hongkong Honk. The cheerful legless news dealer at 42nd street.

Wish those rubberneck wagon barkers would learn to pronounce Greenwich Village. A pair of Angora chaps in a pawnshop window. Some cowboy visited a night club. The Broadway eating place with the electric sign: "Ladies? Yes." Which, I suppose, means ladies are welcome.

Three swimming schools in a block—the Ederle influence. Tire rollers along Auto Row. The bearded old man who often sits on the Broadway tabernacle steps reading a Bible. And they're digging a new hole in Columbus Circle. The actors in front of Lindy's.

A well dressed man walked up to a ticket seller in Grand Central and asked for a ticket to Saranac Lake.

"Round trip?" inquired the agent briskly.

The patron swayed just a little, then straightened up and in a voice a trifle thick replied, "No thanks—just one way"—and passed through the train gates.

There is a waggish comedian whose wife shifted her affection to another and he remains desolate and unconsolable. He wanders about the streets at night alone, dropping into this night club and that, resting his head in his hands at a table for a few moments and passing on. He makes others laugh while he is usually on the verge of tears. The other night a friend tried to buck him up. When he finished, the comedian said: "I know it is foolish and there is nothing that can be done about it. I must keep on clowning and try to forget. But if ever a great grief comes to you, try to make everybody laugh—and you'll get the idea." And somehow I believe he is facing the world's most difficult task.

This same comedian had cut into the grape one night to lighten his woes. Next midday he was at breakfast slightly disheveled. After holding his head in his hands awhile he looked up and groaned: "This headache was made for a horse."

A theatre seat will soon cost as much as a fight ticket for those who will pay. But there is a trick in it—a publicity catch. Recently one opening had quite a number of tickets plainly marked $100.00. These were seats occupied by dramatic critics. A few extra were printed in case of suckers and three suckers bit. The average price for an opening night is $11 a seat, which is about $7 to much.

DENIED AT HEADQUARTERS

Bill Hanley is almost as well known at Republican national conventions as he is in his native state of Oregon, where, between running two of the biggest ranches to be found in all the Northwest, he exercises his gifts of organization and leadership in politics. Some years ago he had working for him a ranch-hand who was popularly regarded as a half-wit. Hanley figured, though, that the man had exactly the sort of mentality which suited him for ministering to the wants and whims of young calves and kept him on the payroll.

There came a day when the deficient-minded one disappeared while at work on a range in desolate Rawhide Canyon, sixty miles from anywhere at all. When he failed to return the theory was advanced, and accepted, that the missing man had frozen to death in a storm.

Months later, Mr. Hanley, coming out of his office on the main street of the Town of Burns, was astonished to behold the supposedly deceased approaching him. As they clasped hands he said:

"Jim, I'm delighted to find you are still alive and well. They told me you were dead. I didn't believe it at first but I kept hearing it so often I finally decided it must be true. I'm glad to know it was all a lie."

"Huh," grunted the restored one, "Why, Mister Hanley, I knowed it was a lie the very first time I heard it."

Chemistry on the Farm.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 1.—The destruction of perishable material by bacteria, molds, yeast and fungi, by enzymes and insects, by oxidation and other destructive agencies, occasions the American farmer a loss of several billions of dollars each year, according to Dr. C. A. Browne, chief of the United States Bureau of Chemistry. The reduction of such losses which occur from the spoilage of fruits, vegetables, foods, feeds, farm fabrics, timber, and other products is one of the fields in which the chemist can render inestimable service to agriculture.

In fact, the chemist is the main reliance of the farmer in the elimination of these losses, or in minimizing them. New insecticides, new fungicides, and new preservative agencies must be discovered. There must be better knowledge of conditions which promote decay, and of means for controlling and correcting those conditions.

"The spoilage of agriculture products by the attacks of microorganisms offers an almost endless number of problems to the chemist," says Dr. Browne. "The souring of milk, the moulding of bread, the swelling of canned goods, the heating of cattle feeds, the rotting of fruits, the fermenting of sirups, and the decay of timber are all phases of the same general destructive process called deterioration.

"This process may proceed so slowly as to be barely noticeable from one day to the next, or it may proceed so rapidly as to cause a haystack to catch fire spontaneously and burn to the ground.

"The chemical transformations which take place in these different processes of deterioration are very imperfectly understood, and there is a wealth of opportunities in this field for valuable chemical research upon the nature of the destructive changes produced and the means for their prevention."

An Enormous Opportunity.

In fact, the chemist has an enormous opportunity in agriculture, this government expert tells the students of chemistry who may be interested in learning something of the problems they will encounter and what it is possible for them to accomplish if they decide to pursue their careers in an agricultural direction.

From the feeding of the growing plant and animal to the reduction of the costly destruction, spoilages, and deteriorations in products of agricultural origin and the conversion to useful human purposes of agricultnal

Where there seems to be safety combined with high return, as in the case of old reliable public service companies, always quoted by the salesman, the fact is that such stocks are sold in the market at a price so much above par that the returns on the investment are not far above the common levels of income.

It is true that there are new inventions, and that these sometimes pay beyond wild dreams. But they are always a gamble. If one has a safe income and money to throw away besides, it may be all right to take a chance on such stuff. But for the man of family on moderate salary, for the widow and the orphan, they are full of danger.

The world is full of good investments, safe ones, paying moderately but continuously. If you have money to invest, ask your banker. Ask him about the stock urged by your friend or by the stranger with the promises. It is one of the things bankers are for, to help with such advice.

The banker might possibly make a mistake; but he is to your money what the doctor is to your health. He has training, and facilities for knowing the truth not possessed by the ordinary citizen. You stand a hundred to one chance on his advice, and probably one to a hundred on the advice of the other fellow.

Insects Against Insects

Science is setting insects to kill insects. Thus is man's worst enemy dealth with most unsuccessfully by craft.

Insects are by far the most numerous creatures in the world. Some modern thinkers have feared that eventually they would dominate the earth, exterminating the higher forms of life, including man. That might conceivably be done by destroying man's food supply. Such a fate has seemed more menacing since the notable diminution in the number of birds, which formerly kept insects under better control.

Encouraging the multiplication of birds is an obvious help, in this everlasting warfare against destructive insects, and much progress is being made now in that direction. But perhaps the ingenious use of insects to kill off each other offers still greater possibilities.

One of the latest uses of this strategy is in the protecting of the cocoanut supply. It has been discovered that a certain caterpillar which has been ravaging the cocoanut palms in various parts of the world falls an easy prey to a certain savage fly discovered in the Malay states. The fly has been identified and named by a specialist of the Smithsonian Institute at Washington. Recently it was introduced in the Fiji Islands, and is now fighting man's battle against palm caterpillars there.

For every destructive insect there seems to be some other kind of insect to destroy the destroyer. Man, with dominion over the insects as well as the animals, turns them more and more to his own purposes.

Have Yo u Flopped?

The husband of a college woman writes in her alumnae magazine:

"Gradually is borne in upon the husband the fact that women who have been to college 'flop' less quickly than their average sisters, and occasionally don't flop at all. By 'flop' he means abandon all the curiosity that was theirs when they were young, their interest in letters, sociology, science, or whatever in the beginning thrilled them because it was larger than they were or ever could be. He finds every now and then that this curiosity and the desire which accompanies it, to be allied to something which has no age and which is impersonally enormous, is still alive in her; and he realizes that had she not been to college she might never have known that it existed."

This is not only a rather a keen tribute to the effect of college upon a woman. It bears in itself an answer to the question now so often being asked: "What is education?" The answer would be: "Education is the power of arousing undying curiosity and interest in things bigger than the inquirer."

The more one considers that definition, the more powerful and comprehensive it becomes. One need add to it not even any moral or spiritual appendant. For out of definite and permanent interest and curiosity about great things must needs arise the desire for altruism and self-control.

Nor is college, while useful indeed, necessary. Anyone who can arouse in himself that permanent spirit of interest and inquiry will at length perforce become educated.

"I did it for my childen," said Mrs. Corsen. After which may be expected a national children's chorus: "Mother, please swim the channel for us!"

"How Smart Are Your Children?" asks the American Magazine. Well, so-so. Just plain, average children. Only a trifle lighter than the children next door.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Thoughts while strolling: What became of lady barbers? Otto Harbach, the wealthy librettist. The library needs a sand blasting. Red faced traffic cops bawling out pedestrians and autoists. A little snow and it's like Russia.

That giddy tower on the building where Delmonico's stood. Matinee girls gorging rose-tinted ices. And starry-eyed with romance. A seedy operatic tenor of other days. With his coat collar turned up. What has become of quince preserves?

The dull foggy heat that presages winter. The town is overrun with stage twins. Who do nothing but be twins. That sudden stiffening at a fire wagon siren. A horse plunges. Helen Gold's home is open for the winter.

Those "rangy" girls who carry canes. Eddie Cantor and his children. Why do they play "Sidewalks of New [illegible] on the screen? Those lean, clipped clubmen with gray-touched temples. Who eye the world coldly.

More skyscrapers with step-ladder tops. A cafe asks for New York's eve reservations now. Anyway the weekend season is over. Rea Irvin, the artist. A Chinese restaurant called the Hongkong Honk. The cheerful legless news dealer at 42nd street.

Wish those rubberneck wagon barkers would learn to pronounce Greenwich Village. A pair of Angora chaps in a pawnshop window. Some cowboy visited a night club. The Broadway eating place with the electric sign: "Ladies? Yes." Which, I suppose, means ladies are welcome.

Three swimming schools in a block—the Ederle influence. Tire rollers along Auto Row. The bearded old man who often sits on the Broadway tabernacle steps reading a Bible. And they're digging a new hole in Columbus Circle. The actors in front of Lindy's.

A well dressed man walked up to a ticket seller in Grand Central and asked for a ticket to Saranac Lake.

"Round trip?" inquired the agent briskly.

The patron swayed just a little, then straightened up and in a voice a trifle thick replied, "No thanks—just one way"—and passed through the train gates.

There is a waggish comedian whose wife shifted her affection to another and he remains desolate and unconsolable. He wanders about the streets at night alone, dropping into this night club and that, resting his head in his hands at a table for a few moments and passing on. He makes others laugh while he is usually on the verge of tears. The other night a friend tried to buck him up. When he finished, the comedian said: "I know it is foolish and there is nothing that can be done about it. I must keep on clowning and try to forget. But if ever a great grief comes to you, try to make everybody laugh—and you'll get the idea." And somehow I believe he is facing the world's most difficult task.

This same comedian had cut into the grape one night to lighten his woes. Next midday he was at breakfast slightly disheveled. After holding his head in his hands awhile he looked up and groaned: "This headache was made for a horse."

A theatre seat will soon cost as much as a fight ticket for those who will pay. But there is a trick in it—a publicity catch. Recently one opening had quite a number of tickets plainly marked $100.00. These were seats occupied by dramatic critics. A few extra were printed in case of suckers and three suckers bit. The average price for an opening night is $11 a seat, which is about $7 too much.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Chemistry on the Farm.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 1.—The destruction of perishable material by bacteria, molds, yeast and fungi, by enzymes and insects, by oxidation and other destructive agencies, occasions the American farmer a loss of several billions of dollars each year, according to Dr. C. A. Browne, chief of the United States Bureau of Chemistry. The reduction of such losses which occur from the spoilage of fruits, vegetables, foods, feeds, farm fabrics, timber, and other products is one of the fields in which the chemist can render inestimable service to agriculture.

In fact, the chemist is the main reliance of the farmer in the elimination of these losses, or in minimizing them. New insecticides, new fungicides, and new preservative agencies must be discovered. There must be better knowledge of conditions which promote decay, and of means for controlling and correcting those conditions.

"The spoilage of agriculture products by the attacks of microorganisms offers an almost endless number of problems to the chemist," says Dr. Browne. "The souring of milk, the moulding of bread, the swelling of canned goods, the heating of cattle feeds, the rotting of fruits, the fermenting of sirups, and the decay of timber are all phases of the same general destructive process called deterioration.

"This process may proceed so slowly as to be barely noticeable from one day to the next, or it may proceed so rapidly as to cause a haystack to catch fire spontaneously and burn to the ground.

"The chemical transformations which take place in these different processes of deterioration are very imperfectly understood, and there is a wealth of opportunities in this field for valuable chemical research upon the nature of the destructive changes produced and the means for their prevention."

An Enormous Opportunity.

In fact, the chemist has an enormous opportunity in agriculture, this government expert tells the students of chemistry who may be interested in learning something of the problems they will encounter and what it is possible for them to accomplish if they decide to pursue their careers in an agricultural direction.

From the feeding of the growing plant and animal to the reduction of the costly destruction, spoilages, and deteriorations in products of agricultural origin and the conversion to useful human purposes of agricultural

DENIED AT HEADQUARTERS

Bill Hanley is almost as well known at Republican national conventions as he is in his native state of Oregon, where, between running two of the biggest ranches to be found in all the Northwest, he exercises his gifts of organization and leadership in politics. Some years ago he had working for him a ranch-hand who was popularly regarded as a half-wit. Hanley figured, though, that the man had exactly the sort of mentality which suited him for ministering to the wants and whims of young calves and kept him on the payroll.

There came a day when the deficient-minded one disappeared while at work on a range in desolate Rawhide Canyon, sixty miles from anywhere at all. When he failed to return the theory was advanced, and accepted, that the missing man had frozen to death in a storm.

Months later, Mr. Hanley, coming out of his office on the main street of the Town of Burns, was astonished to behold the supposedly deceased approaching him. As they clasped hands he said:

"Jim, I'm delighted to find you are still alive and well. They told me you were dead. I didn't believe it at first but I kept hearing it so often I finally decided it must be true. I'm glad to know it was all a lie."

"Huh," grunted the restored one, "Why, Mister Hanley, I knowed it was a lie the very first time I heard it."

Fashions Latest For Fall

Charming Coats

Which Reflect the Smartest Fall Modes

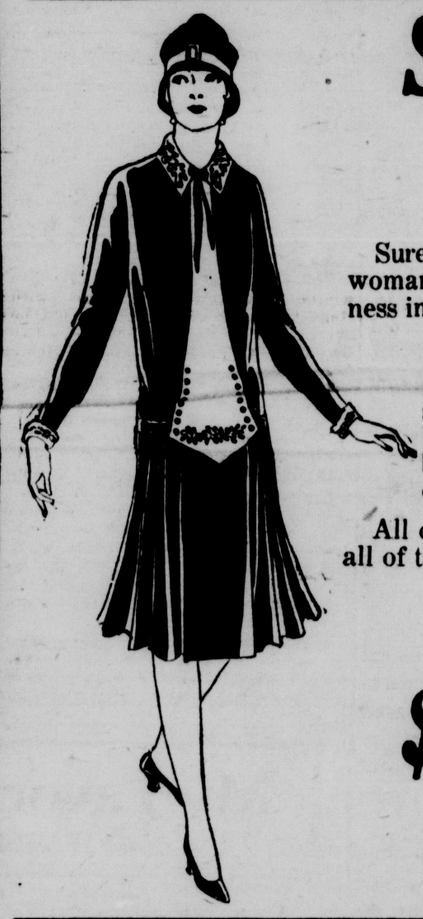
One needs but to look through this complete showing to know what the favored coat styles are for the present season. There are Dolman types, straightline coats, bloused effects, belted types with set in sleeves and deep cut arm holes.

Many coats are lavishly trimmed with fur while others show fur only on collars and cuffs.

SPORT COATS

Are now on display in all of the beatuiful fabrics in Fall's Smartest Colors.

$14.50, $27.50 and $37.50



Smart Frocks

VARIED IN STYLE AND COLORS

Surely with such variety to select from here, every woman will be able to satisfy her desire for smartness in dress.

There are the novelty bloused type—Boleros are prominent, Dolman sleeves and contrasting fabric effects are featured — sleeves show fullness at elbow, fancy cuffs or turned back flares and many with deeply cut armholes. Most necklines are collared in a variety of high and low effects.

All of the favored dress fabrics are to be seen in all of the smartest shades of the new season.

Three Priced Group:

$9.50, $17.50 and $27.50

CURTAINS

The Ohio Bell Telephone Company

NO ACCIDENT MONTH POSTER

D. H. MORRIS
CHAIRMAN

The Ohio Bell Telephone company today launched an accident prevention campaign among its employees. It was announced by Frank Swaney, commercial manager in charge of the local exchange.

It is the intention to make every month starting with October a "no accident month," according to Swaney. Meetings of employees will be held in every exchange in Ohio Bell territory. Causes of accidents will be analyzed and methods of prevention discussed. The slogan will be "Exercise Care, Eliminate Carelessness." The telephone workers will be urged to carry out the principles of this slogan in private as well as business life.

"We are constantly reading in the newspapers about people killed or injured in accidents," said Swaney. "Of course, many accidents are unavoidable. But an analysis of the causes of most of them usually show that they would not have occurred if proper care had been used. That is the point we want to bring home to our people. The taking of an unnecessary chance often proves fatal.

"Many Ohio Bell employees are proficient in first-aid work. First-aid is part of their training. But the less this proficiency is needed, the better it will be."

The accident prevention campaign will be in charge of D. H. Morris, assistant to the president of The Ohio Bell Telephone company.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The resources of our free Information Bureau are at your service. You are invited to call upon it as often as you please. It is being maintained by the Review-Tribune solely to serve you. What question can we answer for you? There is no charge at all except two cents in stamps for return postage. Address your letter to the East Liverpool Review-Tribune Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Washington, D. C.

Q. I have a heifer about eighteen months old which has large warts on her head and under her neck. Can you tell me a remedy for this?—W. B.

A. Warts on cattle may be removed by softening with oil, then twisting off the growth or snipping them off with scissors. Paint with tincture of iodine if they appear again.

Q. Is there any monument at the grave of Ann Rutledge, Lincoln's sweetheart?—M. S. L.

A. Recently the descendants of those who were intimately acquainted with Abraham Lincoln when he lived at New Salem, replaced the crude stone marking Ann Rutledge's grave, with a more elaborate one. The new monument is made of dark Quincy granite and is inscribed with verses from Edgar Lee Masters' "Ann Rutledge."

Q. Is there any scenario? It must be a producing company that will accept the outside world?—G. B.

A. It is practically impossible for an amateur to sell a scenario. Most of the motion picture producing companies maintain their own staffs of writers.

Q. Is it possible for the complete petrification of a tree to take place during the life of an individual?—W. E. McD.

A. The forest Service says that the petrification of wood takes hundreds of years. It, therefore, is not possible for a complete petrification to take place during the lifetime of an individual.

Q. Have Hungarian bonds of 1892 any value?—F. A. M.

A. The Hungarian bonds dated 1892 matured in 1910. If they were not paid at that time it is unlikely that they will be paid now.

Q. Can pewter be mended?—A. C. C

A. An expert in metals says that pewter can be mended, but as the melting point is extremely low it requires careful handling by a skilled worker.

Q. Two years ago last July I saw from the Boston-Yarmouth boat several whales when about four hours or so out of Boston. Every time I mention the incident I meet with incredulity. Will you tell me if there are ever whales in that region?—E. N. S.

A. An authority on whales in the National Museum says that the finback whale is seen frequently in the waters between Boston and Yarmouth, Nova Scotia.

Q. What country in the world has the greatest number of telephones?—J.

A. The United States leads the world in the number of telephones per hundred of population. Canada comes next. The latter stands first in the number of miles of telephone and telegraph wires per hundred of population, the latest compilation showing 3.4 miles per hundred.

Q. Please advise me why the city of Chicago is so named?—J. S. M.

A "Chicago" is an Anglicized form of the Indian word "she gahg" originally meaning skunk, but whose uses were intended so as to make it a synonym for "strong," "pungent," "mighty." It was applied to the wild onion, to a line of Indian chiefs, to thunder, and among other rivers to that which runs through the present city of Chicago. In this case the name was not meant as a tribute to the magnitude of this stream, but merely commemorated the tradition that one of the she gahg chiefs had at some remote period been drowned in its waters.

Q. Will you please tell me something of Lake Nipissing? N. Van H.

A. Lake Nipissing is between Lake Huron and the Ottawa River. It is irregular in shape, its greatest length being 55 miles and the maximum breadth about 28 miles. It contains numerous islands and supports many different kinds of fish.

residues which are now largely waste, all along the line in agriculture every wheer the agricultural chemist finds himself and his science in a vast field scarcely yet touched, says the doctor.

The complete chemical utilization of farm crops has only fairly been started, it is pointed out. Dr. Arno Behr was one of the pioneers in this field, having been the first to show the possibilities that could be realized in the chemical utilization of corn in the manufacture of starch, dextrin, glucose sirup, dextrose, gluten, oil, and many other products.

One of the best examples of what can be accomplished along this line is to be found in the utilization of the oil of cottonseed in almost countless food and industrial uses. This is said to be one of the greatest benefits which chemistry has conferred upon American agriculture, it having added millions of dollars annually to the value of the cotton crop.

These instances indicate the possibilities of the application of chemistry to other crops, and is is said that there is still much to be done for the more complete and more profitable utilization of both corn and cotton seed.

Also, the Bureau of Chemistry chief points out that in addition to the development of new ways of using farm products there is a vast field for improvement in the technological processes for the utilization of crops by the application of chemical methods. The manufacture of sugar, sirup, vinegar, butter, cheese, dried apples, and many other products there is a vast field for involves a thorough knowledge of chemistry at each step of every process, he says. The curing of tobacco, tanning of leather, canning of vegetables, preserving of fruits, pressing of oil, distilling of turpentine, and utilization of lemons for citric acid, are other illustrations of almost countless examples that could be given.

Cheaper Insecticides Needed.

Dr. Browne sketched the progress that has been made in the study of soils and fertilizers, and indicated that with the increase of population and the necessity for more intensive cultivation of the land of this country it will become constantly more important to give more attention to problems involved in the chemistry of soils and fertilizers. In pointing out the need for better and cheaper insecticides, he said that losses to American agriculture from the depredations of the cotton boll weevil alone exceeded $300,000,000 a year, and that losses in fruit and cereal crops are exceedingly heavy.

Chemists are endeavoring to devise methods of applying insecticides which will not only avoid the present extravagant waste of material and danger to health but also make the poison more effective in its action.

And speaking of waste, the doctor says that the opportunities in the field of the chemical utilization of farm wastes are almost unlimited.

"Thousands of tons of stray, cornstalks, and other residues are wastefully burned each year for the purpose of disposal. The destructive distillation of such refuse for the production of gas, carbon, pyrolgenous acid, tar, and other products opens up vast possibilities. The chemical utilization of the cellulose in agricultural wastes such as straw is already carried out in certain paper mills. The conversion of the pentosans of such materials as corncobs and oathulls into the valuable chemical furfural is being done on a small scale. The important lignin complex in waste wood, straw, cornstalks, etc., probably offers as wide a field of utilization—for the manufacture of tanning materials, dyestuffs, and other industrial products—as was offered eighty years ago by that other trade waste, coal tar, which, through the ingenuity of the chemist, has proved to be an almost inexhaustible source of wealth.

Still another job for the chemist that will benefit the farmers of the United States is research in animal nutrition. Recently acquired knowledge as to the important part played by minerals and vitamins in the diet have made it necessary to extend the knowledge of the chemical composition of various products used for animal or human food, and of the chemistry of all the other processes of nutrition.

NO ACCIDENTS in October

It hurts to get hurt

The Ohio Bell Telephone Company

NO ACCIDENT MONTH POSTER

D. H. MORRIS
CHAIRMAN

The Ohio Bell Telephone company today launched an accident prevention campaign among its employees. it was announced by Frank Swaney, commercial manager in charge of the local exchange.

It is the intention to make every month starting with October a "no accident month," according to Swaney. Meetings of employees will be held in every exchange in Ohio Bell territory. Causes of accidents will be analyzed and methods of prevention discussed. The slogan will be "Exercise Care, Eliminate Carelessness." The telephone workers will be urged to carry out the principles of this slogan in private as well as business life.

"We are constantly reading in the newspapers about people killed or injured in accidents," said Swaney. "Of course, many accidents are unavoidable. But an analysis of the causes of most of them usually show that they would not have occurred if proper care had been used. That is the point we want to bring home to our people. The taking of an unnecessary chance often proves fatal.

"Many Ohio Bell employees are proficient in first-aid work. First-aid is part of their training. But the less this proficiency is needed, the better it will be."

The accident prevention campaign will be in charge of D. H. Morris, assistant to the president of The Ohio Bell Telephone company.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The resources of our free Information Bureau are at your service. You are invited to call upon it as often as you please. It is being maintained by the Review-Tribune solely to serve you. What question can we answer for you? There is no charge at all except two cents in stamps for return postage. Address your letter to the East Liverpool Review-Tribune Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Washington, D. C.

Q. I have a heifer about eighteen months old which has large warts on her head and under her neck. Can you tell me a remedy for this?—W. B.

A. Warts on cattle may be removed by softening with oil, then twisting off the growth or snipping them off with scissors. Paint with tincture of iodine if they appear again.

Q. Is there any monument at the grave of Ann Rutledge, Lincoln's sweetheart?—M. S. L.

A. Recently the descendants of those who were intimately acquainted with Abraham Lincoln when he lived at New Salem, replaced the crude stone marking Ann Rutledge's grave, with a more elaborate one. The new monument is made of dark Quincy granite and is inscribed with verses from Edgar Lee Masters' "Ann Rutledge."

Q. Recently the descendants of those who were intimately acquainted with Abraham Lincoln when he lived at New Salem, replaced the crude stone marking Ann Rutledge's grave, with a more elaborate one. The new monument is made of dark Quincy granite and is inscribed with verses from Edgar Lee Masters' "Ann Rutledge." my scenario? It must be a producing company that will accept the outside world?—G. B.

A. It is practically impossible for an amateur to sell a scenario. Most of the motion picture producing companies maintain their own staffs of writers.

Q. Is it possible for the complete petrification of a tree to take place during the life of an individual?—W. E. McD.

A. The forest Service says that the petrification of wood takes hundreds of years. It, therefore, is not possible for a complete petrification to take place during the lifetime of an individual.

Q. Have Hungarian bonds of 1892 any value?—F. A. M.

A. The Hungarian bonds dated 1892 matured in 1910. If they were not paid at that time it is unlikely that they will be paid now.

Q. Can pewter be mended?—A. C. C.

A. An expert in metals says that pewter can be mended. but as the melting point is extremely low it requires careful handling by a skilled worker.

Q. Two years ago last July I saw from the Boston-Yarmouth boat several whales when about four hours or so out of Boston. Every time I mention the incident I meet with incredulity. Will you tell me if there are ever whales in that region?—E. N. S.

A. An authority on whales in the National Museum says that the finback whale is seen frequently in the waters between Boston and Yarmouth, Nova Scotia.

Q. What country in the world has the greatest number of telephones?—J.

A. The United States leads the world in the number of telephones per hundred of population. Canada comes next. The latter stands first in the number of miles of telephone and telegraph wires per hundred of population, the latest compilation showing 3.4 miles per hundred.

Q. Please advise me why the city of Chicago is so named?—J. S. M.

A. "Chicago" is an Anglicized form of the Indian word "she gahg" originally meaning skunk, but whose uses were intended so as to make it a synonym for "strong," "pungent," "mighty." It was applied to the wild onion, to a line of Indian chiefs, to thunder, and among other rivers to that which runs through the present city of Chicago. In this case the name was not meant as a tribute to the magnitude of this stream, but merely commemorated the tradition that one of the she gahg chiefs had at some remote period been drowned in its waters.

Q. Will you please tell me something of Lake Nipissing? N. Van H.

A. Lake Nipissing is between Lake Huron and the Ottawa River. It is irregular in shape, its greatest length being 55 miles and the maximum breadth about 28 miles. It contains numerous islands and supports many different kinds of fish.

Haskin's Letter

residues which are now largely waste, all along the line in agriculture every wheer the agricultural chemist finds himself and his science in a vast field scarcely yet touched, says the doctor.

The complete chemical utilization of farm crops has only fairly been started, it is pointed out. Dr. Arno Behr was one of the pioneers in this field, having been the first to show the possibilities that could be realized in the chemical utilization of corn in the manufacture of starch, dextrin, glucose sirup, dextrose, gluten, oil, and many other products.

One of the best examples of what can be accomplished along this line is to be found in the utilization of the oil of cottonseed in almost countless food and industrial uses. This is said to be one of the greatest benefits which chemistry has conferred upon American agriculture, it having added millions of dollars annually to the value of the cotton crop.

These instances indicate the possibilities of the application of chemistry to other crops, and is is said that there is still much to be done for the more complete and more profitable utilization of both corn and cotton seed.

Also, the Bureau of Chemistry chief points out that in addition to the development of new ways of using farm products there is i vast field for improvement in the technological processes for dealing with farm products by the application of chemical methods. The manufacture of sugar, sirup, vinegar, butter, cheese, dried apples, and many other products there is a vast field for involves a thorough knowledge of chemistry at each step of every process, he says. The curing of tobacco, tanning of leather, canning of vegetables, preserving of fruits, pressing of oil, distilling of turpentine, and utilization of lemons for citric acid, are other illustrations of almost countless examples that could be given.

Cheaper Insecticides Needed.

Dr. Browne sketched the progress that has been made in the study of soils and fertilizers, and indicated that with the increase of population and the necessity for more intensive cultivation of the land of this country it will become constantly more important to give more attention to problems involved in the chemistry of soils and fertilizers. In pointing out the need for better and cheaper insecticides, he said that losses to American agriculture from the depredations of the cotton boll weevil alone exceeded $300,000,000 a year, and that losses in fruit and cereal crops are exceedingly heavy.

Chemists are endeavoring to devise methods of applying insecticides which will not only avoid the present extravagant waste of material and danger to health but also make the poison more effective in its action.

And speaking of waste, the doctor says that the opportunities in the field of the chemical utilization of farm wastes are almost unlimited.

"Thousands of tons of stray, cornstalks, and other residues are wastefully burned each year for the purpose of disposal. The destructive distillation of such refuse for the production of gas, carbon, pyrolgenous acid, tar, and other products opens up vast possibilities. The chemical utilization of the cellulose in agricultural wastes such as straw is already carried out in certain paper mills. The conversion of the pentosans of such materials as corncobs and oathulls into the valuable chemical furfural is being done on a small scale. The important lignin complex in waste wood, straw, cornstalks, etc., probably offers as wide a field of utilization—for the manufacture of tanning materials, dyestuffs, and other industrial products—as was offered eighty years ago by that other trade waste, coal tar, which, through the ingenuity of the chemist, has proved to be an almost inexhaustible source of wealth.

Still another job for the chemist that will benefit the farmers of the United States is research in animal nutrition. Recently acquired knowledge as to the important part played by minerals and vitamins in the diet have made it necessary to extend the knowledge of the chemical composition of various products used for animal or human food, and of the chemistry of all the other processes of nutrition.

INVESTIGATE CAR OWNERSHIP

Engine Number in Liquor Auto Changed, Police Say.

Federal government agents, according to local police authorities, are investigating the ownership of the Buick "four," automobile in which Mrs. Modesta Lozzi, Third street, was arrested Wednesday night by Chief of Police John Fultz, on a charge of transporting liquor.

Two government representatives, from Pittsburgh, conferred with police here yesterday and also inspected the automobile.

Numbers on the engine apparently had been changed, according to authorities. In this particular model, the engine number, it is said, is raised, but on the car that was confiscated, a plate had been affixed with the numbers stamped in.

Mrs. Lozzi was fined $300. Chief Fultz and Patrolmen Pugh and Cole confiscated the car and 15 gallons of liquor at the time of the arrest near the J. M. Kerr property in the Lisbon road.

CLASS ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Members of Sunday school class No. 13 of the Methodist Protestant church were entertained last evening at the home of Mrs. O. B. Van Dyke, in Commerce street.

Election of officers featured the business session. The new officers are: President, Mrs. Charles Williamson; vice president, Mrs. George Fiber; treasurer, Mrs. C. G. Weekley; secretaries, Mrs. Earl Adams and Mrs. O. H. Mann; teacher, Mrs. Momberg; assistant teacher, Mrs. Silcox; class reporter, Mrs. Bosco.

A social hour concluded the meeting, luncheon being served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Harry Clark.

Plans were discussed for the masquerade party which will be held October 28 at the home of Mrs. Deemer.

"SMOKES" VENDOR FINED BY MAYOR

W. L. Bell, charged with selling cigarettes here without a license, was fined $16.60 last night at a hearing before Mayor W. L. Fogo.

Bell, who represented a tobacco company, police say, was charged with selling cigarettes in the streets of the city and was unable to produce a license.

He was arrested in East Liverpool Wednesday night by Chief Fultz.

TO GET HEARING ON LARCENY COUNT

George Marshall, this city, charged with larceny, is awaiting a hearing before Mayor W. L. Fogo.

Marshall, arrested yesterday in East Liverpool by police there at the request of local authorities, is accused of having stolen $40 from Jack Rowley, of this city. Rowley filed complaint against Marshall.

The latter is in jail here.

CONCLUDE VISIT IN PHILADELPHIA

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stewart have returned from a visit in Philadelphia. Mr. Stewart, who is chief clerk to the trainmaster, accompanied by Mrs. Stewart, attended the Pennsylvania Railroad Mutual Benefit association convention at the Benjamin Franklin hotel in Philadelphia.

The delegates also were in New Jersey Wednesday, visiting the Mohican Country club, where they were guests at dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart also visited in Atlantic City, New York and at the Sesqui-Centennial before returning home.

150 ATTEND RALLY SOCIAL

Dinner and Program Given at U. P. Church.

Approximately 150 attended the congregational rally social held last night in the First United Presbyterian church.

The social was an event preparatory to the rally day observance planned for next Sunday at the church.

Dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock, followed by a program of songs, music, talks and stunts by members of the congregation.

F. J. Adams, superintendent of the Bible school, presided. Talks were given by L. F. Burris and Mrs. R. I. Farmer, the latter giving a description of her trip abroad.

Short program was then given by young people of the church. The affair concluded with an old fashioned spelling bee.

BRITISH SHINE BARS TO DRAW MORE DRINKERS

Public Houses Will be Made More Attractive.

LUNCH FEATURED

Beer Dealers' Report Shows Business is Falling Off.

LONDON.—The brewers of England have set out to make the public-houses more attractive.

Brightening of bar parlors with flowers and paint, and the addition of luncheon and tea-rooms will not only stop the abuse of alcohol, according to leading brewers, but it will actually promote temperance.

Sir H. Cosmo Bonsor, whose company alone sold 66,000,000 pints of beer in glass last year, besides the trade in bottles and barrels, is authority for the statement that less drunkenness has been the immediate result in all places where the old tradition of sawdust floors and dark, musty drinking rooms have been abandoned in favor of modern innovations.

Annual Reports.

All of the big brewing companies have just made their annual reports to their stockholders, and through all of these can be traced a feeling among the producers that people are not drinking enough beer and that something should be done about it.

Sir William Waters Butler, the Birmingham brewer, blames high taxation among other things for the decrease in the consumption of beer, which has fell off 35 per cent during the past ten years, dropping from 30,000,000 barrels in 1914 to 19,500,000 barrles in 1925.

Sir William pointed out that if the average family of five persons consumed the same amount of alcoholic beverages now as they did before the war, taxation would increase the cost of the beverages by $150 per family.

Make People Happy.

"I have no desire," he said in addressing his shareholders, "to connect directly the price of beer with the unfortunate labor unrest now prevailing, but I do contend, as I told Mr. Lloyd George years ago, that you must avoid sullenness in a workman. You must foster it, however, if you look upon the supply and cost of his beer as being of no consequence. During the last year we have opened several new licenses properties in large growing districts. Thus we continue our policy of fewer and better houses.

Sir William revealed that the beer being sold in England now does not contain as much alcohol as it did in 1914, but that the alcoholic content is being slowly increased.

Temperance and prohibition campaigns are also being discussed by the brewers and distillers as a factor in the decline of sales. They contend that prohibition was brought about in the United States by the apathy of the general public, and urge people here to "be on the alert" against reformers such as Viscount Astor, who is backing a proposal in Parliament for local option.

Moon Made of Ice He Says.

Professor Forbes, a European scientist of standing, has come forward saying that the moon is made of ice. His theory has, however, been contradicted by other eminent astronomers, who have advanced enough "proof" to cause a spirited controversy.

Collections for the Edinburgh Infirmary on "Remembrance Day" this year were only $15,000, which is $10,000 less than those of a year ago.

CINCINNATI CARS WANT TO SELL SUNDAY SIGHT-SEEING TICKETS

CINCINNATI, O.—Approval by the city council of a "Sunday sightseeing" ticket to sell for perhaps twenty-five cents is awaited by the Cincinnati Street Railway company. If such a ticket is approved it will make possible to Sunday visitors as many trips over all car routes on Sunday as they may desire—and all on the one ticket.

City transit corporation and other bus companies have abandoned the double deck bus for use through Cincinnati and its suburbs. Regardless of the type of double-deckers used, southern Ohio hills have proved too much for them. All bus lines are as a result equipped with regulation single deck busses.

Chihuhua, Mexico, long without an adequate water supply, is to have a modern water system.

Republicans Face Battle in Vermont Governship Race

Herbert C. Comings.

For the first time in years the Republican party in Vermont will have a stiff battle if they are to elect a governor. Since the Democratic candidate, Herbert C. Comings, above, probably will have the endorsement of the Citizen's Party.

BRITISH SHINE BARS TO DRAW MORE DRINKERS

Public Houses Will be Made More Attractive.

LUNCH FEATURED

Beer Dealers' Report Shows Business is Falling Off.

LONDON.—The brewers of England have set out to make the public-houses more attractive.

Brightening of bar parlors with flowers and paint, and the addition of luncheon and tea rooms will not only stop the abuse of alcohol, according to leading brewers, but it will actually promote temperance.

Sir H. Cosmo Bonsor, whose company alone sold 66,000,000 pints of beer in glass last year, besides the trade in bottles and barrels, is authority for the statement that less drunkenness has been the immediate result in all places where the old tradition of sawdust floors and dark, musty drinking rooms have been abandoned in favor of modern innovations.

Annual Reports.

All of the big brewing companies have just made their annual reports to their stockholders, and through all of these can be traced a feeling among the producers that people are not drinking enough beer and that something should be done about it.

Sir William Waters Butler, the Birmingham brewer, blames high taxation among other things for the decrease in the consumption of beer, which has fell off 35 per cent during the past ten years, dropping from 30,000,000 barrels in 1914 to 19,500,000 barrles in 1925.

Sir William pointed out that if the average family of five persons consumed the same amount of alcoholic beverages now as they did before the war, taxation would increase the cost of the beverages by $150 per family.

Make People Happy.

"I have no desire," he said in addressing his shareholders, "to connect directly the price of beer with the unfortunate labor unrest now prevailing, but I do contend, as I told Mr. Lloyd George years ago, that you must avoid sullenness in a workman. You must foster it, however, if you look upon the supply and cost of his beer as being of no consequence. During the last year we have opened several new licenses properties in large growing districts. Thus we continue our policy of fewer and better houses.

Sir William revealed that the beer being sold in England now does not contain as much alcohol as it did in 1914, but that the alcoholic content is being slowly increased.

Temperance and prohibition campaigns are also being discussed by the brewers and distillers as a factor in the decline of sales. They contend that prohibition was brought about in the United States by the apathy of the general public, and urge people here to "be on the alert" against reformers such as Viscount Astor, who is backing a proposal in Parliament for local option.

Moon Made of Ice He Says.

Professor Forbes, a European scientist of standing, has come forward saying that the moon is made of ice. His theory has, however, been contradicted by other eminent astronomers, who have advanced enough "proof" to cause a spirited controversy.

Collections for the Edinburgh Infirmary on "Remembrance Day" this year were only $15,000, which is $10,000 less than those of a year ago.

CINCINNATI CARS WANT TO SELL SUNDAY SIGHT-SEEING TICKETS

CINCINNATI, O.—Approval by the city council of a "Sunday sightseeing" ticket to sell for perhaps twenty-five cents is awaited by the Cincinnati Street Railway company. If such a ticket is approved it will make possible to Sunday visitors as many trips over all car routes on Sunday as they may desire—and all on the one ticket.

City transit corporation and other bus companies have abandoned the double deck bus for use through Cincinnati and its suburbs. Regardless of the type of double-deckers used, southern Ohio hills have proved too much for them. All bus lines are as a result equipped with regulation single deck busses.

Chihuhua, Mexico, long without an adequate water supply, is to have a modern water system.

Hornsby May Start Sherdel Against Yanks In Series Opener

Cards' Star Southpaw Pitcher Most Feared By Yankee Clubbers

Ruth & Co., Reputed to be Able to "Take" These Fast Ball Hurlers Like Alexander and Rhem But Indicate Decided Weakness Against Slow-ball Left Handers.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Bill Sherdel, left handed but able to live it down, quite possibly will pitch the opening game of the world series for the St. Louis Cardinals tomorrow instead of the elderly Alexander, original choice among those who do their guessing while you wait.

There was said today to have been an over night shift in sentiment toward Sherdel in the camp of the Cardinals, although no one in authority would confirm the report. The young man is worth a bet, provided the Cards are interested in winning the opening game, and, somehow, I cannot seem to shake off the impression that they are.

Of the twenty two winners since the start of the modern series in 1903, fifteen of them got away running by winning the first game. The percentage, moral and actual, is all in favor of the club that hits them first and explains at leisure, if at all.

Sherdel is the man the Yankees fear. They say they can "take" these fast ball pitchers like Alexander and Rhem something like seven days in every week and, as long as they feel that way about it, I don't see any particular sense in encouraging, them. Every one knows that there are two ways to break the average Yankee back:

Fits Description.

Hit him firmly between the shoulders with a sledge hammer or feed him a slow-ball left hander with a wide curve. Sherdel fits that description like a cap on a freshman's head.

The "kick" in the Yankee lineup is centered around Ruth, Meusel, Gehrig and Lazerri and all of them are what is known as "free swingers." They don't choke the bat and snap at the ball; they try to gobble it whole and often do. But not with a great deal of success against slow ball left handers. If you don't believe me, ask our Mr. Ruth about Pruett.

Anyhow, the man who figures to be the big winner of the series should start the opening game, of course. He then can be brought back for the fourth game and, if he purports to have anything left, the seventh, if any. That will be Huggins' system with Herb Pennock, at least as far as the first and fourth games are concerned. Pennock is not the man to pitch three games in any series and get away with it.

Don't Fear Alex.

Alexander, old as he is, might be able to do it. Flint Rhem, with all his fine, young strength, could laugh it off, too. But the Yanks think they can smear this pair all over the premises and that collection of brooding athletes is difficult to convince, once it makes up its mind to a thing.

The chances are that Alexander and Rhem will have a hard time stopping the New York outfit just because it has kidded itself into believing that it has the "drop" on them. They might have everything, but the Yanks wouldn't believe it.

Conversely, it might so happen that Sherdel would have nothing and the dear, old Yanks wouldn't believe them, either. They have been told that the boy is due to slowball them silly—and silly it will be.

That the Cards' strategists have begun to suspect this state of affairs was indicated this morning when a man high in their counsels made a rather significant admission.

"Sherdel is more than a possibility for the first game," he said. The writer doesn't know why we shouldn't say it.

Wine 200 Years Old Served.

In Bremen, Germany, there is a Ratskeller that is famous among tourists. It has been in existence since the fourteenth century and for forty-two cents a glass of wine of the village of 1726 is still available though it tastes strongly of wood.

Hire Special to Transport Cards

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—In order to facilitate the transportation of their valuable collection of athletes between the second and third games of the world series, the St. Louis Cardinals have chartered a special train to carry the team from New York to St. Louis. The train will be an extra section of the American, one of the Pennsylvania railroad's crack twenty-four hour trains. It will leave New York at 6:05 o'clock Sunday night.

John A. Heydler, president of the National league; Sam Breadon, owner of the Cardinals, and Charles A. Stoneham, president of the New York Giants, will be on the train.

AKRON EAST TO SHOW LIGHT, FAST TEAM

Rely Upon Forward Pass For Big Gains

Rubber City Team, However, Can Play Straight Football Effectively, as Seen in 6-0 Victory Over Massillon; Regarded as Leading Contender for City Championship.

LOSING one by a single touchdown margin, winning one by the same narrow squeak, Akron East high school invades East Liverpool tomorrow for its third game of the season and confident of a victory, if reports from the Rubber City are to be relied upon.

Akron East is regarded as the leading contender for the city championship there and consequently its qualifications must be marked. Although light, the East team is fast and uses the forward pass as its chief offensive weapon. If Columbian park is dry tomorrow afternoon the visitors quite likely will depend upon an aerial attack as the chief method of gaining ground.

East can play straight football, however, when such a course is necessary. At Massillon last Saturday, the Scarlet and Gray was unable to use its passing attack because of a muddy field but, through line plunging, scored a 6 0 victory over the strong Massillon combine, figured as one of the best in this part of the state.

"Judge" Averitt, colored varsity end, will be the only regular out of the lineup when the "orientals" play here tomorrow. Averitt, who tore a ligament in his leg last Saturday, has been unable to practice all week.

Quarterback is Star.

Bernard "Squirt" Keeney, small but valiant quarterback of the East eleven, is possibly the biggest star, however, in the matter of individual attainments. He is a smart pilot, a consistent ground gainer when he elects to tote the ball himself and does all of the drop kicking and forward passing.

The East eleven is, for the greater part, a veteran outfit this year. Lettermen who will be seen in action here are Bell, left tackle; Crisp, left guard; Wilson, center; Bergey, captain and right guard; Keeney, quarterback; Coudriet, left half; Thomas, right half; and Johnson, fullback.

And, by the way, this fellow Morgan is a real speed merchant. Coach George Kidder accepts no man's word for this. He has seen him in action.

This occasion as Akron East's opener with Warren two weeks ago. East took the count, 6 to 0, despite the fact that the Rubber City combine registered twice as many first downs as the Trumbull countians. The touchdown was made on an intercepted pass. The heave was made from Keeney to Morgan. It went into the arms of a Warren back and the latter streaked down the field.

Tackled on Goal Line.

Strange as it may seem, Morgan, who was headed in the opposite direction, did an about-face and was first to tackle the Warren runner as he toppled over the goal line. The Warren man had, probably, from three to four seconds start on Morgan and had he five more yards to go, he would never have made that touchdown.

The Blue and White camp is a mourning over the loss of Holmes, fullback, but Coach Kidder is optimistic over the always present possibility of finding someone else.

In all probability, the Blue and White starting backfield will include Bromby, Walt Smith, Fullerton and Lincoln.

Davis is suffering from the effects of an injured ankle, and Van Dyne is nursing similar hurts.

In last night's workout Lineman Irwin was tried out on the third team backfield and appeared to have the "makings" of a ball toter. It is likely he will be given a chance at it before long. He starts well and appears to have speed and other qualifications.

McKee and Deems loom as the end selections for tomorrow, with Cordwin and English in reserve. The latter pair, however, will very likely get into the game before it is over.

R. Smith and Kinsey will be the tackles with Todd and Gerber in reserve.

Call Game at 3:30.

The game will be played at Columbian park and will start at 3:30.

A mixup in plans for conveyance of players to the park last Saturday caused the delay in starting for the Sebring game. The school orchestra was unable to go to the park and cancelled its conveyances. The truck operators who were to drive the team to the field also, labored under the impression that none of the machines were needed and failed to show up until Coach Kidder straightened out the tangle.

Every effort will be made to get the team into action promptly on starting time, Kidder announced today.

Yankees are Made Slight Favorites

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Although New York was crowded with out-of-town fans, here for the opening game of the world series between the Yankees and Cardinals tomorrow, there has been little betting on the outcome of the event in the hotel lobbies and on the streets. Most of the play has been made in Wall Street, which has quoted the Yankees a slight favorite, both for the opening game and for the series.

There seems to be only two things that cannot be had here: Reserved seats for the first three New York games and a first-class hotel accommodations without previous reservations having been made.

WOMEN'S GOLF NEARS FINALS

Four Survivors All New to Final Round Play.

By Robert E. Harlow.

MERION CRICKET CLUB, Oct. 1.—None of the four ladies who contested the semi-final round of the national golf championship today have ever held the title and as they are very evenly matched, today's games and the 36-hole final tomorrow should produce fine competition.

Miss Virginia Wilson, 20-year-old Chicago golfer, who defeated Miss Glenna Collett, the champion, in the third round, met Mrs. G. Henry Stetson, Philadelphia, in the upper half of the semi-finals and Mrs. Dwight Goss Jr., Short Hills, N. J., and met Mrs. Cortland Smith, Glen Ridge, N. J., in the lower half.

Miss Wilson is one of the younger players in the game. This is her third national championship and she is meeting in Mrs. Stetson a golfer who has had many years of experience in "big league" golf. Miss Wilson won the invitation tournament at Buffalo this year from a field which was very nearly as strong as the national.

Fight Results

AT NEW YORK—Tod Morgan, of Seattle, junior lightweight champion, won decision over Joe Glick, of Brooklyn, 15 rounds.

Hilario Martinez, of Spain, knocked out Harry Wallach, of New York, in the second round.

Young Harry Wills won from Bobby Robideau, four rounds.

Teddy Baldock, of England, knocked out Arthur De Champlaine, of Long Branch, in the first round.

Frankie Fink, of Texas, won from Al Tripoli, of Yonkers, ten rounds.

AT WEST NEW YORK, N. J.—Phil McGraw, of Detroit, won newspaper decision over Johnny Rocco, of New Rochelle, ten rounds.

AT MEMPHIS—Young Stribling, of Atlanta, won on technical knockout from Frankie Busch, of Norwich, Conn.

AT CLEVELAND—Tommy Freeman, of Cleveland, won newspaper decision over Georgie Levine, of New York, ten rounds.

AT McKEESPORT, Pa. — Tommy Crowley, Pittsburgh featherweight, defeated Eddie Bowen, Cleveland, in 10 rounds; Young Saylor, Charleroi, Pa., light heavyweight, outpointed Jack Katkish, of Lawrenceville, Pa., in 10 rounds; Tug Phillips, lightweight, of Charleroi, scored a technical knockout over K. O. Ferry, of McKeesport, in fifth round; Young Rudy, of Charleroi, received the referee's decision over Marty McHale, of McKeesport, eight rounds.

AT FORT THOMAS, Ky.—Jack Reynolds trimmed Young Gordini in 10 fast rounds.

Vic Ross gained decision over Lou Palmer in six rounds.

"Well, Fans, I'm Back-"

BACK around 1920 George Torporcer was playing semi-pro ball around New York city and state. Was playing with "specs" too, emulating Lee Meadows, and one or two others who have reached the heights with such a handicap.

But no one connected with the fast minor league or big league clubs in Toporcer's home section could see him. They lost interest in his work when they noticed that he wore glasses.

Then a St. Louis Cardinal scout looked him over. This scout had seen Lee Meadows in action, fielding, tossing them over the plate and signing his pay check and had noticed little difficulty in any of those operations due to his near sightedness. So he suggested the club bosses give George a trial. He originally signed to start with Syracuse, Card farm, but did not play there. He reported to the Cards in the spring of 1921 and that season broke into 22 games as utility man, playing second, short and third.

Then the Cards sent him to Syracuse and George was given some more experience although he broke into but 22 games—all at second.

The next year the St. Louis champs called him back and he has played a major portion of the season at some spot in the infield every year since. Not only that but he celebrated his arrival as a regular in 1922 by hitting .324 for the season and after a poor year in 1923 came back with a .313 average in 1924.

15,000 UNABLE TO GET SEATS

Scalpers Get Vast Number of Tickets, Says Rumor.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Infuriated subscribers for world series tickets, who paid for seats that are not available, hounded the Yankee business office today. More than 1,500 fans have been unable to secure tickets.

The ticket shortage gave rise to numerous rumors, chief among them one that a scandalous situation would be uncovered when speculators begin to unload—at high prices—the vast numbers of reserved seat tickets they were said to possess.

At the Yankee business office posters announced that all reserved seat tickets had been sold and that 38,000 grand stand and bleacher seats would be put on sale on the morning of games one, two and six, which are to be played in this city.

Ed Barrow, business manager, was too busy to discuss the situation.

A report that Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, arbiter of the baseball world, had been unable to obtain a sufficient allotment of seats, was denied by the judge, who is at the Hotel Roosevelt.

"I probably have not had all the tickets I want for the minor leagues—they are entitled to them, you know—or for other people throughout the country," said the judge, "but I think I have enough to cover the demand."

He was asked whether he had heard a report that thousands of tickets had fallen into the hands of speculators, he said:

"A certain percentage of tickets for the world series inevitably fall into the hands of the scalpers. There does not seem to be any way to prevent it."

Hornsby May Start Sherdel Against Yanks In Series Opener

Cards' Star Southpaw Pitcher Most Feared By Yankee Clubbers

Ruth & Co., Reputed to be Able to "Take" These Fast Ball Hurlers Like Alexander and Rhem But Indicate Decided Weakness Against Slow-ball Left Handers.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Bill Sherdel, left handed but able to live it down, quite possibly will pitch the opening game of the world series for the St. Louis Cardinals tomorrow instead of the elderly Alexander, original choice among those who do their guessing while you wait.

There was said today to have been an over night shift in sentiment toward Sherdel in the camp of the Cardinals, although no one in authority would confirm the report. The young man is worth a bet, provided the Cards are interested in winning the opening game, and, somehow, I cannot seem to shake off the impression that they are.

Of the twenty two winners since the start of the modern series in 1903, fifteen of them got away running by winning the first game. The percentage, moral and actual, is all in favor of the club that hits them first and explains at leisure, if at all.

Sherdel is the man the Yankees fear. They say they can "take" these fast ball pitchers like Alexander and Rhem something like seven days in every week and, as long as they feel that way about it, I don't see any particular sense in encouraging them. Every one knows that there are two ways to break the average Yankee back:

Fits Description.

Hit him firmly between the shoulders with a sledge hammer or feed him a slow-ball left hander with a wide curve. Sherdel fits that description like a cap on a freshman's head.

The "kick" in the Yankee lineup is centered around Ruth, Meusel, Gehrig and Lazerri and all of them are what is known as "free swingers." They don't choke the bat and snap at the ball; they try to gobble it whole and often do. But not with a great deal of success against slow ball left handers. If you don't believe me, ask our Mr. Ruth about Pruett.

Anyhow, the man who figures to be the big winner of the series should start the opening game, of course. He then can be brought back for the fourth game and, if he purports to have anything left, the seventh, if any. That will be Huggins' system with Herb Pennock, at least as far as the first and fourth games are concerned. Pennock is not the man to pitch three games in any series and get away with it.

Don't Fear Alex.

Alexander, old as he is, might be able to do it. Flint Rhem, with all his fine, young strength, could laugh it off, too. But the Yanks think they can smear this pair all over the premises and that collection of brooding athletes is difficult to convince, once it makes up its mind to a thing.

The chances are that Alexander and Rhem will have a hard time stopping the New York outfit just because it has kidded itself into believing that it has the "drop" on them. They might have everything, but the Yanks wouldn't believe it.

Conversely, it might so happen that Sherdel would have nothing and the dear, old Yanks wouldn't believe them, either. They have been told that the boy is due to slowball them silly—and silly it will be.

That the Cards' strategists have begun to suspect this state of affairs was indicated this morning when a man high in their counsels made a rather significant admission.

"Sherdel is more than a possibility for the first game," he said. The writer doesn't know why we shouldn't say it.

Hire Special to Transport Cards

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—In order to facilitate the transportation of their valuable collection of athletes between the second and third games of the world series, the St. Louis Cardinals have chartered a special train to carry the team from New York to St. Louis. The train will be an extra section of the American, one of the Pennsylvania railroad's crack twenty-four hour trains. It will leave New York at 6:05 o'clock Sunday night.

John A. Heydler, president of the National league; Sam Breadon, owner of the Cardinals, and Charles A. Stoneham, president of the New York Giants, will be on the train.

AKRON EAST TO SHOW LIGHT, FAST TEAM

Rely Upon Forward Pass For Big Gains

Rubber City Team, However, Can Play Straight Football Effectively, as Seen in 6-0 Victory Over Massillon; Regarded as Leading Contender for City Championship.

LOSING one by a single touchdown margin, winning one by the same narrow squeak, Akron East high school invades East Liverpool tomorrow for its third game of the season and confident of a victory, if reports from the Rubber City are to be relied upon.

Akron East is regarded as the leading contender for the city championship there and consequently its qualifications must be marked. Although light, the East team is fast and uses the forward pass as its chief offensive weapon. If Columbian park is dry tomorrow afternoon the visitors quite likely will depend upon an aerial attack as the chief method of gaining ground.

East can play straight football, however, when such a course is necessary. At Massillon last Saturday, the Scarlet and Gray was unable to use its passing attack because of a muddy field but, through line plunging, scored a 6 0 victory over the strong Massillon combine, figured as one of the best in this part of the state.

"Judge" Averitt, colored varsity end, will be the only regular out of the lineup when the "orientals" play here tomorrow. Averitt, who tore a ligament in his leg last Saturday, has been unable to practice all week.

Quarterback is Star.

Bernard "Squirt" Keeney, small but valiant quarterback of the East eleven, is possibly the biggest star, however, in the matter of individual attainments. He is a smart pilot, a consistent ground gainer when he elects to tote the ball himself and does all of the drop kicking and forward passing.

The East eleven is, for the greater part, a veteran outfit this year. Lettermen who will be seen in action here are Bell, left tackle; Crisp, left guard; Wilson, center; Bergey, captain and right guard; Keeney, quarterback; Coudriet, left half; Thomas, right half; and Johnson, fullback.

And, by the way, this fellow Morgan is a real speed merchant. Coach George Kidder accepts no man's word for this. He has seen him in action.

This occasion as Akron East's opener with Warren two weeks ago. East took the count, 6 to 0, despite the fact that the Rubber City combine registered twice as many first downs as the Trumbull countians. The touchdown was made on an intercepted pass. The heave was made from Keeney to Morgan. It went into the arms of a Warren back and the latter streaked down the field.

Tackled on Goal Line.

Strange as it may seem, Morgan, who was headed in the opposite direction, did an about-face and was first to tackle the Warren runner as he toppled over the goal line. The Warren man had, probably, from three to four seconds start on Morgan and had he five more yards to go, he would never have made that touchdown.

The Blue and White camp is a-glum over the loss of Holmes, fullback, but Coach Kidder is optimistic over the always present possibility of finding someone else.

In all probability, the Blue and White starting backfield will include Bromby, Walt Smith, Fullerton and Lincoln.

Davis is suffering from the effects of an injured ankle, and Van Dyne is nursing similar hurts.

In last night's workout Lineman Irwin was tried out on the third team backfield and appeared to have the "makings" of a ball toter. It is likely he will be given a chance at it before long. He starts well and appears to have speed and other qualifications.

McKee and Deems loom as the end selections for tomorrow, with Cordwin and English in reserve. The latter pair, however, will very likely get into the game before it is over.

R. Smith and Kinsey will be the tackles with Todd and Gamer on the Call Game at 3:30.

The game will be played at Columbian park and will start at 3:30.

A mixup in plans for conveyance of players to the park last Saturday caused the delay in starting for the Sebring game. Henry Stetson, Philadelphia, in the upper half of the semi-finals and Mrs. Dwight Goss Jr., Short Hills, N. J., and met Mrs. Cortland Smith, Glen Ridge, N. J., in the lower half.

Miss Wilson is one of the younger players in the game. This is her third national championship and she is meeting in Mrs. Stetson a golfer who has had many years of experience in "big league" golf. Miss Wilson won the invitation tournament at Buffalo this year from a field which was very nearly as strong as the national.

Fight Results

AT NEW YORK—Tod Morgan, of Seattle, junior lightweight champion, won decision over Joe Glick, of Brooklyn, 15 rounds.

Hilario Martinez, of Spain, knocked out Harry Wallach, of New York, in the second round.

Young Harry Wills won from Bobby Robideau, four rounds.

Teddy Baldock, of England, knocked out Arthur De Champlaine, of Long Branch, in the first round.

Frankie Fink, of Texas, won from Al Tripoli, of Yonkers, ten rounds.

AT CLEVELAND—Tommy Freeman, of Cleveland, won newspaper decision over Georgie Levine, of New York, ten rounds.

AT McKEESPORT, Pa. — Tommy Crowley, Pittsburgh featherweight, defeated Eddie Bowen, Cleveland, in 10 rounds; Young Saylor, Charleroi, Pa., light heavyweight, outpointed Jack Katkish, of Lawrenceville, Pa., in 10 rounds; Tug Phillips, lightweight, of Charleroi, scored a technical knockout over K. O. Ferry, of McKeesport, in fifth round; Young Rudy, of Charleroi, received the referee's decision over Marty McHale, of McKeesport, eight rounds.

AT FORT THOMAS, Ky.—Jack Reynolds trimmed Young Gordini in 10 fast rounds.

Vic Ross gained decision over Lou Palmer in six rounds.

"Well, Fans, I'm Back-"

BACK around 1920 George Torporcer was playing semi-pro ball around New York city and state. Was playing with "specs" too, emulating Lee Meadows, and one or two others who have reached the heights with such a handicap.

But no one connected with the fast minor league or big league clubs in Toporcer's home section could see him. They lost interest in his work when they noticed that he wore glasses.

Then a St. Louis Cardinal scout looked him over. This scout had seen Lee Meadows in action, fielding, tossing them over the plate and signing his pay check and had noticed little difficulty in any of those operations due to his near sightedness. So he suggested the club bosses give George a trial. He originally signed to start with Syracuse, Card farm, but did not play there. He reported to the Cards in the spring of 1921 and that season broke into 22 games as utility man, playing second, short and third.

Then the Cards sent him to Syracuse and George was given some more experience although he broke into but 22 games—all at second.

The next year the St. Louis champs called him back and he has played a major portion of the season at some spot in the infield every year since. Not only that but he celebrated his arrival as a regular in 1922 by hitting .324 for the season and after a poor year in 1923 came back with a .313 average in 1924.

Yankees are Made Slight Favorites

NEW YORK, Oct. 1—Although New York was crowded with out-of-town fans, here for the opening game of the world series between the Yankees and Cardinals tomorrow, there has been little betting on the outcome of the event in the hotel lobbies and on the streets. Most of the play has been made in Wall Street, which has quoted the Yankees a slight favorite, both for the opening game and for the series.

There seems to be only two things that cannot be had here: Reserved seats for the first three New York games and a first-class hotel accommodations without previous reservations having been made.

15,000 UNABLE TO GET SEATS

Scalpers Get Vast Number of Tickets, Says Rumor.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Infuriated subscribers for world series tickets, who paid for seats that are not available, hounded the Yankee business office today. More than 1,500 fans have been unable to secure tickets.

The ticket shortage gave rise to numerous rumors, chief among them one that a scandalous situation would be uncovered when speculators begin to unload—at high prices—the vast numbers of reserved seat tickets they were said to possess.

At the Yankee business office posters announced that all reserved seat tickets had been sold and that 38,000 grand stand and bleacher seats would be put on sale on the morning of games one, two and six, which are to be played in this city.

Ed Barrow, business manager, was too busy to discuss the situation.

A report that Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, arbiter of the baseball world, had been unable to obtain a sufficient allotment of seats, was denied by the judge, who is at the Hotel Roosevelt.

"I probably have not had all the tickets I want for the minor leagues—they are entitled to them, you know—or for other people throughout the country," said the judge, "but I think I have enough to cover the demand."

He was asked whether he had heard a report that thousands of tickets had fallen into the hands of speculators, he said:

"A certain percentage of tickets for the world series inevitably fall into the hands of the scalpers. There does not seem to be any way to prevent it."

VIN RICHARDS BECOMES "PRO"

Signs For Nation Tour Under Pyle's Banner.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Tennis fans, still dizzy from a season of upsets, the loss of the national singles championship to France, and invasion of Suzanne Lenglen, were given another shock today by the announcement that Vincent Richards, third ranking American star, had turned professional under the banner of Promotor C. C. Pyle, manager of Hile. Lenglen, "Red" Grange and Mary K. Browne.

At a dinner given aboard the liner Paris last night in honor of Mlle. Lenglen, Pyle announced that Richards had joined his troupe and would appear in a nation-wide tour of exhibition matches. He introduced the young star as "the greatest male tennis player in the world."

Richards said he turned professional "in justice to his little daughter and his wife." Amateur tennis players do no obtain large sums of money, as generally believed, he said.

Richards, who had been regarded as William T. Tilden's logical successor as the king pin of American tennis and as America's hope to regain the singles championship from France, was the only member of the American team to reach the semi-finals in the national tournament this year. He had defeated Tilden, Dick Williams and other leading stars.

VERSATILITY IN YOST BACKS

Michigan Not Troubled by Lack of Specialists.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 1.—One of the most versatile back field combinations in Michigan football history is at the disposal of Coach Fielding H. Yost this year.

Punters, passers, line plungers, broken field runners, off-tackle line smashers, drop-kickers, place-kickers, players who excel in one or several of these arts are included in the host of backfield candidates.

At least one good kicker in the backfield with one or more among the linemen in reserve, has been the policy of Coach Yost since he first inaugurated his system of coaching back in 1900. In accordance with this ost will have three veteran kickers to choose from when composing his backfield; Bennie Friedman, Jim Miller and Louie Gilbert. In addition to these, Frank Harrigan, the Grand Lakewood, O.; Paul Cook, Muskegon; Harold Greenwald, Chicago, and Dudley Black, Poland, O., are all past masters at the punting game and will be available for instant use if necessary.

Forward passers are again bountiful in the roster of Michigan backs this season. Capt. Friedman, will, of course, bear the burden of Michigan's passing attack this season, unless something unforseen interferes, while assisting him at the work will be George Rich, Bill Puckelwartz, Chicago; Louie Gilbert, Kalamazoo; Frank Harrington, Henry Totzke, Benton Harbor and Austin Hughes, Gary, Ind. Never before has such an array of Michigan pigskin tossers been assembled at once on Ferry Field and Michigan supporters will place much faith in the ability of these men to aid in the Wolverine scoring attack.

In Molenda, Friedman, Cook, Rich, Stewart, Weber, Babcock, and Miller, Michigan has as sweet a running combination as any school in the big ten. "Big Bo" Molenda, the Detroit line smasher is all set for another season of line cracking and fans won't soon forget what he did to Navy, Ohio State and Minnesota last year. Not far behind him is Walter Weber, the Mt. Slemens line smasher who replaced Molenda in several games last year.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 61 Golf Champions.
"Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

Since it apparently is necessary for the wrists to describe a turning movement somewhere in the back swing, the question that bothers many players is where does this turning begin and how much of it is there? If you start the clubhead back directly along the ground, with the face kept square to the direction line for six or eight inches and the clubhead about even with the hands, the body will start almost immediately a turning movement to the right. When the clubhead has reached a point about half way back the forearms should have turned, naturally and without any attention from the player, so that the toe of the club points directly upward. This turning is almost imperceptible and takes place because the left arm is kept rather close to the body. You have then but to elevate the club upward, with the head held still, and you are in position.

(Cpyright John F. Dille Co.)

RESERVE LINE IS WEAKENED

Cathcart, Veteran End, Is Declared Ineligible.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 1.—Western Reserve university's already weak line was given another jolt today when Tom Cathcart, veteran end, was declared ineligible on the eve of the pioneer's initial game with Baldwin-Wallace here Saturday afternoon. Cathcart will be replaced by Morris.

At the beginning of the season Coach Locke was faced with the task of getting someone to fill Tommy Morton's shoes at one of the tackles, when Morton left Reserve to attend Lafayette. Locke's only strong point on the line is the tackle position held by "Big" Bill West, all-Ohio choice in 1925.

One of three sophomores who will start Saturday's game is Jensen, who prepped at Toledo Libbey. At present he is used at one of the halves.

Ellsworth and Doll, experienced Case ends will be in the line-up when the Scientists play Akron university there Saturday. Ellsworth has made up his scholastic deficiencies, and Doll has recovered from injuries received in practice early in the season.

John Carroll will play in Grove City Saturday with an intact team.

Former Tiger Stars To be Seen In Action

Benedict, Johnson, Ferris, Comer, Mundy and Others of Like Caliber Signed by Manager Dalrymple for Opener With Salineville; Clash Starts at 4 o'clock.

THE Chester Valley Stars, the district's newest gridiron combine, will pry the lid off the independent season here Sunday afternoon in a game with Salineville at Smith Field, Chester.

The contest is scheduled to begin at 4 o'clock, the starting time being delayed on account of Sunday's world's series game in New York.

Manager Dalrymple has obtained the services of not a few notable stars who will serve with the Chesterites for the season.

Chief among them are Benedict, Midland, Pa., lad, a center who has had experience in University of Pittsburgh squads; Guy Johnson, of Toronto, former Washington and Jefferson collegian; Dave Ferris, of Toronto, former Toronto Tigers' quarterback; Fred Comer, ex-Toronto fullback and one of the outstanding semi-pro backfield men of the valley; "Goose" Mundy, of this city, who distinguished himself at an end position with the Toronto Tigers in recent years.

In addition to these notables, the Chester lineup will boast a large amount of exceptionally good local talent, including Manager Dalrymple, R. Cox, W. Morrow, P. Cebula, T. Springer, "Buck" Gerace, Herb Patton, Eddie Carriher, P. Tope, A. Roach, A. Brozak and "Chap" Finley.

BIG TEN TEAMS PLAY IN EAST

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 1.—Three Big Ten conference gridiron machines will invade the east this year, but New York will get to see one in action for the first time when Ohio State meets the Columbian Lion at the Polo grounds on October 16. Jack Wilce's proteges will be accorded the honor of the first invasion of the metropolis, and alumni from all over the east are planning to make the conference's debut a memorable one.

On the same day, Chicago will invade Philadelphia to do battle with Pennsylvania, while Michigan is the third stranger from out west, meeting the Navy at Baltimore on October 30. Illinois, another conference member, meets Pennsylvania, but the clash is slated for Urbana, Ill.

Ohio State's appearance is in return for the Blue and White's invasion of the new University stadium here last year. The Buckeyes came before the east's eye after this struggle in which they vanquished the easterners, 9-0.

Coach Wilce will have an experienced eleven to pit against Columbia next month. One hundred or more candidates answered the initial call, and with all but three regulars from the 1925 team back, indications point to a good season.

Aiding Wilce are Andy Oberlander, erstwhile Dartmouth luminary who will work on the backfield aspirants. Sam Williams, late of Iowa State, will take care of the general work, while Charley Snedden, a stellar guard on the 1916 Ohio State varsity which took the Big Ten title that year, will be back again.

The Buckeyes face a hard schedule this season, although they have an open date, the first time in many years. The lid will be pried off October 2, when Wittenberg will return to the schedule after an absence of 16 years. Ohio Wesleyan, State's oldest opponent, will be on the program for the following Saturday and then the Columbia event. Iowa comes here October 23; Chicago is met at Chicago, October 30; the next Saturday is open; Michigan here on November 13 for the Homecoming game, and Illinois follows, being set for Urbana on November 20.

Punters, passers, line plungers, broken field runners, off-tackle line smashers, drop-kickers, place-kickers, players who excel in one or several of these arts are included in the host of backfield candidates.

At least one good kicker in the backfield with one or more among the linesmen in reserve, has been the policy of Coach Yost since he first inaugurated his system of coaching back in 1900. In accordance with this ost will have three veteran kickers to choose from when composing his backfield; Bennie Friedman, Jim Miller and Louie Gilbert. In addition to these, Frank Harrigan, the Grand Lakewood, O.; Paul Cook, Muskegon; Harold Greenwald, Chicago, and Dudley Black, Poland, O., are all past masters at the punting game and will be available for instant use if necessary.

Forward passers are again bountiful in the roster of Michigan backs this season. Capt. Friedman, will, of course, bear the burden of Michigan's passing attack this season, unless something unforseen interferes, while assisting him at the work will be George Rich, Bill Puckelwartz, Chicago; Louie Gilbert, Kalamazoo; Frank Harrington, Henry Totzke, Benton Harbor and Austin Hughes, Gary, Ind. Never before has such an array of Michigan pigskin tossers been assembled at once on Ferry Field and Michigan supporters will place much faith in the ability of these men to aid in the Walverine scoring attack.

In Molenda, Friedman, Cook, Rich, Stewart, Weber, Babcock, and Miller, Michigan has as sweet a running combination as any school in the big ten. "Big Bo" Molenda, the Detroit line smasher is all set for another season of line cracking and fans won't soon forget what he did to Navy, Ohio State and Minnesota last year. Not far behind him is Walter Weber, the Mt. Siemens line smasher who replaced Molenda in several games last year.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 51 Golf Champions.
"Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

Since it apparently is necessary for the wrists to describe a turning movement somewhere in the back swing, the question that bothers many players is where does this turning begin and how much of it is there? If you start the clubhead back directly along the ground, with the face kept square to the direction line for six or eight inches and the clubhead about even with the hands, the body will start almost immediately a turning movement to the right. When the clubhead has reached a point about half way back the forearms should have turned, naturally and without any attention from the player, so that the toe of the club points directly upward. This turning is almost imperceptible and takes place because the left arm is kept rather close to the body. You have then but to elevate the club upward, with the head held still, and you are in position.

(Cpyright John F. Dille Co.)

RESERVE LINE IS WEAKENED

Cathcart, Veteran End, Is Declared Ineligible.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 1.—Western Reserve university's already weak line was given another jolt today when Tom Cathcart, veteran end, was declared ineligible on the eve of the pioneer's initial game with Baldwin-Wallace here Saturday afternoon. Cathcart will be replaced by Morris.

At the beginning of the season Coach Locke was faced with the task of getting someone to fill Tommy Morton's shoes at one of the tackles, when Morton left Reserve to attend Lafayette. Locke's only strong point on the line is the tackle position held by "Big" Bill West, all-Ohio choice in 1925.

One of three sophomores who will start Saturday's game is Jensen, who prepped at Toledo Libbey. At present he is used at one of the halves.

Ellsworth and Doll, experienced Case ends will be in the line-up when the Sciertists play Akron university there Saturday. Ellsworth has made up his scholastic deficiencies, and Doll has recovered from injuries received in practice early in the season.

John Carroll will play in Grove City Saturday with an intact team.

Former Tiger Stars To be Seen In Action

Benedict, Johnson, Ferris, Comer, Mundy and Others of Like Caliber Signed by Manager Dalrymple for Opener With Salineville; Clash Starts at 4 o'clock.

THE Chester Valley Stars, the district's newest gridiron combine, will pry the lid off the independent season here Sunday afternoon in a game with Salineville at Smith Field, Chester.

The contest is scheduled to begin at 4 o'clock, the starting time being delayed on account of Sunday's world's series game in New York.

Manager Dalrymple has obtained the services of not a few notable stars who will serve with the Chesterites for the season.

Chief among them are Benedict, Midland, Pa., lad, a center who has had experience in University of Pittsburgh squads; Guy Johnson, of Toronto, former Washington and Jefferson collegian; Dave Ferris, of Toronto, former Toronto Tigers' quarterback; Fred Comer, ex-Toronto fullback and one of the outstanding semi-pro backfield men of the valley; "Goose" Mundy, of this city, who distinguished himself at an end position with the Toronto Tigers in recent years.

In addition to these notables, the Chester lineup will boast a large amount of exceptionally good local talent, including Manager Dalrymple, R. Cox, W. Morrow, P. Cebula, T. Springer, "Buck" Gerace, Herb Patton, Eddie Carriher, P. Tope, A. Roach, A. Brozak and "Chap" Finley.

BIG TEN TEAMS PLAY IN EAST

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 1.—Three Big Ten conference gridiron machines will invade the east this year, but New York will get to see one in action for the first time when Ohio State meets the Columbian Lion at the Polo grounds on October 16. Jack Wilce's proteges will be accorded the honor of the first invasion of the metropolis, and alumni from all over the east are planning to make the conference's debut a memorable one.

On the same day, Chicago will invade Philadelphia to do battle with Pennsylvania, while Michigan is the third stranger from out west, meeting the Navy at Baltimore on October 30. Illinois, another conference member, meets Pennsylvania, but the clash is slated for Urbana, Ill.

Ohio State's appearance is in return for the Blue and White's invasion of the new University stadium here last year. The Buckeyes came before the east's eye after this struggle in which they vanquished the easterners, 9-0.

Coach Wilce will have an experienced eleven to pit against Columbia next month. One hundred or more candidates answered the initial call, and with all but three regulars from the 1925 team back, indications point to a good season.

Aiding Wilce are Andy Oberlander, erstwhile Dartmouth luminary who will work on the backfield aspirants. Sam Williams, late of Iowa State, will take care of the general work, while Charley Snedden, a stellar guard on the 1916 Ohio State varsity which took the Big Ten title that year, will be back again.

The Buckeyes face a hard schedule this season, although they have an open date, the first time in many years. The lid will be pried off October 2, when Wittenberg will return to the schedule after an absence of 16 years. Ohio Wesleyan, State's oldest opponent, will be on the program for the following Saturday and then the Columbia event. Iowa comes here October 23; Chicago is met at Chicago, October 30; the next Saturday is open; Michigan here on November 13 for the Homecoming game, and Illinois follows, being set for Urbana on November 20.

"I Am After Money, Not More Fame" Says Suzanne, Ready for U. S. Play

Striking photo of Suzanne Lenglen, taken since her arrival in U. S., and Mary K. Browne, her first opponent.

Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, world's greatest tennis star, now in the United States as a professional for a series of exhibitions that will net her $110,000, states frankly that her trip is to be purely a business jaunt. She sees no reason, however, why one cannot play as well for money as for "sport."

CURFEW LAW MAKES IT HARD JOB TO TELL WHO'S WHO AMONG FLAPPERS

CHICAGO.—A method for distinguishing the "flapper" of high school age from her married sister, her mother and her grandmother was being sought by Chicago police today following renewed attempts to enforce the city's 25 year old "Curfew" law.

The ordinance, written into the city's law record when Chicago was only a thriving mid-western city, was revived recently at the instance of welfare workers and police heads in an effort to stamp out the alarming increase in the number of attacks on young girls. It was made effective following a period in which two girls, victims of morons' attacks, died and more than a score of others suffered injuries which physicians declared might cripple them for life.

And then the troubles of policemen on night beats began.

Immediately came complaints of the patrolmen that with the prevailing modes of short skirts, rolled hose and bobbed hair for grandmother and granddaughter alike, they were unable to distinguish the "kids" from their elders. In the first week that the law was in operation, scores of young married women were hailed into police stations where they indignantly produced proof that they were over the "curfew" age.

Despite this, however, police declared that enforcement of the curfew regulations was bringing desired results. Under the terms of the law, girls under sixteen found on the streets unescorted after 10 p. m., are brought into police stations and held until their parents come for them.

During a bull fight at Grao, Valencia, recently, a youth, fired with the daring of the toreadors, jumped into the ring and attempted to play the bull with a cloak, the infuriated animal charging him and driving its horns through his chest.

HINTS BRIBERY IN HALL-MILLS MURDER QUIZ

Former State Trooper Says He Was Paid Large Sum.

SENSATION LOOMS

Henry L. Dickman Brings New Names Into Case.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Oct. 1.—Sensational revelations appeared imminent in the Hall-Mills case today as the result of statements made by Henry L. Dickman, former New Jersey state trooper and one of the investigators of the murder mystery, in 1923.

Dickman, according to Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson, has signed an affidavit for the state in which he admits he was paid a large amount of money and told to leave New Jersey.

Dickman brought several new names into the case, some of them involved in the alleged bribe, Smpson revealed, and named two others as eye-witnesses of the murder of the Rev. Edward Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills.

"His disclosures are so sensational that I cannot take the responsibility of making them public," the prosecutor said. "Investigators are already on the trail of some of the persons he named, however.

"He swore he was the last man working on the case and was paid a substantial sum of money to leave New Jersey."

Cast Wide Open.

"Dickman has broken the case wide open."

Dickman is expected by Simpson to displace Mrs. Jane Gibson, the "pig woman," as the star witness for the state. It is possible that the prosecution may abandon its plan for application tomorrow before Supreme Court Justice Parker and County Judge Cleary, for severance in the trials of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the murdered pastor, her brothers, Henry and Willie Stevens, and their cousin, Henry De La B. Carpender.

The revelations of Dickman are expected to have a most vital bearing on the state's plans for the trial of the four for the dual murders. In many details, it is said, his statements corroborate the story told by Mrs. Gibson.

Dickman is reported to have said he feared becoming insane if he did not "come across" and aid the prosecution. His statement, taken in Castle William, Governors Island, where he [illegible] as an army prisoner, is carefully [illegible] by Simpson.

Immunity from prosecution has been promised Dickman by Senator Simpson. Dickman was reported as greatly relieved at having unburdened himself. He said he had been on the verge of a mental and nervous breakdown over his secrets.

From a source close to the prosecution it was learned that Dickman in his statement told of writing to a friend living in Middlesex county asking advice as to whether to surrender after he had accepted a huge bribe and left New Jersey.

The friend in reply told Dickman he was foolish to remain in hiding and urged him to return and make a "clean breast" and face the consequences.

Dickman's Statement.

Dickman's statement described his fight to San Francisco and spending the last of the money in days of penniless want. Dickman went to the Philippines and enlisted in the army, subsequently deserting. He was picked up and convicted of desertion. It was while he was serving his sentence in Alcatraz island, San Francisco bay, that he was discovered. A Jersey City detective, referred to by investigators as "Detective X," was sent to interview him but was unable to see him.

It was "Detective X" who interviewed Dickman at Governor's Island after the former state trooper was returned east at the request of Governor Moore. This was disclosed today by Senator Simpson.

Dickman told "Detective X" of receiving a large sum of money in bills in a New Brunswick hotel with the understanding he would "blow out of town." Dickman said he was given three days to leave.

Gorsline Denies Divorce Story.

Dickman's story will require three or four days in which to be checked up, the prosecutor said today. Of particular interest is his identification of a man and a woman as having been at the scene of the murders on the old Phillips farm, near the New Brunswick [illegible]ty line, four years ago. These persons are expected to be questioned today.

Dickman is said to have declared he worked for persons since arrested in connection with the case.

Denial was made today by Ralph V. Gorsline, former vestryman in Dr. Hall's church, that his wife is planning to seek divorce. Gorsline's admissions that he was with Miss Catherine Rastall, choir singer, at the Phillips farm on the night of the murders place him among the leading state witnesses.

DEATH ROLL

Strauss Funeral Services.

Funeral services for Earl Strauss, 47 years old, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the home, 219 Washington street, in charge of Rev. Frank G. Fowler, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Burial will be made in Spring Grove cemetery.

September Rains Broke All Records Except in 1913

WOOSTER, O., Oct. 1.—September rainfall in Ohio broke all monthly records for the last 35 years, with the exception of 1913 when the disastrous flood occurred, according to figures announced today by the Ohio experiment station here.

For September the record shows 8.51 inches of rain, compared with 11.84 in 1913. The closest to this amount of precipitation was in 1911 when 6.53 inches fell.

Rainfall for the year still is short of the 35-year average of 31.37 inches—only 29.72 inches so far having fallen.

PENNEY STORE WILL OPEN NEW HOME SATURDAY

Company Moves to Leland Thompson Building.

NEW FIXTURES

Women's, Children's and Men's Apparel Featured.

New home of the J. C. Penney company, the world's largest department stores, in the recently-completed Leland Thompson building, East Fifth street and Crook alley, will be formally opened Saturday.

Removal from the old location in the Brookes building, West Fifth and Market streets, started last Monday, the entire week being required to place the establishment in readiness for the opening.

The store will occupy the entire building—basement, first and mezzanine floors — with a floor space of more than 13,000 square feet. Counters, show cases, racks and other fixtures are new, adding to the attractiveness of the interior.

The J. C. Penney store here was opened in September, 1923. Since then the business has increased to such a marked degree that the old home in the Brookes building proves too small. The new building will permit the carrying of larger stocks as well as additional lines of merchandise. The company has a 20-year lease on the building.

The J. C. Penney company operates 745 stores throughout the United States on a strictly cash [illegible] dren's read-to-wear clothing, millinery, dry goods, men's and boys' clothing and furnishings and footwear will be handled.

J. E. Hedenquist, who has been in charge of the East Liverpool store since its establishment, will continue as manager of the company in its new location.

POLAND FACES FRESH CRISIS

Pilsudski Calls Upon Parliament to Form Cabinet.

WARSAW, Oct. 1.—Marshal Pilsudski today was charged in parliament with the task of forming a new cabinet, following the failure of the Bartel ministry to obtain a vote of confidence on the budget question. He accepted, and immediately called a conference of political leaders.

The serious nature of the friction between the enemies and adherents of Marshal Pilsudski was indicated when several officers early today raided the bedroom of former Finance Minister Vichowski, leader of the opposition.

The ex-cabinet member was beaten into unconsciousness and a gas bomb was left in his room.

Assassins Riddle Deputy Sheriff's Body With Bullets

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Oct. 1.—Mystery surrounds the death here of Deputy Sheriff Reilly Hall, of Mingo county, whose body was riddled with bullets by assassins who ambushed the officer as he stepped from his house.

Police officials believe that Hall, who owned extensive farm properties in the Pigeon Creek section, may have been murdered by enemies he had made through his aggressive enforcement of the laws.

GIRL CHANNEL SWIMMER QUITS

DOVER, Eng., Sept. 1.—Miss Jane Darwin, the English girl who left Cape Griz-Nez at 3:22 o'clock yesterday afternoon in an attempt to swim the English channel, gave up the attempt at 7:53 this morning because of the coldness of the water.

She was three miles from Dover when she abandoned further efforts, having made little progress since midnight.

MAN IS NABBED AFTER POLICE WIN FOOT RACE

Carl Lahmers, Akron, Held on Worthless Check Count.

FLEES TO RIVER

Accused Taken to Summit County Metropolis.

Carl Lahmers, 28, Akron, charged with issuing a fraudulent check, was arrested at 5 o'clock last night after an exciting foot race along the river bank.

Armed with a warrant issued at Akron, Captain of Police Conley went to the Peter Milliron stables at the foot of Washington street to arrest Lahmers. He located his man and started to take him to the city jail with him, when Lahmers made a dash for liberty.

He dodged around the horse stalls in the barn and then raced toward the river bank with Conley at his heels. The policeman overtook the prisoner at the water's edge.

The warrant for Lahmers' arrest was signed by L. Ostroff, Akron. He is charged with having drawn a check on the Depositors Savings & Trust Company of Akron for $30 September 18. He was traced to thiss city through mail received in Akron.

Two Akron detectives arrived here this morning to take the prisoner back to the Summit county metropolis.

Alan Cobham Lands In London After 28,000-mile Flight

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Alan Cobham alighted on the Thames opposite the house of parliament at 2:15 this afternoon, completing his 28,000-mile flight from England to Australia and back.

A huge crowd lined the banks of the river and the bridges to cheer his arrival. The flyer was welcomed on the terrace of the common by cabinet [illegible] members of the house of [illegible] and [illegible] other prominent personages.

Cobham started his flight on June 30. His actual flying time was 320 hours.

Murderer Battles Guards on Way From Cell to Gallows

BUTTE, Mont., Oct. 1.—With the fury and strength of a maniac, Tony Vetters, convicted of the murder of three men in Butte last November, launched an attack on his wardens here early today when they came to take him from his cell to the gallows.

Vetters was finally subdued after tear gas was poured into his cell from all sides until he became unconscious. His legs and arms were then strapped as he lay on the floor, but upon being pushed between two guards on his way to the execution chamber he regained consciousness sufficiently to vehemently curse his guards, dying with a curse upon his lips.

Vetters dropped to his death at 12:28 and six minutes later was pronounced dead by jail officials.

Madison Pastor Goes to Washington, Pa., Church.

Rev. C. Howard Rank, Ph. D., pastor of the Madison Presbyterian church, was granted a letter of dismissal from the Steubenville presbytery at a meeting in the Emmanuel Presbyterian church, [illegible] avenue, last evening. Rev. Mr. Rank has accepted a call to the Independence Presbyterian church at Washington, Pa.

Dr. Kinsey Stewart, pastor of the Yellow Creek Presbyterian church, was named moderator for the Madison church. Rev. A. C. Bonacci, who conducts the Faith Italian Mission, Wellsville, was received into membership, having been transferred from the Wheeling presbytery.

Rev. E. A. Walker was installed as pastor of the Emmanuel church. Rev. Frederic A. Dean, of the Second Presbyterian church, presided. Ministers taking part in the ceremony were Rev. Thomas Berger, of the Second Presbyterian church, Wellsville; Rev. Mr. Rank, of the Madison church, and Rev. J. Boyd York, of the Carrollton Presbyterian church.

Fall meeting of the presbytery will be held in the Jewett Presbyterian church on October 18.

Col. Williams Drowns

11 o'clock," Mrs. Williams said. "When he told me he was having a good time, I told him to stay and enjoy himself."

Mrs. Williams said she did not know with whom the colonel dined.

Colonel Williams was 48 years old and was born in New York. He had an excellent record as an officer in the marine corps.

Colonel Williams gained nation-wide notoriety at San Diego last spring when General Smedley Butler, his commanding officer, accused him of appearing in public in an intoxicated condition. Colonel William was found guilty by a court-martial, the aftermath of the famous "cocktail party" which was held at his home and at which General Butler was a guest.

Following this incident, Colonel Williams was sent to San Francisco, where he has been in charge of recruiting for the marine corps.

Investigation Ordered.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—An official investigation will be ordered by the navy department into the accidental death of Col. Alexander Williams, U. S. marine corps, who drove his automobile off the dock into San Francisco bay to his death.

The investigation will determine whether Col. William's death was "in line of duty."

Confirmation of Death.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Confirmation of the death by drowning of Col. Alexander Williams in San Francisco, was received by the U. S. marine corps here today.

A message apprising headquarters of the colonel's death stated that he was endeavoring to find a boat belonging to some friends along the docks when he made a wrong turn with his automobile and plunged into the water.

News of Williams' death was received with real regret among marine corps officers here, as he was a popular officer with a distinguished war record.

Former Attorney General Had Nothing to do With Approval of American Metals Company Case, Says Witness.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty had nothing to do with the approval of the attorney general office's of the 7,000,000 claim of Richard Merton, German financier, Senator Guy B. Goff, of West Virginia, testified today at the trial of Daugherty and former Alien Property Custodian Thomas W. Miller. Goff was assistant attorney general under Daugherty and approved the claim.

After identifying the claim papers bearing his signature, Goff emphatically declared that he had never spoken to Daugherty, the late Jesse Smith, Daugherty's close friend, or to the late John T. King, who received $441,000 for putting the claim through, regarding the claim.

"Was your approval of the American Metals company claim influenced by any other consideration than your own views?" Goff was asked.

"I was never influenced by Mr. Daugherty in my action with reference to the claim but only by my own judgment as I saw the facts as they were presented to me," Senator Goff replied.

The senator declared he never knew John T. King and "never had any conference or communication with him."

President Attends Harris-Sutherland Wedding in Capital

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Capital society and officialdom headed by President and Mrs. Coolidge, will mingle with luminaries of the sporting world this afternoon to witness the marriage of Stanley (Bucky) Harris, manager of the Washington ball club, to Elizabeth Sutherland, daughter of the alien property custodian, and formerly United States senator from West Virginia.

The ceremony will be performed at the home of the bride.

The sensational young player who twice piloted the Senators to the league championship and once to the world championship plans to take in the first two games of the world's series at New York preliminary to a six weeks' honeymoon in Europe.

Harris' age was given as 29; Miss Sutherland's as 21.

BRITISH MINE STRIKE BROKEN

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The last hope of the British coal mine strikers went glimmering today when a Central News dispatch from Ostend that the International Miners' federation, now in session there, had rejected the proposal of English mine leaders for an international coal strike.

With starvation staring them in the face, and cold weather rapidly approaching, the miners were going back to the pits in large numbers, their leaders being unable to stop them.

Two hundred thousand, or one fifth of the total number of miners, had returned to work today.

Train Wrecks Tractor; Four Unhurt.

YOUNGSTOWN, Oct. 1.—Four city employes narrowly escaped death here today when they jumped from a tractor used in road work just before it was struck by a Pennsylvania passenger train. The tractor was demolished.

"Fair and Warmer" Weather Promised For Title Game

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—"Fair and warmer" is promised by the weather man for the opening game of the world series tomorrow. Warm, balmy temperatures prevailed today and there was plenty of sunshine.

2 Killed, 2 Hurt When Fire Sweeps Home in Michigan

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Oct. 1.—Two children are dead here today and the mother and a third child are fighting for life as the result of fire which destroyed their home.

Mrs. Henry Cook and baby, Lillian Joyce, were saved from death when the mother leaped from a second story window with the baby in her arms.

The other children, Pearl, 8, and Henry, Jr., were cut off by the flames from rescuers.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Both the industrial and railroad stocks displayed a buoyant tone in the early trading today as a result of the improvement in the money market situation, the decline in call money to 5½ per cent, and refusal of the directors of the New York federal reserve bank to advance the rediscount rate.

Renewing its spectacular forward movement, General Motors advanced in good form to a new high record price of 163½. Good buying of United States Steel, Dupont, Allied Chemical and other industrial leaders represented largely the retreat of the bearish professionals who have been pounding the market in the last few weeks. Price gains in the bulk of these stocks were moderate, but the volume of trading showed a considerable increase over the previous sessions of the week.

An increase in the amount of money offered in the call loan market was taken to indicate the completion of the preparation for October settlements and the prompt return of corporation funds to the banks. New forward moves were started in a number of the railroad shares, under the lead of Union Pacific, in which strong "inside buying" was reported.

Warner Pictures A declined a few points when the president of the company denied that Famous Players were negotiating to purchase the assets of the company. Negotiations are under way, it is reported for the lease of the Vitaphone and other patents to Famous Players and Pathe. Public utility stocks were steady and coppers firm.

MILLIONS BET ON SERIES; 6-5 ODDS ON YANKS

Figures Will Prevail Until After First Game.

RESERVES SOLD

All-night Vigilants. Will Line up at Stadium.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Heavy speculation in Wall Street on the outcome of the world series reached high tide today when it was announced that approximately $300,000 had been waged with the firm of W. L. Darnell & Company alone on the chances of the Yankees and Cardinals. With other Wall Street houses taking on all comers, it was estimated that the amount of money riding with the winner and loser had run into millions, with more on the way as the hour of the series opening tomorrow approaches on leaden feet.

The Yanks, in spite of an influx of St. Louis money, continued to rule steady favorites at odds of 6 to 5 and it seemed probable that these figures would prevail, at least until after tomorrow's premiere. There will be a hasty hedging of bets, however, and a consequent shifting of odds if the Cardinals win the first game.

Predict Crowd of 63,000.

World series games were supposed to have become a bromide in New York, yet there wasn't a reserve seat to be had today—except at speculators' prices—and with fair weather promised for tomorrow, a sell-out crowd of 63,000 seemed certain. All reserved seats for the first three New York games were disposed of days ago, according to a statement from the New York headquarters, but more than 30,000 general admission seats will be available each day when the gates are thrown open at 10 o'clock each morning.

Before nightfall tonight, the customary lines of all-night vigilants will begin to form at the stadium portals for the big game tomorrow.

For this game, too, the Yanks were quoted by Darnell's as the favorites largely because of the general expectation that Herb Pennock, star left hander, will pitch and the fact that the Cards will be operating in strange surroundings. The Cardinals were said to be wavering between Grove Cleveland Alexander, veteran right hander, and "Lefty" Bill Sherdel as their first game choice.

Hornsby Leads Team.

The odds of this game have remained steadily at 6 to 5 and today a bet of $3,000 to $2,500 on the Yanks was placed with Darnell's, indicating that the price might be a permanent one. Indeed, there seemed to be no breaking of the confidence in the Yanks, it being estimated that the odds on the series might go to 13 to 10 before tonight.

Much of the St. Louis money went down at odds of 3 to 1 that the Cards will not win the first two New York games and at 15 to 1 that they will not win four straight.

The Cardinals indulged in their final workout at the Stadium this morning and it was an impressive drill. Hornsby, Bottomley, Southworth, Bell and others smote resounding drives to distant acres and the punch and morale of the club, heightened by the death of Hornsby's mother, never was more in evidence than in the fielding practice.

Some of the Cards complained that they were bothered by the lights and shadows at the Stadium but their work didn't indicate as much. Hafey and Southworth alternated in playing the sun in left field and seemed to experience little difficulty with its rays.

The Yanks made ready to start their final drill shortly after lunch.

Hornsby was quiet but gave no other outward sign of his distress.

URUGUAY RIVER FLOODS CITIES

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 1. — Reports from the state of Rio Grande Del Sol that the Uruguay river is rising rapidly, and that already a large number of cities and towns are under water. Thousands of persons are said to have been driven from their homes by the floods and the state government is mobilizing relief forces.

HINTS BRIBERY IN HALL-MILLS MURDER QUIZ

Former State Trooper Says He Was Paid Large Sum.

SENSATION LOOMS

Henry L. Dickman Brings New Names Into Case.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Oct. 1.—Sensational revelations appeared imminent in the Hall-Mills case today as the result of statements made by Henry L. Dickman, former New Jersey state trooper and one of the investigators of the murder mystery, in 1923.

Dickman, according to Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson, has signed an affidavit for the state in which he admits he was paid a large amount of money and told to leave New Jersey.

Dickman brought several new names into the case, some of them involved in the alleged bribe, Smpson revealed, and named two others as eye-witnesses of the murder of the Rev. Edward Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills.

"His disclosures are so sensational that I cannot take the responsibility of making them public," the prosecutor said. "Investigators are already on the trail of some of the persons he named, however.

"He swore he was the last man working on the case and was paid a substantial sum of money to leave New Jersey."

Cast Wide Open.

"Dickman has broken the case wide open."

Dickman is expected by Simpson to displace Mrs. Jane Gibson, the "pig woman," as the star witness for the state. It is possible that the prosecution may abandon its plan for application tomorrow before Supreme Court Justice Parker and County Judge Cleary, for severance in the trials of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the murdered pastor, her brothers, Henry and Willie Stevens, and their cousin, Henry De La B. Carpender.

The revelations of Dickman are expected to have a most vital bearing on the state's plans for the trial of the four for the dual murders. In many details, it is said, his statements corroborate the story told by Mrs. Gibson.

Dickman is reported to have said he feared becoming insane if he did not "come across" and aid the prosecution. His statement, taken in Castle William, Governors Island, where he [illegible] as an army prisoner, is careguarded by Simpson.

Immunity from prosecution has been promised Dickman by Senator Simpson. Dickman was reported as greatly relieved at having unburdened himself. He said he had been on the verge of a mental and nervous breakdown over his secrets.

From a source close to the prosecution it was learned that Dickman in his statement told of writing to a friend living in Middlesex county asking advice as to whether to surrender after he had accepted a huge bribe and left New Jersey.

The friend in reply told Dickman he was foolish to remain in hiding and urged him to return and make a "clean breast" and face the consequences.

Dickman's Statement.

Dickman's statement described his fight to San Francisco and spending the last of the money in days of penniless want. Dickman went to the Philippines and enlisted in the army, subsequently deserting. He was picked up and convicted of desertion. It was while he was serving his sentence in Alcatraz island, San Francisco bay, that he was discovered. A Jersey City detective, referred to by investigators as "Detective X," was sent to interview him but was unable to see him.

It was "Detective X" who interviewed Dickman at Governor's Island after the former state trooper was returned east at the request of Governor Moore. This was disclosed today by Senator Simpson.

Dickman told "Detective X" of receiving a large sum of money in bills in a New Brunswick hotel with the understanding he would "blow out of town." Dickman said he was given three days to leave.

Gorsline Denies Divorce Story.

Dickman's story will require three or four days in which to be checked up, the prosecutor said today. Of particular interest is his identification of a man and a woman as having been at the scene of the murders on the old Phillips farm, near the New Brunswick [illegible]ty line, four years ago. These persons are expected to be questioned today.

Dickman is said to have declared he worked for persons since arrested in connection with the case.

Denial was made today by Ralph V. Gorsline, former vestryman in Dr. Hall's church, that his wife is planning to seek divorce. Gorsline's admissions that he was with Miss Catherine Rastall, choir singer, at the Phillips farm on the night of the murders place him among the leading state witnesses.

DEATH ROLL

Strauss Funeral Services.

Funeral services for Earl Strauss, 47 years old, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the home, 219 Washington street, in charge of Rev. Frank G. Fowler, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Burial will be made in Spring Grove cemetery.

September Rains Broke All Records Except in 1913

WOOSTER, O., Oct. 1.—September rainfall in Ohio broke all monthly records for the last 35 years, with the exception of 1913 when the disastrous flood occurred, according to figures announced today by the Ohio experiment station here.

For September the record shows 8.51 inches of rain, compared with 11.84 in 1913. The closest to this amount of precipitation was in 1911 when 6.53 inches fell.

Rainfall for the year still is short of the 35-year average of 31.37 inches—only 29.72 inches so far having fallen.

PENNEY STORE WILL OPEN NEW HOME SATURDAY

Company Moves to Leland Thompson Building.

NEW FIXTURES

Women's, Children's and Men's Apparel Featured.

New home of the J. C. Penney company, the world's largest department stores, in the recently-completed Leland Thompson building, East Fifth street and Crook alley, will be formally opened Saturday.

Removal from the old location in the Brookes building, West Fifth and Market streets, started last Monday, the entire week being required to place the establishment in readiness for the opening.

The store will occupy the entire building—basement, first and mezzanine floors — with a floor space of more than 13,000 square feet. Counters, show cases, racks and other fixtures are new, adding to the attractiveness of the interior.

The J. C. Penney store here was opened in September, 1923. Since then the business has increased to such a marked degree that the old home in the Brookes building proves too small. The new building will permit the carrying of larger stocks as well as additional lines of merchandise. The company has a 20-year lease on the building.

The J. C. Penney company operates 745 stores throughout the United States on a strictly cash [illegible] dren's read-to-wear clothing, millinery, dry goods, men's and boys' clothing and furnishings and footwear will be handled.

J. E. Hedenquist, who has been in charge of the East Liverpool store since its establishment, will continue as manager of the company in its new location.

POLAND FACES FRESH CRISIS

Pilsudski Calls Upon Parliament to Form Cabinet.

WARSAW, Oct. 1.—Marshal Pilsudski today was charged in parliament with the task of forming a new cabinet, following the failure of the Bartel ministry to obtain a vote of confidence on the budget question. He accepted, and immediately called a conference of political leaders.

The serious nature of the friction between the enemies and adherents of Marshal Pilsudski was indicated when several officers early today raided the bedroom of former Finance Minister Vichowski, leader of the opposition.

The ex-cabinet member was beaten into unconsciousness and a gas bomb was left in his room.

Assassins Riddle Deputy Sheriff's Body With Bullets

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Oct. 1.—Mystery surrounds the death here of Deputy Sheriff Reilly Hall, of Mingo county, whose body was riddled with bullets by assassins who ambushed the officer as he stepped from his house.

Police officials believe that Hall, who owned extensive farm properties in the Pigeon Creek section, may have been murdered by enemies he had made through his aggressive enforcement of the laws.

GIRL CHANNEL SWIMMER QUITS

DOVER, Eng., Sept. 1.—Miss Jane Darwin, the English girl who left Cape Griz-Nez at 3:22 o'clock yesterday afternoon in an attempt to swim the English channel, gave up the attempt at 7:53 this morning because of the coldness of the water.

She was three miles from Dover when she abandoned further efforts, having made little progress since midnight.

MAN IS NABBED AFTER POLICE WIN FOOT RACE

Carl Lahmers, Akron, Held on Worthless Check Count.

FLEES TO RIVER

Accused Taken to Summit County Metropolis.

Carl Lahmers, 28, Akron, charged with issuing a fraudulent check, was arrested at 5 o'clock last night after an exciting foot race along the river bank.

Armed with a warrant issued at Akron, Captain of Police Conley went to the Peter Milliron stables at the foot of Washington street to arrest Lahmers. He located his man and started to take him to the city jail with him, when Lahmers made a dash for liberty.

He dodged around the horse stalls in the barn and then raced toward the river bank with Conley at his heels. The policeman overtook the prisoner at the water's edge.

The warrant for Lahmers' arrest was signed by L. Ostroff, Akron. He is charged with having drawn a check on the Depositors Savings & Trust Company of Akron for $30 September 18. He was traced to thiss city through mail received in Akron.

Two Akron detectives arrived here this morning to take the prisoner back to the Summit county metropolis.

Alan Cobham Lands In London After 28,000-mile Flight

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Alan Cobham alighted on the Thames opposite the house of parliament at 2:15 this afternoon, completing his 28,000-mile flight from England to Australia and back.

A huge crowd lined the banks of the river and the bridges to cheer his arrival. The flyer was welcomed on the terrace of the common by cabinet [illegible] officials, members of the house of [illegible] and other prominent personages.

Cobham started his flight on June 30. His actual flying time was 320 hours.

Murderer Battles Guards on Way From Cell to Gallows

BUTTE, Mont., Oct. 1.—With the fury and strength of a maniac, Tony Vetters, convicted of the murder of three men in Butte last November, launched an attack on his wardens here early today when they came to take him from his cell to the gallows.

Vetters was finally subdued after tear gas was poured into his cell from all sides until he became unconscious. His legs and arms were then strapped as he lay on the floor, but upon being pushed between two guards on his way to the execution chamber he regained consciousness sufficiently to vehemently curse his guards, dying with a curse upon his lips.

Vetters dropped to his death at 12:28 and six minutes later was pronounced dead by jail officials.

"Artery Brushing" Is Newest Means To Rejuvenation

Dr. von Nemes Nagy.

A Vienna physician, Dr. Zoltan von Nemes Nagy, announces a new rejuvenation process which he describes as "brushing out the main arteries" with a solution of phenol. By his system nervous contractions of the arteries are voided and the free circulation of the blood secured.

Senator Goff Exonerates Daugherty In Merton Claim

REV. C. H. RANK ACCEPTS CALL

Madison Pastor Goes to Washington, Pa., Church.

Rev. C. Howard Rank, Ph. D., pastor of the Madison Presbyterian church, was granted a letter of dismissal from the Steubenville presbytery at a meeting in the Emmanuel Presbyterian church, [illegible] avenue, last evening. Rev. Mr. Rank has accepted a call to the Independence Presbyterian church at Washington, Pa.

Dr. Kinsey Stewart, pastor of the Yellow Creek Presbyterian church, was named moderator for the Madison church. Rev. A. C. Bonacci, who conducts the Faith Italian Mission, Wellsville, was received into membership, having been transferred from the Wheeling presbytery.

Rev. E. A. Walker was installed as pastor of the Emmanuel church. Rev. Frederic A. Dean, of the Second Presbyterian church, presided. Ministers taking part in the ceremony were Rev. Thomas Berger, of the Second Presbyterian church, Wellsville; Rev. Mr. Rank, of the Madison church, and Rev. J. Boyd York, of the Carrollton Presbyterian church.

Fall meeting of the presbytery will be held in the Jewett Presbyterian church on October 18.

Col. Williams Drowns

11 o'clock," Mrs. Williams said. "When he told me he was having a good time, I told him to stay and enjoy himself."

Mrs. Williams said she did not know with whom the colonel dined.

Colonel Williams was 48 years old and was born in New York. He had an excellent record as an officer in the marine corps.

Colonel Williams gained nation-wide notoriety at San Diego last spring when General Smedley Butler, his commanding officer, accused him of appearing in public in an intoxicated condition. Colonel William was found guilty by a court-martial, the aftermath of the famous "cocktail party" which was held at his home and at which General Butler was a guest.

Following this incident, Colonel Williams was sent to San Francisco, where he has been in charge of recruiting for the marine corps.

Investigation Ordered.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—An official investigation will be ordered by the navy department into the accidental death of Col. Alexander Williams, U. S. marine corps, who drove his automobile off the dock into San Francisco bay to his death.

The investigation will determine whether Col. William's death was "in line of duty."

Confirmation of Death.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Confirmation of the death by drowning of Col. Alexander Williams in San Francisco, was received by the U. S. marine corps here today.

A message apprising headquarters of the colonel's death stated that he was endeavoring to find a boat belonging to some friends along the docks when he made a wrong turn with his automobile and plunged into the water.

News of Williams' death was received with real regret among marine corps officers here, as he was a popular officer with a distinguished war record.

Former Attorney General Had Nothing to do With Approval of American Metals Company Case, Says Witness.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty had nothing to do with the approval of the attorney general office's of the 7,000,000 claim of Richard Merton, German financier, Senator Guy B. Goff, of West Virginia, testified today at the trial of Daugherty and former Alien Property Custodian Thomas W. Miller. Goff was assistant attorney general under Daugherty and approved the claim.

After identifying the claim papers bearing his signature, Goff emphatically declared that he had never spoken to Daugherty, the late Jesse Smith, Daugherty's close friend, or to the late John T. King, who received $441,000 for putting the claim through, regarding the claim.

"Was your approval of the American Metals company claim influenced by any other consideration than your own views?" Goff was asked.

"I was never influenced by Mr. Daugherty in my action with reference to the claim but only by my own judgment as I saw the facts as they were presented to me," Senator Goff replied.

The senator declared he never knew John T. King and "never had any conference or communication with him."

President Attends Harris-Sutherland Wedding in Capital

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Capital society and officialdom headed by President and Mrs. Coolidge, will mingle with luminaries of the sporting world this afternoon to witness the marriage of Stanley (Bucky) Harris, manager of the Washington ball club, to Elizabeth Sutherland, daughter of the alien property custodian, and formerly United States senator from West Virginia.

The ceremony will be performed at the home of the bride.

The sensational young player who twice piloted the Senators to the league championship and once to the world championship plans to take in the first two games of the world's series at New York preliminary to a six weeks' honeymoon in Europe.

Harris' age was given as 29; Miss Sutherland's as 21.

BRITISH MINE STRIKE BROKEN

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The last hope of the British coal mine strikers went glimmering today when a Central News dispatch from Ostend that the International Miners' federation, now in session there, had rejected the proposal of English mine leaders for an international coal strike.

With starvation staring them in the face, and cold weather rapidly approaching, the miners were going back to the pits in large numbers, their leaders being unable to stop them.

Two hundred thousand, or one fifth of the total number of miners, had returned to work today.

Train Wrecks Tractor; Four Unhurt.

YOUNGSTOWN, Oct. 1.—Four city employes narrowly escaped death here today when they jumped from a tractor used in road work just before it was struck by a Pennsylvania passenger train. The tractor was demolished.

"Fair and Warmer" Weather Promised For Title Game

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—"Fair and warmer" is promised by the weather man for the opening game of the world series tomorrow. Warm, balmy temperatures prevailed today and there was plenty of sunshine.

2 Killed, 2 Hurt When Fire Sweeps Home in Michigan

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Oct. 1.—Two children are dead here today and the mother and a third child are fighting for life as the result of fire which destroyed their home.

Mrs. Henry Cook and baby, Lillian Joyce, were saved from death when the mother leaped from a second story window with the baby in her arms.

The other children, Pearl, 8, and Henry, Jr., were cut off by the flames from rescuers.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Both the industrial and railroad stocks displayed a buoyant tone in the early trading today as a result of the improvement in the money market situation, the decline in call money to 5½ per cent, and refusal of the directors of the New York federal reserve bank to advance the rediscount rate.

Renewing its spectacular forward movement, General Motors advanced in good form to a new high record price of 163½. Good buying of United States Steel, Dupont, Allied Chemical and other industrial leaders represented largely the retreat of the bearish professionals who have been pounding the market in the last few weeks. Price gains in the bulk of these stocks were moderate, but the volume of trading showed a considerable increase over the previous sessions of the week.

An increase in the amount of money offered in the call loan market was taken to indicate the completion of the preparation for October settlements and the prompt return of corporation funds to the banks. New forward moves were started in a number of the railroad shares, under the lead of Union Pacific, in which strong "inside buying" was reported.

Warner Pictures A declined a few points when the president of the company denied that Famous Players were negotiating to purchase the assets of the company. Negotiations are under way, it is reported for the lease of the Vitaphone and other patents to Famous Players and Pathe. Public utility stocks were steady and coppers firm.

MILLIONS BET ON SERIES; 6-5 ODDS ON YANKS

Figures Will Prevail Until After First Game.

RESERVES SOLD

All-night Vigilants Will Line up at Stadium.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Heavy speculation in Wall Street on the outcome of the world series reached high tide today when it was announced that approximately $300,000 had been waged with the firm of W. L. Darnell & Company alone on the chances of the Yankees and Cardinals. With other Wall Street houses taking on all comers, it was estimated that the amount of money riding with the winner and loser had run into millions, with more on the way as the hour of the series opening tomorrow approaches on leaden feet.

The Yanks, in spite of an influx of St. Louis money, continued to rule steady favorites at odds of 6 to 5 and it seemed probable that these figures would prevail, at least until after tomorrow's premiere. There will be a hasty hedging of bets, however, and a consequent shifting of odds if the Cardinals win the first game.

Predict Crowd of 63,000.

World series games were supposed to have become a bromide in New York, yet there wasn't a reserve seat to be had today—except at speculators' prices—and with fair weather promised for tomorrow, a sell-out crowd of 63,000 seemed certain. All reserved seats for the first three New York games were disposed of days ago, according to a statement from the New York headquarters, but more than 30,000 general admission seats will be available each day when the gates are thrown open at 10 o'clock each morning.

Before nightfall tonight, the customary lines of all-night vigilants will begin to form at the stadium portals for the big game tomorrow.

For this game, too, the Yanks were quoted by Darnell's as the favorites largely because of the general expectation that Herb Pennock, star left hander, will pitch and the fact that the Cards will be operating in strange surroundings. The Cardinals were said to be wavering between Grove Cleveland Alexander, veteran right hander, and "Lefty" Bill Sherdel as their first game choice.

Hornsby Leads Team.

The odds of this game have remained steadily at 6 to 5 and today a bet of $3,000 to $2,500 on the Yanks was placed with Darnell's, indicating that the price might be a permanent one. Indeed, there seemed to be no breaking of the confidence in the Yanks, it being estimated that the odds on the series might go to 13 to 10 before tonight.

Much of the St. Louis money went down at odds of 3 to 1 that the Cards will not win the first two New York games and at 15 to 1 that they will not win four straight.

The Cardinals indulged in their final workout at the Stadium this morning and it was an impressive drill. Hornsby, Bottomley, Southworth, Bell and others smote resounding drives to distant acres and the punch and morale of the club, heightened by the death of Hornsby's mother, never was more in evidence than in the fielding practice.

Some of the Cards complained that they were bothered by the lights and shadows at the Stadium but their work didn't indicate as much. Hafey and Southworth alternated in playing the sun in left field and seemed to experience little difficulty with its rays.

The Yanks made ready to start their final drill shortly after lunch.

Hornsby was quiet but gave no other outward sign of his distress.

URUGUAY RIVER FLOODS CITIES

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 1. — Reports from the state of Rio Grande Del Sol that the Uruguay river is rising rapidly, and that already a large number of cities and towns are under water. Thousands of persons are said to have been driven from their homes by the floods and the state government is mobilizing relief forces.

HINTS BRIBERY IN HALL-MILLS MURDER QUIZ

Former State Trooper Says He Was Paid Large Sum.

SENSATION LOOMS

Henry L. Dickman Brings New Names Into Case.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Oct. 1.—Sensational revelations appeared imminent in the Hall-Mills case today as the result of statements made by Henry L. Dickman, former New Jersey state trooper and one of the investigators of the murder mystery, in 1923.

Dickman, according to Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson, has signed an affidavit for the state in which he admits he was paid a large amount of money and told to leave New Jersey.

Dickman brought several new names into the case, some of them involved in the alleged bribe, Smpson revealed, and named two others as eye-witnesses of the murder of the Rev. Edward Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills.

"His disclosures are so sensational that I cannot take the responsibility of making them public," the prosecutor said. "Investigators are already on the trail of some of the persons he named, however.

"He swore he was the last man working on the case and was paid a substantial sum of money to leave New Jersey."

Cast Wide Open.

"Dickman has broken the case wide open."

Dickman is expected by Simpson to displace Mrs. Jane Gibson, the "pig woman," as the star witness for the state. It is possible that the prosecution may abandon its plan for application tomorrow before Supreme Court Justice Parker and County Judge Cleary, for severance in the trials of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the murdered pastor, her brothers, Henry and Willie Stevens, and their cousin, Henry De La B. Carpender.

The revelations of Dickman are expected to have a most vital bearing on the state's plans for the trial of the four for the dual murders. In many details, it is said, his statements corroborate the story told by Mrs. Gibson.

Dickman is reported to have said he feared becoming insane if he did not "come across" and aid the prosecution. His statement, taken in Castle William, Governors Island, where he served as an army prisoner, is carefully guarded by Simpson.

Immunity from prosecution has been promised Dickman by Senator Simpson. Dickman was reported as greatly relieved at having unburdened himself. He said he had been on the verge of a mental and nervous breakdown over his secrets.

From a source close to the prosecution it was learned that Dickman in his statement told of writing to a friend living in Middlesex county asking advice as to whether to surrender after he had accepted a huge bribe and left New Jersey.

The friend in reply told Dickman he was foolish to remain in hiding and urged him to return and make a "clean breast" and face the consequences.

Dickman's Statement.

Dickman's statement described his fight to San Francisco and spending the last of the money in days of penniless want. Dickman went to the Philippines and enlisted in the army, subsequently deserting. He was picked up and convicted of desertion. It was while he was serving his sentence in Alcatraz island, San Francisco bay, that he was discovered. A Jersey City detective, referred to by investigators as "Detective X," was sent to interview him but was unable to see him.

It was "Detective X" who interviewed Dickman at Governor's Island after the former state trooper was returned east at the request of Governor Moore. This was disclosed today by Senator Simpson.

Dickman told "Detective X" of receiving a large sum of money in bills in a New Brunswick hotel with the understanding he would "blow out of town." Dickman said he was given three days to leave.

Gorsline Denies Divorce Story.

Dickman's story will require three or four days in which to be checked up, the prosecutor said today. Of particular interest is his identification of a man and a woman as having been at the scene of the murders on the old Phillips farm, near the New Brunswick city line, four years ago. These persons are expected to be questioned today.

Dickman is said to have declared he worked for persons since arrested in connection with the case.

Denial was made today by Ralph V. Gorsline, former vestryman in Dr. Hall's church, that his wife is planning to seek divorce. Gorsline's admissions that he was with Miss Catherine Rastall, choir singer, at the Phillips farm on the night of the murders place him among the leading state witnesses.

DEATH ROLL

Strauss Funeral Services.

Funeral services for Earl Strauss, 47 years old, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the home, 219 Washington street, in charge of Rev. Frank G. Fowler, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Burial will be made in Spring Grove cemetery.

September Rains Broke All Records Except in 1913

WOOSTER, O., Oct. 1.—September rainfall in Ohio broke all monthly records for the last 35 years, with the exception of 1913 when the disastrous flood occurred, according to figures announced today by the Ohio experiment station here.

For September the record shows 8.51 inches of rain, compared with 11.84 in 1913. The closest to this amount of precipitation was in 1911 when 6.53 inches fell.

Rainfall for the year still is short of the 35-year average of 31.37 inches—only 29.72 inches so far having fallen.

PENNEY STORE WILL OPEN NEW HOME SATURDAY

Company Moves to Leland Thompson Building.

NEW FIXTURES

Women's, Children's and Men's Apparel Featured.

New home of the J. C. Penney company, the world's largest department stores, in the recently-completed Leland Thompson building, East Fifth street and Crook alley, will be formally opened Saturday.

Removal from the old location in the Brookes building, West Fifth and Market streets, started last Monday, the entire week being required to place the establishment in readiness for the opening.

The store will occupy the entire building—basement, first and mezzanine floors — with a floor space of more than 13,000 square feet. Counters, show cases, racks and other fixtures are new, adding to the attractiveness of the interior.

The J. C. Penney store here was opened in September, 1923. Since then the business has increased to such a marked degree that the old home in the Brookes building proves too small. The new building will permit the carrying of larger stocks as well as additional lines of merchandise. The company has a 20-year lease on the building.

The J. C. Penney company operates 745 stores throughout the United States on a strictly cash basis, dealing in men's read-to-wear clothing, millinery, dry goods, men's and boys' clothing and furnishings and footwear will be handled.

J. E. Hedenquist, who has been in charge of the East Liverpool store since its establishment, will continue as manager of the company in its new location.

Police officials believe that Hall, who owned extensive farm properties in the Pigeon Creek section, may have been murdered by enemies he had made through his aggressive enforcement of the laws.

GIRL CHANNEL SWIMMER QUITS

DOVER, Eng., Sept. 1.—Miss Jane Darwin, the English girl who left Cape Griz-Nez at 3:22 o'clock yesterday afternoon in an attempt to swim the English channel, gave up the attempt at 7:53 this morning because of the coldness of the water.

She was three miles from Dover when she abandoned further efforts, having made little progress since midnight.

MAN IS NABBED AFTER POLICE WIN FOOT RACE

Carl Lahmers, Akron, Held on Worthless Check Count.

FLEES TO RIVER

Accused Taken to Summit County Metropolis.

Carl Lahmers, 28, Akron, charged with issuing a fraudulent check, was arrested at 5 o'clock last night after an exciting foot race along the river bank.

Armed with a warrant issued at Akron, Captain of Police Conley went to the Peter Milliron stables at the foot of Washington street to arrest Lahmers. He located his man and started to take him to the city jail with him, when Lahmers made a dash for liberty.

He dodged around the horse stalls in the barn and then raced toward the river bank with Conley at his heels. The policeman overtook the prisoner at the water's edge.

The warrant for Lahmers' arrest was signed by L. Ostroff, Akron. He is charged with having drawn a check on the Depositors Savings & Trust Company of Akron for $30 September 18. He was traced to thiss city through mail received in Akron.

Two Akron detectives arrived here this morning to take the prisoner back to the Summit county metropolis.

Alan Cobham Lands In London After 28,000-mile Flight

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Alan Cobham alighted on the Thames opposite the house of parliament at 2:15 this afternoon, completing his 28,000-mile flight from England to Australia and back.

A huge crowd lined the banks of the river and the bridges to cheer his arrival. The flyer was welcomed on the terrace of the common by cabinet officials, members of the house of other prominent personages.

Cobham started his flight on June 30. His actual flying time was 320 hours.

Murderer Battles Guards on Way From Cell to Gallows

BUTTE, Mont., Oct. 1.—With the fury and strength of a maniac, Tony Vetters, convicted of the murder of three men in Butte last November, launched an attack on his wardens here early today when they came to take him from his cell to the gallows.

Vetters was finally subdued after tear gas was poured into his cell from all sides until he became unconscious. His legs and arms were then strapped as he lay on the floor, but upon being pushed between two guards on his way to the execution chamber he regained consciousness sufficiently to vehemently curse his guards, dying with a curse upon his lips.

Vetters dropped to his death at 12:28 and six minutes later was pronounced dead by jail officials.

"Artery Brushing" Is Newest Means To Rejuvenation

Dr. von Nemes Nagy.

A Vienna physician, Dr. Zoltan von Nemes Nagy, announces a new rejûvenation process which he describes as "brushing out the main arteries" with a solution of phenol. By his system nervous contractions of the arteries are voided and the free circulation of the blood secured.

Senator Gott Exonerates Daugherty In Merton Claim

REV. C. H. RANK ACCEPTS CALL

Madison Pastor Goes to Washington, Pa., Church.

Rev. C. Howard Rank, Ph. D., pastor of the Madison Presbyterian church, was granted a letter of dismissal from the Steubenville presbytery at a meeting in the Emmanuel Presbyterian church, Third avenue, last evening. Rev. Mr. Rank has accepted a call to the Independence Presbyterian church at Washington, Pa.

Dr. Kinsey Stewart, pastor of the Yellow Creek Presbyterian church, was named moderator for the Madison church. Rev. A. C. Bonacci, who conducts the Faith Italian Mission, Wellsville, was received into membership, having been transferred from the Wheeling presbytery.

Rev. E. A. Walker was installed as pastor of the Emmanuel church. Rev. Frederic A. Dean, of the Second Presbyterian church, presided. Ministers taking part in the ceremony were Rev. Thomas Berger, of the Second Presbyterian church, Wellsville; Rev. Mr. Rank, of the Madison church, and Rev. J. Boyd York, of the Carrollton Presbyterian church.

Fall meeting of the presbytery will be held in the Jewett Presbyterian church on October 18.

Col. Williams Drowns

11 o'clock," Mrs. Williams said. "When he told me he was having a good time, I told him to stay and enjoy himself."

Mrs. Williams said she did not know with whom the colonel dined.

Colonel Williams was 48 years old and was born in New York. He had an excellent record as an officer in the marine corps.

Colonel Williams gained nation-wide notoriety at San Diego last spring when General Smedley Butler, his commanding officer, accused him of appearing in public in an intoxicated condition. Colonel William was found guilty by a court-martial, the aftermath of the famous "cocktail party" which was held at his home and at which General Butler was a guest.

Following this incident, Colonel Williams was sent to San Francisco, where he has been in charge of recruiting for the marine corps.

Investigation Ordered.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—An official investigation will be ordered by the navy department into the accidental death of Col. Alexander Williams, U. S. marine corps, who drove his automobile off the dock into San Francisco bay to his death.

The investigation will determine whether Col. William's death was "in line of duty."

Confirmation of Death.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Confirmation of the death by drowning of Col. Alexander Williams in San Francisco, was received by the U. S. marine corps here today.

A message apprising headquarters of the colonel's death stated that he was endeavoring to find a boat belonging to some friends along the docks when he made a wrong turn with his automobile and plunged into the water.

News of Williams' death was received with real regret among marine corps officers here, as he was a popular officer with a distinguished war record.

Former Attorney General Had Nothing to do With Approval of American Metals Company Case, Says Witness.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty had nothing to do with the approval of the attorney general office's of the 7,000,000 claim of Richard Merton, German financier, Senator Guy B. Goff, of West Virginia, testified today at the trial of Daugherty and former Alien Property Custodian Thomas W. Miller. Goff was assistant attorney general under Daugherty and approved the claim.

After identifying the claim papers bearing his signature, Goff emphatically declared that he had never spoken to Daugherty, the late Jesse Smith, Daugherty's close friend, or to the late John T. King, who received $441,000 for putting the claim through, regarding the claim.

"Was your approval of the American Metals company claim influenced by any other consideration than your own views?" Goff was asked.

"I was never influenced by Mr. Daugherty in my action with reference to the claim but only by my own judgment as I saw the facts as they were presented to me," Senator Goff replied.

The senator declared he never knew John T. King and "never had any conference or communication with him."

President Attends Harris-Sutherland Wedding in Capital

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Capital society and officialdom headed by President and Mrs. Coolidge, will mingle with luminaries of the sporting world this afternoon to witness the marriage of Stanley (Bucky) Harris, manager of the Washington ball club, to Elizabeth Sutherland, daughter of the alien property custodian, and formerly United States senator from West Virginia.

The ceremony will be performed at the home of the bride.

The sensational young player who twice piloted the Senators to the league championship and once to the world championship plans to take in the first two games of the world's series at New York preliminary to a six weeks' honeymoon in Europe.

Harris' age was given as 29; Miss Sutherland's as 21.

BRITISH MINE STRIKE BROKEN

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The last hope of the British coal mine strikers went glimmering today when a Central News dispatch from Ostend that the International Miners' federation, now in session there, had rejected the proposal of English mine leaders for an international coal strike.

With starvation staring them in the face, and cold weather rapidly approaching, the miners were going back to the pits in large numbers, their leaders being unable to stop them.

Two hundred thousand, or one fifth of the total number of miners, had returned to work today.

Train Wrecks Tractor; Four Unhurt.

YOUNGSTOWN, Oct. 1.—Four city employes narrowly escaped death here today when they jumped from a tractor used in road work just before it was struck by a Pennsylvania passenger train. The tractor was demolished.

"Fair and Warmer" Weather Promised For Title Game

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—"Fair and warmer" is promised by the weather man for the opening game of the world series tomorrow. Warm, balmy temperatures prevailed today and there was plenty of sunshine.

2 Killed, 2 Hurt When Fire Sweeps Home in Michigan

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Oct. 1.—Two children are dead here today and the mother and a third child are fighting for life as the result of fire which destroyed their home.

Mrs. Henry Cook and baby, Lillian Joyce, were saved from death when the mother leaped from a second story window with the baby in her arms.

The other children, Pearl, 8, and Henry, Jr., were cut off by the flames from rescuers.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Both the industrial and railroad stocks displayed a buoyant tone in the early trading today as a result of the improvement in the money market situation, the decline in call money to 5½ per cent, and refusal of the directors of the New York federal reserve bank to advance the rediscount rate.

Renewing its spectacular forward movement, General Motors advanced in good form to a new high record price of 163½. Good buying of United States Steel, Dupont, Allied Chemical and other industrial leaders represented largely the retreat of the bearish professionals who have been pounding the market in the last few weeks. Price gains in the bulk of these stocks were moderate, but the volume of trading showed a considerable increase over the previous sessions of the week.

An increase in the amount of money offered in the call loan market was taken to indicate the completion of the preparation for October settlements and the prompt return of corporation funds to the banks. New forward moves were started in a number of the railroad shares, under the lead of Union Pacific, in which strong "inside buying" was reported.

Warner Pictures A declined a few points when the president of the company denied that Famous Players were negotiating to purchase the assets of the company. Negotiations are under way, it is reported for the lease of the Vitaphone and other patents to Famous Players and Pathe. Public utility stocks were steady and coppers firm.

MILLIONS BET ON SERIES; 6-5 ODDS ON YANKS

Figures Will Prevail Until After First Game.

RESERVES SOLD

All-night Vigilants Will Line up at Stadium.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Heavy speculation in Wall Street on the outcome of the world series reached high tide today when it was announced that approximately $300,000 had been waged with the firm of W. L. Darnell & Company alone on the chances of the Yankees and Cardinals. With other Wall Street houses taking on all comers, it was estimated that the amount of money riding with the winner and loser had run into millions, with more on the way as the hour of the series opening tomorrow approaches on leaden feet.

The Yanks, in spite of an influx of St. Louis money, continued to rule steady favorites at odds of 6 to 5 and it seemed probable that these figures would prevail, at least until after tomorrow's premiere. There will be a hasty hedging of bets, however, and a consequent shifting of odds if the Cardinals win the first game.

Predict Crowd of 63,000.

World series games were supposed to have become a bromide in New York, yet there wasn't a reserve seat to be had today—except at speculators' prices—and with fair weather promised for tomorrow, a sell-out crowd of 63,000 seemed certain. All reserved seats for the first three New York games were disposed of days ago, according to a statement from the New York headquarters, but more than 30,000 general admission seats will be available each day when the gates are thrown open at 10 o'clock each morning.

Before nightfall tonight, the customary lines of all-night vigilants will begin to form at the stadium portals for the big game tomorrow.

For this game, too, the Yanks were quoted by Darnell's as the favorites largely because of the general expectation that Herb Pennock, star left hander, will pitch and the fact that the Cards will be operating in strange surroundings. The Cardinals were said to be wavering between Grove Cleveland Alexander, veteran right hander, and "Lefty" Bill Sherdel as their first game choice.

Hornsby Leads Team.

The odds of this game have remained steadily at 6 to 5 and today a bet of $3,000 to $2,500 on the Yanks was placed with Darnell's, indicating that the price might be a permanent one. Indeed, there seemed to be no breaking of the confidence in the Yanks, it being estimated that the odds on the series might go to 13 to 10 before tonight.

Much of the St. Louis money went down at odds of 3 to 1 that the Cards will not win the first two New York games and at 15 to 1 that they will not win four straight.

The Cardinals indulged in their final workout at the Stadium this morning and it was an impressive drill. Hornsby, Bottomley, Southworth, Bell and others smote resounding drives to distant acres and the punch and morale of the club, heightened by the death of Hornsby's mother, never was more in evidence than in the fielding practice.

Some of the Cards complained that they were bothered by the lights and shadows at the Stadium but their work didn't indicate as much. Hafey and Southworth alternated in playing the sun in left field and seemed to experience little difficulty with its rays.

The Yanks made ready to start their final drill shortly after lunch.

Hornsby was quiet but gave no other outward sign of his distress.

URUGUAY RIVER FLOODS CITIES

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 1. — Reports from the state of Rio Grande Del Sol that the Uruguay river is rising rapidly, and that already a large number of cities and towns are under water. Thousands of persons are said to have been driven from their homes by the floods and the state government is mobilizing relief forces.

Chicago Gold Coast to Pay High For Army-Navy Football Tickets

Five Hundred "Auction" Seats Expected to Bring From $2,000 to $2,500 Apiece, From Wealthy Grid Patrons.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—This city's Armour's, Swifts and other rich families of the "Gold Coast" along the castle-studded banks of Lake Michigan will pay from $2,000 to $2,500 to witness the Army-Navy football classic at Soldier's Field here November 27.

The game, played for the first time away from the East, will be the mid-west's outstanding sporting social event.

Faced by the tremendous cost of bringing the entire membership of the United States military academies at West Point and Annapolis here to witness the game, Chicagoans in charge of arrangements for the gridiron clash have announced that 500 boxes in the stadium will be auctioned off to society leaders.

Each box contains six sets and all are located in desirable sections.

Thirty boxes are to be used for the army and navy and a special box has been reserved for President and Mrs. Coolidge, who may attend.

Prices for regular tickets to the game have not yet been announced but the choice seats will cost in the neighborhood of $10 each.

If the sale of boxes to Chicago's wealthy brings a large sum, it is possible some seats as low as $5 each will be offered the public.

The agreement under which the historic game will be played in Chicago provides that not only must Chicago transport the two teams and the school's membership here but in addition 40,000 tickets are alloted to each academy. These tickets are to be sold by the academies to their alumni and the proceeds will enrich the schools' athletic funds.

Forty thousand tickets will be offered the public in addition to the select box seats.

It is estaimated that more than $300,000 will be needed to entertain the teams and the middies and cadets in Chicago. They will be brought here on special trains and assigned quarters in the city's most luxuriant hotels.

Congressmen, who in past years have received several tickets each for the Army-Navy game, will be disappointed this fall. The committee in charge has announced that congressmen and their friends will not be permitted to buy any large amount of the much-sought pasteboards.

At least ten per cent of the tickets, it is already admitted, will fall into the hands of speculators and it is predicted that ordinary tickets calling for space in the far-flung sections will bring as high as $50 each on the day of the game.

To prevent ticket scalpers from operating to any great extent a careful check is to be made of the names of all individuals, making reservations for a large number of seats.

POLICE BATTLE DRUG PEDDLING ALONG RIVIERA

French Coast is Called "Snowbird's Paradise."

TRAFFIC GROWS

Heroin Popular, But Cocaine and Opium are Obtainable.

NICE, FRANCE—The Riviera is a "Snowbird's Paradise." Police officials admit that drug peddling and drug taking on the French Riviera is more prevalent than ever but claim they are powerless to stop it.

"If we arrested every person caught selling drugs there would not be enough prisons to hold them," a plain clothes drug-squad detective told International News Service. "We have to be content with confiscating their stock in trade and escorting them across the frontier. Of course if he is a vendor in a big way we do put him in the 'violin.'"

A drug distributor at Cannes, one of the higher ups, arrested recently, was almost immediately released on 10,000 francs bail, about the amount of his profits for one week in the season.

"Snow" For $1.50.

At any hour of the day or night between October 15 and April 15, sufficient "snow" can be obtained for a dollar and a half for two or three sniffs, which furnishes the habitual drug taker at least an hour of sweet dreams.

The winter season is the golden harvest for drug sellers, their chief customers being society women who take to drugs in order to calm nerves that have been shattered by long hours of high stake gambling, dancing a surfeit of expensive champagne of poor quality.

Heroin is the drug chiefly sold although cocaine and opium may be obtained in large quantities by persons prepared to pay the high prices demanded.

All these drugs are easily brought from Marseilles, at which port they arrive clandestinely from the Orient. Large quantities are also smuggled in from Italy by way of the numerous mule paths which traverse the mountains.

The chief Riviera distributors are said to be an Egyptian and his daughter living in a superb apartment, who are received in the best society of the city.

Many Sub-Agents.

They have sub-agents scattered in all the principal tourist centers who, in turn, distribute to the actual sellers. These consist of managers and attendants of high class bars, women attendants of ladies cloak rooms in theatres, casinos and luxury hotels, and last, but not least, the "camelots" who during the season sell opera glasses, pearl necklaces, carpets, scarves and postcards on the various Riviera promenades.

A small shop in a good section of Nice, ostensibly dealing in Japanese fancy goods and articles appealing particularly to women, also sells clandestinely. The Japanese articles are only camouflage. The real business is the sale of opium pipes and opium. In a large room at the rear of the shop tastefully decorated, both men and women are welcome to indulge in a pipe or two.

The agreement under which the historic game will be played in Chicago provides that not only must Chicago transport the two teams and the school's membership here but in addition 40,000 tickets are alloted to each academy. These tickets are to be sold by the academies to their alumni and the proceeds will enrich the schools' athletic funds.

Forty thousand tickets will be offered the public in addition to the select box seats.

It is estaimated that more than $300,000 will be needed to entertain the teams and the middies and cadets in Chicago. They will be brought here on special trains and assigned quarters in the city's most luxuriant hotels.

Congressmen, who in past years have received several tickets each for the Army-Navy game, will be disappointed this fall. The committee in charge has announced that congressmen and their friends will not be permitted to buy any large amount of the much-sought pasteboards.

At least ten per cent of the tickets, it is already admitted, will fall into the hands of speculators and it is predicted that ordinary tickets calling for space in the far-flung sections will bring as high as $50 each on the day of the game.

To prevent ticket scalpers from operating to any great extent a careful check is to be made of the names of all individuals, making reservations for a large number of seats.

POLICE BATTLE DRUG PEDDLING ALONG RIVIERA

French Coast is Called "Snowbird's Paradise."

TRAFFIC GROWS

Heroin Popular, But Cocaine and Opium are Obtainable.

NICE, FRANCE—The Riviera is a "Snowbird's Paradise." Police officials admit that drug peddling and drug taking on the French Riviera is more prevalent than ever but claim they are powerless to stop it.

"If we arrested every person caught selling drugs there would not be enough prisons to hold them," a plain clothes drug-squad detective told International News Service. "We have to be content with confiscating their stock in trade and escorting them across the frontier. Of course if he is a vendor in a big way we do put him in the 'violin.'"

A drug distributor at Cannes, one of the higher ups, arrested recently, was almost immediately released on 10,000 francs bail, about the amount of his profits for one week in the season.

"Snow" For $1.50.

At any hour of the day or night between October 15 and April 15, sufficient "snow" can be obtained for a dollar and a half for two or three sniffs, which furnishes the habitual drug taker at least an hour of sweet dreams.

The winter season is the golden harvest for drug sellers, their chief customers being society women who take to drugs in order to calm nerves that have been shattered by long hours of high stake gambling, dancing a surfeit of expensive champagne of poor quality.

Heroin is the drug chiefly sold although cocaine and opium may be obtained in large quantities by persons prepared to pay the high prices demanded.

All these drugs are easily brought from Marseilles, at which port they arrive clandestinely from the Orient. Large quantities are also smuggled in from Italy by way of the numerous mule paths which traverse the mountains.

The chief Riviera distributors are said to be an Egpytian and his daughter living in a superb apartment, who are received in the best society of the city.

Many Sub-Agents.

They have sub-agents scattered in all the principal tourist centers who, in turn, distribute to the actual sellers. These consist of managers and attendants of high class bars, women attendants of ladies cloak rooms in theatres, casinos and luxury hotels, and last but not least, the "camelots" who during the season sell opera glasses, pearl necklaces, carpets, scarves and postcards on the various Riviera promenades.

A small shop in a good section of Nice, ostensibly dealing in Japanese fancy goods and articles appealing particularly to women, also sells clandestinely. The Japanese articles are only camouflage. The real business is the sale of opium pipes and opium. In a large room at the rear of the shop tastefully decorated, both men and women are welcome to indulge in a pipe or two.

Chicago Gold Coast to Pay High For Army-Navy Football Tickets

Five Hundred "Auction" Seats Expected to Bring From $2,000 to $2,500 Apiece From Wealthy Grid Patrons.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—This city's Armour's, Swifts and other rich families of the "Gold Coast" along the castle-studded banks of Lake Michigan will pay from $2,000 to $2,500 to witness the Army-Navy football tilt in Soldier's Field here November 27.

The game, played for the first time away from the East, will be the mid-west's outstanding sporting social event.

Faced by the tremendous cost of bringing the entire membership of the United States military academies at West Point and Annapolis here to witness the game, Chicagoans in charge of arrangements for the grid-iron clash have announced that 500 boxes in the stadium will be auctioned off to society leaders.

Each box contains six sets and all are located in desirable sections.

Thirty boxes are to be used for the army and navy and a special box has been reserved for President and Mrs. Coolidge, who may attend.

Prices for regular tickets to the game have not yet been announced but the choice seats will cost in the neighborhood of $10 each.

Slayer of Mother Plans New Life When She Is Freed

Dorothy Ellingson, Who Has Served Year of 10-year Sentence, Writes to Her Father.

SAN FRANCISCO.—The girl in whom psychologists of the nation were interested a year or more ago—whose elemental mind baffled science, and whose punishment was a problem—has at last answered the riddle herself.

Dorothy Ellingson, at the close of her first year in San Quentin for the murder of her mother, has broken silence.

In an amazing letter to her father she answers the questions that were once on everybody's lips:

"What should they do with a 16-year-old girl who kills her own mother?

"Will imprisonment soften or harden her?

"Are there any illusions left, any thoughts of repentance, any hope for the future?"

Facing nine more years of her 10-year term for manslaughter, which may be reduced to six for good behavior, the "jazz girl" of the past seems to be making a struggle to live down the trampled vintage of her youth.

Here is her letter, received the other day by her father, Joseph Ellingson, San Francisco tailor, who with each stitch that he takes still dreams of the titian-haired child coming back to him a free woman:

"San Quentin Penitentiary, Cal.
"No. 41209.
"My Dearest Father:

"I sincerely hope, father, dear, that I may have the opportunity of showing you some day that I realize the many mistakes that I have made and the unhappy hours that I have caused you and my loved ones to suffer; but I am going to pay it all back to you in showing you that in the declining path of your life that you still have somebody that will come to you and care for you in that time when you most need one's love.

"I received your most welcome letter the other day, and also the lovely records, and father dear, I want to thank you so much for them because you have no idea of the many hours of enjoyment that I, and others, receive from them.

"Although we are confined here within four gray walls we are able to spend many happy hours enjoying music from the radio and our phonographs, and also spend time reading many fine books.

"Now, father, perhaps you think today that I am rather sentimental, but I am just expressing my heart's desire to show you that I want to do right, live right and think right by the grace of God.

"Hope you have seen Earl (her brother) lately, and that he and his wife are well.

"Hoping that I may hear from you soon, because every letter brings extreme pleasure to me, I will say goodbye, with bushels of love.

As ever, your daughter.
"DOROTHY.

"P. S.—I would like to take up some line of study by which I would be in a position when I leave here to step out and earn a good living for myself. I wish you would give it some serious thought, and when I write or I see you again you can give me some advice on this line.—D."

MOTHER DIDN'T KNOW HER SON AFTER 30 YEARS, BUT FATHER DID

"I'm rather tired driving, and would like to know if I could obtain lodging for the night," inquired a stranger at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Walters, who reside on a farm near Coleman, on the Erie railroad, northwest of Lisbon.

"Well, we're pretty filled up at this time with our own family, and I don't think we can help you," Mrs. Walters replied.

Walters was at the barn, and the stranger went to him, and the same inquiry was made. Walters looked at the stranger.

"You're my son, Ed," the elder Walters said. "I know that nose."

Then the two men went to a farm farm adjoining where a brother of Edward Walters resides.

"Want to sell some wheat?" the brother was asked.

"No! Just have enough for our own needs," he replied.

Then the brother stared at the stranger. "You're Ed." he exclaimed.

"Well, I guess we'll find room for you," the father said to the son whom he had not seen for 30 years.

Edward Walters, who resides in Oregon, drove back east to see the home folks. He did not advise his parents he was coming.

"I just wanted to drop in on them," he said.

Assessors Use Airplanes.

In Connecticut tax assessors are using with good effect, photographs of interior lands, to help in their assessments. In one county the tax list recorded 1551 barns, garages and sheds but when the air photographers had finished their task it was found there were 2,902 such buildings in that area with the result that the tax list increased in value more than $10,000,000.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How to Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water rich after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Slayer of Mother Plans New Life When She Is Freed

Dorothy Ellingson, Who Has Served Year of 10-year Sentence, Writes to Her Father.

SAN FRANCISCO.—The girl in whom psychologists of the nation were interested a year or more ago—whose elemental mind baffled science, and whose punishment was a problem—has at last answered the riddle herself.

Dorothy Ellingson, at the close of her first year in San Quentin for the murder of her mother, has broken silence.

In an amazing letter to her father she answers the questions that were once on everybody's lips:

"What should they do with a 16-year-old girl who kills her own mother?

"Will imprisonment soften or harden her?

"Are there any illusions left, any thoughts of repentance, any hope for the future?"

Facing nine more years of her 10-year term for manslaughter, which may be reduced to six for good behavior, the "jazz girl" of the past seems to be making a struggle to live down the trampled vintage of her youth.

Here is her letter, received the other day by her father, Joseph Ellingson, San Francisco tailor, who with each stitch that he takes still dreams of the titian-haired child coming back to him a free woman:

"San Quentin Penitentiary, Cal.
"No. 41209.
"My Dearest Father:

"I sincerely hope, father, dear, that I may have the opportunity of showing you some day that I realize the many mistakes that I have made and the unhappy hours that I have caused you and my loved ones to suffer; but I am going to pay it all back to you in showing you that in the declining path of your life that you still have somebody that will come to you and care for you in that time when you most need one's love.

"I received your most welcome letter the other day, and also the lovely records, and father dear, I want to thank you so much for them because you have no idea of the many hours of enjoyment that I, and others, receive from them.

"Although we are confined here within four gray walls we are able to spend many happy hours enjoying music from the radio and our phonographs, and also spend time reading many fine books.

"Now, father, perhaps you think today that I am rather sentimental, but I am just expressing my heart's desire to show you that I want to do right, live right and think right by the grace of God.

"Hope you have seen Earl (her brother) lately, and that he and his wife are well.

"Hoping that I may hear from you soon, because every letter brings extreme pleasure to me, I will say goodbye, with bushels of love.

As ever, your daughter.
"DOROTHY.

"P. S.—I would like to take up some line of study by which I would be in a position when I leave here to step out and earn a good living for myself. I wish you would give it some serious thought, and when I write or I see you again you can give me some advice on this line.—D."

MOTHER DIDN'T KNOW HER SON AFTER 30 YEARS, BUT FATHER DID

"I'm rather tired driving, and would like to know if I could obtain lodging for the night," inquired a stranger at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Walters, who reside on a farm near Coleman, on the Erie railroad, northwest of Lisbon.

"Well, we're pretty filled up at this time with our own family, and I don't think we can help you," Mrs. Walters replied.

Walters was at the barn, and the stranger went to him, and the same inquiry was made. Walters looked at the stranger.

"You're my son, Ed," the elder Walters said. "I know that nose."

Then the two men went to a farm farm adjoining where a brother of Edward Walters resides.

"Want to sell some wheat?" the brother was asked.

"No! Just have enough for our own needs," he replied.

Then the brother stared at the stranger. "You're Ed." he exclaimed.

"Well, I guess we'll find room for you," the father said to the son whom he had not seen for 30 years.

Edward Walters, who resides in Oregon, drove back east to see the home folks. He did not advise his parents he was coming.

"I just wanted to drop in on them," he said.

Assessors Use Airplanes.

In Connecticut tax assessors are using with good effect, photographs of interior lands, to help in their assessments. In one county the tax list recorded 1551 barns, garages and sheds but when the air photographers had finished their task it was found there were 2,902 such buildings in that area with the result that the tax list increased in value more than $10,000,000.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain
How to Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water rich after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

New Deer Hunting Rule in New York State After Jan. 1

ALBANY, N. Y.—The conservation commission announced today that no special license will be needed to hunt deer in New York state.

The legislature of 1926 passed a bill which would require a new form of license to hunt deer, but this new law does not go into effect until the first of next year.

England Recovers Lens Fame.

England is again taking its leadership in production of optical lenses. From 1848 to 1880 England led the world in the manufacture of the eyesight aids, but lost this supremacy to Germany and France by the time of the World War. Due to the war, however, research was again instituted and today England has taken its place as a leader in the field again. Now nine tons of optical glass are being produced each month, or enough to supply its needs even for the finest lenses.

Welcoming back the vest pocket

Crisp Autumn breezes lure the vest from its long retirement, as the world prepares to go indoors. How will you greet the return of your vest—so indispensable for the social function and the office once more "down to business"?

Why not wear with it a modern pocket watch? A bulky, over-ornamented timepiece may injure your appearance more than you yourself may ever realize.

Our showing includes the finest movements, in cases of distinctive character designed by Wadsworth—the acknowledged style leaders in the dress of fine watches. We'll gladly assist you in choosing the one styled for your personality.

Child's Best Laxative is "California Fig Syrup"

Tongue Shows if Bilious, Constipated

Hurry Mother! Even a fretful, peevish child loves the pleasant taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

New Deer Hunting Rule in New York State After Jan. 1

ALBANY, N. Y.—The conservation commission announced today that no special license will be needed to hunt deer in New York state.

The legislature of 1926 passed a bill which would require a new form of license to hunt deer, but this new law does not go into effect until the first of next year.

England Recovers Lens Fame.

England is again taking its leadership in production of optical lenses. From 1848 to 1880 England led the world in the manufacture of the eyesight aids, but lost this supremacy to Germany and France by the time of the World War. Due to the war, however, research was again instituted and today England has taken its place as a leader in the field again. Now nine tons of optical glass are being produced each month, or enough to supply its needs even for the finest lenses.

OHIO CRUSADE AGAINST SIN IN POLITICS

Organize Drive to Purge State of Lawlessness.

CRIME IS HIT

Political Protectors to Get no Mercy in Two Probes.

CLEVELAND, O.—Two units of that organized crime concern known as the underworld are now facing the exterminating fire of crusaders in Ohio.

In Canton, where Don R. Mellett, vice-fighting publisher went down to his death while making an expose of conditions, a well-organized drive against crime and its political protectors is underway.

In Steubenville, an industrial center of about 30,000 population, a ministerial association is carrying on a determined fight to purge that thriving little city of crime.

Both investigations are being aimed at alleged political sinners.

Steubenville and Canton, both known for years in the Buckeye state as two small, yet highly important links, in that chain of crime which connects the east with the middle west, have long been 'white elephants' on the hands of law enforcement officers.

Steubenvile, in the past years, has been the scene of many bloody encounters between federal and state officers and bootleggers.

A few years ago a bitter Klan and anti-Klan spirit expressed itself in the form of murerous bullets during a Ku Klux Klan parade.

Canton officials admit they have had more than their share of unsolved murders.

The vice-fighters in both cities have succeeded in ousting their police chiefs.

Seranus A. Lengel, former head of the Canton police, and Blaine D. Carter, erstwhile chief of the Steubenville force, have been relieved of their official titles.

Lengel is staging a fierce legal battle for reinstatement.

Carter is reported to have left Steubenville.

Mayor John S. H. Patton, of Steubenville, has also had his official crown lifted.

Several Canton policemen have been fired, as well as two members of the civil service commission.

Threats of death have indirectly reached the ears of Attorney W. R. Alban, counsel for the Steubenville ministers, and Charles E. Morris, publisher of the Canton Daily News, who filled the vacancy caused by the murder of Mellett.

Both men have emphatically declared that they will "carry on" until righteousness reigns again."

Since the murder of Mellett and the activity of the Steubenville ministers, several anti-vice drives have cropped out in other Ohio cities and in surrounding states.

Federal investigators working under the direction of U. S. Attorney A. E. Bernsteen, with headquarters here, are believed to be amassing evidence against a whiskey and narcotic smuggling branch of the organized chain in Pittsburgh, Toledo, Detroit and Chicago.

No Glory in Future of England, Says "Gloomy Dean"

William Ralph Inge, C. V. O., D. D.

The Very Reverend William R. Inge, usually referred to as England's "Gloomy Dean," lives strictly up to his sobriquet in his latest book which pictures England fast declining as a world power, with few friends and little to expect of America.

A few years ago a bitter Klan and anti-Klan spirit expressed itself in the form of murerous bullets during a Ku Klux Klan parade.

Canton officials admit they have had more than their share of unsolved murders.

The vice-fighters in both cities have succeeded in ousting their police chiefs.

Seranus A. Lengel, former head of the Canton police, and Blaine D. Carter, erstwhile chief of the Steubenville force, have been relieved of their official titles.

Lengel is staging a fierce legal battle for reinstatement.

Carter is reported to have left Steubenville.

Mayor John S. H. Patton, of Steubenville, has also had his official crown lifted.

Several Canton policemen have been fired, as well as two members of the civil service commission.

Threats of death have indirectly reached the ears of Attorney W. R. Alban, counsel for the Steubenville ministers, and Charles E. Morris, publisher of the Canton Daily News, who filled the vacancy caused by the murder of Mellett.

Both men have emphatically declared that they will "carry on" until righteousness reigns again."

Since the murder of Mellett and the activity of the Steubenville ministers, several anti-vice drives have cropped out in other Ohio cities and in surrounding states.

Federal investigators working under the direction of U. S. Attorney A. E. Bernsteen, with headquarters here, are believed to be amassing evidence against a whiskey and narcotic smuggling branch of the organized chain in Pittsburgh, Toledo, Detroit and Chicago.

OHIO CRUSADE AGAINST SIN IN POLITICS

Organize Drive to Purge State of Lawlessness.

CRIME IS HIT

Political Protectors to Get no Mercy in Two Probes.

CLEVELAND, O.—Two units of that organized crime concern known as the underworld are now facing the exterminating fire of crusaders in Ohio.

In Canton, where Don R. Mellett, vice-fighting publisher went down to his death while making an expose of conditions, a well-organized drive against crime and its political protectors is underway.

In Steubenville, an industrial center of about 30,000 population, a ministerial association is carrying on a determined fight to purge that thriving little city of crime.

Both investigations are being aimed at alleged political sinners.

Steubenville and Canton, both known for years in the Buckeye state as two small, yet highly important links, in that chain of crime which connects the east with the middle west, have long been 'white elephants' on the hands of law enforcement officers.

Steubenvile, in the past years, has been the scene of many bloody encounters between federal and state officers and bootleggers.

A few years ago a bitter Klan and anti-Klan spirit expressed itself in the form of murerous bullets during a Ku Klux Klan parade.

Canton officials admit they have had more than their share of unsolved murders.

The vice-fighters in both cities have succeeded in ousting their police chiefs.

DURALUMIN TROLLEY CARS MADE IN CLEVELAND TO CUT COSTS

CLEVELAND.—A street car constructed of duralumin—possessing greater resistance than steel yet with one-third less weight—has been manufactured here and will be introduced in the transportation world soon.

The car is fashioned throughout of the alloy with the exception of wheel, axles, springs and sills. It is expected to inaugurate a new era in electric railway construction.

Not only does this new mode of transportation afford greater safety to passengers but it cuts the weight of a single unit from 42,000 pounds to 32,000 pounds. This means a diminution of power, necessary to operate it, of approximately 15 per cent.

The allow used in constructing duralumin cars contains an admixture of 4.5 per cent copper; 0.75 per cent magnesium and 1 per cent manganese. It is fabricated by extrusion instead of by rolling, as in the manipulation of steel.

The allow is heated to a jelly-like mass, then rammed through dies formshaping. Instead of trimming with immense shears, as is done with steel, a power saw is employed.

'MANTRAP' A-1 PICTURE PLAY

Sinclair Lewis' Story Wins Favor at Ceramic.

Hailed as a "different" picture of the great outdoors, "Mantrap," which opened a three day engagement at the Ceramic theatre, last evening, furnishes something distinctly novel in pictures.

"Mantrap" is a powerful love story which ripples with the humor and satire of its distinguished author, Sinclair Lewis, who will be remembered for "Main Street," "Babbitt" and "Arrowsmith."

Tired of Women!

It is the tale of a summer camping trip taken by Percy Marmont, a young New York lawyer, who is tired of listening to woman clients asking for divorces; and a stocking manufacturer, Eugene Pallette, who proves to be nothing but a grand "Babbitt" at large on a campaign trip.

Of course, Marmont doesn't get away from women, love triangles or martial infelicity by going to the Canadian woods. Instead he finds himself drawn into a domestic love situation as one of the principal characters.

Clara Bow Magnificent.

Calra Pow is the girl, nad she is nothing short of magnificent. The part was simply cut out for her from start to finish, and how she does walk away with it! As a manicurist in a Minneapolis barber shop, who unexpectedly finds herself married and living in a hum-drum Canadian trading post, Clara has the best role of her career.

Ernest Torrence, on whom everyone has come to depend for sure-fire entertainment, has a splendid part as "Joe Easter," the post trader, who makes his first trip to a big city in 15 years. It is a part replete with both humor and drama.

"Mantrap's" powerful conclusion is drawn against the spectacular background provided by a forest fire. The direction is ably handled by Victor Fleming.

Tea Trousers In Vogue.

London women of fashion have taken to wearing "tea trousers," similar to the pantalets worn by women several generations ago, but without the lacy frills, and designed to be worn without skirts. They are made in colors and are worn with highly colored coats.

Brigandage is growing and becoming a menace in many parts of China.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

DURALUMIN TROLLEY CARS MADE IN CLEVELAND TO CUT COSTS

CLEVELAND.—A street car constructed of duralumin—possessing greater resistance than steel yet with one-third less weight—has been manufactured here and will be introduced to the transportation world soon.

The car is fashioned throughout of the alloy with the exception of wheel, axles, springs and sills. It is expected to inaugurate a new era in electric railway construction.

Not only does this new mode of transportation afford greater safety to passengers but it cuts the weight of a single unit from 42,000 pounds to 32,000 pounds. This means a diminution of power, necessary to operate it, of approximately 15 per cent.

The allow used in constructing duralumin cars contains an admixture of 4.5 per cent copper; 0.75 per cent magnesium and 1 per cent manganese. It is fabricated by extrusion instead of by rolling, as in the manipulation of steel.

The allow is heated to a jelly-like mass, then rammed through dies formshaping. Instead of trimming with immense shears, as is done with steel, a power saw is employed.

'MANTRAP' A-1 PICTURE PLAY

Sinclair Lewis' Story Wins Favor at Ceramic.

Hailed as a "different" picture of the great outdoors, "Mantrap," which opened a three day engagement at the Ceramic theatre, last evening, furnishes something distinctly novel in pictures.

"Mantrap" is a powerful love story which ripples with the humor and satire of its distinguished author, Sinclair Lewis, who will be remembered for "Main Street," "Babbitt" and "Arrowsmith."

Tired of Women!

It is the tale of a summer camping trip taken by Percy Marmont, a young New York lawyer, who is tired of listening to woman clients asking for divorces; and a stocking manufacturer, Eugene Pallette, who proves to be nothing but a grand "Babbitt" at large on a campaign trip.

Of course, Marmont doesn't get away from women, love triangles or martial infelicity by going to the Canadian woods. Instead he finds himself drawn into a domestic love situation as one of the principal characters.

Clara Bow Magnificent.

Calra Pow is the girl, nad she is nothing short of magnificent. The part was simply cut out for her from start to finish, and how she does walk away with it! As a manicurist in a Minneapolis barber shop, who unexpectedly finds herself married and living in a hum-drum Canadian trading post, Clara has the best role of her career.

Ernest Torrence, on whom everyone has come to depend for sure-fire entertainment, has a splendid part as "Joe Easter," the post trader, who makes his first trip to a big city in 15 years. It is a part replete with both humor and drama.

"Mantrap's" powerful conclusion is drawn against the spectacular background provided by a forest fire. The direction is ably handled by Victor Fleming.

Tea Trousers In Vogue.

London women of fashion have taken to wearing "tea trousers," similar to the pantalets worn by women several generations ago, but without the lacy frills, and designed to be worn without skirts. They are made in colors and are worn with highly colored coats.

Brigandage is growing and becoming a menace in many parts of China.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

WOMEN'S CHICKEN CALLING CONTESTS REPLACE MEN'S HOG CALLING FEATS

DES MOINES, Ia.—Not to be outdone by their menfolk, who have been taking the limelight lately by entering hog-calling contests, the women of Iowa's rural sections are now staging chicken-calling contests for themselves.

Where recently the powe-e-e-e call of the pork yodelers reigned alone, there now may be heard the soprano-like "chick, chick, chick" of the farmer's better halves.

The gentle but until recently obscure art of calling hogs has come to the front in the midwest by leaps and bounds in the last few weeks. The series of contests, wherein aspirants strained their vocal cords and disturbed the peace of all within a mile, was capped when an Omaha radio station staged such a match over the air.

Fred Patzel, of Madison, Neb., laid claim to the world's championship in hog-calling. Immediately he was challenged from many sections. About this time the state fair association here staged a contest. Patzel didn't enter, but he was on hand at the Omaha contest, where he successfully defended his title and also took $700 in prizes. Patzel's cries—sweet music to the ears of hungry porkers—far outdistanced those of all competitors, both as to volume and technique.

A new 100,000,000-gallon water tunnel has just been completed on the Island of Oahu, Hawaii.

WOMEN'S CHICKEN CALLING CONTESTS REPLACE MEN'S HOG CALLING FEATS

DES MOINES, Ia.—Not to be outdone by their menfolk, who have been taking the limelight lately by entering hog-calling contests, the women of Iowa's rural sections are now staging chicken-calling contests for themselves.

Where recently the powe-e-e-e call of the pork yodelers reigned alone, there now may be heard the soprano-like "chick, chick, chick" of the farmer's better halves.

The gentle but until recently obscure art of calling hogs has come to the front in the midwest by leaps and bounds in the last few weeks. The series of contests, wherein aspirants strained their vocal cords and disturbed the peace of all within a mile, was capped when an Omaha radio station staged such a match over the air.

Fred Patzel, of Madison, Neb., laid claim to the world's championship in hog-calling. Immediately he was challenged from many sections. About this time the state fair association here staged a contest. Patzel didn't enter, but he was on hand at the Omaha contest, where he successfully defended his title and also took $700 in prizes. Patzel's cries—sweet music to the ears of hungry porkers—far outdistanced those of all competitors, both as to volume and technique.

PANHANDLE OIL FIELD IS SAVED BY TEXAS ORDER

Congestion Relieved by Use of Earthen Tankage.

PUMP 350 WELLS

Production Jumps to Nearly 150,000 Barrels Daily.

AMARILLO, Texas, — Saved from the threatening oil congestion and consequent shutdown of scores of wells by the order of the Texas railroad commission allowing use of earthen tankage, the Texas Panhandle oil field is entering the greatest development play of its history.

With production already above the 130,000 barrel mark, an output of 150,000 barrels daily is expected within the next 30 days and the total probably will reach 200,000 bafrrels before next summer it is believed.

Approximately 50 per cent of the drilling activity in all Texas now is concentrated in the Panhandle West Texas area, with the number of drilling operations steadily increasing.

There now are close to 350 producing wells in the Panhandle area, Hutchinson county accounting for more than 290 of these, Gray country between 40 and 50, Wheeler 8 and Potter one.

Operations Increase

Operations have increased approximately 100 within the last three weeks in the area. Not including completed wells there no ware 676 wells in some stage from location to just before coming on production in the Panhadle area.

Nineteen counties are included in the number receiving a drill play. The bulk of the drilling naturally is in the five producing counties, Hutchinson county now having 443 located or drilling wells; Gray 104; Carson 39 and Wheeler 26.

In the other counties where the wildcat rigs are seeking the oil status, Moore county has 13 tests going; Hartley, 10; Roberts, 8; Collingsworth and Hepmhill, six each; Potter five; Ochiltree, four; Sherman, three; Hansford and Dallam, two each; and Donley, Lipscomb, Childress, Randall and Armstrong, one each.

The lease play launched by the Panhandle activity includes at least 30 counties, spilling over into western Oklahoma, the Oklahoma Panhandle, New Mexico and even southeastern Colorado.

Mounting steadily toward the greatest production of any field in America, until the beginning of September the Panhandle constantly was menaced by the failure of the madly hurrying pipelines and storage to keep pace with the ever increasing flood of oil.

Shut Down Threatened

Finally, at the close of August, the oil congestion situation was so acute that scores of wells were threatened with shutdowns. The Texas railroad commission then stepped in and saved the ray by ruling that properly constructed earthen tankage might be used.

This order virtually saves the small companies and independent operators in the Panhandle from enormous losses, as it enables them to build their own storage, develop their leases and hold their oil until they can command just the right outlets and prices, it is pointed out.

The order was hailed as one of the greatest encouragements to development yet seen in the Panhandle field.

Announcement of the first trunkline from the field, another badly needed improvement also is speeding the drill play.

Prairie Pipeline company will have completed by February an eight inch trunkline from King's county to Ringling, Oklahoma, capable of carrying 40,000 barrels daily maximum capacity.

The line is expected to be the first of a series of trunklines from the monster field, connecting with the interior network system and also with the lines leading to the gulf coast.

Quality of Oil.

The Panhandle oil varies from 36 to about 45 gravity. Much of it contains large percentages of sulphur, which make it extremely difficult for the average refinery to handle, although plant expecially built for the crude can refine it efficiently and economically.

The Panhandle crude also has the troublesome property of "freezing" or congealing, in cold weather turning in a vicious, tarry mass when the thermometer drops to around 50 degrees or below.

Refineries in the field itself, and a chemical solution of the congealing problem in the trunkline transportation are expected to eliminate the "freezing" difficulty.

In addition to the enormous oil area which is about 20 by 30 miles in the Huntchinson field, chief producing area, there are approximately 1,000 square miles of gas territory proven up.

Life of the oil fields is placed at 12 to 20 years more. The "peak" of climax of production cannot possibly come at least a year more, it is generally believed.

PUNCH AND JUDY, ZOO ZEBRAS, SERVE AS CARRIAGE HORSES FOR PARK POLICE

SAN FRANCISCO. — One of the strange sights to be seen in Golden Gate Park these days is a pair of zebras in front of a cart like carriage horses.

The zebras are "Punch" and "Judy," and they were born in the far off African veldt.

Some time ago Superintendent Belding of the park decided that "Punch" and "Judy" were doing too much loafing. They needed some exercise, he thought.

So he called upon George Merchant of the park mounted police and told George to break 'em in to harness.

The task has always been considered impossible but somehow or other George did it.

As a result "Punch" and "Judy" are the first zebras on record to be driven before a cart. They passed their first test with high honors even though they did jerk the wagon a little bit.

However, "Punch" and "Judy" improved with practice and today they are doing their "stuff" pulling a pony cart in the children's playground.

Officer Merchant accomplished the seemingly impossible by means of kindness—kindness and firm discipline.

First he accustomed the little zebras to his presence. Then he tried the bit and reins, walking behind them on foot.

When they had learned the pull of a bridle he put them in front of a cart. By dint of patience and perseverance Merchant got "Punch" and "Judy" so that they performed almost like carriage horses. Their pace, however, is a rare combination of trot and scamper.

A camera with lens nearly six feet in diameter was made recently in Berlin.

French Return to Umbrellas.

As a result of the Prince of Wales' visit to Paris, umbrellas are becoming more popular again. In the days when French dandies wore elegant raiment the umbrella was extremely popular as part of a man's equipment, but they fell into comparative disuse during the war. The prince carries an umbrella in fair or stormy weather as a rule and the many photographs showing him with one are responsible for the revival of the vogue.

Line up Five Cars in Your Mind— How Can You Mistake the Chrysler "50"?

The Chrysler plan of Quality Standardization differs from, and is superior to, ordinary manufacturing practice and methods, because it demands fixed and inflexible quality standards which enforce the same scrupulously close limits—the same rigid rule of engineering exactness—the same absolute accuracy and precision of alignment and assemblage—in the measurement, the machining and the manufacturing of every part, practice and process in four lines of Chrysler cars—"50", "60", "70" and Imperial "80"—so that each individual car shall be the Supreme Value in its own class.

With only four other cars of large production in the four-cylinder field, it is exceedingly easy to recognize the outstanding values of the Chrysler "50" and decide which car to buy.

Lining up the five cars side by side in your own mind, you will be startled by the contrast between them—and especially by the contrast between the Chrysler "50" and all the others.

In point of size, seating room, beauty of design, beauty of finish and power, the Chrysler "50" stands out so unmistakably that you recognize the price at once as far and away the greatest offering ever made in four-cylinder cars.

It will continue to yield a sustained speed of 50 miles and more per hour, 5 to 25 miles in 8 seconds, and 25 miles to the gallon—for months and for years, as the result of Chrysler's plan of Quality Standardization.

At last it is possible for you to make a convincing and conclusive comparison of values—studying the comfort, appearance and performance factors of the Chrysler "50" in comparison with everything else offered—and satisfy yourself almost at a glance in which car you should invest your money.

Examine and ride in the new Chrysler "50" and you will not consider any other car in its price class.

PANHANDLE OIL FIELD IS SAVED BY TEXAS ORDER

Congestion Relieved by Use of Earthen Tankage.

PUMP 350 WELLS

Production Jumps to Nearly 150,000 Barrels Daily.

AMARILLO, Texas, — Saved from the threatening oil congestion and consequent shutdown of scores of wells by the order of the Texas railroad commission allowing use of earthen tankage, the Texas Panhandle oil field is entering the greatest development play of its history.

With production already above the 120,000 barrel mark, an output of 150,000 barrels daily is expected within the next 30 days and the total probably will reach 200,000 bafrrels before next summer it is believed.

Approximately 50 per cent of the drilling activity in all Texas now is concentrated in the Panhandle West Texas area, with the number of drilling operations steadily increasing.

There now are close to 350 producing wells in the Panhandle area, Hutchinson county acounting for more than 290 of these, Gray country between 40 and 50, Wheeler 8 and Potter one.

Operations Increase

Operations have increased approximately 100 within the last three weeks in the area. Not including completed wells there no ware 676 wells in some stage from location to just before coming on production in the Panhadle area.

Nineteen counties are included in the number receiving a drill play. The bulk of the drilling naturally is in the five producing counties, Hutchinson county now having 443 located or drilling wells; Gray 104; Carson 39 and Wheeler 26.

In the other counties where the wildcat rigs are seeking the oil stata, Moore county has 13 tests going; Hartley, 10; Roberts, 8; Collingsworth and Hepmhill, six each; Potter five; Ochiltree, four; Sherman, three; Hansford and Dallam, two each; and Donley, Lipscomb, Childress, Randall and Armstrong, one each.

The lease play launched by the Panhandle activity includes at least 30 counties, spilling over into western Oklahoma, the Oklahoma Panhandle, New Mexico and even southeastern Colorado.

Mounting steadily toward the greatest production of any field in America, until the beginning of September the Panhandle constantly was menaced by the failure of the madly hurrying pipelines and storage to keep pace with the ever increasing flood of oil.

Shut Down Threatened

Finally, at the close of August, the oil congestion situation was so acute that scores of wells were threatened with shutdowns. The Texas railroad commission then stepped in and saved the ray by ruling that properly constructed earthen tankage might be used.

This order virtually saves the small companies and independent operators in the Panhandle from enormous losses, as it enables them to build their own storage, develop their leases and hold their oil until they can command just the right outlets and prices, it is pointed out.

The order was hailed as one of the greatest encouragements to development yet seen in the Panhandle field.

Announcement of the first trunkline from the field, another badly needed improvement also is speeding the drill play.

Prairie Pipeline company will have completed by February an eight inch trunkline from King's county to Ringling, Oklahoma, capable of carrying 40,000 barrels daily maximum capacity.

The line is expected to be the first of a series of trunklines from the monster field, connecting with the interior network system and also with the lines leading to the gulf coast.

Quality of Oil.

The Panhandle oil varies from 36 to about 45 gravity. Much of it contains large percentages of sulphur, which make it extremely difficult for the average refinery to handle, although plant expecially built for the crude can refine it efficiently and economically.

The Panhandle crude also has the troublesome property of "freezing" or congealing, in cold weather turning in a vicious, tarry mass when the thermometer drops to around 50 degrees or below.

Refineries in the field itself, and a chemical solution of the congealing problem in the trunkline transportation are expected to eliminate the "freezing" difficulty.

In addition to the enormous oil area which is about 20 by 30 miles in the Huntchinson field, chief producing area, there are approximately 1,000 square miles of gas territory proven up.

Life of the oil fields is placed at 12 to 20 years more. The "peak" of climax of production cannot possibly come at least a year more, it is generally believed.

PUNCH AND JUDY, ZOO ZEBRAS, SERVE AS CARRIAGE HORSES FOR PARK POLICE

SAN FRANCISCO. — One of the strange sights to be seen in Golden Gate Park these days is a pair of zebras in front of a cart like carriage horses.

The zebras are "Punch" and "Judy," and they were born in the far off African veldt.

Some time ago Superintendent Belding of the park decided that "Punch" and "Judy" were doing too much loafing. They needed some exercise, he thought.

So he called upon George Merchant of the park mounted police and told George to break 'em in to harness.

The task has always been considered impossible but somehow or other George did it.

As a result "Punch" and "Judy" are the first zebras on record to be driven before a cart. They passed their first test with high honors even though they did jerk the wagon a little bit.

However, "Punch" and "Judy" improved with practice and today they are doing their "stuff" pulling a pony cart in the children's playground.

Officer Merchant accomplished the seemingly impossible by means of kindness—kindness and firm discipline.

First he accustomed the little zebras to his presence. Then he tried the bit and reins, walking behind them on foot.

When they had learned the pull of a bridle he put them in front of a cart. By dint of patience and perseverance Merchant got "Punch" and "Judy" so that they performed almost like carriage horses. Their pace, however, is a rare combination of trot and scamper.

A camera with lens nearly six feet in diameter was made recently in Berlin.

French Return to Umbrellas.

As a result of the Prince of Wales' visit to Paris, umbrellas are becoming more popular again. In the days when French dandies wore elegant raiment the umbrella was extremely popular as part of a man's equipment, but they fell into comparative disuse during the war. The prince carries an umbrella in fair or stormy weather as a rule and the many photographs showing him with one are responsible for the revival of the vogue.

Line up Five Cars in Your Mind— How Can You Mistake the Chrysler "50"?

The Chrysler plan of Quality Standardization differs from, and is superior to, ordinary manufacturing practice and methods, because it demands fixed and inflexible quality standards which enforce the same scrupulously close limits—the same rigid rule of engineering exactness—the same absolute accuracy and precision of alignment and assemblage—in the measurement, the machining and the manufacturing of every part, practice and process in four lines of Chrysler cars—"50", "60", "70" and Imperial "80"—so that each individual car shall be the Supreme Value in its own class.

With only four other cars of large production in the four-cylinder field, it is exceedingly easy to recognize the outstanding values of the Chrysler "50" and decide which car to buy.

Lining up the five cars side by side in your own mind, you will be startled by the contrast between them—and especially by the contrast between the Chrysler "50" and all the others.

In point of size, seating room, beauty of design, beauty of finish and power, the Chrysler "50" stands out so unmistakably that you recognize the price at once as far and away the greatest offering ever made in four-cylinder cars.

It will continue to yield a sustained speed of 50 miles and more per hour, 5 to 25 miles in 8 seconds, and 25 miles to the gallon—for months and for years, as the result of Chrysler's plan of Quality Standardization.

At last it is possible for you to make a convincing and conclusive comparison of values—studying the comfort, appearance and performance factors of the Chrysler "50" in comparison with everything else offered—and satisfy yourself almost at a glance in which car you should invest your money.

Examine and ride in the new Chrysler "50" and you will not consider any other car in its price class.

PANHANDLE OIL FIELD IS SAVED BY TEXAS ORDER

Congestion Relieved by Use of Earthen Tankage.

PUMP 350 WELLS

Production Jumps to Nearly 150,000 Barrels Daily.

AMARILLO, Texas, — Saved from the threatening oil congestion and consequent shutdown of scores of wells by the order of the Texas railroad commission allowing use of earthen tankage, the Texas Panhandle oil field is entering the greatest development play of its history.

With production already above the 120,000 barrel mark, an output of 150,000 barrels daily is expected within the next 30 days and the total probably will reach 200,000 barrels before next summer it is believed.

Approximately 50 per cent of the drilling activity in all Texas now is concentrated in the Panhandle West Texas area, with the number of drilling operations steadily increasing.

There now are close to 350 producing wells in the Panhandle area, Hutchinson county accounting for more than 290 of these, Gray country between 40 and 50, Wheeler 8 and Potter one.

Operations Increase

Operations have increased approximately 100 within the last three weeks in the area. Not including completed wells there no ware 676 wells in some stage from location to just before coming on production in the Panhadle area.

Nineteen counties are included in the number receiving a drill play. The bulk of the drilling naturally is in the five producing counties, Hutchinson county now having 443 located or drilling wells; Gray 104; Carson 39 and Wheeler 26.

In the other counties where the wildcat rigs are seeking the oil stas, Moore county has 13 tests going; Hartley, 10; Roberts, 8; Collingsworth and Hepmhill, six each; Potter five; Ochiltree, four; Sherman, three; Hansford and Dallam, two each; and Donley, Lipscomb, Childress, Randall and Armstrong, one each.

The lease play launched by the Panhandle activity includes at least 30 counties, spilling over into western Oklahoma, the Oklahoma Panhandle, New Mexico and even southeastern Colorado.

Mounting steadily toward the greatest production of any field in America, until the beginning of September the Panhandle constantly was menaced by the failure of the madly hurrying pipelines and storage to keep pace with the ever increasing flood of oil.

Shut Down Threatened

Finally, at the close of August, the oil congestion situation was so acute that scores of wells were threatened with shutdowns. The Texas railroad commission then stepped in and saved the ray by ruling that properly constructed earthen tankage might be used.

This order virtually saves the small companies and independent operators in the Panhandle from enormous losses, as it enables them to build their own storage, develop their leases and hold their oil until they can command just the right outlets and prices, it is pointed out.

The order was hailed as one of the greatest encouragements to development yet seen in the Panhandle field.

Announcement of the first trunkline from the field, another badly needed improvement also is speeding the drill play.

Prairie Pipeline company will have completed by February an eight inch trunkline from King's county to Ringling, Oklahoma, capable of carrying 40,000 barrels daily maximum capacity.

The line is expected to be the first of a series of trunklines from the monster field, connecting with the interior network system and also with the lines leading to the gulf coast.

Quality of Oil.

The Panhandle oil varies from 36 to about 45 gravity. Much of it contains large percentages of sulphur, which make it extremely difficult for the average refinery to handle, although plant expecially built for the crude can refine it efficiently and economically.

The Panhandle crude also has the troublesome property of "freezing" or congealing, in cold weather turning in a vicious, tarry mass when the thermometer drops to around 50 degrees or below.

Refineries in the field itself, and a chemical solution of the congealing problem in the trunkline transportation are expected to eliminate the "freezing" difficulty.

In addition to the enormous oil area which is about 20 by 30 miles in the Huntchinson field, chief producing area, there are approximately 1,000 square miles of gas territory proven up.

Life of the oil fields is placed at 12 to 20 years more. The "peak" of climax of production cannot possibly come at least a year more, it is generally believed.

PUNCH AND JUDY, ZOO ZEBRAS, SERVE AS CARRIAGE HORSES FOR PARK POLICE

SAN FRANCISCO. — One of the strange sights to be seen in Golden Gate Park these days is a pair of zebras in front of a cart like carriage horses.

The zebras are "Punch" and "Judy," and they were born in the far off African veldt.

Some time ago Superintendent Belding of the park decided that "Punch" and "Judy" were doing too much loafing. They needed some exercise, he thought.

So he called upon George Merchant of the park mounted police and told George to break 'em in to harness.

The task has always been considered impossible but somehow or other George did it.

As a result "Punch" and "Judy" are the first zebras on record to be driven before a cart. They passed their first test with high honors even though they did jerk the wagon a little bit.

However, "Punch" and "Judy" improved with practice and today they are doing their "stuff" pulling a pony cart in the children's playground.

Officer Merchant accomplished the seemingly impossible by means of kindness—kindness and firm discipline.

First he accustomed the little zebras to his presence. Then he tried the bit and reins, walking behind them on foot.

When they had learned the pull of a bridle he put them in front of a cart. By dint of patience and perseverance Merchant got "Punch" and "Judy" so that they performed almost like carriage horses. Their pace, however, is a rare combination of trot and scamper.

A camera with lens nearly six feet in diameter was made recently in Berlin.

French Return to Umbrellas.

As a result of the Prince of Wales' visit to Paris, umbrellas are becoming more popular again. In the days when French dandies wore elegant raiment the umbrella was extremely popular as part of a man's equipment, but they fell into comparative disuse during the war. The prince carries an umbrella in fair or stormy weather as a rule and the many photographs showing him with one are responsible for the revival of the vogue.

The secretary of the Leystonshire Lawn Tennis club of England sprays the legs of girl players as protection against insect bites.

London has a campaign against unnecessary auto noises.

Line up Five Cars in Your Mind— How Can You Mistake the Chrysler "50"?

The Chrysler plan of Quality Standardization differs from, and is superior to, ordinary manufacturing practice and methods, because it demands fixed and inflexible quality standards which enforce the same scrupulously close limits—the same rigid rule of engineering exactness—the same absolute accuracy and precision of alignment and assemblage—in the measurement, the machining and the manufacturing of every part, practice and process in four lines of Chrysler cars—"50", "60", "70" and Imperial "80"—so that each individual car shall be the Supreme Value in its own class.

With only four other cars of large production in the four-cylinder field, it is exceedingly easy to recognize the outstanding values of the Chrysler "50" and decide which car to buy.

Lining up the five cars side by side in your own mind, you will be startled by the contrast between them—and especially by the contrast between the Chrysler "50" and all the others.

In point of size, seating room, beauty of design, beauty of finish and power, the Chrysler "50" stands out so unmistakably that you recognize the price at once as far and away the greatest offering ever made in four-cylinder cars.

It will continue to yield a sustained speed of 50 miles and more per hour, 5 to 25 miles in 8 seconds, and 25 miles to the gallon—for months and for years, as the result of Chrysler's plan of Quality Standardization.

At last it is possible for you to make a convincing and conclusive comparison of values—studying the comfort, appearance and performance factors of the Chrysler "50" in comparison with everything else offered—and satisfy yourself almost at a glance in which car you should invest your money.

Examine and ride in the new Chrysler "50" and you will not consider any other car in its price class.

Women's Lives

are relieved of a great hygienic handicap in this way. Positive protection—discards like tissue

THERE is now a new way in woman's hygiene. A way scientific and exquisite that ends the uncertainty of old-time "sanitary pads."

It is called "KOTEX." Eight in every 10 better-class women have adopted it.

You wear sheer frocks and gowns without a second thought, any time, anywhere. You meet every day, every business or social demand unhandicapped.

NO LAUNDRY

Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads, it banishes danger of mishaps.

Deodorizes, too. And thus ends ALL fear of offending.

You obtain it at drug or department stores simply by saying "KOTEX." Women thus ask for it without hesitancy. Costs only a few cents for a package of 12.

SUPREME COURT FACING HEAVY FALL DOCKET

Daugherty Case is Among Those to be Considered.

LIQUOR SUITS.

World War Litigation Floods Calendar for Session.

WASHINGTON.—The final phases of two of the most bitterly contested court actions growing out of the famous Daugherty and Fall senatorial investigations of 1924 will be reached in the United States Supreme Court in its long session beginning October 2.

The court is confronted by one of the heaviest dockets in years, including a test of the removal of the power of the president, many demands for interpretation of the liquor laws and cases growing out of the World War which involve huge sums of money.

Mal Daugherty, brother of former Attorney-General Harry S. Daugherty, is making his last stand in the high court against the efforts of the Brookhart senate committee to force him to produce confidential records of the Midland National bank of Washington Court House, Ohio.

Daugherty's Case.

Met by Daugherty's stubborn refusal to divulge the records the committee preferred charges of contempt against the senate. Daugherty's attorney will ask the highest court to rule that the power of a senatorial investigating committee does not permit it to enter the vaults of a bank to secure evidence which it believes will involve a cabinet officer.

The fight of Edward L. Doheny, California oil magnate, to prevent the government cancellation of valuable oil leases in the Elk Hills naval reserve will be among the first big cases to be argued. After winning a partial victory in the district court, the government won everything it sought in the circuit court of appeals.

The court will be called upon to decide whether the $100,000 Doheny advanced to Fall was a bribe, as contended by the government, or a loan, as maintained by Dohney.

Prohibition Cases.

Two of the most important prohibition cases involve the validity of the limitation of prescription liquor, brought by Dr. Samuel W. Lambert, of New York, and the constitutionality of laws providing for the seizure and sale of automobiles used in liquor running.

President Coolidge's power to remove a postmaster before his term has expired is called into question by Frank S. Myers, former postmaster of Portland, Oregon. Myers raises the question of whether a man appointed by the president with confirmation of the senate can be removed without the senate's consent.

Many cases growing out of the World war on the court's calendar. Five thousand German dye patents and trade marks are involved in the government's suit against the Chemical Foundation.

German Property Cases.

A score of law suits involve the seizure of German-owned property during the war. In one case the Atlas Line Steamship company is seeking to recover for the seizure of vessels, which it purchased from the German owned Hamburg American line five days before war was declared. More than $50,000,000 is involved in suits growing out of the seizure of ships.

Two state syndicalism laws—California and Michigan—are called into question in the court in the cases of Charlotte Anita Whitney and C. E. Ruthenberg.

Important decisions are expected to result from two suits attacking the zoning ordinances of Minneapolis and Los Angeles. The theatrical world is watching the case of Max Hart against the B. F. Keith Vaudeville Exchange, in which he charges the Keith and Orpheum circuits have combined to control "big time" vaudeville booking in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

Rattan trunks are popular in Europe, but are said to be too light for the strain of travel in this country.

Is your appetite gone?

REMEMBER, how it used to be when you could hardly wait for mealtime? And then, sit down and eat several helpings of everything—enjoy every morsel and get up from the table feeling satisfied with the World, happy with everybody and ready for anything?

But what a difference in living when even the sight and smell of food sickens you! Never hungry—no matter how tempting the food is—nothing tasting right. And then, after nibbling at a few bites, feeling worse than ever.

Oh, life is hardly worth living this way. And yet, all in the World the matter with you is that you are starving for rich, red blood. And it is acknowledged everywhere that S. S. S. helps Nature build these healthy red-blood-cells by the millions!

All you need to do to get back that wonderful appetite is to build rich, red-blood-cells with S. S. S. It's simple. Just try it, like thousands are doing every day. See for yourself what S. S. S. will do.

S. S. S. means blood with a punch—brimful of new life and energy. Get your S. S. S. at any good druggist. The larger size is more economical.

SUPREME COURT FACING HEAVY FALL DOCKET

Daugherty Case is Among Those to be Considered.

LIQUOR SUITS.

World War Litigation Floods Calendar for Session.

WASHINGTON.—The final phases of two of the most bitterly contested court actions growing out of the famous Daugherty and Fall senatorial investigations of 1924 will be reached in the United States Supreme Court in its long session beginning October 2.

The court is confronted by one of the heaviest dockets in years, including a test of the removal of the power of the president, many demands for interpretation of the liquor laws and cases growing out of the World War which involve huge sums of money.

Mal Daugherty, brother of former Attorney-General Harry S. Daugherty, is making his last stand in the high court against the efforts of the Brookhart senate committee to force him to produce confidential records of the Midland National bank of Washington Court House, Ohio.

Daugherty's Case.

Met by Daugherty's stubborn refusal to divulge the records the committee preferred charges of contempt against the senate. Daugherty's attorney will ask the highest court to rule that the power of a senatorial investigating committee does not permit it to enter the vaults of a bank to secure evidence which it believes will involve a cabinet officer.

The fight of Edward L. Doheny, California oil magnate, to prevent the government cancellation of valuable oil leases in the Elk Hills naval reserve will be among the first big cases to be argued. After winning a partial victory in the district court, the government won everything it sought in the circuit court of appeals.

The court will be called upon to decide whether the $100,000 Doheny advanced to Fall was a bribe, as contended by the government, or a loan, as maintained by Dohney.

Prohibition Cases.

Two of the most important prohibition cases involve the validity of the limitation of prescription liquor, brought by Dr. Samuel W. Lambert, of New York, and the constitutionality of laws providing for the seizure and sale of automobiles used in liquor running.

President Coolidge's power to remove a postmaster before his term has expired is called into question by Frank S. Myers, former postmaster of Portland, Oregon. Myers raises the question of whether a man appointed by the president with confirmation of the senate can be removed without the senate's consent.

Many cases growing out of the World war on the court's calendar. Five thousand German dye patents and trade marks are involved in the government's suit against the Chemical Foundation.

German Property Cases.

A score of law suits involve the seizure of German-owned property during the war. In one case the Atlas Line Steamship company is seeking to recover for the seizure of vessels, which it purchased from the German owned Hamburg American line five days before war was declared. More than $50,000,000 is involved in suits growing out of the seizure of ships.

Two state syndicalism laws—California and Michigan—are called into question in the court in the cases of Charlotte Anita Whitney and C. E. Ruthenberg.

Important decisions are expected to result from two suits attacking the zoning ordinances of Minneapolis and Los Angeles. The theatrical world is watching the case of Max Hart against the B. F. Keith Vaudeville Exchange, in which he charges the Keith and Orpheum circuits have combined to control "big time" vaudeville booking in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

Rattan trunks are popular in Europe, but are said to be too light for the strain of travel in this country.

Is your appetite gone?

REMEMBER, how it used to be when you could hardly wait for mealtime? And then, sit down and eat several helpings of everything — enjoy every morsel and get up from the table feeling satisfied with the World, happy with everybody and ready for anything?

But what a difference in living when even the sight and smell of food sickens you! Never hungry—no matter how tempting the food is—nothing tasting right. And then, after nibbling at a few bites, feeling worse than ever.

Oh, life is hardly worth living this way. And yet, all in the World the matter with you is that you are starving for rich, red blood. And it is acknowledged everywhere that S. S. S. helps Nature build these healthy red-blood-cells by the millions!

All you need to do to get back that wonderful appetite is to build rich, red-blood-cells with S. S. S. It's simple. Just try it, like thousands are doing every day. See for yourself what S. S. S. will do.

S. S. S. means blood with a punch—trimful of new life and energy. Get your S. S. S. at any good druggist. The larger size is more economical.

STATE GAME LAWS TO BE ENFORCED

Stringent orders have been issued to deputy state game wardens relative to the enforcement of the game laws now that the hunting season has been officially opened.

During the past year a large number of arrests were made in various parts of the state with the result that more fines were levied than in other years.

Reports of violations made to the office of the state fish and game bureau will be turned over to the deputy wardens for investigation.

INSTITUTE WILL BE ARRANGED

Members of the executive committee of the Hancock County Teachers association will meet Saturday morning at New Cumberland.

At this session plans will be completed for the annual county institute to be held during the winter.

Superintendent A. D. Osborne and Principal N. F. Evarts will attend the meeting. The latter is president of the association.

COMMISSIONERS TO DRAW JURORS

Names of citizens who will serve as jurors for the coming year will be placed in the jury wheel next week by jury commissioners H. H. Robb and J. L. Mayhew when they meet at New Cumberland.

Members of the grand and petit jurors will be picked at the same time to serve during the November term of the Hancock county circuit court.

REV. SCHRADER TO ATTEND MEET

Rev. J. W. Schrader, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, will leave Monday for Carnegie, Pa.; where he will attend the annual conference.

The sessions will continue for one week. Two lay delegates from the local church will attend the closing sessions.

EVANGELIST WILL SPEAK TONIGHT

Rev. Oscar Hudson, of Kansas City, Mo., will preach tonight at the services in the Church of the Nazarene where he has been conducting evangelistic meetings for the past two weeks.

The meetings were scheduled to close last night. The evangelist may remain over until Sunday.

Pre-Communion Services.

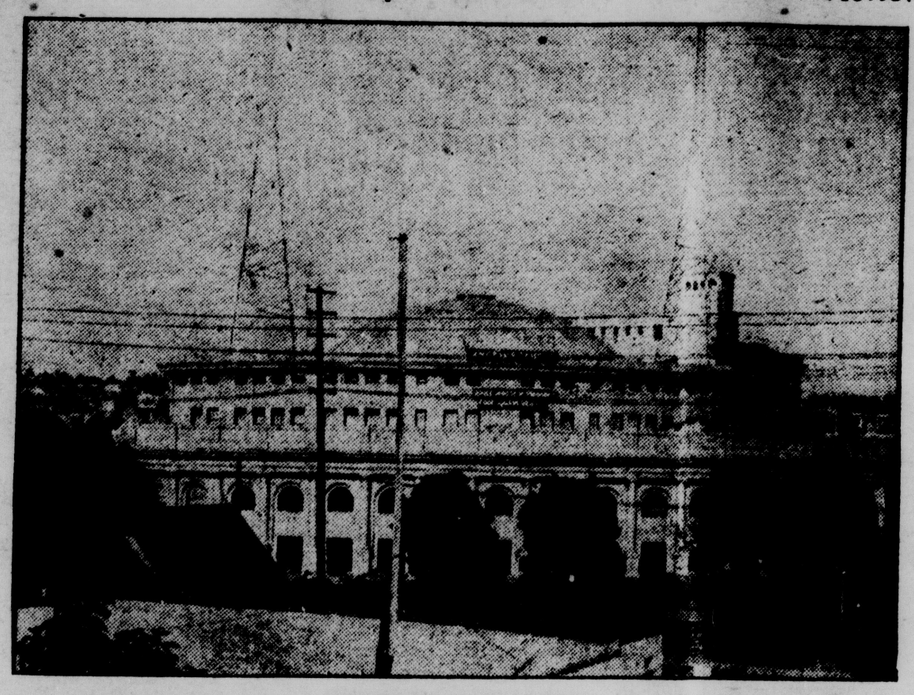
Pre-communion services will be held this evening in the First Presbyterian church. Communion services will be held Sunday.

Many Attend Convention.

Number of local young people attended the opening session of the Hancock County Sunday school association last night in the Holliday's Cove Presbyterian church.

Buenos Aires is to have a new six-story department store.

Thousands of Angelus Temple Worshippers Are Loyal As Aimee Semple McPherson Faces Court Action



Angelus Temple, Los Angeles.

The great temple built by the followers of Aimee Semple McPherson, Los Angeles' spectacular feminine evangelest, seats some 5,000 and is filled to overflowing regularly. Most of the many more who count themselves as her faithful are loyal to Mrs. McPherson in her troubles with the Los Angeles courts.

Japan Girls Protested.

Japan's new code for protecting its young girls from informal marriage alliances gives them definite rights as a result of which the "Madame Butterfly" is apt to pass from the picture. Under the new code foreign men may not make these informal alliances and suddenly abandon the girls without expecting to be called to account. Compensation is now allowed the girl who has been promised marriage and then abandoned.

Chinese in Siam Astir.

Chinese in Siam have suddenly awakened to the fact that their children who are being brought up there are ignorant of Chinese reading, writing and customs. Consequently Chinese schools are being established there to remedy the situation. Wealthy Chinese are fostering the move though without encouragement from the Siam government. The Chinese comprise one-fourth the population of Siam.

REFINERS ETHYL GASOLINE Knocks out that knock

To learn what Refiners Ethyl Gasoline will do make this test today

TAKE the old bus and drive to the nearest Refiners Filling Station. (If your car is full of carbon, so much the better.)

Drain out your present gas and fill your tank with Refiners Ethyl Gasoline.

Then notice the difference!

No labored "knocking" when you crawl in traffic
No labored "knocking" when you take a hill on high.

Instead you will find a noticeable increase in pulling power, faster pick-up, less gear-shifting and greater driving satisfaction.

For Refiners Ethyl Gasoline not only stops the annoying and harmful "knock." It turns carbon—the cause of "knocking"—into an agency of service. In fact, the more carbon you have, the better this magic fuel works.

Refiners Ethyl Gasoline has no substitute; nothing is comparable to it. It is automotive science's latest contribution to motoring satisfaction and as such ranks with balloon tires and four-wheel brakes. The first tankful will prove its magic qualities. Fill your tank today.

LITTEN MOTOR SALES COMPANY
EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO.

NOTICE: Dilution of Refiners Ethyl Gasoline with other fuels decreases its effectiveness. Therefore it is important to drain your tank before filling it with Refiners Ethyl Gasoline for the first time — and to use Refiners Ethyl Gasoline exclusively thereafter. Remember also that no motor fuel will "grind valves." While Refiners Ethyl Gasoline makes carbon an agency of service, you must keep your valves in good condition.

Stop the "knock" with Refiners Ethyl Gasoline and turn carbon into power

STATE GAME LAWS TO BE ENFORCED

Stringent orders have been issued to deputy state game wardens relative to the enforcement of the game laws now that the hunting season has been officially opened.

During the past year a large number of arrests were made in various parts of the state with the result that more fines were levied than in other years.

Reports of violations made to the office of the state fish and game bureau will be turned over to the deputy wardens for investigation.

INSTITUTE WILL BE ARRANGED

Members of the executive committee of the Hancock County Teachers association will meet Saturday morning at New Cumberland.

At this session plans will be completed for the annual county institute to be held during the winter.

Superintendent A. D. Osborne and Principal N. F. Evarts will attend the meeting. The latter is president of the association.

COMMISSIONERS TO DRAW JURORS

Names of citizens who will serve as jurors for the coming year will be placed in the jury wheel next week by jury commissioners H. H. Robb and J. L. Mayhew when they meet at New Cumberland.

Members of the grand and petit jurors will be picked at the same time to serve during the November term of the Hancock county circuit court.

REV. SCHRADER TO ATTEND MEET

Rev. J. W. Schrader, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, will leave Monday for Carnegie, Pa., where he will attend the annual conference.

The sessions will continue for one week. Two lay delegates from the local church will attend the closing sessions.

EVANGELIST WILL SPEAK TONIGHT

Rev. Oscar Hudson, of Kansas City, Mo., will preach tonight at the services in the Church of the Nazarene where he has been conducting evangelistic meetings for the past two weeks.

The meetings were scheduled to close last night. The evangelist may remain over until Sunday.

Pre-Communion Services.

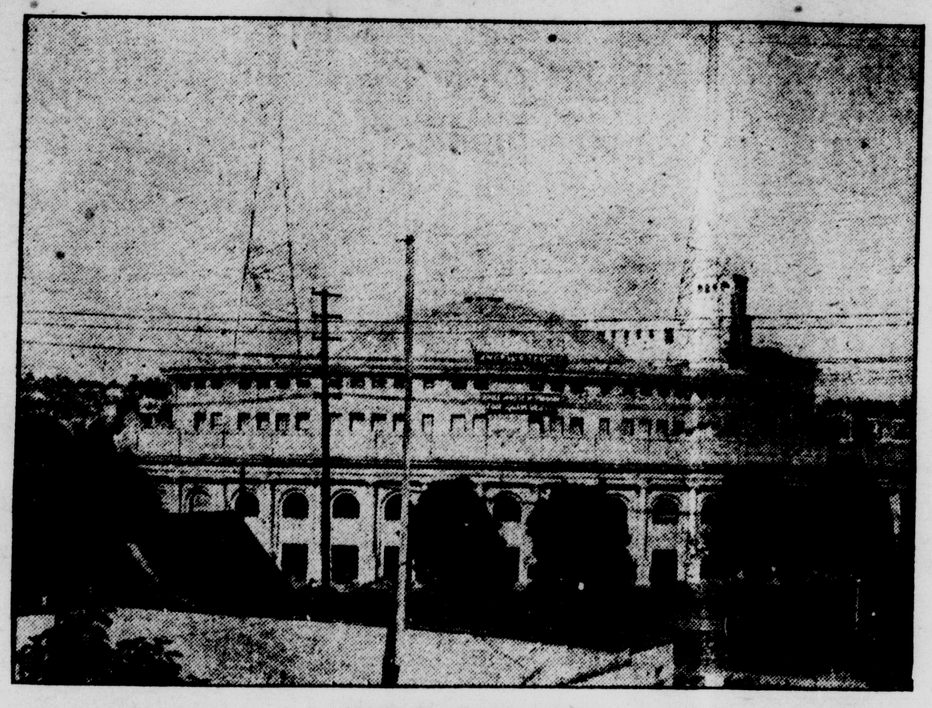
Pre-communion services will be held this evening in the First Presbyterian church. Communion services will be held Sunday.

Many Attend Convention.

Number of local young people attended the opening session of the Hancock County Sunday school association last night in the Holliday's Cove Presbyterian church.

Buenos Aires is to have a new six-story department store.

Thousands of Angelus Temple Worshippers Are Loyal As Aimee Semple McPherson Faces Court Action



Angelus Temple, Los Angeles.

The great temple built by the followers of Aimee Semple McPherson, Los Angeles' spectacular feminine evangelest, seats some 5,000 and is filled to overflowing regularly. Most of the many more who count themselves as her faithful are loyal to Mrs. McPherson in her troubles with the Los Angeles courts.

Japan Girls Protested.

Japan's new code for protecting its young girls from informal marriage alliances gives them definite rights as a result of which the "Madame Butterfly" is apt to pass from the picture. Under the new code foreign men may not make these informal alliances and suddenly abandon the girls without expecting to be called to account. Compensation is now allowed the girl who has been promised marriage and then abandoned.

Chinese in Siam Astir.

Chinese in Siam have suddenly awakened to the fact that their children who are being brought up there are ignorant of Chinese reading, writing and customs. Consequently Chinese schools are being established there to remedy the situation. Wealthy Chinese are fostering the move though without encouragement from the Siam government. The Chinese comprise one-fourth the population of Siam.

REFINERS ETHYL GASOLINE
Knocks out that "knock"

To learn what Refiners Ethyl Gasoline will do make this test today

TAKE the old bus and drive to the nearest Refiners Filling Station. (If your car is full of carbon, so much the better.)

Drain out your present gas and fill your tank with Refiners Ethyl Gasoline.

Then notice the difference!

No labored "knocking" when you crawl in traffic

No labored "knocking" when you take a hill on high.

Instead you will find a noticeable increase in pulling power, faster pick-up, less gear-shifting and greater driving satisfaction.

For Refiners Ethyl Gasoline not only stops the annoying and harmful "knock." It turns carbon—the cause of "knocking"—into an agency of service. In fact, the more carbon you have, the better this magic fuel works.

Refiners Ethyl Gasoline has no substitute; nothing is comparable to it. It is automotive science's latest contribution to motoring satisfaction and as such ranks with balloon tires and four-wheel brakes. The first tankful will prove its magic qualities. Fill your tank today.

LITTEN MOTOR SALES COMPANY
EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO.

NOTICE: Dilution of Refiners Ethyl Gasoline with other fuels decreases its effectiveness. Therefore it is important to drain your tank before filling it with Refiners Ethyl Gasoline for the first time — and to use Refiners Ethyl Gasoline exclusively thereafter.

Remember also that no motor fuel will "grind valves." While Refiners Ethyl Gasoline makes carbon an agency of service, you must keep your valves in good condition.

Stop the "knock" with Refiners Ethyl Gasoline and turn carbon into power

GLITTER

By Katharine Brush

Yvonne, without any visible effort, made a dozen blase collegians her slaves.

BOOK THREE—VIII.

an it? I—" He choked, and speechless, bent to press his lips to the hollow of her throat that showed where the fur curved away in gleaming wings. "You're so wonderful," he cried brokenly. "You're meat and wine, do you know it? I love everything about you. Your eyes. They're gray cloud, and wise. I'm afraid sometimes, your eyes know so many things. And your marvelous hair, and your skin—so soft, Yvonne—baby skin. And that dimple in one cheek without any in the other—lopsided, it fascinates me. And I love the way you catch your lower lip with your teeth when you're thinking hard about something. And you're just tall enough—just right, Yvonne! That's what I kept thinking the first time I saw you. So right. Everything about you is just exactly what it ought to be. And your voice—I hear it often in the night, or think I do. I'm crazy about it, it's so different. Deep, and a little bit husky, as though you'd have to give a little cough in a minute, only that minute never quite comes. Remember the night I met you, and we went for a ride, and you sang? I could never describe how I felt. I wanted to cry and yell, and yet I didn't want to do anything but keep still and listen. And yearn. I—I just yearned for something terribly, all the while you were singing. I didn't know what it was, but I knew I wanted it so, I thought I'd go mad if I didn't get it. Now I know what it was that I wanted always, Yvonne. It was you" . . .

She said nothing; only pressed a little tigher against him in token that she heard, and was glad in hearing. Presently he spoke again.

"I like to think of you in places where you'll probably never be. In a splendid palace, on a throne carved out of jewels. Or barefooted on a tropical beach with flowers around your hair . . . that hair! If I were a painter I'd want to paint you sitting on a rock, combing it with a golden comb, like the Lorelei." He paused, speculating. "Not so bad to have the girl you loved an actress, would it be? Because then you might see her in some of the costumes and against some of the backgrounds you like to imagine for her. Do you know, Yvonne, I've thought several times you're probably an actress."

"Why? What make you think that?"

"It's logical. Somebody'd surely capitalize on beauty like that." He chuckled, in amusement and perfect content. "Just imagine loving anybody as I love you, and not knowing one thing about them except that they're the only person in the world!"

"Shall I tell you now, then?"

"I don't give a damn if you never tell me! No, tell me something else. Tell me—" He laughed into her laughing eyes. "You little witch, you know how doggone well what I want to hear—"

She obeyed, soft-voiced and instantly grave. "I love you."

And his heart echoed it, and found it overwhelming. "She loves me. Me. All that loveliness, for me." . . . Before the thought he bowed his head as before a thing divine, and kissed her hands, and whispered, "Jesus." Not in blasphemy, but in gratitude. And he felt that all the days of his life had marched to this day, an army with banners; that all days thereafter would date from it, as the birthday of happiness.

IX.

They lunched in a wayside tea room, a merry little place, all sunlight, and cretonne, and yellow china, and canary birds in cages. And, because there were others at tables quite near, they talked like acquaintances rather than lovers, hiding the things that glowed in their eyes. They talked of California, and the University, and New York. . . . "I've moved," Yvonne remarked, "I'm not living on Park avenue any more. I moved yesterday." She gave him a new address, somewhere in the East Sixties, and he jotted it down with a fountain pen on the back of a tailor's bill. "As soon as I've graduated," he told her, "you'll move again, and don't you forget it!" And he smiled his twisted adoring smile, and she smiled back . . . drawnly . . .

Later she said, "That girl we saw—Eunice something, didn't you say her name was?—tell me about her."

"Now why? I don't want to talk about her on a day like this, for heaven's sake!"

"Don't you—care about her, Jock Hamill?"

"Good God, no!"

"She cares about you."

Jock dropped his fork and leaned back, registering indignation. "She what?"

Yvonne nodded. She does. I could tell. The way she looked at you when we passed. And the way she looked at me. . . . Women know all about one another, my dear. I understood her."

"Say!" Jock snorted. "Well, you're wrong for once, honey. Eunice Hathaway doesn't care about anything in God's world except herself and—glitter."

Yvonne repeated the word meditatively. "That's your pet word, isn't it? I've heard you use it a hundred times."

"I'm for it." Jock declared. "It's expressive. Hard and bright and cold. Glitter. Just the sound of it! Things that shine and don't give any warmth. Things that attract your eyes at first and after that tire them till you have to look away. It's the one best word for the twentieth centtury—this generation 'in seven letters, horizontal.'"

There was a silence, then Yvonne said slowly, "I told you once it was the one best word for me. Yvonne Mountford 'in seven letters, horizontal.'"

"Yes, and you were a sweet little liar," Jock informed her with the utmost complaisance.

X.

When luncheon was over they drove again, and the end of a half hour brought them onto a road that ran along near the ocean. They could hear its murmurous chant from over beyond a sand dune at their right, and occasionally, when the dune dipped low, they could glimpse an atom of its bright blue-green. Presently Yvonne called a halt. "Stop, Michael! Stop right here!"

The great machine slid to tranquility by the roadside, and Jock and Yvonne got out. "Come on," she said, taking his hand. "I want to look at this. The sea always pulls me—God knows why—I ought to hate it, really—"

They mounted the sloping bank, rounded the corner of a line of bathhouses, and emerged onto the incomparable loneliness of a summer resort in mid-winter. A long crescent of pale sand, bordered by cottages, green ones, brown ones, with singuar names on shingles over their worn front steps. Bide-a-Wee, Happy Days, Sans Souci—names like that. Windows boarded up, or showing yellowing newspapers behind the panes. Porch railings where, in season, bathing suits flapped perpetually and young folk sat and swung their bare tan legs—deserted now. There was something pathetic, ineffably forlorn, about those cottages squatting in the February sun. . . . "They look so broken hearted," Yvonne said. . . . And before the cottages, sea, that wallowed sluggishly as a summer sea, and whined, and crept in lace-edged scallops up the beach.

Eggs Dropped 1,200 Feet O. K.

As a means of testing the packing of eggs, a crate full of eggs packed in regulation crates was allowed to fall from a plane 1,200 feet in the air, but not an egg was broken. A parachute was used in this test, but a crate dropped 110 feet without a parachute sustained the impact so well that only nine of 30 dozen were broken.

HELP YOURSELF TO HEALTH

W. K. Kellogg

Worn and weary—but not from work

ONLY a few months ago he was feeling fine. A full desk meant nothing more than a full day—a challenge which he eagerly accepted. Life was worth living then. . . . But now . . . now he seemed eternally tired, lifeless, exhausted. His head was dull and achy. Work was a frightful bore. Life was barren of interest. Where would it all end? . . .

In the work-a-day world there are thousands of men and women who suffer from constipation. They try this and that, forever seeking relief and seldom finding it. Yet there is sure, permanent relief from this disease—Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

As Kellogg's ALL-BRAN journeys through the system its fiber remains unchanged. It remains a bulk food, as doctors call it. Because of its bulk it sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It stimulates the flow of digestive juices. It absorbs and carries moisture into the intestine and prompts it to natural, healthy action.

If eaten regularly, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring permanent relief, or your grocer will refund the purchase price. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Its delightful nutty flavor makes it good as a cereal. Serve with milk or cream alone or with fresh or preserved fruit; with other cereals; use in soups, cook in hot cereals, or in the recipes given on every package.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the original ALL-BRAN—a 100% bran product. That is why doctors recommend it. Your grocer sells it. Get a package today. Also served in all hotels and restaurants.

GLITTER

By Katharine Brush

Yvonne, without any visible effort, made a dozen blase collegians her slaves.

BOOK THREE—VIII.

...ean it? I—" He choked, and speechless, bent to press his lips to the hollow of her throat that showed where the fur curved away in gleaming wings. "You're so wonderful," he cried brokenly. "You're meat and wine, do you know it? I love everything about you. Your eyes. They're gray cloud, and wise. I'm afraid sometimes, your eyes know so many things. And your marvelous hair, and your skin—so soft, Yvonne—baby skin. And that dimple in one cheek without any in the other—lopsided, it fascinates me. And I love the way you catch your lower lip with your teeth when you're thinking hard about something. And you're just tall enough—just right, Yvonne! That's what I kept thinking the first time I saw you. So right. Everything about you is just exactly what it ought to be. And your voice—I hear it often in the night, or think I do. I'm crazy about it, it's so different. Deep, and a little bit husky, as though you'd have to give a little cough in a minute, only that minute never quite comes. Remember the night I met you, and we went for a ride, and you sang? I could never describe how I felt. I wanted to cry and yell, and yet I didn't want to do anything but keep still and listen. And yearn. I—I just yearned for something terribly, all the while you were singing. I didn't know what it was, but I knew I wanted it so, I thought I'd go mad if I didn't get it. Now I know what it was that I wanted always, Yvonne. It was you" . . .

She said nothing; only pressed a little tigher against him in token that she heard, and was glad in hearing. Presently he spoke again.

"I like to think of you in places where you'll probably never be. In a splendid palace, on a throne carved out of jewels. Or barefooted on a tropical beach with flowers around your hair . . . that hair! If I were a painter I'd want to paint you sitting on a rock, combing it with a golden comb, like the Lorelei." He paused, speculating. "Not so bad to have the girl you loved an actress, would it be? Because then you might see her in some of the costumes and against some of the backgrounds you like to imagine for her. Do you know, Yvonne, I've thought several times you're probably an actress."

"Why? What make you think that?"

"It's logical. Somebody'd surely capitalize on beauty like that." He chuckled, in amusement and perfect content. "Just imagine loving anybody as I love you, and not knowing one thing about them except that they're the only person in the world!"

"Shall I tell you now, then?"

"I don't give a damn if you never tell me! No, tell me something else. Tell me—" He laughed into her laughing eyes. "You little witch, you know how doggone well what I want to hear—"

She obeyed, soft-voiced and instantly grave. "I love you."

And his heart echoed it, and found it overwhelming. "She loves me. Me. All that loveliness, for me." . . . Before the thought he bowed his head as before a thing divine, and kissed her hands, and whispered, "Jesus." Not in blasphemy, but in gratitude. And he felt that all the days of his life had marched to this day, an army with banners; that all days thereafter would date from it, as the birthday of happiness.

IX.

They lunched in a wayside tea room, a merry little place, all sunlight, and cretonne, and yellow china, and canary birds in cages. And, because there were others at tables quite near, they talked like acquaintances rather than lovers, hiding the things that glowed in their eyes. They talked of California, and the University, and New York. . . . "I've moved," Yvonne remarked, "I'm not living on Park avenue any more. I moved yesterday." She gave him a new address, somewhere in the East Sixties, and he jotted it down with a fountain pen on the back of a tailor's bill. "As soon as I've graduated," he told her, "you'll move again, and don't you forget it!" And he smiled his twisted adoring smile, and she smiled back . . . drawnly . . .

Later she said, "That girl we saw—Eunice something, didn't you say her name was?—tell me about her."

"Now why? I don't want to talk about her on a day like this, for heaven's sake!"

"Don't you—care about her, Jock Hamill?"

"Good God, no!"

"She cares about you."

Jock dropped his fork and leaned back, registering indignation. "She what?"

Yvonne nodded. She does. I could tell. The way she looked at you when we passed. And the way she looked at me. . . . Women know all about one another, my dear. I understood her."

"Say!" Jock snorted. "Well, you're wrong for once, honey. Eunice Hathaway doesn't care about anything in God's world except herself and—glitter."

Yvonne repeated the word meditatively. "That's your pet word, isn't it? I've heard you use it a hundred times."

"I'm for it," Jock declared. "It's expressive. Hard and bright and cold. Glitter. Just the sound of it! Things that shine and don't give any warmth. Things that attract your eyes at first and after that tire them till you have to look away. It's the one best word for the twentieth centtury—this generation 'in seven letters, horizontal.'"

There was a silence, then Yvonne said slowly, "I told you once it was the one best word for me. Yvonne Mountford 'in seven letters, horizontal.'"

"Yes, and you were a sweet little liar," Jock informed her with the utmost complaisance.

X.

When luncheon was over they drove again, and the end of a half hour brought them onto a road that ran along near the ocean. They could hear its murmurous chant from over beyond a sand dune at their right, and occasionally, when the dune dipped low, they could glimpse an atom of its bright blue-green. Presently Yvonne called a halt. "Stop, Michael! Stop right here!"

The great machine slid to tranquility by the roadside, and Jock and Yvonne got out. "Come on," she said, taking his hand. "I want to look at this. The sea always pulls me—God knows why—I ought to hate it, really—"

They mounted the sloping bank, rounded the corner of a line of bathhouses, and emerged onto the incomparable loneliness of a summer resort in mid-winter. A long crescent of pale sand, bordered by cottages, green ones, brown ones, with singuar names on shingles over their worn front steps. Bide-a-Wee, Happy Days, Sans Souci—names like that. Windows boarded up, or showing yellowing newspapers behind the panes. Porch railings where, in season, bathing suits flapped perpetually and young folk sat and swung their bare tan legs—deserted now. There was something pathetic, ineffably forlorn, about those cottages squatting in the February sun. . . . "They look so broken hearted," Yvonne said. . . . And before the cottages, sea, that wallowed sluggishly as a summer sea, and whined, and crept in lace-edged scallops up the beach.

Eggs Dropped 1,200 Feet O. K.

As a means of testing the packing of eggs, a crate full of eggs packed in regulation crates was allowed to fall from a plane 1,200 feet in the air, but not an egg was broken. A parachute was used in this test, but a crate dropped 110 feet without a parachute sustained the impact so well that only nine of 30 dozen were broken.

Worn and weary—but not from work

ONLY a few months ago he was feeling fine. A full desk meant nothing more than a full day—a challenge which he eagerly accepted. Life was worth living then. . . . But now . . . now he seemed eternally tired, lifeless, exhausted. His head was dull and achy. Work was a frightful bore. Life was barren of interest. Where would it all end? . . .

In the work-a-day world there are thousands of men and women who suffer from constipation. They try this and that, forever seeking relief and seldom finding it. Yet there is sure, permanent relief from this disease—Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

As Kellogg's ALL-BRAN journeys through the system its fiber remains unchanged. It remains a bulk food, as doctors call it. Because of its bulk it sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It stimulates the flow of digestive juices. It absorbs and carries moisture into the intestine and prompts it to natural, healthy action.

If eaten regularly, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring permanent relief, or your grocer will refund the purchase price. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Build for Health—with plenty of wholesome GOOD LUCK in youth

Every Slice of Bread that's spread with GOOD LUCK and fed to Children is a definite step to HEALTH

"Spread it on thick, Mother, I'm hungry!" That's the way to do it . . . spread it on thick. For growing children with husky appetites need a lot of nourishing food after play and study.

Jelke GOOD LUCK margarine is the right kind of nourishing food for them. It's a blend of whole country milk and prime meat fats . . . as wholesome a combination as can be.

Spread it on thick, and straightway little bodies receive wholesome nourishment. Flagging energies are revived. Physical well-being assured. Health thrives.

NEW PLAY-BOOK—SEND FOR IT

Children never forget Health pictures and jingles learned from GOOD LUCK AND GOOD HEALTH . . . the new crayon play-book. They learn while they color the pictures. It's the easy, natural way. Send for a copy for your child—complete with set of seven crayons. It means fun for them now; and health knowledge all the rest of their lives. Use the coupon below—today!

FUN FOR CHILDREN

"Good Luck and Good Health"—a play-book for children, full of jolly pictures and jingles, complete with crayons. Insert your name and mail with 10 cents, coin or stamps, to cover postage and packing. Address John F. Jelke Co., Dept. D, 759 South Washtenaw Avenue, Chicago, Illinois.

ILLINOIS PARK SAVES MOUND BUILDERS' HOME

144-acre Tract With Earth Works Will be Preserved.

TOURISTS' MECCA

State Road Being Built to Make Site Accessible.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—All possible speed will be used in beautifying the 144 acres comprising the Cahokia Mound Park in Southern Illinois and in completing the second state bond issue road to this park. Contracts for work on the park have been let and the ground will be broken up and seeded.

The Mounds will not be disturbed.

The Great Cahokia Mound, or "Monks Mound," is easily the largest prehistorical artificial earth work in the United States and is to the "Mound Builders" what the Great Pyramids were to the Pharoahs of Egypt.

Dimensions of Mound.

The dimensions of Monks Mound are: base, north and south, 930 feet; east and west 721 feet; height 99 feet. It covers 16 acres and is estimated to contain 84,000,000 cubic feet of earth. It has been figured that it would take 2,400 builders working 10 hours every day for two years to complete this mound.

The mound won its name because in 1804 the order of Trappist Monks built a mission there. The name Cahokia comes from the tribe of Indians LaSalle met in 1681. In addition to this mound there are 45 smaller ones scattered about.

The Cahokia mounds, scientists say, are identical with structures which the Spaniards found the Aztecs using in Mexico City for religious ceremonies in the early part of the sixteenth century.

Age Not Known.

Just when the mounds were built has never been determined. It is believed, however, their construction antedated the arrival of the white man by several centuries.

It has never been agreed upon by archaeologists as to who built the mounds. Some believe they were constructed by Aztecs who wandered north, others thinking that the relics found in the mounds indicate greater culture than that possessed by the Indians wound when Columbus discovered America.

Appropriation was made by the Illinois assembly so that this heritage might be preserved.

Among the 15,000 who, clad only in light running costume, participated in the last rush to the new diamond field at Elandsputte, Africa, were 120 women.

TO REGULATE THE BOWELS

Nothing Better Than Old Reliable "VINCO" To Put Bowels To Work

The best evidence of the merit of "VINCO" Herb Tablets is the fact that millions of boxes have been sold although it is now being advertised for the first time.

Good health, good looks and good feeling go together. No man or woman can enjoy life with a sour, sick, bloated stomach, a torpid liver or constipation of the bowels. "VINCO" may prove to be just what you need to put your stomach, liver and bowels to work and make you well again.

Lay aside nasty salts, dangerous calomel or harsh physics. Get a 25c box of harmless, sensible "VINCO." Take a tablet tonight! Feel fine tomorrow! Do a double day's work! Keep looking and feeling young! Do a kindness by telling others about "VINCO."

Not a drop of dope or harmful drugs in "VINCO." Made of herbs, roots and barks. Does not gripe or sicken. Guaranteed to bring relief. Especially recommended for elderly folks or in chronic obstinate constipation where ordinary laxatives fail.

You Pay Double Fare!

—when you use "500 MILE OIL" instead of STERLING 1000 Mile Oil

Ordinary motor oil has to be changed every five hundred miles to insure safety. This means that to run 1000 miles a purchase of two lots of oil must be made.

However, if you use Sterling Oil, which costs no more than ordinary oil, you can travel twice as far without change of oil.

Why then pay double fare when one fare will do?

In servicing Sterling Oil, we realize that we will sell our customers less oil but we are convinced that the extra mileage and economy of Sterling Oil will bring us many new customers which will more than offset our less frequent sales.

Get the Sterling habit and save half the money you usually spend for oil.

Stop and get our little booklet "Smashing the 500 mile barrier" — it's free.

You Pay Double Fare!

—when you use "500 MILE OIL" instead of STERLING 1000 Mile Oil

Ordinary motor oil has to be changed every five hundred miles to insure safety. This means that to run 1000 miles a purchase of two lots of oil must be made.

However, if you use Sterling Oil, which costs no more than ordinary oil, you can travel twice as far without change of oil.

Why then pay double fare when one fare will do?

In servicing Sterling Oil, we realize that we will sell our customers less oil but we are convinced that the extra mileage and economy of Sterling Oil will bring us many new customers which will more than offset our less frequent sales.

Get the Sterling habit and save half the money you usually spend for oil.

Stop and get our little booklet "Smashing the 500 mile barrier" — it's free.

"Unofficial Ambassador" Home Again

Mr. and Mrs. Will Rogers, Mary, James, Sealyham and "Jock."

After an extended tour of Europe, enjoying himself as an "unofficial ambassador" of America abroad, Will Rogers and his family prepare to settle into their American lives again. The cowboy comedian's immediate plans have not been made public but it is expected he will soon be back on Broadway.

SLAP IN FACE CAUSED REVOLT OF RIFF TRIBES

Spanish General's Insult to Abd El Krim Recalled.

LEADER EXILED

Vanquished Chieftain Tells Story of Incarceration.

PARIS—When General Silvestre, Spanish commander in Moroco, slapped Ebd El Krim in the face and threw him in prison in 1920, he made of a former friend of Spain a bitter enemy and was indirectly responsible for the Riffian revolt against the power of Spain which continued from 1921 to 1926.

That is Abd El Krim's explanation of his hatred of Spain and the reason for his bitter fight against Spanish authority in the Riff country, according to the Echo de Paris.

The vanquished Riffian leader, now on his way to a life of exile in Reunion Island, told his story to a correspondent of the Echo de Paris in Targuist, shortly after his surrender.

"Until 1921," Abd El Krim declared, "my famil was faithfully and loyally allied to Spain. My father, who exercised great influence on behalf of Spain and counselled my brother and me to collaborate with Spain.

Offers Services.

"My brother had studied at the School of Mines in Madrid. I spent four years in the University Karaouine at Fez. When I returned from Fez I met many Sapnish officers who, because I knew their language, suggested that I offer my services to the Spanish headquarters at Melilla or Teutan.

"I went to Melilla and soon won the confidence of several military chiefs, particularly General Jordana, General Berenguer and Colonel Morales. I became private secretary of the latter who was in charge of the service of pacific conquest of the Riff country.

"I devoted myself completely to the service of Spain. At first simple interpreter I became the confident of Colonel Morales, who followed out the methods of colonization I indicated. I was given important missions and I brought to Colonel Morales many tribal chiefs who submitted without combat.

"I was given to understand that I would be recompensed for my services when the entire Riff country was pacified. I have a letter from the Spanish commander in chief promising me the post of caliphat of the Sultan at Tetuan for the entire Spanish zone. It was the highest honor I could hope for.

"Unfortunately a Spaniard arrived who prevented the carrying out of the policy of peaceful penetration—General Silvestre.

"Magnificent and courageous soldier and very impetuous, he was not the diplomat the circumstances demanded. He insisted on conquest by force just when the policy of diplomatic conquest was bearing fruit.

"Jealous of the success of General Berenguer, who entered Chechaouen triumphantly in 1920, he wanted some glory for himself. He was finally given the governorship of Melilla and the conduct of operations in that sector.

"I continued with him the good relations I had with his predecessor. I was received by him several times and took many tribal chiefs and notables to him.

"During a long conversation I exposed to him the fallacy of using force when he could gain the same ends by diplomacy.

Suggests Compromise.

Since he was about to begin military action against a fraction of my tribe I proposed to bring before him the caid of the dissident faction with whom I said I was sure he could arrange matters by the payment of probably 100,000 pesetas. It was a smaller sum than that used to buy off other rebel chiefs."

At the mention of such a sum, according to Abd El Krim, General Silvestre jumped from his chair, called the Riffian a liar and a thief, accused him planning to keep the money himself, and, to add injury to insult, advanced and slapped the late Riff chieftain.

"Blood spurted from my face," says Abd El Krim, "and I was knocked to the floor. Besides myself with rage I got up, wiped my face, held my bloody hand toward Heaven and cried out: 'You will find out what it costs to strike an Ouriagel.'

"Scarcely had I pronounced the words when officers entered the room and on the command of the general, arrested me and put me in prison.

Ten Months In Jail.

"All my friendship for Spain deserted me. Out of a faithful collaborator Silvestre had made in one fatal minute an everlasting enemy.

"I passed ten months in the prison of Caballerisas, my hate growing daily. I swore to myself that the Spaniards would never colonize our country. I lived with one idea in mind—to escape and rally my tribesmen against such incompetent people.

"Attempts of my family to have me released were futile. I owe my release to a Spanish officer who aided me to escape during the winter of 1920-21.

"My oath against General Silvestre was realized soon, although I did not intervene directly. Silvestre committed suicide on July 22, 1921, on the plains of Annual, responsible for the most humiliating defeat a Colonial army ever suffered."

COURT RULINGS HANDED DOWN

Judge Spence Passes on Number of Civil Actions.

A demurrer has been sustained, to which the plaintiffs have filed exceptions in the case of Charles H. Stahl against Salem lodge No. 571, Loyal Order of Moose. This is an appeal action carried higher from a Justice of the Peace court in Salem.

In the action of Jack Blasto against J. Baxter for $801.84 for refusal to carry out a contract, a motion filed in this case has been overruled.

Demurrer of the plaintiff Emily D. Howell and Ethel H. Gilbert against Martin V. Howell, for forfeiture of real estate and money, to the answer of Martin V. Howell has been sustained.

A motion to the defendants answer has been overruled, and exceptions granted in the case of O. R. Peterman against William Gardner, wherein $1,000 is claimed to be due on a contract.

Leave to the defendants to file an answer at once has been granted by the court in the case of A. Shrader's Sons, Inc., against J. Schwab and others, an action in attachment.

In two damage actions totaling $7,885 against the Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction Co., the defendant corporation has been granted leave to file its answer in each case by Oct. 23rd. In one of these actions Pietro Viola has sued to recover $2,885 as damages as a result of a car of the defendants striking one of the plaintiffs, and in the second case, Samuel Maravantano, a passenger in the Viola car, who claims to have been injured seeks $5,000 damages.

Leave to file its answer by Oct. 23rd has also been granted the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., defendant in a $10,568.17 damage action filed against it by Jonas Peppel.

Foreclosure of mortgage has been ordered by the court in the case of the McKay Carriage Co., against George A. Anderson and others.

A motion has been sustained in the case of Walter B. Hill as trustee in bankruptcy of Theo Kouvallis, a bankrupt against George Kouvallis. In this case the recovery of property is sought under a court order.

The petition has been dismissed at the costs of the plaintiff and without prejudice in the case of the Metropolitan Savings Bank Trust Co., of Pittsburgh, Pa., against the Coll Preserving Co., of East Palestine. This action, which was filed March 9, 1925, was for the recovery of a claim of $14.000 and interest.

Demurrer to the petition on the grounds of misjoiner has been sustained by the court in the case of the state of Ohio on relation of C. C. Crabbe as attorney general as on behalf of Columbiana county in an action pending in court against George B. Williams, former clerk of courts. In this case the recovery of $877.50 is sought for retaining fees.

Under the federal naturalization laws the clerk of courts is authorized to retain certain naturaiization court fees, but under the state laws the money is taken away from him, and on this question hangs this lawsuit.

Demurrer has been overruled in the case of Jennie V. Imbrie against Adolph Joseph and William Erlanger, Jr., an action filed in court to recover $2,000 damage to real estate, and filed July 9 last year. The defendants have taken their exceptions.

In the case of the same plaintiff against May Morley Bryan and others, wherein $2,667 damage is sought, a motion in this action has been sustained and a demurrer overruled.

A motion filed in the case of the Line Material company against the Adamant Porcelain company of East Liverpool has been overruled.

Demurrer has been sustained and a motion overruled in the case of Nellie Gearpeck against Elmer S. Day, carried on appeal from a lower court to common pleas.

Leave has been granted the plaintiff to file an amended petition by Oct. 9 in the case of Wayne Durst against Harry F. Hurd.

The case of Garland Jones against the Pittsburgh Rubber Corporation which was an action to recover money and for the appointment of a receiver has been dismissed at the costs of the plaintiff. The action was filed Sept. 11, 1925.

After the demurrer of the defendant was overruled, and exceptions taken in the case of Martin V. Howell against Viola Blake, alias Nellie Reay, the defendant was granted leave until Oct. 16 to file an answer to the petition.

The motion of the defendant has been sustained in the case of Virginia Hamilton against the Chester Construction company, to which the plaintiff has filed exceptions. In this case the plaintiff seeks $10,000 damages from the defendant.

SURVEYOR FILES ROAD REPORT

The option of either correcting pavements they built to conform to specifications or accept deductions is to be given contractors, according to an official communication addressed to the county commissioners by County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk. This communication followed the receipt of a report by Mr. Kirk of a record of a profilometer reading taken on five roads recently completed in this county.

Records were taken on the Wellsville-Salineville road, upon which Lewis & Copeland of Lima were contractors.

Wellsville-East Liverpool road, George B. Patterson, Wellsville, contractor.

West Eighth street, East Liverpool, Allison & Harris, contractors, and Tatgenhorst & McLaughlin sub-contractors.

Shadyside avenue, East Liverpool and Liverpool township, Allison & Harris contractors with the Ohio Willite Surfacing & Paving company, surfacing contractor.

OPPOSE GRANTING OF BUS FRANCHISE

Opposition to the granting of a state franchise to the Minerva-Canton Bus company has been filed with the public utilities commission by the Canton-East Liverpool Coach company, operating between Canton and East Liverpool.

The new interest has proposed to operate a bus line between Minerva and Salineville by extension of their present route from Minerva through Augusta and Summitville to Salineville.

It is the contention of the Canton-East Liverpool Coach company that it holds prior rights, and that it now operates between Minerva and Kensington in Columbiana county.

Marriage License.

A marriage license has been issued to Joseph H. Dickey of Salem, an insurance agent, and Miss Grace E. Cowan, of Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cowan. They are to be married by Rev. Ridgley.

Two Divorces Granted.

Nina Dora Dawson, who married Benjamin Dawson at Beaver, Pa., Oct. 8, 1921, was granted a divorce from her husband by Judge W. H. Spence on the grounds of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty.

Lulu M. Hanley, a minor, and who was married at the age of 16 years to Raymond Hanley, of 939 Dresden avenue, East Liverpool, on Oct. 18, 1924, has been granted a decree of divorce from her husband on the grounds of gross neglect of duty. AKRON WOMAN COMES OUT FOR PLANT JUICE

Terrible Pain in Side And Other Suffering From Stomach Reported Relieved for Mrs. Alice Tubb.

"I tell you I have never seen or heard of a medicine so worthy of a place in every home as Dillingham's Plant Juice," declares Mrs. Alice Tubb, 1384 Newton St., Akron, O.

"For weeks I had suffered with a mysterious pain in my side that caused me perfect torture and sleepless nights. But when Plant Juice was recommended to me and I began taking the medicine all this pain disappeared and I was restored to splendid health.

"For years I had suffered with attacks of indigestion, but Plant Juice just stopped all stomach distress I had after meals, and now I get real nourishment from my food and feel fine in every way, I tell you, Plant Juice is certainly entitled to a lot of praise for what it has done for me and I can't say half enough for it."

Mrs. Alice Tubb

ILLINOIS PARK SAVES MOUND BUILDERS' HOME

144-acre Tract With Earth Works Will be Preserved.

TOURISTS' MECCA

State Road Being Built to Make Site Accessible.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—All possible speed will be used in beautifying the 144 acres comprising the Cahokia Mound Park in Southern Illinois and in completing the second state bond issue road to this park. Contracts for work on the park have been let and the ground will be broken up and seeded.

The Mounds will not be disturbed.

The Great Cahokia Mound, or "Monks Mound," is easily the largest prehistorical artificial earth work in the United States and is to the "Mound Builders" what the Great Pyramids were to the Pharoahs of Egypt.

Dimensions of Mound.

The dimensions of Monks Mound are: base, north and south, 950 feet; east and west 721 feet; height 99 feet. It covers 16 acres and is estimated to contain 84,000,000 cubic feet of earth. It has been figured that it would take 2,400 builders working 10 hours every day for two years to complete this mound.

The mound won its name because in 1804 the order of Trappist Monks built a mission there. The name Cahokia comes from the tribe of Indians LaSalle met in 1681. In addition to this mound there are 45 smaller ones scattered about.

The Cahokia mounds, scientists say, are identical with structures which the Spaniards found the Aztecs using in Mexico City for religious ceremonies in the early part of the sixteenth century.

Age Not Known.

Just when the mounds were built has never been determined. It is believed, however, their construction antedated the arrival of the white man by several centuries.

It has never been agreed upon by archaeologists as to who built the mounds. Some believe they were constructed by Aztecs who wandered north, others thinking that the relics found in the mounds indicate greater culture than that possessed by the Indians wound when Columbus discovered America.

Appropriation was made by the Illinois assembly so that this heritage might be preserved.

Among the 15,000 who, clad only in light running costume, participated in the last rush to the new diamond field at Elandsputte, Africa, were 120 women.

You Pay Double Fare!

—when you use "500 MILE OIL" instead of STERLING 1000 Mile Oil

Ordinary motor oil has to be changed every five hundred miles to insure safety. This means that to run 1000 miles a purchase of two lots of oil must be made.

However, if you use Sterling Oil, which costs no more than ordinary oil, you can travel twice as far without change of oil.

Why then pay double fare when one fare will do?

In servicing Sterling Oil, we realize that we will sell our customers less oil but we are convinced that the extra mileage and economy of Sterling Oil will bring us many new customers which will more than offset our less frequent sales.

Get the Sterling habit and save half the money you usually spend for oil.

Stop and get our little booklet "Smashing the 500 mile barrier" — it's free.

ILLINOIS PARK SAVES MOUND BUILDERS' HOME

144-acre Tract With Earth Works Will be Preserved.

TOURISTS' MECCA

State Road Being Built to Make Site Accessible.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—All possible speed will be used in beautifying the 144 acres comprising the Cahokia Mound Park in Southern Illinois and in completing the second state bond issue road to this park. Contracts for work on the park have been let and the ground will be broken up and seeded.

The Mounds will not be disturbed.

The Great Cahokia Mound, or "Monks Mound," is easily the largest prehistorical artificial earth work in the United States and is to the "Mound Builders" what the Great Pyramids were to the Pharoahs of Egypt.

Dimensions of Mound.

The dimensions of Monks Mound are: base, north and south, 990 feet; east and west 721 feet; height 99 feet. It covers 16 acres and is estimated to contain 84,000,000 cubic feet of earth. It has been figured that it would take 2,400 builders working 10 hours every day for two years to complete this mound.

The mound won its name because in 1804 the order of Trappist Monks built a mission there. The name Cahokia comes from the tribe of Indians LaSalle met in 1681. In addition to this mound there are 45 smaller ones scattered about.

The Cahokia mounds, scientists say, are identical with structures which the Spaniards found the Aztecs using in Mexico City for religious ceremonies in the early part of the sixteenth century.

Age Not Known.

Just when the mounds were built has never been determined. It is believed, however, their construction antedated the arrival of the white man by several centuries.

It has never been agreed upon by archaeologists as to who built the mounds. Some believe they were constructed by Aztecs who wandered north, others thinking that the relics found in the mounds indicate greater culture than that possessed by the Indians wound when Columbus discovered America.

Appropriation was made by the Illinois assembly so that this heritage might be preserved.

Among the 15,000 who, clad only in light running costume, participated in the last rush to the new diamond field at Elandsputte, Africa, were 120 women.

TO REGULATE THE BOWELS

Nothing Better Than Old Reliable "VINCO" To Put Bowels To Work

The best evidence of the merit of "VINCO" Herb Tablets is the fact that millions of boxes have been sold although it is now being advertised for the first time.

Good health, good looks and good feeling go together. No man or woman can enjoy life with a sour, sick, bloated stomach, a torpid liver or constipation of the bowels. "VINCO" may prove to be just what you need to put your stomach, liver and bowels to work and make you well again.

Lay aside nasty salts, dangerous calomel or harsh physics. Get a 25c box of harmless, sensible "VINCO." Take a tablet tonight! Feel fine tomorrow! Do a double day's work! Keep looking and feeling young! Do a kindness by telling others about "VINCO."

Not a drop of dope or harmful drugs in "VINCO." Made of herbs, roots and barks. Does not gripe or sicken. Guaranteed to bring relief. Especially recommended for elderly folks or in chronic obstinate constipation where ordinary laxatives fail.

Says Bachelors Die Sooner.

Professor George Robertson of Edinburgh Royal College of Physicians, has declared that men between the ages of twenty-five and thirty-five, who continue to be bachelors, die on the average four years sooner than married men. Likewise they run "three times the risk of becoming insane."

Palestine expects a building boom.

It is a pity that so many mothers of beautiful young daughters seem to disregard the warnings issued by health authorities in regard to Goiter. In this region any girl between 12 and 18 years of age is a probable victim of this malady. It may not only affect the mental and physical condition, but also reach the disfiguring stage.

The preventive for simple Goiter is MULKEY'S IODINE SALT, sold at grocery stores everywhere, and used the same as ordinary free-running salt. This is the brand officially approved. Read the certificate on label.

CONWAY TEARLE IN SCREEN HIT

Scores Triumph in "Sporting Lover" at American.

Conway Tearle, that most popular of screen lovers, scores a most palpable personal triumph in "The Sporting Lover," which was shown for the first time last night at the American theatre.

Tearle is a most gratifying actor at all times, and in "The Sporting Lover" he goes beyond himself. Barbara Bedford, who plays opposite him, shows stellar quilities in her delineation of a most difficult role. Miss Bedford has been appearing to better advantage in every new picture that she makes. We predict that she will be elevated to stardom within a very short period. Tearle is seen in the role of Captain Terance Connaughton, an Irish officer home from the front to check up on the castle and the many mortgages he has inherited from his ancestors. When he returns to the trenches he is wounded after a number of other occurrences and taken to a field hospital where he meets Lady Gwendolyn Cavens.

A romance develops, but is suddenly halted when an air raid demolishes the hospital and separates the lovers. After the war they are brought together again, with an army officer who had defrauded Connaughton having succeeded Connaughton in the lady's affenctions. Then the story really starts. What happens after that is too good to divulge in advance, hence our advice to those who appreciate thorough entertainment to see "The Sporting Lover" for themselves.

"The Sporting Lover" is an extraordinarily fast moving melodrama. It whizzes right along and leaves one with a feeling of having been well entertained. Alan Hale directed "The Sporting Lover." It is a First National picture.

SLAP IN FACE CAUSED REVOLT OF RIFF TRIBES

Spanish General's Insult to Abd El Krim Recalled.

LEADER EXILED

Vanquished Chieftain Tells Story of Incarceration.

PARIS—When General Silvestre, Spanish commander in Moroco, slapped Abd El Krim in the face and threw him in prison in 1920, he made of a former friend of Spain a bitter enemy and was indirectly responsible for the Riffian revolt against the power of Spain which continued from 1921 to 1926.

That is Abd El Krim's explanation of his hatred of Spain and the reason for his bitter fight against Spanish authority in the Riff country, according to the Echo de Paris.

The vanquished Riffian leader, now on his way to a life of exile in Reunion Island, told his story to a correspondent of the Echo de Paris in Targuist, shortly after his surrender.

"Until 1921," Abd El Krim declared, "my famil was faithfully and loyally allied to Spain. My father, who exercised great influence on behalf of Spain and counselled my brother and me to collaborate with Spain.

Offers Services.

"My brother had studied at the School of Mines in Madrid. I spent four years in the University Karaouine at Fez. When I returned from Fez I met many Sapnish officers who, because I knew their language, suggested that I offer my services to the Spanish headquarters at Melilla or Teutan.

"I went to Melilla and soon won the confidence of several military chiefs, particularly General Jordana, General Berenguer and Colonel Morales. I became private secretary of the latter who was in charge of the service of pacific conquest of the Riff country.

"I devoted myself completely to the service of Spain. At first simple interpreter I became the confident of Colonel Morales, who followed out the methods of colonization I indicated. I was given important missions and I brought to Colonel Morales many tribal chiefs who submitted without combat.

"I was given to understand that I would be recompensed for my services when the entire Riff country was pacified. I have a letter from the Spanish commander in chief promising me the post of caliphat of the Sultan at Tetuan for the entire Spanish zone. It was the highest honor I could hope for.

"Unfortunately a Spaniard arrived who prevented the carrying out of the policy of peaceful penetration—General Silvestre.

"Magnificent and courageous soldier and very impetuous, he was not the diplomat the circumstances demanded. He insisted on conquest by force just when the policy of diplomatic conquest was bearing fruit.

"Jealous of the success of General Berenguer, who entered Chechaouen triumphantly in 1920, he wanted some glory for himself. He was finally given the governorship of Melilla and the conduct of operations in that sector.

"I continued with him the good relations I had with his predecessor. I was received by him several times and took many tribal chiefs and notables to him.

"During a long conversation I exposed to him the fallacy of using force when he could gain the same ends by diplomacy.

Suggests Compromise.

Since he was about to begin military action against a fraction of my tribe I proposed to bring before him the caid of the dissident faction with whom I said I was sure he could arrange matters by the payment of probably 100,000 pesetas. It was a smaller sum than that used to buy off other rebel chiefs."

At the mention of such a sum, according to Abd El Krim, General Silvestre jumped from his chair, called the Riffian a liar and a thief, accused him planning to keep the money himself, and, to add injury to insult, advanced and slapped the late Riff chieftain.

"Blood spurted from my face," says Abd El Krim, "and I was knocked to the floor. Besides myself with rage I got up, wiped my face, held my bloody hand toward Heaven and cried out: 'You will find out what it costs to strike an Ouriagel,'

"Scarcely had I pronounced the words when officers entered the room and on the command of the general, arrested me and put me in prison.

Ten Months In Jail.

"All my friendship for Spain deserted me. Out of a faithful collaborator Silvestre had made in one fatal minute an everlasting enemy.

"I passed ten months in the prison of Caballerisas, my hate growing daily. I swore to myself that the Spaniards would never colonize our country. I lived with one idea in mind—to escape and rally my tribesmen against such incompetent people.

"Attempts of my family to have me released were futile. I owe my release to a Spanish officer who aided me to escape during the winter of 1920-21.

"My oath against General Silvestre was realized soon, although I did not intervene directly. Silvestre committed suicide on July 22, 1921, on the plains of Annual, responsible for the most humiliating defeat a Colonial army ever suffered."

SLAP IN FACE CAUSED REVOLT OF RIFF TRIBES

Spanish General's Insult to Abd El Krim Recalled.

LEADER EXILED

Vanquished Chieftain Tells Story of Incarceration.

PARIS—When General Silvestro, Spanish commander in Moroco, slapped Abd El Krim in the face and threw him in prison in 1920, he made of a former friend of Spain a bitter enemy and was indirectly responsible for the Riffian revolt against the power of Spain which continued from 1921 to 1926.

That is Abd El Krim's explanation of his hatred of Spain and the reason for his bitter fight against Spanish authority in the Riff country, according to the Echo de Paris.

The vanquished Riffian leader, now on his way to a life of exile in Reunion Island, told his story to a correspondent of the Echo de Paris in Targuist, shortly after his surrender.

"Until 1921," Abd El Krim declared, "my famil was faithfully and loyally allied to Spain. My father, who exercised great influence on behalf of Spain and counselled my brother and me to collaborate with Spain.

Offers Services.

"My brother had studied at the School of Mines in Madrid. I spent four years in the University Karaouine at Fez. When I returned from Fez I met many Spanish officers who, because I knew their language, suggested that I offer my services to the Spanish headquarters at Melilla or Teutan.

"I went to Melilla and soon won the confidence of several military chiefs, particularly General Jordana, General Berenguer and Colonel Morales. I became private secretary of the latter who was in charge of the service of pacific conquest of the Riff country.

"I devoted myself completely to the service of Spain. At first simple interpreter I became the confident of Colonel Morales, who followed out the methods of colonization I indicated. I was given important missions and I brought to Colonel Morales many tribal chiefs who submitted without combat.

"I was given to understand that I would be recompensed for my services when the entire Riff country was pacified. I have a letter from the Spanish commander in chief promising me the post of caliphat of the Sultan at Tetuan for the entire Spanish zone. It was the highest honor I could hope for.

"Unfortunately a Spaniard arrived who prevented the carrying out of the policy of peaceful penetration—General Silvestre.

"Magnificent and courageous soldier and very impetuous, he was not the diplomat the circumstances demanded. He insisted on conquest by force just when the policy of diplomatic conquest was bearing fruit.

"Jealous of the success of General Berenguer, who entered Chechaouen triumphantly in 1920, he wanted some glory for himself. He was finally given the governorship of Melilla and the conduct of operations in that sector.

"I continued with him the good relations I had with his predecessor. I was received by him several times and took many tribal chiefs and notables to him.

"During a long conversation I exposed to him the fallacy of using force when he could gain the same ends by diplomacy.

Suggests Compromise.

Since he was about to begin military action against a fraction of my tribe I proposed to bring before him the caid of the dissident faction with whom I said I was sure he could arrange matters by the payment of probably 100,000 pesetas. It was a smaller sum than that used to buy off other rebel chiefs."

At the mention of such a sum, according to Abd El Krim, General Silvestre jumped from his chair, called the Riffian a liar and a thief, accused him planning to keep the money himself, and, to add injury to insult, advanced and slapped the late Riff chieftain.

"Blood spurted from my face," says Abd El Krim, "and I was knocked to the floor. Besides myself with rage I got up, wiped my face, held my bloody hand toward Heaven and cried out: 'You will find out what it costs to strike an Ouriagel.'

"Scarcely had I pronounced the words when officers entered the room and on the command of the general, arrested me and put me in prison.

Ten Months In Jail.

"All my friendship for Spain deserted me. Out of a faithful collaborator Silvestre had made in one fatal minute an everlasting enemy.

"I passed ten months in the prison of Caballerisas, my hate growing daily. I swore to myself that the Spaniards would never colonize our country. I lived with one idea in mind—to escape and rally my tribesmen against such incompetent people.

"Attempts of my family to have me released were futile. I owe my release to a Spanish officer who aided me to escape during the winter of 1920-21.

"My oath against General Silvestre was realized soon, although I did not intervene directly. Silvestre committed suicide on July 22, 1921, on the plains of Annual, responsible for the most humiliating defeat a Colonial army ever suffered."

COURT RULINGS HANDED DOWN

Judge Spence Passes on Number of Civil Actions.

A demurrer has been sustained, to which the plaintiffs have filed exceptions in the case of Charles H. Stahl against Salem lodge No. 571, Loyal Order of Moose. This is an appeal action carried higher from a Justice of the Peace court in Salem.

In the action of Jack Blasto against C. J. Baxter for $801.84 for refusal to carry out a contract, a motion filed in this case has been overruled.

Demurrer of the plaintiff Emily D. Howell and Ethel H. Gilbert against Martin V. Howell, for forfeiture of estate and money, to the answer of Martin V. Howell has been sustained.

A motion to the defendants answer has been overruled, and exceptions granted in the case of O. R. Peterman against William Gardner, wherein $1,000 is claimed to be due on a contract.

Leave to the defendants to file an answer at once has been granted by the court in the case of A. Shrader's Sons, Inc., against J. Schwab and others, an action in attachment.

In two damage actions totaling $7,885 against the Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction Co., the defendant corporation has been granted leave to file its answer in each case by Oct. 23rd. In one of these actions Pietro Viola has sued to recover $2,885 as damages as a result of a car of the defendants striking one of the plaintiffs, and in the second case, Samuel Maravantano, a passenger in the Viola car, who claims to have been injured seeks $5,000 damages.

Leave to file its answer by Oct. 23rd has also been granted the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., defendant in a $10,568.17 damage action filed against it by Jonas Peppel.

Foreclosure of mortgage has been ordered by the court in the case of the McKay Carriage Co., against George A. Anderson and others.

A motion has been sustained in the case of Walter B. Hill as trustee in bankruptcy of Theo Kouvallis, a bankrupt against George Kouvallis. In this case the recovery of property is sought under a court order.

The petition has been dismissed at the costs of the plaintiff and without prejudice in the case of the Metropolitan Savings Bank Trust Co., of Pittsburgh, Pa., against the Coll Preserving Co., of East Palestine. This action, which was filed March 9, 1925, was for the recovery of a claim of $14,000 and interest.

Demurrer to the petition on the grounds of misjoiner has been sustained by the court in the case of the state of Ohio on relation of C. C. Crabbe as attorney general as on behalf of Columbiana county in an action pending in court against George B. Williams, former clerk of courts. In this case the recovery of $877.50 is sought for retaining fees.

Under the federal naturalization laws the clerk of courts is authorized to retain certain naturaiization court fees, but under the state laws the money is taken away from him, and on this question hangs this lawsuit.

Demurrer has been overruled in the case of Jennie V. Imbrie against Adolph Joseph and William Erlanger, Jr., an action filed in court to recover $2,000 damage to real estate, and filed July 9 last year. The defendants have taken their exceptions.

In the case of the same plaintiff against May Morley Bryan and others, wherein $2,667 damage is sought, a motion in this action has been sustained and a demurrer overruled.

A motion filed in the case of the Line Material company against the Adamant Porcelain company of East Liverpool has been overruled.

Demurrer has been sustained and a motion overruled in the case of Nellie Gearpeck against Elmer S. Day, carried on appeal from a lower court to common pleas.

Leave has been granted the plaintiff to file an amended petition by Oct. 9 in the case of Wayne Durst against Harry F. Hurd.

The case of Garland Jones against the Pittsburgh Rubber Corporation which was an action to recover money and for the appointment of a receiver has been dismissed at the costs of the plaintiff. The action was filed Sept. 11, 1925.

After the demurrer of the defendant was overruled, and exceptions taken in the case of Martin V. Howell against Viola Blake, alias Nellie Reay, the defendant was granted leave until Oct. 16 to file an answer to the petition.

The motion of the defendant has been sustained in the case of Virginia Hamilton against the Chester Construction company, to which the plaintiff has filed exceptions. In this case the plaintiff seeks $10,000 damages from the defendant.

SURVEYOR FILES ROAD REPORT

The option of either correcting pavements they built to conform to specifications or accept deductions is to be given contractors, according to an official communication addressed to the county commissioners by County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk. This communication followed the receipt of a report by Mr. Kirk of a record of a profilometer reading taken on five roads recently completed in this county.

Records were taken on the Wellsville-Salineville road, upon which Lewis & Copeland of Lima were contractors.

Wellsville-East Liverpool road, George B. Patterson, Wellsville, contractor.

West Eighth street, East Liverpool, Allison & Harris, contractors, and Tatgenhorst & McLaughlin sub-contractors.

Shadyside avenue, East Liverpool and Liverpool township, Allison & Harris contractors with the Ohio Willite Surfacing & Paving company, surfacing contractor.

OPPOSE GRANTING OF BUS FRANCHISE

Opposition to the granting of a state franchise to the Minerva-Canton Bus company has been filed with the public utilities commission by the Canton-East Liverpool Coach company, operating between Canton and East Liverpool.

The new interest has proposed to operate a bus line between Minerva and Salineville by extension of their present route from Minerva through Augusta and Summitville to Salineville.

It is the contention of the Canton-East Liverpool Coach company that it holds prior rights, and that it now operates between Minerva and Kensington in Columbiana county.

Marriage License.

A marriage license has been issued to Joseph H. Dickey of Salem, an insurance agent, and Miss Grace E. Cowan, of Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cowan. They are to be married by Rev. Ridgley.

Two Divorces Granted.

Nina Dora Dawson, who married Benjamin Dawson at Beaver, Pa., Oct. 8, 1921, was granted a divorce from her husband by Judge W. H. Spence on the grounds of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty.

Lulu M. Hanley, a minor, and who was married at the age of 16 years to Raymond Hanley, of 939 Dresden avenue, East Liverpool, on Oct. 18, 1924, has been granted a decree of divorce from her husband on the grounds of gross neglect of duty. The court has restored the plaintiff to her maiden name, that of Lula M. Burns.

New Somerset

There will be a county convention of the Christian churches at the Christian church Oct. 6.

COURT RULINGS HANDED DOWN

Judge Spence Passes on Number of Civil Actions.

A demurrer has been sustained, to which the plaintiffs have filed exceptions in the case of Charles H. Stahl against Salem lodge No. 571, Loyal Order of Moose. This is an appeal action carried higher from a Justice of the Peace court in Salem.

In the action of Jack Blasto against C. J. Baxter for $801.84 for refusal to carry out a contract, a motion filed in this case has been overruled.

Demurrer of the plaintiff Emily D. Howell and Ethel H. Gilbert against Martin V. Howell, for forfeiture of the estate and money, to the answer of Martin V. Howell has been sustained.

A motion to the defendants answer has been overruled, and exceptions granted in the case of O. R. Peterman against William Gardner, wherein $1,000 is claimed to be due on a contract.

Leave to the defendants to file an answer at once has been granted by the court in the case of A. Shrader's Sons, Inc., against J. Schwab and others, an action in attachment.

In two damage actions totaling $7,885 against the Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction Co., the defendant corporation has been granted leave to file its answer in each case by Oct. 23rd. In one of these actions Pietro Viola has sued to recover $2,885 as damages as a result of a car of the defendants striking one of the plaintiffs, and in the second case, Samuel Maravantano, a passenger in the Viola car, who claims to have been injured seeks $5,000 damages.

Leave to file its answer by Oct. 23rd has also been granted the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., defendant in a $10,568.17 damage action filed against it by Jonas Peppel.

Foreclosure of mortgage has been ordered by the court in the case of the McKay Carriage Co., against George A. Anderson and others.

A motion has been sustained in the case of Walter B. Hill as trustee in bankruptcy of Theo Kouvallis, a bankrupt against George Kouvallis. In this case the recovery of property is sought under a court order.

The petition has been dismissed at the costs of the plaintiff and without prejudice in the case of the Metropolitan Savings Bank Trust Co., of Pittsburgh, Pa., against the Coll Preserving Co., of East Palestine. This action, which was filed March 9, 1925, was for the recovery of a claim of $14,000 and interest.

Demurrer to the petition on the grounds of misjoiner has been sustained by the court in the case of the state of Ohio on relation of C. C. Crabbe as attorney general, as on behalf of Columbiana county in an action pending in court against George B. Williams, former clerk of courts. In this case the recovery of $877.50 is sought for retaining fees.

Under the federal naturalization laws the clerk of courts is authorized to retain certain naturaiization court fees, but under the state laws the money is taken away from him, and on this question hangs this lawsuit.

Demurrer has been overruled in the case of Jennie V. Imbrie against Adolph Joseph and William Erlanger, Jr., an action filed in court to recover $2,000 damage to real estate, and filed July 9 last year. The defendants have taken their exceptions.

In the case of the same plaintiff against May Morley Bryan and others, wherein $2,667 damage is sought, a motion in this action has been sustained and a demurrer overruled.

A motion filed in the case of the Line Material company against the Adamant Porcelain company of East Liverpool has been overruled.

Demurrer has been sustained and a motion overruled in the case of Natalie Gearpeck against Elmer S. Day, carried on appeal from a lower court to common pleas.

Leave has been granted the plaintiff to file an amended petition by Oct. 9 in the case of Wayne Durst against Harry F. Hurd.

The case of Garland Jones against the Pittsburgh Rubber Corporation which was an action to recover money and for the appointment of a receiver has been dismissed at the costs of the plaintiff. The action was filed Sept. 11, 1925.

After the demurrer of the defendant was overruled, and exceptions taken in the case of Martin V. Howell against Viola Blake, alias Nellie Reay, the defendant was granted leave until Oct. 16 to file an answer to the petition.

The motion of the defendant has been sustained in the case of Virginia Hamilton against the Chester Construction company, to which the plaintiff has filed exceptions. In this case the plaintiff seeks $10,000 damages from the defendant.

SURVEYOR FILES ROAD REPORT

The option of either correcting pavements they built to conform to specifications or accept deductions is to be given contractors, according to an official communication addressed to the county commissioners by County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk. This communication followed the receipt of a report by Mr. Kirk of a record of a profilometer reading taken on five roads recently completed in this county.

Records were taken on the Wellsville-Salineville road, upon which Lewis & Copeland of Lima were contractors.

Wellsville-East Liverpool road, George B. Patterson, Wellsville, contractor.

West Eighth street, East Liverpool, Allison & Harris, contractors, and Tatgenhorst & McLaughlin sub-contractors.

Shadyside avenue, East Liverpool and Liverpool township, Allison & Harris contractors with the Ohio Willite Surfacing & Paving company, surfacing contractor.

OPPOSE GRANTING OF BUS FRANCHISE

Opposition to the granting of a state franchise to the Minerva-Canton Bus company has been filed with the public utilities commission by the Canton-East Liverpool Coach company, operating between Canton and East Liverpool.

The new interest has proposed to operate a bus line between Minerva and Salineville by extension of their present route from Minerva through Augusta and Summitville to Salineville.

It is the contention of the Canton-East Liverpool Coach company that it holds prior rights, and that it now operates between Minerva and Kensington in Columbiana county.

Marriage License.

A marriage license has been issued to Joseph H. Dickey of Salem, an insurance agent, and Miss Grace E. Cowan, of Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cowan. They are to be married by Rev. Ridgley.

Two Divorces Granted.

Nina Dora Dawson, who married Benjamin Dawson at Beaver, Pa., Oct. 8, 1921, was granted a divorce from her husband by Judge W. H. Spence on the grounds of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty.

Lulu M. Hanley, a minor, and who was married at the age of 16 years to Raymond Hanley, of 939 Dresden avenue, East Liverpool, on Oct. 18, 1924, has been granted a decree of divorce from her husband on the grounds of gross neglect of duty. The court has restored the plaintiff to her maiden name, that of Lula M. Burns.

MULKEY'S IODINE SALT

It is a pity that so many mothers of beautiful young daughters seem to disregard the warnings issued by health authorities in regard to Goiter. In this region any girl between 12 and 18 years of age is a probable victim of this malady. It may not only affect the mental and physical condition, but also reach the disfiguring stage.

The preventive for simple Goiter is MULKEY'S IODINE SALT, sold at grocery stores everywhere, and used the same as ordinary free-running salt. This is the brand officially approved. Read the certificate on label.

CONWAY TEARLE IN SCREEN HIT

Scores Triumph in "Sporting Lover" at American.

Conway Tearle, that most popular of screen lovers, scores a most palpable personal triumph in "The Sporting Lover," which was shown for the first time last night at the American theatre.

Tearle is a most gratifying actor at all times, and in "The Sporting Lover" he goes beyond himself. Barbara Bedford, who plays opposite him, shows stellar quilities in her delineation of a most difficult role. Miss Bedford has been appearing to better advantage in every new picture that she makes. We predict that she will be elevated to stardom within a very short period. Tearle is seen in the role of Captain Terance Connaughton, an Irish officer home from the front to check up on the castle and the many mortgages he has inherited from his ancestors. When he returns to the trenches he is wounded after a number of other occurrences and taken to a field hospital where he meets Lady Gwendolyn Cavens.

A romance develops, but is suddenly halted when an air raid demolishes the hospital and separates the lovers. After the war they are brought together again, with an army officer who had defrauded Connaughton having succeeded Connaughton in the lady's affenctions. Then the story really starts. What happens after that is too good to divulge in advance, hence our advice to those who appreciate thorough entertainment to see "The Sporting Lover" for themselves.

"The Sporting Lover" is an extraordinarily fast moving melodrama. It whizzes right along and leaves one with a feeling of having been well entertained. Alan Hale directed "The Sporting Lover." It is a First National picture.

COL. WILLIAMS IS DROWNED

Today

Hurrah! Hurrah! Hurrah!
Then Pussyfoot.
Wood Instead of Gas.
Your Grandpa's Skull.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.)

Copyright, 1926, by the Star Co.

GOVERNOR SMITH of New York is nominated again. The crowd yells, "Al, our next president." Governor Smith replies, "one nomination at a time, please." Everything is done by acclamation.

The loud acclaim of the Democratic nomination contrasts unpleasantly with the pussyfooting that follows in the platform.

NEW YORK Democrats think it would be wise to go into the world court, with ifs and buts, and hope "our participation will promote the elimination of future wars."

That is Democratic silliness. Our participation would promote future wars, Europe relying upon us to finance them.

ALSO, Democrats walk gingerly over the eggs of prohibition, planning a memorial to congress, asking that each state be allowed to determine for itself "what constitutes intoxicating liquor."

REALLY big news [illegible] Paris. An [illegible] and secces[illegible] instead of [illegible] the motor [illegible] Wood or charcoal, heated in an apparatus attached to the car, provides gas that runs the motor.

A motor bus, carrying 14, using the new power, made a complete circuit of France, 3,280 miles, at a cost of $25. That means travel for one-third of a cent a mile per passenger, which should interest railroad owners.

IT IS said seriously, by responsible people, that the new fuel will operate a light motor truck for one-fifth the present fuel cost. If the farmer should run out of "gas" he could stop at a woodpile, put a little wood in his effort and be on his way.

One thing is certain—in this or some other way, human beings will [illegible] supply as they make themselves independent of whale oil by using kerosene, and independent of kerosene by using electric light.

MR. HEBERLEIN discovers in Java "a complete skull of the missing link," called pithecanthropus erectus, which means "monkey-shaped man standing up." That interests intensely the scientists of the Smithsonian institution and you. Pithecanthropus, according to science, is your first name.

IT IS a pity that the skull of our ancient ancestor cannot tell us what life was like in those Javanese jungles when monkey-shaped men hunted big animals and the animals hunted them, when evolution had practically ended in the physical body and was continuing inside the brain.

WE PRAISE the inventor of the sewing machine, steam engine, wireless and airplane. Who invented the sharp flint at the end of a club, giving to weak man a blow stronger than that of a tiger's paw?

Who first lifted a sail to blow a log across the water? What genius first made a bent piece of wood send a sharp arrow through the air, man's first conquest of space?

MARINE CORPS OFFICER DIES AS AUTO GOES OFF PIER END

"Cocktail Party" Trial Defendant Accident Victim.

TRAPPED IN CAR

Swerving Machine Plunges Into San Francisco Bay.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1.—Colonel Alexander Williams, marine corps officer, was drowned here early today when his car plunged from the end of a pier.

Witnesses saw the car as it [illegible]ed down the embarcadero, [illegible]re its way through the curb[illegible]g and plunged into the bay. [illegible]hey said the machine was traveling at a fast rate of speed and swerving in an alarming fashion.

Car Was Spe[illegible]

Police were immed[illegible] notified and the car was raised [illegible]ace in a few hours. Colonel Williams was trapped in the enclosed car and had no chance to escape.

Joseph McFarland, a night watchman, told officers that he saw the car driven by Colonel Williams as it sped along the waterfront. He said the machine was going at a fast rate and was swerving.

"I next heard the brakes on the machine squealing," he said, "but the driver was unable to bring the machine under control. It leaned [illegible] as it plunged over the railing."

Wife Indentifies Body.

Colonel Williams' wife identified the body at the city morgue a short time after police succeeded in raising the car from the bay.

But little information could be found concerning just how Colonel Williams met his death. His wife said that he called her on the telephone about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and told her he was to have dinner with friends. She said he called again about 9 o'clock and said that he was having a good time but would be home early.

"I expected he would be home about

FOULKS NAMED LEGION DELEGATE

William S. Foulks, this city, will represent Columbiana County Voiture No. 273, La Societe Des 40 Hommes Et 8 Chevaux, at the meeting of the grand voiture which will be held at Philadelphia during the week of October 11. Cecil Pearce, also of East Liverpool, will be the alternate.

The two were elected at a meeting of the county voiture at the American Legion rooms, Dresden avenue, last evening. The next meeting will be held at Salem during the latter part of October. A committee served refreshments.

CHEVROLET CAR IS STOLEN HERE

Police are searching for a Chevrolet touring car belonging to William Marshall, Bradshaw avenue, which was stolen last Tuesday evening. The machine carried license number B-38-156.

Ford coupe, belonging to Paul Eck, stolen from Broadway Wednesday evening, was found abandoned back of Wellsville last evening. It had been stripped of one tire.

BLAZING FREIGHTER RACES TO PORT

Four Bandits Get $47,000 In Hold-Up In Baltimore

One Man Crumpled Up Dead in Back Seat of Crooks' Abandoned Auto Which Bears Stolen Ohio License.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 1.—Four bandits in an automobile bearing Ohio license number 966-210 today held up four employes of the L. Sonneborn and company, clothiers, and escaped with a $47,000 payroll.

The bandits' machine later was found abandoned in North Baltimore. One of the bandits was crumpled up dead in the back seat. Police said he apparently had been killed by his companions. A bullet pierced his left eye.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 1.—Ohio automobile license number 966-210 was issued to Preston T. Large, of Park Lane villa, Cleveland, last December, according to records of the state highway department here today.

The automobile for which the license was issued, was registered as a Reo phaeton.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 1.—Preston T. Large, owner of Ohio auto license number 966-210, said today that the license plates of his machine were stolen while he was attending the Dempsey-Tunney fight in Philadelphia last week. Large said he reported the theft to the Philade[illegible] police at the time.

BODY FOUND AT CAMP NEAR SEBRI[illegible]OO IDENTIFIED AS THAT OF THOMA[illegible]

Death Was Due to Enlargement of Heart, According to Coroner M. E. Hayes of Youngstown.

Body of a man found at a camp along the Fort Wayne railroad [illegible] Sebring [illegible] Monday, was identified last night as that of Thomas Lisk, aged about 55, formerly of East Liverpool, but who more recently has been working in one of the Sebring potteries.

Identification was made by [illegible]sses, Lisk, Sebring, a brother. Dea[illegible] cording to M. E. Hayes, Youngst[illegible] Mahoning county coroner, was due to enlargement of the heart.

The body had been at the William Moosman morgue, Sebring, since it was found.

Lisk, who was unmarried, is survived by three brothers and four sisters: Nicholas and John, East Liverpool; James, New Matamoras; Mesdames Harry Lewis, Margaret Bowersock and Sarah Birkhimer, East Liverpool, and W. C. Miller, New Matamoras.

Funeral services will be conducted at the W. C. Lisk home, 333 West Oregon avenue, Sebring, at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Burial will be made in Sebring.

PACKET, SENATOR CORDILL, SINKS IN KANAWHA RIVER NEAR GALLIPOLIS

Cargo Escapes Damage, While Loss to Craft is Covered by Insurance.

GALLIPOLIS, O., Oct. 1.—The packet Senator Cordill plying between Pittsburgh, Pa., and Charleston, W. Va., was resting on the bottom of the Kanawha river near here today after striking a pipe line and sinking in 20 feet of water last night.

The crew and a half dozen passengers took to small boats and landed safely on shore.

Captain M. O. Irwin was in command of the steamer which is owned by the Shippers' Packet company of Pittsburgh and is valued at $75,000.

Cincinnati divers will try to raise the ship.

One of the Green line steamers will be placed in the Pittsburgh-Charleston trade while the Cordill is in dry dock undergoing repairs.

Watch Star Ball Player Re-produce Games in Classic

"Ruth smacks homer into right field bleachers"—

Or, "Hornsby crashes double down left field line with two on"—No, this is not a world's series forecast, but either event is far from purely imaginative when these two premier clubbers take a whack at the ball in the big games which get under way tomorrow. And the next best thing to actually seeing any such occurrences is to watch them played out on the Review-Tribune's Star Ball Player which will be in operation throughout the series.

On its mechanical baseball board, the Review-Tribune will follow the series through, play by play, for East Liverpool fans, reproducing every detail, insofar as is mechanically possible, from the first pitch to the last out. In addition, there will be provided up-to-the-minute megaphone service from the Star Ball Player platform.

The first game starts tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. The Review-Tribune megaphone service will start at 1:15. Come on, fans, you're all invited!

200 Men Employed As West Point Coal Mine is Reopened

Mine No. 1 of the Seger Fuel company at West Point has resumed operations after a several months shut down. About 200 men will be employed.

The company has orders for 500 tons of coal daily. Steady work until April 1, 1927, is assured.

MOTORIST FINED, LOSES LICENSE

Found guilty upon a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquors, L. E. Rice was fined $50 and costs and his license suspended for 30 days before Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today. Rice was arrested in East End at 7:30 o'clock last night by Captain of Police Conley. His car was placed in a garage. Rice was released today after making arrangements to pay his fine.

ODD FELLOWS MEET TONIGHT

A special meeting of East Liverpool lodge No. 379, Odd Fellows, will be held in the I. O. O. F. temple at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

A surprise program will be given.

MAYOR BENEDUM NAMES TRAFFIC COMMISSION OF FIVE MEMBERS

Board Will Study Problems and Make Recommendations.

COUNCIL ACTION

Diehl, Thompson, Hull, McHenry and Cordwin Appointed.

Personnel of the traffic commission, whose duty it will be study the city's traffic problems, was announced today by Mayor Ralph C. Benedum.

It follows:

E. M. Diehl, secretary of the Columbiana County Motor club.

George C. Thompson, president of the C. C. Thompson Pottery company.

Norman McHenry, East End carpenter.

Frank Hull, kiln fireman and seventh vice president of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters.

Harry Cordwin, manager of the Frank Crook Furniture company.

McHenry, Hull and Cordwin were [illegible] while Diehl and Thompson were named for two years. McHenry is a Democrat, while the others are Republicans.

The mayor said all parts of the city are represented on the board which includes a manufacturer, a business man, labor leader, a workingman and auto club representative.

The commission was authorized in a few weeks ago at the suggestion of Mayor Benedum and Service-Safety Director Moore. The five members will serve without compensation and their work will be merely of an advisory nature. All phases of the traffic rules and regulations as well as parking problems will be considered by the commissioners who will recommend legislation to the city solons.

Organization meeting probably will be held early next week.

Mrs. Ida Emmerling, Aged 48, is Dead; Funeral Sunday

Mrs. Ida Emmerling, 48, wife of James H. Emmerling, died last night in her home in West Eighth street.

Mrs. Emmerling, a resident here for many years, was a member of Ohio City Rebekah lodge and past president of Private Eddy post auxiliary, No. 66.

She leaves one daughter, Mrs. Earl Cunningham; four brothers, Fred U. Stoffel, Washington, D. C.; Louis H. Stoffel, Wellsville; Ellis H. Stoffel, North Warren, O.; Richard G. Stoffel, Canton, and three sisters, Mrs. John Caldwell and Mrs. Thomas Moore, Wellsville, and Mrs. Walter McDonald, of this city.

Funeral services will be held in the home Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, in charge of Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of Christ. Burial will be made in Spring Hill cemetery, Wellsville.

Friends may view the body tomorrow night from 8 to 10:30 o'clock.

DR. W. A. HOBBS HURT IN FALL

Dr. W. A. Hobbs, Fifth street physician, is suffering from face and scalp lacerations, received at 5 o'clock last evening when he lost his balance and fell over a five-foot wall near his home in Main boulevard. His injuries were dressed by Dr. Clyde Larkins.

CREW OF 39 BATTLES AT SEA AGAINST FIRE IN THEIR SHIP'S HOLD

New Britain is Proceeding to Savannah Under Her Own Steam After Desperate Fight to Control Flames, According to Radio Message to Georgia Naval Station.

No One is Seriously Hurt, While Steamship Firmore and U. S. S. Chaumont Stand by to Render Aid if Needed, Says Latest Wireless Dispatch From Captain.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 1.—Fearing she may be unable to reach Savannah, the freighter New Britain with fire raging in her hold has decided to try for Charleston, S. C., according to latest radio advices to the government wireless station here today.

"Will try for Charleston but may not be able to make it," the freighter said at 10:30 a. m.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 1.—With the fire in her hold under control after a desperate battle at sea by her crew of 39, the freighter, New Britain was proceeding to Savannah under her own steam today, according to a radio message received by the [illegible] station here.

The latest message from the burning vessel declared that no one was seriously hurt. At 7:30 a. m. today she reported her position at approximately 230 miles from Savannah.

"Fire still burning but under control," the New Britain's message said. "Plates of vessel very hot. Making ten to twelve knots. No one seriously hurt."

Fire Tug Called.

The S. S. Firmore and the U. S. S. Chaumont were standing close by ready to render aid if needed.

The first S. O. S. message from the New Britain was picked up at 6:30 o'clock last night by the Independent wireless company's station at New York. Another message was intercepted by vessels in the vicinity of the burning freighter, and the Firmore immediately went to her assistance.

A fire tug of the Atlantic Towing company was dispatched from Savannah.

The New Britain is a steel freighter, oil burning, of 5174 gross tons. She was built in 1919 by the Downey Shipbuilding company of Arlington, N. J.

Covenant Mission Convert to Occupy U. P. Church Pulpit

Rev. John Sullivan, a convert of the New Covenant Mission, Pittsburgh, will preach at a preparatory service in the First United Presbyterian church, West Sixth street, at 7:45 o'clock tonight. His subject will be "The Lord's Supper In the Light of the Ancient Passover." Rev. Mr. Sullivan is filling the place in the Pittsburgh mission formerly held by the late Morris Rubin. Communion will be distributed Sunday morning at the First United Presbyterian church.

PASTOR RETURNS FROM ELYRIA

Rev. and Mrs. S. Lee-Whiteman, Sr., McKinnon avenue, returned today from Elyria, where they attended the annual meeting of the North-East Ohio conference. Enroute home, Rev. Mr. Whiteman visited at Ohio Northern university, Ada., while Mrs. Whiteman called on former parishioners at Creston.

Few Registrations Reported Here on Enrollment Day

Less than 50 names, elections officials estimated today, were placed on the registration books in East Liverpool yesterday. In some precincts not even a transfer was issued.

In Cleveland only 23,000 voters qualified on the initial day, by far the lowest figures since women became franchised.

Youngstown reported less than 10 per cent of its potential voters as having registered. The total was 5,267.

Politicians and election officials expressed the opinion that the subsequent registration days—Oct. 7, 15 and 16—will bring out greater numbers.

Potters Will go To Meyers Lake for Outing Next Year

Third annual reunion of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters will be held at Meyers Lake park, Canton, on Saturday, June 11, 1927, the picnic executive committee has decided.

Other amusement centers, who sought to land next year's picnic, were Rock Springs park, Chester; Cascade Park, New Castle, Pa.; Summit Beach Park, Akron; Wheeling Amusement Park, Wheeling, and Idora park, Youngstown. Representatives of the Canton park were the only ones to appear before the committee in person, the other invitations having been received in writing.

Improvements and additions, costing $200,000, including a $50,000 zoo, will be made to the Canton resort before next year's outing, the park management told the Brotherhood representatives. No gate charge will be made for potters who attend the picnic, but all others will be charged 10 cents.

SUPREME COURT REFUSES TO PREVENT VOTE ON PROPOSED AMENDMENT MODIFYING PRIMARY LAW

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 1.—Secretary of State Thad Brown today began mailing out to election boards all over the state ballots containing the proposed amendment to the Ohio constitution modifying the primary law.

Brown also asked the state board of control today for funds to defray the cost of mailing to 1,500,000 voters printed pamphlets containing arguments for and against the proposed amendment.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 1.—Rebuffed in its efforts to obtain from the supreme court a writ of prohibition to prevent a referendum in the November election on the proposed constitutional amendment modifying Ohio's primary law, the Primary Defense league, headed by John F. Burke, of Elyria, former state senator, was undecided today on its next step in the matter.

"Until I have conferred with Mr. Burke, which probably will be sometime today, I do not know what further action, if any, we will take in the case," James A. White, counsel for the league, said.

"The supreme court late yesterday dismissed the suit brought by Burke to prevent the amendment from going on the November ballot, thus balking, temporarily, at least, the Primary Defense league's efforts to halt the referendum in the forthcoming election. The suit alleged that signatures to the petition for the referendum were obtained by fraud.

Earlier in the day the court heard arguments on the suit, counsel for Secretary of State Thad Brown on whom falls the duty of placing the proposed amendment on the ballot, contending there was insufficient cause shown for issuance of the writ and that the league should have sought remedial action in lower courts. This argument was upheld by the supreme court in its decision.

Regardless, however, of whether the league takes further legal steps, it will continue its efforts to defeat the proposed amendment to the constitution, White declared.

"We immediately will launch a state-wide campaign among the voters against the proposed amendment," White said, "and we feel that when the people are acquainted with the facts it will be overwhelmingly defeated at the polls."

The supreme court's action in dismissing Burke's suit, White stated, disclosed the "necessity for legislation to preclude the possibility of such fraud again being perpetrated."

The fraud charges were based on allegations that signatures were forged to the petitions asking for the referendum.

"And we mean to seek such legislation at the forthcoming session of the general assembly," White said.

Under the existing primary law in Ohio, the voters select nominees at primary elections. The amendment proposes to give the general assembly the right to provide by law for the nomination of all elective officers, but it preserves the right to nominate by petition and if nominations are made by conventions the delegates to the convention shall be chosen by the direct vote of the electors.

There would be no change in the manner of choosing delegates to the national conventions of political parties.

ELYRIA, Oct. 1.—Belief that the voters of Ohio would repudiate the proposed constitutional amendment against the present primary law was expressed here today by J. F. Burke, president of the Primary Defense league, as a result of the supreme court's action in permitting the referendum to go on the ballot at the November election.

Red Cross Chief Raps Florida Hotel And Realty Men

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. — By minimizing the loss in Florida's hurricane, state officials, including Governor Martin, and real estate operators "have seriously handicapped" the Red Cross in its efforts to provide relief for the storm victims, John Barton Payne, chairman of the Red Cross, declared today in a message to C. C. Pickney, chairman of the Richmond, Va., chapter.

"The poor people who suffered are regarded as of less consequence than the hotel and tourist business of Florida," said Payne.

PROBE FLORIDA PRISON SYSTEM AS MANY FLEE

Official and Private Sources Take Hand in Inquiry.

KILLER ESCAPES

Governor Says State's Jails Are Out of Date.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—Florida's increasing number of convict escapes from state road camps, the state prison at Raiford and by prisoners being taken from one place to another has resulted in a quiet but intensive investigation of the state's penal system by official and private sources which may lead to revolutionization of Florida's prison methods.

Very few days pass when an escape of one or more prisoners is reported from one of the Florida road camps maintained at several points, from county and city jails or even from courtrooms.

The prisoners for the main part are not classified as desperadoes, but many of them have been incarcerated for serious crimes. Most of the escaped prisoners are recaptured and returned to imprisonment, but the state prison bureau has records of scores who apparently have dropped off this planet completely.

Cause of Probe.

The recent escape of Joe Tracy, notorious killer, robber and underworld Lothario centered the attention of the state on the prison situation. Tracy who had been confined at Raiford penitentiary since his sentence to life imprisonment for killing a negro taxi driver was released in custody of prison guards and his attorney on his promise to unearth $130,000 worth of stolen bonds.

After a meandering course over central Florida in which he led his captors from one city to another Tracy made an easy escape, and despite a statewide scrutiny of all possible hiding places has not been heard from.

The investigation immediately started to determine responsibility for the escape of Tracy and one of his captors was dismissed from the state service. J. S. Blitch, superintendent of the state farm at Raiford was ordered not to allow prisoners to leave the penitentiary unless he was sure their guards were competent to prevent escapes.

Reports from Moore Haven that prisoners were allowed to leave the prison farm without guards for visits to relatives resulted in another investigation which ended in more strict rules being placed in effect.

Prison Out of Date.

Several newspapers began private investigations of the numerous escapes and the Tampa Times in a series of articles entitled, "What is wrong with our state prison? Can't we prevent prisoners from escaping?" discovered that fifteen guards, eight on duty during the day and seven at night watch over 900 prisoners.

Governor John Martin in a letter to the Times described the Raiford prison as hopelessly out of date.

"Some of the walls could be kicked out by prisoners to escape, and only the honor system keeps more prisoners from leaving," Governor asserted.

Bloodhounds and trusted convicts who have extensive knowledge of the countryside near Raiford bring back many of the escaped prisoners, in fact the number of escaped prisoners who are recaptured is exceptionally high, accentuating the Governor's statement that only the morale of the prison keeps the number of escapes lower than it might be.

Look for the Best, Expect the Worst, Weatherman's Tip

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Woe, ye baseball fans, if you're not careful, the weather man will get you.

He issued a bulletin today, warning one and all that they might hope for the best but must expect the worst when the opening game of the world series is played tomorrow. The forecast called for probable showers tomorrow, with slightly rising temperature and moderate winds.

However, the same forecast demanded partly cloudy skies and possibly light showers today. And the sun was shining this morning.

Now every NEW EDISON is a FULL VOLUME Instrument

THOMAS A. EDISON has given owners of the New Edison all the advantages of his marvelous FULL VOLUME invention for the insignificant cost of a mere accessory. Your New Edison is just as modern as any phonograph; in fact, it is a distinct advancement—two phonographs in one. Living room and ball room volume! Variety, versatility, untiring charm! Your New Edison is twice as entertaining, twice as useful.

The transformation from modulated Re-Creation to FULL VOLUME is made as easily as changing a record. You're playing a snappy dance number for the bunch. Eager young feet are just "rarin' to go"—but you've found out before that the usual phonograph music hasn't volume enough to drown out the shuffling of feet—then you remember the DANCE ATTACHMENT—it takes just two shakes to slip it on in place of the regular reproducer. Oh boy! Hear that orchestra zipping it up, get that saxophone duet, listen to the traps, and can't that fellow pick a mean banjo?

You actually forget all about the Edison—you've got the orchestra right in your home. Let joy be unconfined. You can't lose this music. That's the combination of Edison tone quality and FULL VOLUME Re-Creation. Just this simple inexpensive attachment transforms your New Edison into a NEW-er music maker.

You can scarce believe it until you hear it. Demonstrations in our store every day. Come in now and hear it.

Stocks With Big Returns

The glib-tongued stranger who assures you that if you buy his stock you will make a hundred per cent on your money is always a cheat. Your friends who believe some new stock will pay 10 to 12 or 15 per cent, or even more, and who urge you to invest, in however good faith, are usually wrong. Stock which promises big returns is nearly always shaky. There isn't any such thing as a combination of safety and high return.

Where there seems to be safety combined with high return, as in the case of old reliable public service companies, always quoted by the salesman, the fact is that such stocks are sold in the market at a price so much above par that the returns on the investment are not far above the common levels of income.

It is true that there are new inventions, and that these sometimes pay beyond wild dreams. But they are always a gamble. If one has a safe income and money to throw away besides, it may be all right to take a chance on such stuff. But for the man of family on moderate salary, for the widow and the orphan, they are full of danger.

The world is full of good investments, safe ones, paying moderately but continuously. If you have money to invest, ask your banker. Ask him about the stock urged by your friend or by the stranger with the promises. It is one of the things bankers are for, to help with such advice.

The banker might possibly make a mistake; but he is to your money what the doctor is to your health. He has training, and facilities for knowing the truth not possessed by the ordinary citizen. You stand a hundred to one chance on his advice, and probably one to a hundred on the advice of the other fellow.

Insects Against Insects

Science is setting insects to kill insects. Thus is man's worst enemy dealth with most unsuccessfully by craft.

Insects are by far the most numerous creatures in the world. Some modern thinkers have feared that eventually they would dominate the earth, exterminating the higher forms of life, including man. That might conceivably be done by destroying man's food supply. Such a fate has seemed more menacing since the notable diminution in the number of birds, which formerly kept insects under better control.

Encouraging the multiplication of birds is an obvious help, in this everlasting warfare against destructive insects, and much progress is being made now in that direction. But perhaps the ingenious use of insects to kill off each other offers still greater possibilities.

One of the latest uses of this strategy is in the protecting of the cocoanut supply. It has been discovered that a certain caterpillar which has been ravaging the cocoanut palms in various parts of the world falls an easy prey to a certain savage fly discovered in the Malay states. The fly has been identified and named by a specialist of the Smithsonian Institute at Washington. Recently it was introduced in the Fiji Islands, and is now fighting man's battle against palm caterpillars there.

For every destructive insect there seems to be some other kind of insect to destroy the destroyer. Man, with dominion over the insects as well as the animals, turns them more and more to his own purposes.

Have Yo u Flopped?

The husband of a college woman writes in her alumnae magazine:

"Gradually is borne in upon the husband the fact that women who have been to college 'flop' less quickly than their average sisters, and occasionally don't flop at all. By 'flop' he means abandon all the curiosity that was theirs when they were young, their interest in letters, sociology, science, or whatever in the beginning thrilled them because it was larger than they were or ever could be. He finds every now and then that this curiosity and the desire which accompanies it, to be allied to something which has no age and which is impersonally enormous, is still alive in her; and he realizes that had she not been to college she might never have known that it existed."

This is not only a rather a keen tribute to the effect of college upon a woman. It bears in itself an answer to the question now so often being asked: "What is education?" The answer would be: 'Education is the power of arousing undying curiosity and interest in things bigger than the inquirer."

The more one considers that definition, the more powerful and comprehensive it becomes. One need add to it not even any moral or spiritual appendant. For out of definite and permanent interest and curiosity about great things must needs arise the desire for altruism and self-control.

Nor is college, while useful indeed, necessary. Anyone who can arouse in himself that permanent spirit of interest and inquiry will at length perforce become educated.

"I did it for my childen," said Mrs. Corsen. After which may be expected a national children's chorus: "Mother, please swim the channel for us!"

"How Smart Are Your Children?" asks the American Magazine. Well, so-so. Just plain, average children. Only a trifle lighter than the children next door.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Thoughts while strolling: What became of lady barbers? Otto Harbach, the wealthy librettist. The library needs a sand blasting. Red faced traffic cops bawling out pedestrians and autoists. A little snow and it's like Russia.

That giddy tower on the building where Delmonico's stood. Matinee girls gorging rose-tinted ices. And starry-eyed with romance. A seedy operatic tenor of other days. With his coat collar turned up. What has become of quince preserves?

The dull foggy heat that presages winter. The town is overrun with stage twins. Who do nothing but be twins. That sudden stiffening at a fire wagon siren. A horse plunges. Helen Gold's home is open for the winter.

Those "rangy" girls who carry canes. Eddie Cantor and his children. Why do they play "Sidewalks of New York" when they show Al Smith on the screen? Those lean, clipped clubmen with gray-touched temples. Who eye the world coldly.

More skyscrapers with step-ladder tops. A cafe asks for New York's eve reservations now. Anyway the week-end season is over. Rea Irvin, the artist. A Chinese restaurant called the Hongkong Honk. The cheerful legless news dealer at 42nd street.

Wish those rubberneck wagon barkers would learn to pronounce Greenwich Village. A pair of Angora chaps in a pawnshop window. Some cowboy visited a night club. The Broadway eating place with the electric sign: "Ladies? Yes." Which, I suppose, means ladies are welcome.

Three swimming schools in a block—the Ederle influence. Tire rollers along Auto Row. The bearded old man who often sits on the Broadway tabernacle steps reading a Bible. And they're digging a new hole in Columbus Circle. The actors in front of Lindy's.

A well dressed man walked up to a ticket seller in Grand Central and asked for a ticket to Saranac Lake.

"Round trip?" inquired the agent briskly.

The patron swayed just a little, then straightened up and in a voice a trifle thick replied, "No thanks—just one way"—and passed through the train gates.

There is a waggish comedian whose wife shifted her affection to another and he remains desolate and unconsolable. He wanders about the streets at night alone, dropping into this night club and that, resting his head in his hands at a table for a few moments and passing on. He makes others laugh while he is usually on the verge of tears. The other night a friend tried to buck him up. When he finished, the comedian said: "I know it is foolish and there is nothing that can be done about it. I must keep on clowning and try to forget. But if ever a great grief comes to you, try to make everybody laugh—and you'll get the idea." And somehow I believe he is facing the world's most difficult task.

This same comedian had cut into the grape one night to lighten his woes. Next midday he was at breakfast slightly disheveled. After holding his head in his hands awhile he looked up and groaned: "This headache was made for a horse."

A theatre seat will soon cost as much as a fight ticket for those who will pay. But there is a trick in it—a publicity catch. Recently one opening had quite a number of tickets plainly marked $100.00. These were seats occupied by dramatic critics. A few extra were printed in case of suckers and three suckers bit. The average price for an opening night is $11 a seat, which is about $7 to much.

DENIED AT HEADQUARTERS

Bill Hanley is almost as well known at Republican national conventions as he is in his native state of Oregon, where, between running two of the biggest ranches to be found in all the Northwest, he exercises his gifts of organization and leadership in politics. Some years ago he had working for him a ranch-hand who was popularly regarded as a half-wit. Hanley figured, though, that the man had exactly the sort of mentality which suited him for ministering to the wants and whims of young calves and kept him on the payroll.

There came a day when the deficient-minded one disappeared while at work on a range in desolate Rawhide Canyon, sixty miles from anywhere at all. When he failed to return the theory was advanced, and accepted, that the missing man had frozen to death in a storm.

Months later, Mr. Hanley, coming out of his office on the main street of the Town of Burns, was astonished to behold the supposedly deceased approaching him. As they clasped hands he said:

"Jim, I'm delighted to find you are still alive and well. They told me you were dead. I didn't believe it at first but I kept hearing it so often I finally decided it must be true. I'm glad to know it was all a lie."

"Huh," grunted the restored one, "Why, Mister Hanley, I knowed it was a lie the very first time I heard it."

HASKIN'S LETTER

Chemistry on the Farm.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 1.—The destruction of perishable material by bacteria, molds, yeast and fungi, by enzymes and insects, by oxidation and other destructive agencies, occasions the American farmer a loss of several billions of dollars each year, according to Dr. C. A. Browne, chief of the United States Bureau of Chemistry. The reduction of such losses which occur from the spoilage of fruits, vegetables, foods, feeds, farm fabrics, timber, and other products is one of the fields in which the chemist can render inestimable service to agriculture.

In fact, the chemist is the main reliance of the farmer in the elimination of these losses, or in minimizing them. New insecticides, new fungicides, and new preservative agencies must be discovered. There must be better knowledge of conditions which promote decay, and of means for controlling and correcting those conditions.

"The spoilage of agriculture products by the attacks of microorganisms offers an almost endless number of problems to the chemist," says Dr. Browne. "The souring of milk, the moulding of bread, the swelling of canned goods, the heating of cattle feeds, the rotting of fruits, the fermenting of sirups, and the decay of timber are all phases of the same general destructive process called deterioration.

"This process may proceed so slowly as to be barely noticeable from one day to the next, or it may proceed so rapidly as to cause a haystack to catch fire spontaneously and burn to the ground.

"The chemical transformations which take place in these different processes of deterioration are very imperfectly understood, and there is a wealth of opportunities in this field for valuable chemical research upon the nature of the destructive changes produced and the means for their prevention."

An Enormous Opportunity.

In fact, the chemist has an enormous opportunity in agriculture, this government expert tells the students of chemistry who may be interested in learning something of the problems they will encounter and what it is possible for them to accomplish if they decide to pursue their careers in an agricultural direction.

From the feeding of the growing plant and animal to the reduction of the costly destruction, spoilages, and deteriorations in products of agricultural origin and the conversion to useful human purposes of agricultural

NO ACCIDENTS in October

'It hurts to get hurt

The Ohio Bell Telephone Company

NO ACCIDENT MONTH POSTER

D. H. MORRIS
CHAIRMAN

The Ohio Bell Telephone company today launched an accident prevention campaign among its employees, it was announced by Frank Swaney, commercial manager in charge of the local exchange.

It is the intention to make every month starting with October a "no accident month," according to Swaney. Meetings of employees will be held in every exchange in Ohio Bell territory. Causes of accidents will be analyzed and methods of prevention discussed. The slogan will be "Exercise Care, Eliminate Carelessness." The telephone workers will be urged to carry out the principles of this slogan in private as well as business life.

"We are constantly reading in the newspapers about people killed or injured in accidents," said Swaney. "Of course, many accidents are unavoidable. But an analysis of the causes of most of them usually show that they would not have occurred if proper care had been used. That is the point we want to bring home to our people. The taking of an unnecessary chance often proves fatal.

"Many Ohio Bell employees are proficient in first-aid work. First-aid is part of their training. But the less this proficiency is needed, the better it will be."

The accident prevention campaign will be in charge of D. H. Morris, assistant to the president of The Ohio Bell Telephone company.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The resources of our free Information Bureau are at your service. You are invited to call upon it as often as you please. It is being maintained by the Review-Tribune solely to serve you. What question can we answer for you? There is no charge at all except two cents in stamps for return postage. Address your letter to the East Liverpool Review-Tribune Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Washington, D. C.

Q. I have a heifer about eighteen months old which has large warts on her head and under her neck. Can you tell me a remedy for this?—W. B.

A. Warts on cattle may be removed by softening with oil, then twisting off with scissors. Paint with tincture of iodine if they appear again.

Q. Is there any monument at the grave of Ann Rutledge, Lincoln's sweetheart?—M. S. L.

A. Recently the descendants of those who were intimately acquainted with Abraham Lincoln when he lived at New Salem, replaced the crude stone marking Ann Rutledge's grave, with a more elaborate one. The new monument is made of dark Quincy granite and is inscribed with verses from Edgar Lee Masters' "Ann Rutledge."

my scenario? It must be a producing company that will accept the outside world?—G. B.

A. It is practically impossible for an amateur to sell a scenario. Most of the motion picture producing companies maintain their own staffs of writers.

Q. Is it possible for the complete petrification of a tree to take place during the life of an individual?—W. E. McD.

A. The forest Service says that the petrification of wood takes hundreds of years. It, therefore, is not possible for a complete petrification to take place during the lifetime of an individual.

Q. Have Hungarian bonds of 1892 any value?—F. A. M.

A. The Hungarian bonds dated 1892 matured in 1910. If they were not paid at that time it is unlikely that they will be paid now.

Q. Can pewter be mended?—A. C. C.

A. An expert in metals says that pewter can be mended, but as the melting point is extremely low it requires careful handling by a skilled worker.

Q. Two years ago last July I saw from the Boston-Yarmouth boat several whales when about four hours or so out of Boston. Every time I mention the incident I meet with incredulity. Will you tell me if there are ever whales in that region?—E. N. S.

A. An authority on whales in the National Museum says that the fin-back whale is seen frequently in the waters between Boston and Yarmouth, Nova Scotia.

Q. What country in the world has the greatest number of telephones?—J. J.

A. The United States leads the world in the number of telephones per hundred of population. Canada comes next. The latter stands first in the number of miles of telephone and telegraph wires per hundred of population, the latest compilation showing 3.4 miles per hundred.

Q. Please advise me why the city of Chicago is so named?—J. S. M.

A "Chicago" is an Anglicized form of the Indian word "she gahg" originally meaning skunk, but whose uses were intended so as to make it a synonym for "strong," "pungent," "mighty." It was applied to the wild onion, to a line of Indian chiefs, to thunder, and among other rivers to that which runs through the present city of Chicago. In this case the name was not meant as a tribute to the magnitude of this stream, but merely commemorated the tradition that one of the she gahg chiefs had at some remote period been drowned in its waters.

Q. Will you please tell me something of Lake Nipissing? N. Van H.

A. Lake Nipissing is between Lake Huron and the Ottawa River. It is irregular in shape, its greatest length being 55 miles and the maximum breadth about 28 miles. It contains numerous islands and supports many different kinds of fish.

Haskin's Letter

residues which are now largely waste, all along the line in agriculture every wheer the agricultural chemist finds himself and his science in a vast field scarcely yet touched, says the doctor.

The complete chemical utilization of farm crops has only fairly been started, it is pointed out. Dr. Arno Behr was one of the pioneers in this field, having been the first to show the possibilities that could be realized in the chemical utilization of corn in the manufacture of starch, dextrin, glucose sirup, dextrose, gluten, oil, and many other products.

One of the best examples of what can be accomplished along this line is to be found in the utilization of the oil of cottonseed in almost countless food and industrial uses. This is said to be one of the greatest benefits which chemistry has conferred upon American agriculture, it having added millions of dollars annually to the value of the cotton crop.

These instances indicate the possibilities of the application of chemistry to other crops, and is is said that there is still much to be done for the more complete and more profitable utilization of both corn and cotton seed.

Also, the Bureau of Chemistry chief points out that in addition to the development of new ways of using farm products there is i vast field for improvement in the technological processes for this by the application of chemical methods. The manufacture of sugar, sirup, vinegar, butter, cheese, dried apples, and many other products there is a vast field for involves a thorough knowledge of chemistry at each step of every process, he says. The curing of tobacco, tanning of leather, canning of vegetables, preserving of fruits, pressing of oil, distilling of turpentine, and utilization of lemons for citric acid, are other illustrations of almost countless examples that could be given.

Cheaper Insecticides Needed.

Dr. Browne sketched the progress that has been made in the study of soils and fertilizers, and indicated that with the increase of population and the necessity for more intensive cultivation of the land of this country it will become constantly more important to give more attention to problems involved in the chemistry of soils and fertilizers. In pointing out the need for better and cheaper insecticides, he said that losses to American agriculture from the depredations of the cotton boll weevil alone exceeded $300,000,000 a year, and that losses in fruit and cereal crops are exceedingly heavy.

Chemists are endeavoring to devise methods of applying insecticides which will not only avoid the present extravagant waste of material and danger to health but also make the poison more effective in its action.

And speaking of waste, the doctor says that the opportunities in the field of the chemical utilization of farm wastes are almost unlimited.

"Thousands of tons of stray, cornstalks, and other residues are wastefully burned each year for the purpose of disposal. The destructive distillation of such refuse for the production of gas, carbon, pyrolgenous acid, tar, and other products opens up vast possibilities. The chemical utilization of the cellulose in agricultural wastes such as straw is already carried out in certain paper mills. The conversion of the pentosans of such materials as corncobs and oathulls in to the valuable chemical furfural is being done on a small scale. The important lignin complex in waste wood, straw, cornstalks, etc., probably offers as wide a field of utilization—for the manufacture of tanning materials, dyestuffs, and other industrial products—as was offered eighty years ago by that other trade waste, coal tar, which, through the ingenuity of the chemist, has proved to be an almost inexhaustible source of wealth.

Still another job for the chemist that will benefit the farmers of the United States is research in animal nutrition. Recently acquired knowledge as to the important part played by minerals and vitamins in the diet have made it necessary to extend the knowledge of the chemical composition of various products used for animal or human food, and of the chemistry of all the other processes of nutrition.

INVESTIGATE CAR OWNERSHIP

Engine Number in Liquor Auto Changed, Police Say.

Federal government agents, according to local police authorities, are investigating the ownership of the Buick "four," automobile in which Mrs. Modesta Lozzi, Third street, was arrested Wednesday night by Chief of Police John Fultz, on a charge of transporting liquor.

Two government representatives, from Pittsburgh, conferred with police here yesterday and also inspected the automobile.

Numbers on the engine apparently had been changed, according to authorities. In this particular model, the engine number, it is said, is raised, but on the car that was confiscated, a plate had been affixed with the numbers stamped in.

Mrs. Lozzi was fined $300. Chief Fultz and Patrolmen Pugh and Cole confiscated the car and 15 gallons of liquor at the time of the arrest near the J. M. Kerr property in the Lisbon road.

CLASS ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Members of Sunday school class No. 13 of the Methodist Protestant church were entertained last evening at the home of Mrs. O. B. Van Dyke, in Commerce street.

Election of officers featured the business session. The new officers are: President, Mrs. Charles Williamson; vice president, Mrs. George Fiber; treasurer, Mrs. C. G. Weekley; secretaries, Mrs. Earl Adams and Mrs. O. H. Mann; teacher, Mrs. Momberg; assistant teacher, Mrs. Silcox; class reporter, Mrs. Bosco.

A social hour concluded the meeting, luncheon being served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Harry Clark.

Plans were discussed for the masquerade party which will be held October 28 at the home of Mrs. Deemer.

"SMOKES" VENDOR FINED BY MAYOR

W. L. Bell, charged with selling cigarettes here without a license, was fined $16.60 last night at a hearing before Mayor W. L. Fogo.

Bell, who represented a tobacco company, police say, was charged with selling cigarettes in the streets of the city and was unable to produce a license.

He was arrested in East Liverpool Wednesday night by Chief Fultz.

TO GET HEARING ON LARCENY COUNT

George Marshall, this city, charged with larceny, is awaiting a hearing before Mayor W. L. Fogo.

Marshall, arrested yesterday in East Liverpool by police there at the request of local authorities, is accused of having stolen $40 from Jack Rowley, of this city. Rowley filed complaint against Marshall.

The latter is in jail here.

CONCLUDE VISIT IN PHILADELPHIA

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stewart have returned from a visit in Philadelphia. Mr. Stewart, who is chief clerk to the trainmaster, accompanied by Mrs. Stewart, attended the Pennsylvania Railroad Mutual Benefit association convention at the Benjamin Franklin hotel in Philadelphia.

The delegates also were in New Jersey Wednesday, visiting the Mohican Country club, where they were guests at dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart also visited in Atlantic City, New York and at the Sesqui-Centennial before returning home.

150 ATTEND RALLY SOCIAL

Dinner and Program Given at U. P. Church.

Approximately 150 attended the congregational rally social held last night in the First United Presbyterian church.

The social was an event preparatory to the rally day observance planned for next Sunday at the church.

Dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock, followed by a program of songs, music, talks and stunts by members of the congregation.

F. J. Adams, superintendent of the Bible school, presided. Talks were given by L. F. Burris and Mrs. R. I. Farmer, the latter giving a description of her trip abroad.

Short program was then given by young people of the church. The affair concluded with an old fashioned spelling bee.

GEORGE McBANE WEDS IN GOTHAM

Word was received here today of the marriage of Mrs. Irene M. Werling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McCauley, formerly of Bradford, Pa., to George E. McBane, a statistician, formerly of Wellsville, which was solemnized this morning in the New York municipal building chapel.

The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McBane.

They will reside at 171 West 79th street, New York City.

BRITISH SHINE BARS TO DRAW MORE DRINKERS

Public Houses Will be Made More Attractive.

LUNCH FEATURED

Beer Dealers' Report Shows Business is Falling Off.

LONDON.—The brewers of England have set out to make the public-houses more attractive.

Brightening of bar parlors with flowers and paint, and the addition of luncheon and tea-rooms will not only stop the abuse of alcohol, according to leading brewers, but it will actually promote temperance.

Sir H. Cosmo Bonsor, whose company alone sold 66,000,000 pints of beer in glass last year, besides the trade in bottles and barrels, is authority for the statiement that less drunkenness has been the immediate result in all places where the old tradition of sawdust floors and dark, musty drinking rooms have been abandoned in favor of modern innovations.

Annual Reports.

All of the big brewing companies have just made their annual reports to their stockholders, and through all of these can be traced a feeling among the producers that people are not drinking enough beer and that something should be done about it.

Sir William Waters Butler, the Birmingham brewer, blames high taxation among other things for the decrease in the consumption of beer, which has fell off 35 per cent during the past ten years, dropping from 30,000,000 barrels in 1914 to 19,500,000 barrles in 1925.

Sir William pointed out that if the average family of five persons consumed the same amount of alcoholic beverages now as they did before the war, taxation would increase the cost of the beverages by $150 per family.

Make People Happy.

"I have no desire," he said in addressing his shareholders, "to connect directly the price of beer with the unfortunate labor unrest now prevailing, but I do contend, as I told Mr. Lloyd George years ago, that you must avoid sullenness in a workman You must foster it, however, if you look upon the supply and cost of his beer as being of no consequence. During the last year we have opened several new licenses properties in large growing districts. Thus we continue our policy of fewer and better houses.

Sir William revealed that the beer being sold in England now does not contain as much alcohol as it did in 1914, but that the alcoholic content is being slowly increased.

Temperance and prohibition campaigns are also being discussed by the brewers and distillers as a factor in the decline of sales. They contend that prohibition was brought about in the United States by the apathy of the general public, and urge people here to "be on the alert" against reformers such as Viscount Astor, who is backing a proposal in Parliament for local option.

Moon Made of Ice He Says.

Professor Forbes, a European scientist of standing, has come forward saying that the moon is made of ice. His theory has, however, been contradicted by other eminent astronomers, who have advanced enough "proof" to cause a spirited controversy.

Collections for the Edinburgh Infirmary on "Remembrance Day" this year were only $15,000, which is $10,000 less than those of a year ago.

CINCINNATI CARS WANT TO SELL SUNDAY SIGHT-SEEING TICKETS

CINCINNATI, O.—Approval by the city council of a "Sunday sightseeing" ticket to sell for perhaps twenty-five cents is awaited by the Cincinnati Street Railway company. If such a ticket is approved it will make possible to Sunday visitors as many trips over all car routes on Sunday as they may desire—and all on the one ticket.

City transit corporation and other bus companies have abandoned the double deck bus for use through Cincinnati and its suburbs. Regardless of the type of double-deckers used, southern Ohio hills have proved too much for them. All bus lines are as a result equipped with regulation single deck busses.

Chihuhua, Mexico, long without an adequate water supply, is to have a modern water system.

Fife and Drum Bring Zest to G. A. R. Marchers as 5,000 Veterans Parade in Climax of Encampment

Over a rain-pelted route of a mile and a quarter, 5,000 veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic march in the great parade which climaxes the annual encampment of the Army, held this year at Des Moines, Ia. The average age of the marchers is 83. While the ranks of the G. A. R. are thinning rapidly, this year's encampment brought together the greatest number of veterans in five years.

Hornsby May Start Sherdel Against Yanks In Series Opener

Cards' Star Southpaw Pitcher Most Feared By Yankee Clubbers

Ruth & Co., Reputed to be Able to "Take" These Fast Ball Hurlers Like Alexander and Rhem But Indicate Decided Weakness Against Slow-ball Left Handers.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Bill Sherdel, left handed but able to live it down, quite possibly will pitch the opening game of the world series for the St. Louis Cardinals tomorrow instead of the elderly Alexander, original choice among those who do their guessing while you wait.

There was said today to have been an over night shift in sentiment toward Sherdel in the camp of the Cardinals, although no one in authority would confirm the report. The young man is worth a bet, provided the Cards are interested in winning the opening game, and, somehow, I cannot seem to shake off the impression that they are.

Of the twenty two winners since the start of the modern series in 1903, fifteen of them got away running by winning the first game. The percentage, moral and actual, is all in favor of the club that hits them first and explains at leisure, if at all.

Sherdel is the man the Yankees fear. They say they can "take" these fast ball pitchers like Alexander and Rhem something like seven days in every week and, as long as they feel that way about it, I don't see any particular sense in encouraging them. Every one knows that there are two ways to break the average Yankee back:

Fits Description.

Hit him firmly between the shoulders with a sledge hammer or feed him a slow-ball left hander with a wide curve. Sherdel fits that description like a cap on a freshman's head.

The "kick" in the Yankee lineup is centered around Ruth, Meusel, Gehrig and Lazerri and all of them are what is known as "free swingers." They don't choke the bat and snap at the ball; they try to gobble it whole and often do. But not with a great deal of success against slow ball left handers. If you don't believe me, ask our Mr. Ruth about Pruett.

Anyhow, the man who figures to be the big winner of the series should start the opening game, of course. He then can be brought back for the fourth game and, if he purports to have anything left, the seventh, if any. That will be Huggins' system with Herb Pennock, at least as far as the first and fourth games are concerned. Pennock is not the man to pitch three games in any series and get away with it.

Don't Fear Alex.

Alexander, old as he is, might be able to do it. Flint Rhem, with all his fine, young strength, could laugh it off, too. But the Yanks think they can smear this pair all over the premises and that collection of brooding athletes is difficult to convince, once it makes up its mind to a thing.

The chances are that Alexander and Rhem will have a hard time stopping the New York outfit just because it has kidded itself into believing that it has the "drop" on them. They might have everything, but the Yanks wouldn't believe it.

Conversely, it might so happen that Sherdel would have nothing and the dear, old Yanks wouldn't believe them, either. They have been told that the boy is due to slowball them silly—and silly it will be.

That the Cards' strategists have begun to suspect this state of affairs was indicated this morning when a man high in their counsels made a rather significant admission.

"Sherdel is more than a possibility for the first game," he said. The writer doesn't know why we shouldn't say it.

Wine 200 Years Old Served.

In Bremen, Germany, there is a Ratskeller that is famous among tourists. It has been in existence since the fourteenth century and for forty-two cents a glass of wine of the village of 1726 is still available though it tastes strongly of wood.

Hire Special to Transport Cards

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—In order to facilitate the transportation of their valuable collection of athletes between the second and third games of the world series, the St. Louis Cardinals have chartered a special train to carry the team from New York to St. Louis. The train will be an extra section of the American, one of the Pennsylvania railroad's crack twenty-four hour trains. It will leave New York at 6:05 o'clock Sunday night.

John A. Heydler, president of the National league; Sam Breadon, owner of the Cardinals, and Charles A. Stoneham, president of the New York Giants, will be on the train.

AKRON EAST TO SHOW LIGHT, FAST TEAM

Rely Upon Forward Pass For Big Gains

Rubber City Team, However, Can Play Straight Football Effectively, as Seen in 6-0 Victory Over Massillon; Regarded as Leading Contender for City Championship.

LOSING one by a single touchdown margin, winning one by the same narrow squeak, Akron East high school invades East Liverpool tomorrow for its third game of the season and confident of a victory, if reports from the Rubber City are to be relied upon.

Akron East is regarded as the leading contender for the city championship there and consequently its qualifications must be marked. Although light, the East team is fast and uses the forward pass as its chief offensive weapon. If Columbian park is dry tomorrow afternoon the visitors quite likely will depend upon an aerial attack as the chief method of gaining ground.

East can play straight football, however, when such a course is necessary. At Massillon last Saturday, the Scarlet and Gray was unable to use its passing attack because of a muddy field but, through line plunging, scored a 6-0 victory over the strong Massillon combine, figured as one of the best in this part of the state.

"Judge" Averitt, colored varsity end, will be the only regular out of the lineup when the "orientals" play here tomorrow. Averitt, who tore a ligament in his leg last Saturday, has been unable to practice all week.

Quarterback is Star.

Bernard "Squirt" Keeney, small but valiant quarterback of the East eleven, is possibly the biggest star, however, in the matter of individual attainments. He is a smart pilot, a consistent ground gainer when he elects to tote the ball himself and does all of the drop kicking and forward passing.

The East eleven is, for the greater part, a veteran outfit this year. Lettermen who will be seen in action here are Bell, left tackle; Crisp, left guard; Wilson, center; Bergey, captain and right guard; Keeney, quarterback; Coudriet, left half; Thomas, right half; and Johnson, fullback.

And, by the way, this fellow Morgan is a real speed merchant. Coach George Kidder accepts no man's word for this. He has seen him in action.

This occasion as Akron East's opener with Warren two weeks ago. East took the count, 6 to 0, despite the fact that the Rubber City combine registered twice as many first downs as the Trumbull countians. The touchdown was made on an intercepted pass. The heave was made from Keeney to Morgan. It went into the arms of a Warren back and the latter streaked down the field.

Tackled on Goal Line.

Strange as it may seem, Morgan, who was headed in the opposite direction, did an about-face and was first to tackle the Warren runner as he toppled over the goal line. The Warren man had, probably, from three to four seconds start on Morgan and had he five more yards to go, he would never have made that touchdown.

The Blue and White camp is a-glum over the loss of Holmes, fullback, but Coach Kidder is optimistic over the always present possibility of finding someone else.

In all probability, the Blue and White starting backfield will include Bromby, Walt Smith, Fullerton and Lincoln.

Davis is suffering from the effects of an injured ankle, and Van Dyne is nursing similar hurts.

In last night's workout Lineman Irwin was tried out on the third team backfield and appeared to have the "makings" of a ball toter. It is likely he will be given a chance at it before long. He starts well and appears to have speed and other qualifications.

McKee and Deems loom as the end selections for tomorrow, with Cordwin and English in reserve. The latter pair, however, will very likely get into the game before it is over.

R. Smith and Kinsey will be the tackles with Todd and Gamer on the Call Game at 3:30.

The game will be played at Columbian park and will start at 3:30.

A mixup in plans for conveyance of players to the park last Saturday caused the delay in starting for the Sebring game. The school orchestra was unable to go to the park and cancelled its conveyances. The truck operators who were to drive the team to the field also, labored under the impression that none of the machines were needed and failed to show up until Coach Kidder straightened out the tangle.

Every effort will be made to get the team into action promptly on starting time, Kidder announced today.

Yankees are Made Slight Favorites

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Although New York was crowded with out-of-town fans, here for the opening game of the world series between the Yankees and Cardinals tomorrow, there has been little betting on the outcome of the event in the hotel lobbies and on the streets. Most of the play has been made in Wall Street, which has quoted the Yankees a slight favorite, both for the opening game and for the series.

There seems to be only two things that cannot be had here: Reserved seats for the first three New York games and a first-class hotel accommodations without previous reservations having been made.

WOMEN'S GOLF NEARS FINALS

Four Survivors All New to Final Round Play.

By Robert E. Harlow.

MERION CRICKET CLUB, Oct. 1.—None of the four ladies who contested the semi-final round of the national golf championship today have ever held the title and as they are very evenly matched, today's games and the 36-hole final tomorrow should produce fine competition.

Miss Virginia Wilson, 20-year-old Chicago golfer, who defeated Miss Glenna Collett, the champion, in the third round, met Mrs. G. Henry Stetson, Philadelphia, in the upper half of the semi-finals and Mrs. Dwight Goss Jr., Short Hills, N. J., and met Mrs. Cortland Smith, Glen Ridge, N. J., in the lower half.

Miss Wilson is one of the younger players in the game. This is her third national championship and she is meeting in Mrs. Stetson a golfer who has had many years of experience in "big league" golf. Miss Wilson won the invitation tournament at Buffalo this year from a field which was very nearly as strong as the national.

Fight Results

AT NEW YORK—Tod Morgan, of Seattle, junior lightweight champion, won decision over Joe Glick, of Brooklyn, 15 rounds.

Hilario Martinez, of Spain, knocked out Harry Wallach, of New York, in the second round.

Young Harry Wills won from Bobby Robideau, four rounds.

Teddy Baldock, of England, knocked out Arthur De Champlaine, of Long Branch, in the first round.

Frankie Fink, of Texas, won from Al Tripoli, of Yonkers, ten rounds.

AT WEST NEW YORK, N. J.—Phil McGraw, of Detroit, won newspaper decision over Johnny Rocco, of New Rochelle, ten rounds.

AT MEMPHIS—Young Stribling, of Atlanta, won on technical knockout from Frankie Busch, of Norwich, Conn.

AT CLEVELAND—Tommy Freeman, of Cleveland, won newspaper decision over Georgie Levine, of New York, ten rounds.

AT McKEESPORT, Pa. — Tommy Crowley, Pittsburgh featherweight, defeated Eddie Bowen, Cleveland, in 10 rounds; Young Saylor, Charleroi, Pa., light heavyweight, outpointed Jack Katkish, of Lawrenceville, Pa., in 10 rounds; Tug Phillips, lightweight, of Charleroi, scored a technical knockout over K. O. Ferry, of McKeesport, in fifth round; Young Rudy, of Charleroi, received the referee's decision over Marty McHale, of McKeesport, eight rounds.

AT FORT THOMAS, Ky.—Jack Reynolds trimmed Young Gordini in 10 fast rounds.

Vic Ross gained decision over Lou Palmer in six rounds.

"Well, Fans, I'm Back-"

BACK around 1920 George Torporcer was playing semi-pro ball around New York city and state. Was playing with "specs" too, emulating Lee Meadows, and one or two others who have reached the heights with such a handicap.

But no one connected with the fast minor league or big league clubs in Toporcer's home section could see him. They lost interest in his work when they noticed that he wore glasses.

Then a St. Louis Cardinal scout looked him over. This scout had seen Lee Meadows in action, fielding, tossing them over the plate and signing his pay check and had noticed little difficulty in any of those operations due to his near sightedness. So he suggested the club bosses give George a trial. He originally signed to start with Syracuse, Card farm, but did not play there. He reported to the Cards in the spring of 1921 and that season broke into 22 games as utility man, playing second, short and third.

Then the Cards sent him to Syracuse and George was given some more experience although he broke into but 22 games—all at second.

The next year the St. Louis champs called him back and he has played a major portion of the season at some spot in the infield every year since. Not only that but he celebrated his arrival as a regular in 1922 by hitting .324 for the season and after a poor year in 1923 came back with a .313 average in 1924.

15,000 UNABLE TO GET SEATS

Scalpers Get Vast Number of Tickets, Says Rumor.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Infuriated subscribers for world series tickets, who paid for seats that are not available, hounded the Yankee business office today. More than 1,500 fans have been unable to secure tickets.

The ticket shortage gave rise to numerous rumors, chief among them one that a scandalous situation would be uncovered when speculators begin to unload—at high prices—the vast numbers of reserved seat tickets they were said to possess.

At the Yankee business office posters announced that all reserved seat tickets had been sold and that 38,000 grand stand and bleacher seats would be put on sale on the morning of games one, two and six, which are to be played in this city.

Ed Barrow, business manager, was too busy to discuss the situation.

A report that Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, arbiter of the baseball world, had been unable to obtain a sufficient allotment of seats, was denied by the judge, who is at the Hotel Roosevelt.

"I probably have not had all the tickets I want for the minor leagues—they are entitled to them, you know—or for other people throughout the country," said the judge, "but I think I have enough to cover the demand."

He was asked whether he had heard a report that thousands of tickets had fallen into the hands of speculators, he said:

"A certain percentage of tickets for the world series inevitably fall into the hands of the scalpers. There does not seem to be any way to prevent it."

CHESTER ELEVEN OPENS SUNDAY

VIN RICHARDS BECOMES "PRO"

Signs For Nation Tour Under Pyle's Banner.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Tennis fans, still dizzy from a season of upsets, the loss of the national singles championship to France, and invasion of Suzanne Lenglen, were given another shock today by the announcement that Vincent Richards, third ranking American star, had turned professional under the banner of Promotor C. C. Pyle, manager of Hlle. Lenglen, "Red" Grange and Mary K. Browne.

At a dinner given aboard the liner Paris last night in honor of Mlle. Lenglen, Pyle announced that Richards had joined his troupe and would appear in a nation-wide tour of exhibition matches. He introduced the young star as "the greatest male tennis player in the world."

Richards said he turned professional "in justice to his little daughter and his wife." Amateur tennis players do no obtain large sums of money, as generally believed, he said.

Richards, who had been regarded as William T. Tilden's logical successor as the king pin of American tennis and as America's hope to regain the singles championship from France, was the only member of the American team to reach the semi-finals in the national tournament this year. He had defeated Tilden, Dick Williams and other leading stars.

VERSATILITY IN YOST BACKS

Michigan Not Troubled by Lack of Specialists.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 1.—One of the most versatile back field combinations in Michigan football history is at the disposal of Coach Fielding H. Yost this year.

Punters, passers, line plungers, broken field runners, off-tackle line smashers, drop-kickers, place-kickers, players who excel in one or several of these arts are included in the host of backfield candidates.

At least one good kicker in the backfield with one or more among the linesmen in reserve, has been the policy of Coach Yost since he first inaugurated his system of coaching back in 1900. In accordance with this ost will have three veteran kickers to choose from when composing his backfield; Bennie Friedman, Jim Miller and Louie Gilbert. In addition to these, Frank Harrigan, the Grand Lakewood, O.; Paul Cook, Muskegon; Harold Greenwald, Chicago, and Dudley Black, Poland, O., are all past masters at the punting game and will be available for instant use if necessary.

Forward passers are again bountiful in the roster of Michigan backs this season. Capt. Friedman, will, of course, bear the burden of Michigan's passing attack this season, unless something unforseen interferes, while assisting him at the work will be George Rich, Bill Puckelwartz, Chicago; Louie Gilbert, Kalamazoo; Frank Harrington, Henry Totzke, Benton Harbor and Austin Hughes, Gary, Ind. Never before has such an array of Michigan pigskin tossers been assembled at once on Ferry Field and Michigan supporters will place much faith in the ability of these men to aid in the Walverine scoring attack.

In Molenda, Friedman, Cook, Rich, Stewart, Weber, Babcock, and Miller, Michigan has as sweet a running combination as any school in the big ten. "Big Bo" Molenda, the Detroit line smasher is all set for another season of line cracking and fans won't soon forget what he did to Navy, Ohio State and Minnesota last year. Not far behind him is Walter Weber, the Mt. Siemens line smasher who replaced Molenda in several games last year.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 81 Golf Champions.
"Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

Since it apparently is necessary for the wrists to describe a turning movement somewhere in the back swing, the question that bothers many players is where does this turning begin and how much of it is there? If you start the clubhead back directly along the ground, with the face kept square to the direction line for six or eight inches and the clubhead about even with the hands, the body will start almost immediately a turning movement to the right. When the clubhead has reached a point about half way back the forearms should have turned, naturally and without any attention from the player, so that the toe of the club points directly upward. This turning is almost imperceptible and takes place because the left arm is kept rather close to the body. You have then but to elevate the club upward, with the head held still, and you are in position.

RESERVE LINE IS WEAKENED

Cathcart, Veteran End, Is Declared Ineligible.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 1.—Western Reserve university's already weak line was given another jolt today when Tom Cathcart, veteran end, was declared ineligible on the eve of the pioneer's initial game with Baldwin-Wallace here Saturday afternoon. Cathcart will be replaced by Morris.

At the beginning of the season Coach Locke was faced with the task of getting someone to fill Tommy Morton's shoes at one of the tackles, when Morton left Reserve to attend Lafayette. Locke's only strong point on the line is the tackle position held by "Big" Bill West, all-Ohio choice in 1925.

One of three sophomores who will start Saturday's game is Jensen, who prepped at Toledo Libbey. At present he is used at one of the halves.

Ellsworth and Doll, experienced Case ends will be in the line-up when the Scientists play Akron university there Saturday. Ellsworth has made up his scholastic deficiencies, and Doll has recovered from injuries received in practice early in the season.

John Carroll will play in Grove City Saturday with an intact team.

Former Tiger Stars To be Seen In Action

Benedict, Johnson, Ferris, Comer, Mundy and Others of Like Caliber Signed by Manager Dalrymple for Opener With Salineville; Clash Starts at 4 o'clock.

THE Chester Valley Stars, the district's newest gridiron combine, will pry the lid off the independent season here Sunday afternoon in a game with Salineville at Smith Field, Chester.

The contest is scheduled to begin at 4 o'clock, the starting time being delayed on account of Sunday's world's series game in New York.

Manager Dalrymple has obtained the services of not a few notable stars who will serve with the Chesterites for the season.

Chief among them are Benedict, Midland, Pa., lad, a center who has had experience in University of Pittsburgh squads; Guy Johnson, of Toronto, former Washington and Jefferson collegian; Dave Ferris, of Toronto, former Toronto Tigers' quarterback; Fred Comer, ex-Toronto fullback and one of the outstanding semi-pro backfield men of the valley; "Goose" Mundy, of this city, who distinguished himself at an end position with the Toronto Tigers in recent years.

In addition to these notables, the Chester lineup will boast a large amount of exceptionally good local talent, including Manager Dalrymple, R. Cox, W. Morrow, P. Cebula, T. Springer, "Buck" Gerace, Herb Patton, Eddie Carriher, P. Tope, A. Roach, A. Brozak and "Chap" Finley.

BIG TEN TEAMS PLAY IN EAST

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 1.—Three Big Ten conference gridiron machines will invade the east this year, but New York will get to see one in action for the first time when Ohio State meets the Columbian Lion at the Polo grounds on October 16. Jack Wilce's proteges will be accorded the honor of the first invasion of the metropolis, and alumni from all over the east are planning to make the conference's debut a memorable one.

On the same day, Chicago will invade Philadelphia to do battle with Pennsylvania, while Michigan is the third stranger from out west, meeting the Navy at Baltimore on October 30. Illinois, another conference member, meets Pennsylvania, but the clash is slated for Urbana, Ill.

Ohio State's appearance is in return for the Blue and White's invasion of the new University stadium here last year. The Buckeyes came before the east's eye after this struggle in which they vanquished the easterners, 9-0.

Coach Wilce will have an experienced eleven to pit against Columbia next month. One hundred or more candidates answered the initial call, and with all but three regulars from the 1925 team back, indications point to a good season.

Aiding Wilce are Andy Oberlander, erstwhile Dartmouth luminary who will work on the backfield aspirants. Sam Williams, late of Iowa State, will take care of the general work, while Charley Snedden, a stellar guard on the 1916 Ohio State varsity which took the Big Ten title that year, will be back again.

The Buckeyes face a hard schedule this season, although they have an open date, the first time in many years. The lid will be pried off October 2, when Wittenberg will return to the schedule after an absence of 16 years. Ohio Wesleyan, State's oldest opponent, will be on the program for the following Saturday and then the Columbia event. Iowa comes here October 23; Chicago is met at Chicago, October 30; the next Saturday is open; Michigan here on November 13 for the Homecoming game, and Illinois follows, being set for Urbana on November 20.

"I Am After Money, Not More Fame" Says Suzanne, Ready for U. S. Play

Striking photo of Suzanne Lenglen, taken since her arrival in U. S., and Mary K. Browne, her first opponent.

Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, world's greatest tennis star, now in the United States as a professional for a series of exhibitions that will net her $110,000, states frankly that her trip is to be purely a business jaunt. She sees no reason, however, why one cannot play as well for money as for "sport."

CURFEW LAW MAKES IT HARD JOB TO TELL WHO'S WHO AMONG FLAPPERS

CHICAGO.—A method for distinguishing the "flapper" of high school age from her married sister, her mother and her grandmother was being sought by Chicago police today following renewed attempts to enforce the city's 25 year old "Curfew" law.

The ordinance, written into the city's law record when Chicago was only a thriving mid-western city, was revived recently at the instance of welfare workers and police heads in an effort to stamp out the alarming increase in the number of attacks on young girls. It was made effective following a period in which two girls, victims of morons' attacks, died and more than a score of others suffered injuries which physicians declared might cripple them for life.

And then the troubles of policemen on night beats began.

Immediately came complaints of the matrimen that with the prevailing modes of short skirts, rolled hose and bobbed hair for grandmother and granddaughter alike, they were unable to distinguish the "kids" from their elders. In the first week that the law was in operation, scores of young married women were hailed into police stations where they indignantly produced proof that they were over the "curfew" age.

Despite this, however, police declared that enforcement of the curfew regulations was bringing desired results. Under the terms of the law, girls under sixteen found on the streets unescorted after 10 p. m., are brought into police stations and held until their parents come for them.

During a bull fight at Grao, Valencia, recently, a youth, fired with the daring of the toreadors, jumped into the ring and attempted to play the bull with a cloak, the infuriated animal charging him and driving its horns through his chest.

HINTS BRIBERY IN HALL-MILLS MURDER QUIZ

Former State Trooper Says He Was Paid Large Sum.

SENSATION LOOMS

Henry L. Dickman Brings New Names Into Case.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Oct. 1.—Sensational revelations appeared imminent in the Hall-Mills case today as the result of statements made by Henry L. Dickman, former New Jersey state trooper and one of the investigators of the murder mystery, in 1923.

Dickman, according to Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson, has signed an affidavit for the state in which he admits he was paid a large amount of money and told to leave New Jersey.

Dickman brought several new names into the case, some of them involved in the alleged bribe, Smpson revealed, and named two others as eye-witnesses of the murder of the Rev. Edward Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills.

"His disclosures are so sensational that I cannot take the responsibility of making them public," the prosecutor said. "Investigators are already on the trail of some of the persons he named, however.

"He swore he was the last man working on the case and was paid a substantial sum of money to leave New Jersey."

Cast Wide Open.

"Dickman has broken the case wide open."

Dickman is expected by Simpson to displace Mrs. Jane Gibson, the "pig woman," as the star witness for the state. It is possible that the prosecution may abandon its plan for application tomorrow before Supreme Court Justice Parker and County Judge Cleary, for severance in the trials of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the murdered pastor, her brothers, Henry and Willie Stevens, and their cousin, Henry De La B. Carpender.

The revelations of Dickman are expected to have a most vital bearing on the state's plans for the trial of the four for the dual murders. In many details, it is said, his statements corroborate the story told by Mrs. Gibson.

Dickman is reported to have said he feared becoming insane if he did not "come across" and aid the prosecution. His statement, taken in Castle William, Governors Island, where he is held as an army prisoner, is care[illegible]

Immunity from prosecution has been promised Dickman by Senator Simpson. Dickman was reported as greatly relieved at having unburdened himself. He said he had been on the verge of a mental and nervous breakdown over his secrets.

From a source close to the prosecution it was learned that Dickman in his statement told of writing to a friend living in Middlesex county asking advice as to whether to surrender after he had accepted a huge bribe and left New Jersey.

The friend in reply told Dickman he was foolish to remain in hiding and urged him to return and make a "clean breast" and face the consequences.

Dickman's Statement.

Dickman's statement described his fight to San Francisco and spending the last of the money in days of penniless want. Dickman went to the Philippines and enlisted in the army, subsequently deserting. He was picked up and convicted of desertion. It was while he was serving his sentence in Alcatraz island, San Francisco bay, that he was discovered. A Jersey City detective, referred to by investigators as "Detective X," was sent to interview him but was unable to see him.

It was "Detective X" who interviewed Dickman at Governor's Island after the former state trooper was returned east at the request of Governor Moore. This was disclosed today by Senator Simpson.

Dickman told "Detective X" of receiving a large sum of money in bills in a New Brunswick hotel with the understanding he would "blow out of town." Dickman said he was given three days to leave.

Gorsline Denies Divorce Story.

Dickman's story will require three or four days in which to be checked up, the prosecutor said today. Of particular interest is his identification of a man and a woman as having been at the scene of the murders on the old Phillips farm, near the New Brunswick [illegible]ty line, four years ago. These persons are expected to be questioned today.

Dickman is said to have declared he worked for persons since arrested in connection with the case.

Denial was made today by Ralph V. Gorsline, former vestryman in Dr. Hall's church, that his wife is planning to seek divorce. Gorsline's admissions that he was with Miss Catherine Rastall, choir- singer, at the Phillips farm on the night of the murders place him among the leading state witnesses.

DEATH ROLL

Strauss Funeral Services.

Funeral services for Earl Strauss, 47 years old, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the home, 219 Washington street, in charge of Rev. Frank G. Fowler, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Burial will be made in Spring Grove cemetery.

September Rains Broke All Records Except in 1913

WOOSTER, O., Oct. 1.—September rainfall in Ohio broke all monthly records for the last 35 years, with the exception of 1913 when the disastrous flood occurred, according to figures announced today by the Ohio experiment station here.

For September the record shows 8.51 inches of rain, compared with 11.84 in 1913. The closest to this amount of precipitation was in 1911 when 6.53 inches fell.

Rainfall for the year still is short of the 35-year average of 31.37 inches—only 29.72 inches so far having fallen.

PENNEY STORE WILL OPEN NEW HOME SATURDAY

Company Moves to Leland Thompson Building.

NEW FIXTURES

Women's, Children's and Men's Apparel Featured.

New home of the J. C. Penney company, the world's largest department stores, in the recently-completed Leland Thompson building, East Fifth street and Crook alley, will be formally opened Saturday.

Removal from the old location in the Brookes building, West Fifth and Market streets, started last Monday, the entire week being required to place the establishment in readiness for the opening.

The store will occupy the entire building—basement, first and mezzanine floors — with a floor space of more than 13,000 square feet. Counters, show cases, racks and other fixtures are new, adding to the attractiveness of the interior.

The J. C. Penney store here was opened in September, 1923. Since then the business has increased to such a marked degree that the old home in the Brookes building proves too small. The new building will permit the carrying of larger stocks as well as additional lines of merchandise. The company has a 20-year lease on the building.

The J. C. Penney company operates 745 stores throughout the United States on a strictly cash [illegible] dren's read-to-wear clothing, millinery, dry goods, men's and boys' clothing and furnishings and footwear will be handled.

J. E. Hedenquist, who has been in charge of the East Liverpool store since its establishment, will continue as manager of the company in its new location.

POLAND FACES FRESH CRISIS

Pilsudski Calls Upon Parliament to Form Cabinet.

WARSAW, Oct. 1.—Marshal Pilsudski today was charged in parliament with the task of forming a new cabinet, following the failure of the Bartel ministry to obtain a vote of confidence on the budget question. He accepted, and immediately called a conference of political leaders.

The serious nature of the friction between the enemies and adherents of Marshal Pilsudski was indicated when several officers early today raided the bedroom of former Finance Minister Vichowski, leader of the opposition.

The ex-cabinet member was beaten into unconsciousness and a gas bomb was left in his room.

Assassins Riddle Deputy Sheriff's Body With Bullets

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Oct. 1.—Mystery surrounds the death here of Deputy Sheriff Reilly Hall, of Mingo county, whose body was riddled with bullets by assassins who ambushed the officer as he stepped from his house.

Police officials believe that Hall, who owned extensive farm properties in the Pigeon Creek section, may have been murdered by enemies he had made through his aggressive enforcement of the laws.

GIRL CHANNEL SWIMMER QUITS

DOVER, Eng., Sept. 1.—Miss Jane Darwin, the English girl who left Cape Griz-Nez at 3:22 o'clock yesterday afternoon in an attempt to swim the English channel, gave up the attempt at 7:53 this morning because of the coldness of the water.

She was three miles from Dover when she abandoned further efforts, having made little progress since midnight.

MAN IS NABBED AFTER POLICE WIN FOOT RACE

Carl Lahmers, Akron, Held on Worthless Check Count.

FLEES TO RIVER

Accused Taken to Summit County Metropolis.

Carl Lahmers, 28, Akron, charged with issuing a fraudulent check, was arrested at 5 o'clock last night after an exciting foot race along the river bank.

Armed with a warrant issued at Akron, Captain of Police Conley went to the Peter Milliron stables at the foot of Washington street to arrest Lahmers. He located his man and started to take him to the city jail with him, when Lahmers made a dash for liberty.

He dodged around the horse stalls in the barn and then raced toward the river bank with Conley at his heels. The policeman overtook the prisoner at the water's edge.

The warrant for Lahmers' arrest was signed by L. Ostroff, Akron. He is charged with having drawn a check on the Depositors Savings & Trust Company of Akron for $30 September 18. He was traced to thiss city through mail received in Akron.

Two Akron detectives arrived here this morning to take the prisoner back to the Summit county metropolis.

Alan Cobham Lands In London After 28,000-mile Flight

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Alan Cobham alighted on the Thames opposite the house of parliament at 2:15 this afternoon, completing his 28,000-mile flight from England to Australia and back.

A huge crowd lined the banks of the river and the bridges to cheer his arrival. The flyer was welcomed on the terrace of the common by cabinet [illegible] officials, members of the house of [illegible] as well as the [illegible] other prominent personages.

Cobham started his flight on June 30. His actual flying time was 320 hours.

Murderer Battles Guards on Way From Cell to Gallows

BUTTE, Mont., Oct. 1.—With the fury and strength of a maniac, Tony Vetters, convicted of the murder of three men in Butte last November, launched an attack on his wardens here early today when they came to take him from his cell to the gallows.

Vetters was finally subdued after tear gas was poured into his cell from all sides until he became unconscious. His legs and arms were then strapped as he lay on the floor, but upon being pushed between two guards on his way to the execution chamber he regained consciousness sufficiently to vehemently curse his guards, dying with a curse upon his lips.

Vetters dropped to his death at 12:28 and six minutes later was pronounced dead by jail officials.

"Artery Brushing" Is Newest Means To Rejuvenation

Dr. von Nemes Nagy.

REV. C. H. RANK ACCEPTS CALL

Madison Pastor Goes to Washington, Pa., Church.

Rev. C. Howard Rank, Ph. D., pastor of the Madison Presbyterian church, was granted a letter of dismissal from the Steubenville presbytery at a meeting in the Emmanuel Presbyterian church, [illegible] avenue, last evening. Rev. Mr. Rank has accepted a call to the Independence Presbyterian church at Washington, Pa.

Dr. Kinsey Stewart, pastor of the Yellow Creek Presbyterian church, was named moderator for the Madison church. Rev. A. C. Bonacci, who conducts the Faith Italian Mission, Wellsville, was received into membership, having been transferred from the Wheeling presbytery.

Rev. E. A. Walker was installed as pastor of the Emmanuel church. Rev. Frederic A. Dean, of the Second Presbyterian church, presided. Ministers taking part in the ceremony were Rev. Thomas Berger, of the Second Presbyterian church, Wellsville; Rev. Mr. Rank, of the Madison church, and Rev. J. Boyd York, of the Carrollton Presbyterian church.

Fall meeting of the presbytery will be held in the Jewett Presbyterian church on October 18.

Col. Williams Drowns

11 o'clock," Mrs. Williams said. "When he told me he was having a good time, I told him to stay and enjoy himself."

Mrs. Williams said she did not know with whom the colonel dined.

Colonel Williams was 48 years old and was born in New York. He had an excellent record as an officer in the marine corps.

Colonel Williams gained nation-wide notoriety at San Diego last spring when General Smedley Butler, his commanding officer, accused him of appearing in public in an intoxicated condition. Colonel William was found guilty by a court-martial, the aftermath of the famous "cocktail party" which was held at his home and at which General Butler was a guest.

Following this incident, Colonel Williams was sent to San Francisco, where he has been in charge of recruiting for the marine corps.

Investigation Ordered.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—An official investigation will be ordered by the navy department into the accidental death of Col. Alexander Williams, U. S. marine corps, who drove his automobile off the dock into San Francisco bay to his death.

The investigation will determine whether Col. William's death was "in line of duty."

Confirmation of Death.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Confirmation of the death by drowning of Col. Alexander Williams in San Francisco, was received by the U. S. marine corps here today.

A message apprising headquarters of the colonel's death stated that he was endeavoring to find a boat belonging to some friends along the docks when he made a wrong turn with his automobile and plunged into the water.

News of Williams' death was received with real regret among marine corps officers here, as he was a popular officer with a distinguished war record.

Former Attorney General Had Nothing to do With Approval of American Metals Company Case, Says Witness.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty had nothing to do with the approval of the attorney general office's of the 7,000,000 claim of Richard Merton, German financier, Senator Guy B. Goff, of West Virginia, testified today at the trial of Daugherty and former Alien Property Custodian Thomas W. Miller. Goff was assistant attorney general under Daugherty and approved the claim.

After identifying the claim papers bearing his signature, Goff emphatically declared that he had never spoken to Daugherty, the late Jesse Smith, Daugherty's close friend, or to the late John T. King, who received $441,000 for putting the claim through, regarding the claim.

"Was your approval of the American Metals company claim influenced by any other consideration than your own views?" Goff was asked.

"I was never influenced by Mr. Daugherty in my action with reference to the claim but only by my own judgment as I saw the facts as they were presented to me," Senator Goff replied.

The senator declared he never knew John T. King and "never had any conference or communication with him."

President Attends Harris-Sutherland Wedding in Capital

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Capital society and officialdom headed by President and Mrs. Coolidge, will mingle with luminaries of the sporting world this afternoon to witness the marriage of Stanley (Bucky) Harris, manager of the Washington ball club, to Elizabeth Sutherland, daughter of the alien property custodian, and formerly United States senator from West Virginia.

The ceremony will be performed at the home of the bride.

The sensational young player who twice piloted the Senators to the league championship and once to the world championship plans to take in the first two games of the world's series at New York preliminary to a six weeks' honeymoon in Europe.

Harris' age was given as 29; Miss Sutherland's as 21.

BRITISH MINE STRIKE BROKEN

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The last hope of the British coal mine strikers went glimmering today when a Central News dispatch from Ostend that the International Miners' federation, now in session there, had rejected the proposal of English mine leaders for an international coal strike.

With starvation staring them in the face, and cold weather rapidly approaching, the miners were going back to the pits in large numbers, their leaders being unable to stop them.

Two hundred thousand, or one fifth of the total number of miners, had returned to work today.

Train Wrecks Tractor; Four Unhurt.

YOUNGSTOWN, Oct. 1.—Four city employes narrowly escaped death here today when they jumped from a tractor used in road work just before it was struck by a Pennsylvania passenger train. The tractor was demolished.

"Fair and Warmer" Weather Promised For Title Game

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—"Fair and warmer" is promised by the weather man for the opening game of the world series tomorrow. Warm, balmy temperatures prevailed today and there was plenty of sunshine.

2 Killed, 2 Hurt When Fire Sweeps Home in Michigan

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Oct. 1.—Two children are dead here today and the mother and a third child are fighting for life as the result of fire which destroyed their home.

Mrs. Henry Cook and baby, Lillian Joyce, were saved from death when the mother leaped from a second story window with the baby in her arms.

The other children, Pearl, 8, and Henry, Jr., were cut off by the flames from rescuers.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Both the industrial and railroad stocks displayed a buoyant tone in the early trading today as a result of the improvement in the money market situation, the decline in call money to 5½ per cent, and refusal of the directors of the New York federal reserve bank to advance the rediscount rate.

Renewing its spectacular forward movement, General Motors advanced in good form to a new high record price of 163½. Good buying of United States Steel, Dupont, Allied Chemical and other industrial leaders represented largely the retreat of the bearish professionals who have been pounding the market in the last few weeks. Price gains in the bulk of these stocks were moderate, but the volume of trading showed a considerable increase over the previous sessions of the week.

An increase in the amount of money offered in the call loan market was taken to indicate the completion of the preparation for October settlements and the prompt return of corporation funds to the banks. New forward moves were started in a number of the railroad shares, under the lead of Union Pacific, in which strong "inside buying" was reported.

Warner Pictures A declined a few points when the president of the company denied that Famous Players were negotiating to purchase the assets of the company. Negotiations are under way, it is reported for the lease of the Vitaphone and other patents to Famous Players and Pathe. Public utility stocks were steady and coppers firm.

MILLIONS BET ON SERIES; 6-5 ODDS ON YANKS

Figures Will Prevail Until After First Game.

RESERVES SOLD

All-night Vigilants Will Line up at Stadium.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Heavy speculation in Wall Street on the outcome of the world series reached high tide today when it was announced that approximately $300,000 had been waged with the firm of W. L. Darnell & Company alone on the chances of the Yankees and Cardinals. With other Wall Street houses taking on all comers, it was estimated that the amount of money riding with the winner and loser had run into millions, with more on the way as the hour of the series opening tomorrow approaches on leaden feet.

The Yanks, in spite of an influx of St. Louis money, continued to rule steady favorites at odds of 6 to 5 and it seemed probable that these figures would prevail, at least until after tomorrow's premiere. There will be a hasty hedging of bets, however, and a consequent shifting of odds if the Cardinals win the first game.

Predict Crowd of 63,000.

World series games were supposed to have become a bromide in New York, yet there wasn't a reserve seat to be had today—except at speculators' prices—and with fair weather promised for tomorrow, a sell-out crowd of 63,000 seemed certain. All reserved seats for the first three New York games were disposed of days ago, according to a statement from the New York headquarters, but more than 30,000 general admission seats will be available each day when the gates are thrown open at 10 o'clock each morning.

Before nightfall tonight, the customary lines of all-night vigilants will begin to form at the stadium portals for the big game tomorrow.

For this game, too, the Yanks were quoted by Darnell's as the favorites largely because of the general expectation that Herb Pennock, star left hander, will pitch and the fact that the Cards will be operating in strange surroundings. The Cardinals were said to be wavering between Grove Cleveland Alexander, veteran right hander, and "Lefty" Bill Sherdel as their first game choice.

Hornsby Leads Team.

The odds of this game have remained steadily at 6 to 5 and today a bet of $3,000 to $2,500 on the Yanks was placed with Darnell's, indicating that the price might be a permanent one. Indeed, there seemed to be no breaking of the confidence in the Yanks, it being estimated that the odds on the series might go to 13 to 10 before tonight.

Much of the St. Louis money went down at odds of 3 to 1 that the Cards will not win the first two New York games and at 15 to 1 that they will not win four straight.

The Cardinals indulged in their final workout at the Stadium this morning and it was an impressive drill. Hornsby, Bottomley, Southworth, Bell and others smote resounding drives to distant acres and the punch and morale of the club, heightened by the death of Hornsby's mother, never was more in evidence than in the fielding practice.

Some of the Cards complained that they were bothered by the lights and shadows at the Stadium but their work didn't indicate as much. Hafey and Southworth alternated in playing the sun in left field and seemed to experience little difficulty with its rays.

The Yanks made ready to start their final drill shortly after lunch.

Hornsby was quiet but gave no other outward sign of his distress.

URUGUAY RIVER FLOODS CITIES

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 1. — Reports from the state of Rio Grande Del Sol that the Uruguay river is rising rapidly, and that already a large number of cities and towns are under water. Thousands of persons are said to have been driven from their homes by the floods and the state government is mobilizing relief forces.

Chicago Gold Coast to Pay High For Army-Navy Football Tickets

Five Hundred "Auction" Seats Expected to Bring From $2,000 to $2,500 Apiece From Wealthy Grid Patrons.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—This city's Armour's, Swifts and other rich families of the "Gold Coast" along the castle-studded banks of Lake Michigan will pay from $2,000 to $2,500 to witness the Army-Navy football tilt in Soldier's Field here November 27.

The game, played for the first time away from the East, will be the mid-west's outstanding sporting social event.

Faced by the tremendous cost of bringing the entire membership of the United States military academies at West Point and Annapolis here to witness the game, Chicagoans in charge of arrangements for the gridiron clash have announced that 500 boxes in the stadium will be auctioned off to society leaders.

Each box contains six sets and all are located in desirable sections.

Thirty boxes are to be used for the army and navy and a special box has been reserved for President and Mrs. Coolidge, who may attend.

Prices for regular tickets to the game have not yet been announced but the choice seats will cost in the neighborhood of $10 each.

If the sale of boxes to Chicago's wealthy brings a large sum, it is possible some seats as low as $5 each will be offered the public.

The agreement under which the historic game will be played in Chicago provides that not only must Chicago transport the two teams and the school's membership here but in addition 40,000 tickets are alloted to each academy. These tickets are to be sold by the academies to their alumni and the proceeds will enrich the schools' athletic funds.

Forty thousand tickets will be offered the public in addition to the select box seats.

It is estaimated that more than $300,000 will be needed to entertain the teams and the middies and cadets in Chicago. They will be brought here on special trains and assigned quarters in the city's most luxuriant hotels.

Congressmen, who in past years have received several tickets each for the Army-Navy game, will be disappointed this fall. The committee in charge has announced that congressmen and their friends will not be permitted to buy any large amount of the much-sought pasteboards.

At least ten per cent of the tickets, it is already admitted, will fall into the hands of speculators and it is predicted that ordinary tickets calling for space in the far-flung sections will bring as high as $50 each on the day of the game.

To prevent ticket scalpers from operating to any great extent a careful check is to be made of the names of all individuals, making reservations for a large number of seats.

POLICE BATTLE DRUG PEDDLING ALONG RIVIERA

French Coast is Called "Snowbird's Paradise."

TRAFFIC GROWS

Heroin Popular, But Cocaine and Opium are Obtainable.

NICE, FRANCE—The Riviera is a "Snowbird's Paradise." Police officials admit that drug peddling and drug taking on the French Riviera is more prevalent than ever but claim they are powerless to stop it.

"If we arrested every person caught selling drugs there would not be enough prisons to hold them," a plain clothes drug-squad detective told International News Service. "We have to be content with confiscating their stock in trade and escorting them across the frontier. Of course if he is a vendor in a big way we do put him in the 'violin.'"

A drug distributor at Cannes, one of the higher ups, arrested recently, was almost immediately released on 10,000 francs bail, about the amount of his profits for one week in the season.

"Snow" For $1.50.

At any hour of the day or night between October 15 and April 15, sufficient "snow" can be obtained for a dollar and a half for two or three sniffs, which furnishes the habitual drug taker at least an hour of sweet dreams.

The winter season is the golden harvest for drug sellers, their chief customers being society women who take to drugs in order to calm nerves that have been shattered by long hours of high stake gambling, dancing a surfeit of expensive champagne of poor quality.

Heroin is the drug chiefly sold although cocaine and opium may be obtained in large quantities by persons prepared to pay the high prices demanded.

All these drugs are easily brought from Marseilles, at which port they arrive clandestinely from the Orient. Large quantities are also smuggled in from Italy by way of the numerous mule paths which traverse the mountains.

The chief Riviera distributors are said to be an Egpytian and his daughter living in a superb apartment, who are received in the best society of the city.

Many Sub-Agents.

They have sub-agents scattered in all the principal tourist centers who, in turn, distribute to the actual sellers. These consist of managers and attendants of high class bars, women attendants of ladies cloak rooms in theatres, casinos and luxury hotels, and last, but not least, the "camelots" who during the season sell opera glasses, pearl necklaces, carpets, scarves and postcards on the various Riviera promenades.

A small shop in a good section of Nice, ostensibly dealing in Japanese fancy goods and articles appealing particularly to women, also sells clandestinely. The Japanese articles are only camouflage. The real business is the sale of opium pipes and opium. In a large room at the rear of the shop tastefully decorated, both men and women are welcome to indulge in a pipe or two.

Slayer of Mother Plans New Life When She Is Freed

Dorothy Ellingson, Who Has Served Year of 10-year Sentence, Writes to Her Father.

SAN FRANCISCO.—The girl in whom psychologists of the nation were interested a year or more ago—whose elemental mind baffled science, and whose punishment was a problem—has at last answered the riddle herself.

Dorothy Ellingson, at the close of her first year in San Quentin for the murder of her mother, has broken silence.

In an amazing letter to her father she answers the questions that were once on everybody's lips:

"What should they do with a 16-year-old girl who kills her own mother?

"Will imprisonment soften or harden her?

"Are there any illusions left, any thoughts of repentance, any hope for the future?"

Facing nine more years of her 10-year term for manslaughter, which may be reduced to six for good behavior, the "jazz girl" of the past seems to be making a struggle to live down the trampled vintage of her youth.

Here is her letter, received the other day by her father, Joseph Ellingson, San Francisco tailor, who with each stitch that he takes still dreams of the titian-haired child coming back to him a free woman:

"San Quentin Penitentiary, Cal.
"No. 41209.
"My Dearest Father:

"I sincerely hope, father, dear, that I may have the opportunity of showing you some day that I realize the many mistakes that I have made and the unhappy hours that I have caused you and my loved ones to suffer; but I am going to pay it all back to you in showing you that in the declining path of your life that you still have somebody that will come to you and care for you in that time when you most need one's love.

"I received your most welcome letter the other day, and also the lovely records, and father dear, I want to thank you so much for them because you have no idea of the many hours of enjoyment that I, and others, receive from them.

"Although we are confined here within four gray walls we are able to spend many happy hours enjoying music from the radio and our phonographs, and also spend time reading many fine books.

"Now, father, perhaps you think today that I am rather sentimental, but I am just expressing my heart's desire to show you that I want to do right, live right and think right by the grace of God.

"Hope you have seen Earl (her brother) lately, and that he and his wife are well.

"Hoping that I may hear from you soon, because every letter brings extreme pleasure to me, I will say goodbye, with bushels of love.

As ever, your daughter,
"DOROTHY.

"P. S.—I would like to take up some line of study by which I would be in a position when I leave here to step out and earn a good living for myself. I wish you would give it some serious thought, and when I write or I see you again you can give me some advice on this line.—D."

MOTHER DIDN'T KNOW HER SON AFTER 30 YEARS, BUT FATHER DID

"I'm rather tired driving, and would like to know if I could obtain lodging for the night," inquired a stranger at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Walters, who reside on a farm near Coleman, on the Erie railroad, northwest of Lisbon.

"Well, we're pretty filled up at this time with our own family, and I don't think we can help you," Mrs. Walters replied.

Walters was at the barn, and the stranger went to him, and the same inquiry was made. Walters looked at the stranger.

"You're my son, Ed," the elder Walters said. "I know that nose."

Then the two men went to a farm farm adjoining where a brother of Edward Walters resides.

"Want to sell some wheat?" the brother was asked.

"No! Just have enough for our own needs," he replied.

Then the brother stared at the stranger. "You're Ed." he exclaimed.

"Well, I guess we'll find room for you," the father said to the son whom he had not seen for 30 years.

Edward Walters, who resides in Oregon, drove back east to see the home folks. He did not advise his parents he was coming.

"I just wanted to drop in on them," he said.

Assessors Use Airplanes.

In Connecticut tax assessors are using with good effect, photographs of interior lands, to help in their assessments. In one county the tax list recorded 1551 barns, garages and sheds but when the air photographers had finished their task it was found there were 2,902 such buildings in that area with the result that the tax list increased in value more than $10,000,000.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How to Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water rich after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

New Deer Hunting Rule in New York State After Jan. 1

ALBANY, N. Y.—The conservation commission announced today that no special license will be needed to hunt deer in New York state.

The legislature of 1926 passed a bill which would require a new form of license to hunt deer, but this new law does not go into effect until the first of next year.

England Recovers Lens Fame.

England is again taking its leadership in production of optical lenses. From 1848 to 1880 England led the world in the manufacture of the eyesight aids, but lost this supremacy to Germany and France by the time of the World War. Due to the war, however, research was again instituted and today England has taken its place as a leader in the field again. Now nine tons of optical glass are being produced each month, or enough to supply its needs even for the finest lenses.

Town of 1,000 B. C. Found.

In Germany there has been discovered in the Federsee marshes of Upper Swabia a town that was fortified and inhabited in 1000 B. C. The town was palisaded with pine tree, 50,000 trunks having been found. Other evidences of civilization also were found.

Welcoming back the vest pocket

Crisp Autumn breezes lure the vest from its long retirement, as the world prepares to go indoors. How will you greet the return of your vest—so indispensable for the social function and the office once more "down to business"?

Why not wear with it a modern pocket watch? A bulky, over-ornamented timepiece may injure your appearance more than you yourself may ever realize.

Our showing includes the finest movements, in cases of distinctive character designed by Wadsworth—the acknowledged style leaders in the dress of fine watches. We'll gladly assist you in choosing the one styled for your personality.

OHIO CRUSADE AGAINST SIN IN POLITICS

Organize Drive to Purge State of Lawlessness.

CRIME IS HIT

Political Protectors to Get no Mercy in Two Probes.

CLEVELAND, O.—Two units of that organized crime concern known as the underworld are now facing the exterminating fire of crusaders in Ohio.

In Canton, where Don R. Mellett, vice-fighting publisher went down to his death while making an expose of conditions, a well-organized drive against crime and its political protectors is underway.

In Steubenville, an industrial center of about 30,000 population, a ministerial association is carrying on a determined fight to purge that thriving little city of crime.

Both investigations are being aimed at alleged political sinners.

Steubenville and Canton, both known for years in the Buckeye state as two small, yet highly important links, in that chain of crime which connects the east with the middle west, have long been 'white elephants' on the hands of law enforcement officers.

Steubenville, in the past years, has been the scene of many bloody encounters between federal and state officers and bootleggers.

A few years ago a bitter Klan and anti-Klan spirit expressed itself in the form of murerous bullets during a Ku Klux Klan parade.

Canton officials admit they have had more than their share of unsolved murders.

The vice-fighters in both cities have succeeded in ousting their police chiefs.

Seranus A. Lengel, former head of the Canton police, and Blaine D. Carter, erstwhile chief of the Steubenville force, have been relieved of their official titles.

Lengel is staging a fierce legal battle for reinstatement.

Carter is reported to have left Steubenville.

Mayor John S. H. Patton, of Steubenville, has also had his official crown lifted.

Several Canton policemen have been fired, as well as two members of the civil service commission.

Threats of death have indirectly reached the ears of Attorney W. R. Alban, counsel for the Steubenville ministers, and Charles E. Morris, publisher of the Canton Daily News, who filled the vacancy caused by the murder of Mellett.

Both men have emphatically declared that they will "carry on" until righteousness reigns again."

Since the murder of Mellett and the activity of the Steubenville ministers, several anti-vice drives have cropped out in other Ohio cities and in surrounding states.

Federal investigators working under the direction of U. S. Attorney A. E. Bernsteen, with headquarters here, are believed to be amassing evidence against a whiskey and narcotic smuggling branch of the organized chain in Pittsburgh, Toledo, Detroit and Chicago.

No Glory in Future of England, Says "Gloomy Dean"

William Ralph Inge, C. V. O., D. D.

The Very Reverend William R. Inge, usually referred to as England's "Gloomy Dean," lives strictly up to his sobriquet in his latest book which pictures England fast declining as a world power, with few friends and little to expect of America.

DURALUMIN TROLLEY CARS MADE IN CLEVELAND TO CUT COSTS

CLEVELAND.—A street car constructed of duralumin—possessing greater resistance than steel yet with one-third less weight—has been manufactured here and will be introduced to the transportation world soon.

The car is fashioned throughout of the alloy with the exception of wheel, axles, springs and sills. It is expected to inaugurate a new era in electric railway construction.

Not only does this new mode of transportation afford greater safety to passengers but it cuts the weight of a single unit from 42,000 pounds to 32,000 pounds. This means a diminution of power, necessary to operate it, of approximately 15 per cent.

The allow used in constructing duralumin cars contains an admixture of 4.5 per cent copper; 0.75 per cent magnesium and 1 per cent manganese. It is fabricated by extrusion instead of by rolling, as in the manipulation of steel.

The allow is heated to a jelly-like mass, then rammed through dies formshaping. Instead of trimming with immense shears, as is done with steel, a power saw is employed.

'MANTRAP' A-1 PICTURE PLAY

Sinclair Lewis' Story Wins Favor at Ceramic.

Hailed as a "different" picture of the great outdoors, "Mantrap," which opened a three day engagement at the Ceramic theatre, last evening, furnishes something distinctly novel in pictures.

"Mantrap" is a powerful love story which ripples with the humor and satire of its distinguished author, Sinclair Lewis, who will be remembered for "Main Street," "Babbitt" and "Arrowsmith."

Tired of Women!

It is the tale of a summer camping trip taken by Percy Marmont, a young New York lawyer, who is tired of listening to woman clients asking for divorces; and a stocking manufacturer, Eugene Pallette, who proves to be nothing but a grand "Babbitt" at large on a campaign trip.

Of course, Marmont doesn't get away from women, love triangles or martial infelicity by going to the Canadian woods. Instead he finds himself drawn into a domestic love situation as one of the principal characters.

Clara Bow Magnificent.

Caira Pow is the girl, nad she is nothing short of magnificent. The part was simply cut out for her from start to finish, and how she does walk away with it! As a manicurist in a Minneapolis barber shop, who unexpectedly finds herself married and living in a hum-drum Canadian trading post, Clara has the best role of her career.

Ernest Torrence, on whom everyone has come to depend for sure-fire entertainment, has a splendid part as "Joe Easter," the post trader, who makes his first trip to a big city in 15 years. It is a part replete with both humor and drama.

"Mantrap's" powerful conclusion is drawn against the spectacular background provided by a forest fire. The direction is ably handled by Victor Fleming.

Tea Trousers In Vogue.

London women of fashion have taken to wearing "tea trousers," similar to the pantalets worn by women several generations ago, but without the lacy frills, and designed to be worn without skirts. They are made in colors and are worn with highly colored coats.

Brigandage is growing and becoming a menace in many parts of China.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

WOMEN'S CHICKEN CALLING CONTESTS REPLACE MEN'S HOG CALLING FEATS

DES MOINES, Ia.—Not to be outdone by their menfolk, who have been taking the limelight lately by entering hog-calling contests, the women of Iowa's rural sections are now staging chicken-calling contests for themselves.

Where recently the powe-e-e-e call of the pork yodelers reigned alone, there now may be heard the soprano-like "chick, chick, chick" of the farmer's better halves.

The gentle but until recently obscure art of calling hogs has come to the front in the midwest by leaps and bounds in the last few weeks. The series of contests, wherein aspirants strained their vocal cords and disturbed the peace of all within a mile, was capped when an Omaha radio station staged such a match over the air.

Fred Patzel, of Madison, Neb., laid claim to the world's championship in hog-calling. Immediately he was challenged from many sections. About this time the state fair association here staged a contest. Patzel didn't enter, but he was on hand at the Omaha contest, where he successfully defended his title and also took $700 in prizes. Patzel's cries—sweet music to the ears of hungry porkers—far outdistanced those of all competitors, both as to volume and technique.

PANHANDLE OIL FIELD IS SAVED BY TEXAS ORDER

Congestion Relieved by Use of Earthen Tankage.

PUMP 350 WELLS

Production Jumps to Nearly 150,000 Barrels Daily.

AMARILLO, Texas, — Saved from the threatening oil congestion and consequent shutdown of scores of wells by the order of the Texas railroad commission allowing use of earthen tankage, the Texas Panhandle oil field is entering the greatest development play of its history.

With production already above the 120,000 barrel mark, an output of 150,000 barrels daily is expected within the next 30 days and the total probably will reach 200,000 bafrrels before next summer it is believed.

Approximately 50 per cent of the drilling activity in all Texas now is concentrated in the Panhandle West Texas area, with the number of drilling operations steadily increasing.

There now are close to 350 producing wells in the Panhandle area, Hutchinson county accounting for more than 290 of these, Gray country between 40 and 50, Wheeler 8 and Potter one.

Operations Increase

Operations have increased approximately 100 within the last three weeks in the area. Not including completed wells there no ware 676 wells in some stage from location to just before coming on production in the Panhadle area.

Nineteen counties are included in the number receiving a drill play. The bulk of the drilling naturally is in the five producing counties, Hutchinson county now having 443 located or drilling wells; Gray 104; Carson 39 and Wheeler 26.

In the other counties where the wildcat rigs are seeking the oil stas, Moore county has 13 tests going; Hartley, 10; Roberts, 8; Collingsworth and Hepmhill, six each; Potter five; Ochiltree, four; Sherman, three; Hansford and Dallam, two each; and Donley, Lipscomb, Childress, Randall and Armstrong, one each.

The lease play launched by the Panhandle activity includes at least 30 counties, spilling over into western Oklahoma, the Oklahoma Panhandle, New Mexico and even southeastern Colorado.

Mounting steadily toward the greatest production of any field in America, until the beginning of September the Panhandle constantly was menaced by the failure of the madly hurrying pipelines and storage to keep pace with the ever increasing flood of oil.

Shut Down Threatened

Finally, at the close of August, the oil congestion situation was so acute that scores of wells were threatened with shutdowns. The Texas railroad commission then stepped in and saved the ray by ruling that properly constructed earthen tankage might be used.

This order virtually saves the small companies and independent operators in the Panhandle from enormous losses, as it enables them to build their own storage, develop their leases and hold their oil until they can command just the right outlets and prices, it is pointed out.

The order was hailed as one of the greatest encouragements to development yet seen in the Panhandle field.

Announcement of the first trunkline from the field, another badly needed improvement also is speeding the drill play.

Prairie Pipeline company will have completed by February an eight inch trunkline from King's county to Ringling, Oklahoma, capable of carrying 40,000 barrels daily maximum capacity.

The line is expected to be the first of a series of trunklines from the monster field, connecting with the interior network system and also with the lines leading to the gulf coast.

Quality of Oil.

The Panhandle oil varies from 36 to about 45 gravity. Much of it contains large percentages of sulphur, which make it extremely difficult for the average refinery to handle, although plant expecially built for the crude can refine it efficiently and economically.

The Panhandle crude also has the troublesome property of "freezing" or congealing, in cold weather turning in a vicious, tarry mass when the thermometer drops to around 50 degrees or below.

Refineries in the field itself, and a chemical solution of the congealing problem in the trunkline transportation are expected to eliminate the "freezing" difficulty.

In addition to the enormous oil area which is about 20 by 30 miles in the Huntchinson field, chief producing area, there are approximately 1,000 square miles of gas territory proven up.

Life of the oil fields is placed at 12 to 20 years more. The "peak" of climax of production cannot possibly come at least a year more, it is generally believed.

PUNCH AND JUDY, ZOO ZEBRAS, SERVE AS CARRIAGE HORSES FOR PARK POLICE

SAN FRANCISCO. — One of the strange sights to be seen in Golden Gate Park these days is a pair of zebras in front of a cart like carriage horses.

The zebras are "Punch" and "Judy," and they were born in the far off African veldt.

Some time ago Superintendent Belding of the park decided that "Punch" and "Judy" were doing too much loafing. They needed some exercise, he thought.

So he called upon George Merchant of the park mounted police and told George to break 'em in to harness.

The task has always been considered impossible but somehow or other George did it.

As a result "Punch" and "Judy" are the first zebras on record to be driven before a cart. They passed their first test with high honors even though they did jerk the wagon a little bit.

However, "Punch" and "Judy" improved with practice and today they are doing their "stuff" pulling a pony cart in the children's playground.

Officer Merchant accomplished the seemingly impossible by means of kindness—kindness and firm discipline.

First he accustomed the little zebras to his presence. Then he tried the bit and reins, walking behind them on foot.

When they had learned the pull of a bridle he put them in front of a cart. By dint of patience and perseverance Merchant got "Punch" and "Judy" so that they performed almost like carriage horses. Their pace, however, is a rare combination of trot and scamper.

A camera with lens nearly six feet in diameter was made recently in Berlin.

French Return to Umbrellas.

As a result of the Prince of Wales' visit to Paris, umbrellas are becoming more popular again. In the days when French dandies wore elegant raiment the umbrella was extremely popular as part of a man's equipment, but they fell into comparative disuse during the war. The prince carries an umbrella in fair or stormy weather as a rule and the many photographs showing him with one are responsible for the revival of the vogue.

The secretary of the Leystonshire Lawn Tennis club of England sprays the legs of girl players as protection against insect bites.

Line up Five Cars in Your Mind— How Can You Mistake the Chrysler "50"?

The Chrysler plan of Quality Standardization differs from, and is superior to, ordinary manufacturing practice and methods, because it demands fixed and inflexible quality standards which enforce the same scrupulously close limits —the same rigid rule of engineering exactness — the same absolute accuracy and precision of alignment and assemblage—in the measurement, the machining and the manufacturing of every part, practice and process in four lines of Chrysler cars—"50", "60","70" and Imperial "80"—so that each individual car shall be the Supreme Value in its own class.

With only four other cars of large production in the four-cylinder field, it is exceedingly easy to recognize the outstanding values of the Chrysler "50" and decide which car to buy.

Lining up the five cars side by side in your own mind, you will be startled by the contrast between them—and especially by the contrast between the Chrysler "50" and all the others.

In point of size, seating room, beauty of design, beauty of finish and power, the Chrysler "50" stands out so unmistakably that you recognize the price at once as far and away the greatest offering ever made in four-cylinder cars.

It will continue to yield a sustained speed of 50 miles and more per hour, 5 to 25 miles in 8 seconds, and 25 miles to the gallon—for months and for years, as the result of Chrysler's plan of Quality Standardization.

At last it is possible for you to make a convincing and conclusive comparison of values —studying the comfort, appearance and performance factors of the Chrysler "50" in comparison with everything else offered—and satisfy yourself almost at a glance in which car you should invest your money.

Examine and ride in the new Chrysler "50" and you will not consider any other car in its price class.

Women's Lives

are relieved of a great hygienic handicap in this way. Positive protection—discards like tissue

THERE is now a new way in woman's hygiene. A way scientific and exquisite that ends the uncertainty of old-time "sanitary pads."

It is called "KOTEX." Eight in every 10 better-class women have adopted it.

You wear sheer frocks and gowns without a second thought, any time, anywhere. You meet every day, every business or social demand unhandicapped.

NO LAUNDRY

✓ Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads, it banishes danger of mishaps.

Deodorizes, too. And thus ends ALL fear of offending.

You obtain it at drug or department stores simply by saying "KOTEX." Women thus ask for it without hesitancy. Costs only a few cents for a package of 12.

SUPREME COURT FACING HEAVY FALL DOCKET

Daugherty Case is Among Those to be Considered.

LIQUOR SUITS.

World War Litigation Floods Calendar for Session.

WASHINGTON.—The final phases of two of the most bitterly contested court actions growing out of the famous Daugherty and Fall senatorial investigations of 1924 will be reached in the United States Supreme Court in its long session beginning October 2.

The court is confronted by one of the heaviest dockets in years, including a test of the removal of the power of the president, many demands for interpretation of the liquor laws and cases growing out of the World War which involve huge sums of money.

Mal Daugherty, brother of former Attorney-General Harry S. Daugherty, is making his last stand in the high court against the efforts of the Brookhart senate committee to force him to produce confidential records of the Midland National bank of Washington Court House, Ohio.

Daugherty's Case.

Met by Daugherty's stubborn refusal to divulge the records the committee preferred charges of contempt against the senate. Daugherty's attorney will ask the highest court to rule that the power of a senatorial investigating committee does not permit it to enter the vaults of a bank to secure evidence which it believes will involve a cabinet officer.

The fight of Edward L. Doheny, California oil magnate, to prevent the government cancellation of valuable oil leases in the Elk Hills naval reserve will be among the first big cases to be argued. After winning a partial victory in the district court, the government won everything it sought in the circuit court of appeals.

The court will be called upon to decide whether the $100,000 Doheny advanced to Fall was a bribe, as contended by the government, or a loan, as maintained by Dohney.

Prohibition Cases.

Two of the most important prohibition cases involve the validity of the limitation of prescription liquor, brought by Dr. Samuel W. Lambert, of New York, and the constitutionality of laws providing for the seizure and sale of automobiles used in liquor running.

President Coolidge's power to remove a postmaster before his term has expired is called into question by Frank S. Myers, former postmaster of Portland, Oregon. Myers raises the question of whether a man appointed by the president with confirmation of the senate can be removed without the senate's consent.

Many cases growing out of the World war on the court's calendar. Five thousand German dye patents and trade marks are involved in the government's suit against the Chemical Foundation.

German Property Cases.

A score of law suits involve the seizure of German-owned property during the war. In one case the Atlas Line Steamship company is seeking to recover for the seizure of vessels, which it purchased from the German owned Hamburg American line five days before war was declared. More than $50,000,000 is involved in suits growing out of the seizure of ships.

Two state syndicalism laws—California and Michigan—are called into question in the court in the cases of Charlotte Anita Whitney and C. E. Ruthenberg.

Important decisions are expected to result from two suits attacking the zoning ordinances of Minneapolis and Los Angeles. The theatrical world is watching the case of Max Hart against the B. F. Keith Vaudeville Exchange, in which he charges the Keith and Orpheum circuits have combined to control "big time" vaudeville booking in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

Rattan trunks are popular in Europe, but are said to be too light for the strain of travel in this country.

Is your appetite gone?

REMEMBER, how it used to be when you could hardly wait for mealtime? And then, sit down and eat several helpings of everything—enjoy every morsel and get up from the table feeling satisfied with the World, happy with everybody and ready for anything?

But what a difference in living when even the sight and smell of food sickens you! Never hungry—no matter how tempting the food is—nothing tasting right. And then, after nibbling at a few bites, feeling worse than ever.

Oh, life is hardly worth living this way. And yet, all in the World the matter with you is that you are starving for rich, red blood. And it is acknowledged everywhere that S. S. S. helps Nature build these healthy red-blood-cells by the millions!

All you need to do to get back that wonderful appetite is to build rich, red-blood-cells with S. S. S. It's simple. Just try it, like thousands are doing every day. See for yourself what S. S. S. will do.

S. S. S. means blood with a punch—brimful of new life and energy. Get your S. S. S. at any good druggist. The larger size is more economical.

STATE GAME LAWS TO BE ENFORCED

Stringent orders have been issued to deputy state game wardens relative to the enforcement of the game laws now that the hunting season has been officially opened.

During the past year a large number of arrests were made in various parts of the state with the result that the more fines were levied than in other years.

Reports of violations made to the office of the state fish and game bureau will be turned over to the deputy wardens for investigation.

INSTITUTE WILL BE ARRANGED

Members of the executive committee of the Hancock County Teachers association will meet Saturday morning at New Cumberland.

At this session plans will be completed for the annual county institute to be held during the winter.

Superintendent A. D. Osborne and Principal N. F. Evarts will attend the meeting. The latter is president of the association.

COMMISSIONERS TO DRAW JURORS

Names of citizens who will serve as jurors for the coming year will be placed in the jury wheel next week by jury commissioners H. H. Robb and J. L. Mayhew when they meet at New Cumberland.

Members of the grand and petit jurors will be picked at the same time to serve during the November term of the Hancock county circuit court.

REV. SCHRADER TO ATTEND MEET

Rev. J. W. Schrader, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, will leave Monday for Carnegie, Pa., where he will attend the annual conference.

The sessions will continue for one week. Two lay delegates from the local church will attend the closing sessions.

EVANGELIST WILL SPEAK TONIGHT

Rev. Oscar Hudson, of Kansas City, Mo., will preach tonight at the services in the Church of the Nazarene where he has been conducting evangelistic meetings for the past two weeks.

The meetings were scheduled to close last night. The evangelist may remain over until Sunday.

Pre-Communion Services.

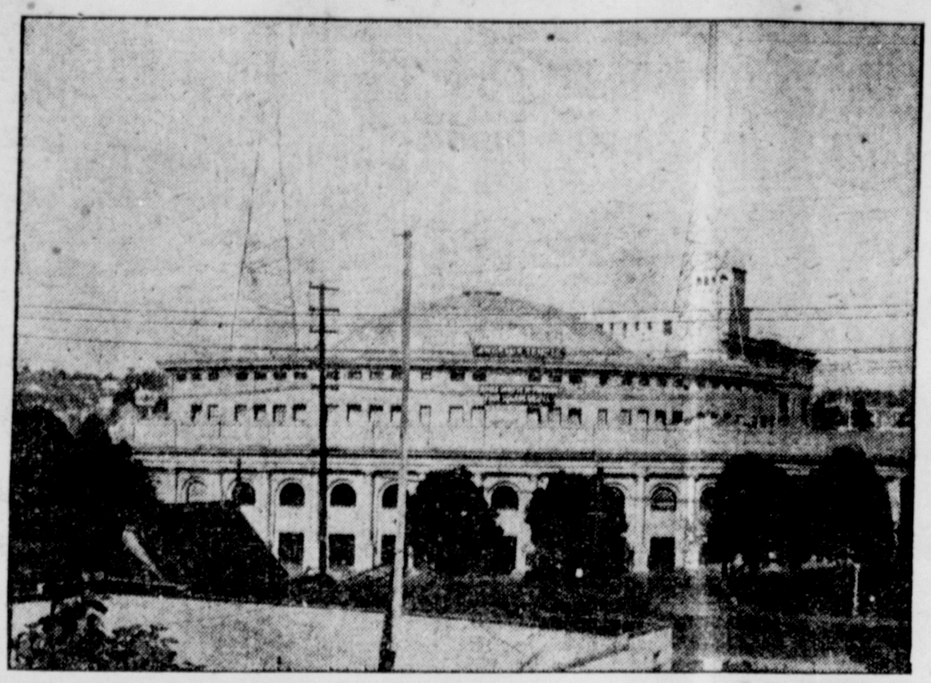
Pre-communion services will be held this evening in the First Presbyterian church. Communion services will be held Sunday.

Many Attend Convention.

Number of local young people attended the opening session of the Hancock County Sunday school association last night in the Holliday's Cove Presbyterian church.

Buenos Aires is to have a new six-story department store.

Thousands of Angelus Temple Worshippers Are Loyal As Aimee Semple McPherson Faces Court Action



Angelus Temple, Los Angeles.

The great temple built by the followers of Aimee Semple McPherson, Los Angeles' spectacular feminine evangelest, seats some 5,000 and is filled to overflowing regularly. Most of the many more who count themselves as her faithful are loyal to Mrs. McPherson in her troubles with the Los Angeles courts.

Japan Girls Protested.

Japan's new code for protecting its young girls from informal marriage alliances gives them definite rights as a result of which the "Madame Butterfly" is apt to pass from the picture. Under the new code foreign men may not make these informal alliances and suddenly abandon the girls without expecting to be called to account. Compensation is now allowed the girl who has been promised marriage and then abandoned.

Chinese In Siam Astir.

Chinese in Siam have suddenly awakened to the fact that their children who are being brought up there are ignorant of Chinese reading, writing and customs. Consequently Chinese schools are being established there to remedy the situation. Wealthy Chinese are fostering the move though without encouragement from the Siam government. The Chinese comprise one-fourth the population of Siam.

REFINERS ETHYL GASOLINE — Knocks out that knock

To learn what Refiners Ethyl Gasoline will do make this test today

TAKE the old bus and drive to the nearest Refiners Filling Station. (If your car is full of carbon, so much the better.)

Drain out your present gas and fill your tank with Refiners Ethyl Gasoline.

Then notice the difference!

No labored "knocking" when you crawl in traffic

No labored "knocking" when you take a hill on high.

Instead you will find a noticeable increase in pulling power, faster pick-up, less gear-shifting and greater driving satisfaction.

For Refiners Ethyl Gasoline not only stops the annoying and harmful "knock." It turns carbon—the cause of "knocking"—into an agency of service. In fact, the more carbon you have, the better this magic fuel works.

Refiners Ethyl Gasoline has no substitute; nothing is comparable to it. It is automotive science's latest contribution to motoring satisfaction and as such ranks with balloon tires and four-wheel brakes. The first tankful will prove its magic qualities. Fill your tank today.

LITTEN MOTOR SALES COMPANY
EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO.

NOTICE: Dilution of Refiners Ethyl Gasoline with other fuels decreases its effectiveness. Therefore it is important to drain your tank before filling it with Refiners Ethyl Gasoline for the first time — and to use Refiners Ethyl Gasoline exclusively thereafter. Remember also that no motor fuel will "grind valves." While Refiners Ethyl Gasoline makes carbon an agency of service, you must keep your valves in good condition.

Stop the "knock" with Refiners Ethyl Gasoline and turn carbon into power

GLITTER

By Katharine Brush

Yvonne, without any visible effort, made a dozen blase collegians her slaves.

BOOK THREE—VIII.

"Mean it? I—" He choked, and speechless, bent to press his lips to the hollow of her throat that showed where the fur curved away in gleaming wings. "You're so wonderful," he cried brokenly. "You're meat and wine, do you know it? I love everything about you. Your eyes. They're the gray cloud, and wise. I'm afraid sometimes, your eyes know so many things. And your marvelous hair, and your skin—so soft, Yvonne—baby skin. And that dimple in one cheek without any in the other—lopsided, it fascinates me. And I love the way you catch your lower lip with your teeth when you're thinking hard about something. And you're just tall enough—just right, Yvonne! That's what I kept thinking the first time I saw you. So right. Everything about you is just exactly what it ought to be. And your voice—I hear it often in the night, or think I do. I'm crazy about it, it's so different. Deep, and a little bit husky, as though you'd have to give a little cough in a minute, only that minute never quite comes. Remember the night I met you, and we went for a ride, and you sang? I could never describe how I felt. I wanted to cry and yell, and yet I didn't want to do anything but keep still and listen. And yearn. I—I just yearned for something terribly, all the while you were singing. I didn't know what it was, but I knew I wanted it so, I thought I'd go mad if I didn't get it. Now I know what it was that I wanted always, Yvonne. It was you" . . .

She said nothing; only pressed a little tigher against him in token that she heard, and was glad in hearing. Presently he spoke again:

"I like to think of you in places where you'll probably never be. In a splendid palace, on a throne carved out of jewels. Or barefooted on a tropical beach with flowers around your hair . . . that hair! If I were a painter I'd want to paint you sitting on a rock, combing it with a golden comb, like the Lorelei." He paused, speculating. "Not so bad to have the girl you loved an actress, would it be? Because then you might see her in some of the costumes and against some of the backgrounds you like to imagine for her. Do you know, Yvonne, I've thought several times you're probably an actress."

"Why? What make you think that?"

"It's logical. Somebody'd surely capitalize on beauty like that." He chuckled, in amusement and perfect content. "Just imagine loving anybody as I love you, and not knowing one thing about them except that they're the only person in the world!"

"Shall I tell you now, then?"

"I don't give a damn if you never tell me! No, tell me something else. Tell me—" He laughed into her laughing eyes. "You little witch, you know how doggone well what I want to hear—"

She obeyed, soft-voiced and instantly grave. "I love you."

And his heart echoed it, and found it overwhelming. "She loves me. Me. All that loveliness, for me." . . . Before the thought he bowed his head as before a thing divine, and kissed her hands, and whispered, "Jesus." Not in blasphemy, but in gratitude. And he felt that all the days of his life had marched to this day, an army with banners; that all days thereafter would date from it, as the birthday of happiness.

IX.

They lunched in a wayside tea room, a merry little place, all sunlight, and cretonne, and yellow china, and canary birds in cages. And, because there were others at tables quite near, they talked like acquaintances rather than lovers, hiding the things that glowed in their eyes. They talked of California, and the University, and New York. . . . "I've moved," Yvonne remarked, "I'm not living on Park avenue any more. I moved yesterday." She gave him a new address, somewhere in the East Sixties, and he jotted it down with a fountain pen on the back of a tailor's bill. "As soon as I've graduated," he told her, "you'll move again, and don't you forget it!" And he smiled his twisted adoring smile, and she smiled back . . . drawnly . . .

Later she said, "That girl we saw—Eunice something, didn't you say her name was?—tell me about her."

"Now why? I don't want to talk about her on a day like this, for heaven's sake!"

"Don't you—care about her, Jock Hamill?"

"Good God, no!"

"She cares about you."

Jock dropped his fork and leaned back, registering indignation. "She what?"

Yvonne nodded. She does. I could tell. The way she looked at you when we passed. And the way she looked at me. . . . Women know all about one another, my dear. I understood her."

"Say!" Jock snorted. "Well, you're wrong for once, honey. Eunice Hathaway doesn't care about anything in God's world except herself and—glitter."

Yvonne repeated the word meditatively. "That's your pet word, isn't it? I've heard you use it a hundred times."

"I'm for it," Jock declared. "It's expressive. Hard and bright and cold. Glitter. Just the sound of it! Things that shine and don't give any warmth. Things that attract your eyes at first and after that tire them till you have to look away. It's the one best word for the twentieth centtury—this generation 'in seven letters, horizontal.'"

There was a silence, then Yvonne said slowly, "I told you once it was the one best word for me. Yvonne Mountford 'in seven letters, horizontal.'"

"Yes, and you were a sweet little liar," Jock informed her with the utmost complaisance.

X.

When luncheon was over they drove again, and the end of a half hour brought them onto a road that ran along near the ocean. They could hear its murmurous chant from over beyond a sand dune at their right, and occasionally, when the dune dipped low, they could glimpse an atom of its bright blue-green. Presently Yvonne called a halt. "Stop, Michael! Stop right here!"

The great machine slid to tranquility by the roadside, and Jock and Yvonne got out. "Come on," she said, taking his hand. "I want to look at this. The sea always pulls me—God knows why—I ought to hate it, really—"

They mounted the sloping bank, rounded the corner of a line of bathhouses, and emerged onto the incomparable loneliness of a summer resort in mid-winter. A long crescent of pale sand, bordered by cottages, green ones, brown ones, with singuar names on shingles over their worn front steps. Bide-a-Wee, Happy Days, Sans Souci—names like that. Windows boarded up, or showing yellowing newspapers behind the panes. Porch railings where, in season, bathing suits flapped perpetually and young folk sat and swung their bare tan legs—deserted now. There was something pathetic, ineffably forlorn, about those cottages squatting in the February sun. . . . "They look so broken hearted," Yvonne said. . . . And before the cottages, sea, that wallowed sluggishly as a summer sea, and whined, and crept in lace-edged scallops up the beach.

Eggs Dropped 1,200 Feet O. K.

As a means of testing the packing of eggs, a crate full of eggs packed in regulation crates was allowed to fall from a plane 1,200 feet in the air, but not an egg was broken. A parachute was used in this test, but a crate dropped 110 feet without a parachute sustained the impact so well that only nine of 30 dozen were broken.

HELP YOURSELF TO HEALTH

W. K. Kellogg

Worn and weary—but not from work

ONLY a few months ago he was feeling fine. A full desk meant nothing more than a full day—a challenge which he eagerly accepted. Life was worth living then. . . . But now . . . now he seemed eternally tired, lifeless, exhausted. His head was dull and achy. Work was a frightful bore. Life was barren of interest. Where would it all end? . . .

In the work-a-day world there are thousands of men and women who suffer from constipation. They try this and that, forever seeking relief and seldom finding it. Yet there is sure, permanent relief from this disease—Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

As Kellogg's ALL-BRAN journeys through the system its fiber remains unchanged. It remains a bulk food, as doctors call it. Because of its bulk it sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It stimulates the flow of digestive juices. It absorbs and carries moisture into the intestine and prompts it to natural, healthy action.

If eaten regularly, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring permanent relief, or your grocer will refund the purchase price. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Its delightful nutty flavor makes it good as a cereal. Serve with milk or cream alone or with fresh or preserved fruit; with other cereals; use in soups, cook in hot cereals, or in the recipes given on every package.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the original ALL-BRAN—a 100% bran product. That is why doctors recommend it. Your grocer sells it. Get a package today. Aso served in all hotels and restaurants.

ILLINOIS PARK SAVES MOUND BUILDERS' HOME

144-acre Tract With Earth Works Will be Preserved.

TOURISTS' MECCA

State Road Being Built to Make Site Accessible.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—All possible speed will be used in beautifying the 144 acres comprising the Cahokia Mound Park in Southern Illinois and in completing the second state bond issue road to this park. Contracts for work on the park have been let and the ground will be broken up and seeded.

The Mounds will not be disturbed.

The Great Cahokia Mound, or "Monks Mound," is easily the largest prehistorical artificial earth work in the United States and is to the "Mound Builders" what the Great Pyramids were to the Pharoahs of Egypt.

Dimensions of Mound.

The dimensions of Monks Mound are: base, north and south, 990 feet; east and west 721 feet; height 99 feet. It covers 16 acres and is estimated to contain 84,000,000 cubic feet of earth. It has been figured that it would take 2,400 builders working 10 hours every day for two years to complete this mound.

The mound won its name because in 1804 the order of Trappist Monks built a mission there. The name Cahokia comes from the tribe of Indians LaSalle met in 1681. In addition to this mound there are 45 smaller ones scattered about.

The Cahokia mounds, scientists say, are identical with structures which the Spaniards found the Aztecs using in Mexico City for religious ceremonies in the early part of the sixteenth century.

Age Not Known.

Just when the mounds were built has never been determined. It is believed, however, their construction antedated the arrival of the white man by several centuries.

It has never been agreed upon by archaeologists as to who built the mounds. Some believe they were constructed by Aztecs who wandered north, others thinking that the relics found in the mounds indicate greater culture than that possessed by the Indians wound when Columbus discovered America.

Appropriation was made by the Illinois assembly so that this heritage might be preserved.

Among the 15,000 who, clad only in light running costume, participated in the last rush to the new diamond field at Elandsputte, Africa, were 120 women.

TO REGULATE THE BOWELS

Nothing Better Than Old Reliable "VINCO" To Put Bowels To Work

The best evidence of the merit of "VINCO" Herb Tablets is the fact that millions of boxes have been sold although it is now being advertised for the first time.

Good health, good looks and good feeling go together. No man or woman can enjoy life with a sour, sick, bloated stomach, a torpid liver or constipation of the bowels. "VINCO" may prove to be just what you need to put your stomach, liver and bowels to work and make you well again.

Lay aside nasty salts, dangerous calomel or harsh physics. Get a 25c box of harmless, sensible "VINCO." Take a tablet tonight! Feel fine tomorrow! Do a double day's work! Keep looking and feeling young! Do a kindness by telling others about "VINCO."

Not a drop of dope or harmful drugs in "VINCO." Made of herbs, roots and barks. Does not gripe or sicken. Guaranteed to bring relief. Especially recommended for elderly folks or in chronic obstinate constipation where ordinary laxatives fail.

You Pay Double Fare!

—when you use "500 MILE OIL" instead of STERLING 1000 Mile Oil

Ordinary motor oil has to be changed every five hundred miles to insure safety. This means that to run 1000 miles a purchase of two lots of oil must be made.

However, if you use Sterling Oil, which costs no more than ordinary oil, you can travel twice as far without change of oil.

Why then pay double fare when one fare will do?

In servicing Sterling Oil, we realize that we will sell our customers less oil but we are convinced that the extra mileage and economy of Sterling Oil will bring us many new customers which will more than offset our less frequent sales.

Get the Sterling habit and save half the money you usually spend for oil.

Stop and get our little booklet "Smashing the 500 mile barrier" — it's free.

SLAP IN FACE CAUSED REVOLT OF RIFF TRIBES

Spanish General's Insult to Abd El Krim Recalled.

LEADER EXILED

Vanquished Chieftain Tells Story of Incarceration.

PARIS.—When General Silvestro, Spanish commander in Moroco, slapped Ebd El Krim in the face and threw him in prison in 1920, he made of a former friend of Spain a bitter enemy and was indirectly responsible for the Riffian revolt against the power of Spain which continued from 1921 to 1926.

That is Abd El Krim's explanation of his hatred of Spain and the reason for his bitter fight against Spanish authority in the Riff country, according to the Echo de Paris.

The vanquished Riffian leader, now on his way to a life of exile in Reunion Island, told his story to a correspondent of the Echo de Paris in Targuist, shortly after his surrender.

"Until 1921," Abd El Krim declared, "my famil was faithfully and loyally allied to Spain. My father, who exercised great influence on behalf of Spain and counselled my brother and me to collaborate with Spain.

Offers Services.

"My brother had studied at the School of Mines in Madrid. I spent four years in the University Karaouine at Fez. When I returned from Fez I met many Sapnish officers who, because I knew their language, suggested that I offer my services to the Spanish headquarters at Melilla or Teutan.

"I went to Melilla and soon won the confidence of several military chiefs, particularly General Jordana, General Berenguer and Colonel Morales. I became private secretary of the latter who was in charge of the service of pacific conquest of the Riff country.

"I devoted myself completely to the service of Spain. At first simple interpreter I became the confident of Colonel Morales, who followed out the methods of colonization I indicated. I was given important missions and I brought to Colonel Morales many tribal chiefs who submitted without combat.

"I was given to understand that I would be recompensed for my services when the entire Riff country was pacified. I have a letter from the Spanish commander in chief promising me the post of caliphat of the Sultan at Tetuan for the entire Spanish zone. It was the highest honor I could hope for.

"Unfortunately a Spaniard arrived who prevented the carrying out of the policy of peaceful penetration—General Silvestre.

"Magnificent and courageous soldier and very impetuous, he was not the diplomat the circumstances demanded. He insisted on conquest by force just when the policy of diplomatic conquest was bearing fruit.

"Jealous of the success of General Berenguer, who entered Chechaouen triumphantly in 1920, he wanted some glory for himself. He was finally given the governorship of Melilla and the conduct of operations in that sector.

"I continued with him the good relations I had with his predecessor. I was received by him several times and took many tribal chiefs and notables to him.

"During a long conversation I exposed to him the fallacy of using force when he could gain the same ends by diplomacy.

Suggests Compromise.

Since he was about to begin military action against a fraction of my tribe I proposed to bring before him the caid of the dissident faction with whom I said I was sure he could arrange matters by the payment of probably 100,000 pesetas. It was a smaller sum than that used to buy off other rebel chiefs."

At the mention of such a sum, according to Abd El Krim, General Silvestre jumped from his chair, called the Riffian a liar and a thief, accused him planning to keep the money himself, and, to add injury to insult, advanced and slapped the late Riff chieftain.

"Blood spurted from my face," says Abd El Krim, "and I was knocked to the floor. Besides myself with rage I got up, wiped my face, held my bloody hand toward Heaven and cried out: 'You will find out what it costs to strike an Ouriagel,'

"Scarcely had I pronounced the words when officers entered the room and on the command of the general, arrested me and put me in prison.

Ten Months In Jail.

"All my friendship for Spain deserted me. Out of a faithful collaborator Silvestre had made in one fatal minute an everlasting enemy.

"I passed ten months in the prison of Caballerisas, my hate growing daily. I swore to myself that the Spaniards would never colonize our country. I lived with one idea in mind—to escape and rally my tribesmen against such incompetent people.

"Attempts of my family to have me released were futile. I owe my release to a Spanish officer who aided me to escape during the winter of 1920-21.

"My oath against General Silvestre was realized soon, although I did not intervene directly. Silvestre committed suicide on July 22, 1921, on the plains of Annual, responsible for the most humiliating defeat a Colonial army ever suffered."

COURT RULINGS HANDED DOWN

Judge Spence Passes on Number of Civil Actions.

A demurrer has been sustained, to which the plaintiffs have filed exceptions in the case of Charles H. Stahl against Salem lodge No. 571, Loyal Order of Moose. This is an appeal action carried higher from a Justice of the Peace court in Salem.

In the action of Jack Blasto against S. J. Baxter for $801.84 for refusal to carry out a contract, a motion filed in this case has been overruled.

Demurrer of the plaintiff Emily D. Howell and Ethel H. Gilbert against Martin V. Howell, for forfeiture of life estate and money, to the answer of Martin V. Howell has been sustained.

A motion to the defendants answer has been overruled, and exceptions granted in the case of O. R. Peterman against William Gardner, wherein $1,000 is claimed to be due on a contract.

Leave to the defendants to file an answer at once has been granted by the court in the case of A. Shrader's Sons, Inc., against J. Schwab and others, an action in attachment.

In two damage actions totaling $7,885 against the Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction Co., the defendant corporation has been granted leave to file its answer in each case by Oct. 23rd. In one of these actions Pietro Viola has sued to recover $2,885 as damages as a result of a car of the defendants striking one of the plaintiffs, and in the second case, Samuel Maravantano, a passenger in the Viola car, who claims to have been injured seeks $5,000 damages.

Leave to file its answer by Oct. 23rd has also been granted the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., defendant in a $10,568.17 damage action filed against it by Jonas Peppel.

Foreclosure of mortgage has been ordered by the court in the case of the McKay Carriage Co., against George A. Anderson and others.

A motion has been sustained in the case of Walter B. Hill as trustee in bankruptcy of Theo Kouvallis, a bankrupt against George Kouvallis. In this case the recovery of property is sought under a court order.

The petition has been dismissed at the costs of the plaintiff and without prejudice in the case of the Metropolitan Savings Bank Trust Co., of Pittsburgh, Pa., against the Coll Preserving Co., of East Palestine. This action, which was filed March 9, 1925, was for the recovery of a claim of $14,000 and interest.

Demurrer to the petition on the grounds of misjoiner has been sustained by the court in the case of the state of Ohio on relation of C. C. Crabbe as attorney general as on behalf of Columbiana county in an action pending in court against George B. Williams, former clerk of courts. In this case the recovery of $877.50 is sought for retaining fees.

Under the federal naturalization laws the clerk of courts is authorized to retain certain naturaiization court fees, but under the state laws the money is taken away from him, and on this question hangs this lawsuit.

Demurrer has been overruled in the case of Jennie V. Imbrie against Adolph Joseph and William Erlanger, Jr., an action filed in court to recover $2,000 damage to real estate, and filed July 9 last year. The defendants have taken their exceptions.

In the case of the same plaintiff against May Morley Bryan and others, wherein $2,667 damage is sought, a motion in this action has been sustained and a demurrer overruled.

A motion filed in the case of the Line Material company against the Adamant Porcelain company of East Liverpool has been overruled.

Demurrer has been sustained and a motion overruled in the case of Nellie Gearpeck against Elmer S. Day, carried on appeal from a lower court to common pleas.

Leave has been granted the plaintiff to file an amended petition by Oct. 9 in the case of Wayne Durst against Harry F. Hurd.

The case of Garland Jones against the Pittsburgh Rubber Corporation which was an action to recover money and for the appointment of a receiver has been dismissed at the costs of the plaintiff. The action was filed Sept. 11, 1925.

After the demurrer of the defendant was overruled, and exceptions taken in the case of Martin V. Howell against Viola Blake, alias Nellie Reay, the defendant was granted leave until Oct. 16 to file an answer to the petition.

The motion of the defendant has been sustained in the case of Virginia Hamilton against the Chester Construction company, to which the plaintiff has filed exceptions. In this case the plaintiff seeks $10,000 damages from the defendant.

SURVEYOR FILES ROAD REPORT

The option of either correcting pavements they built to conform to specifications or accept deductions is to be given contractors, according to an official communication addressed to the county commissioners by County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk. This communication followed the receipt of a report by Mr. Kirk of a record of a profilometer reading taken on five roads recently completed in this county.

Records were taken on the Wellsville-Salineville road, upon which Lewis & Copeland of Lima were contractors.

Wellsville-East Liverpool road, George B. Patterson, Wellsville, contractor.

West Eighth street, East Liverpool, Allison & Harris, contractors, and Tatgenhorst & McLaughlin sub-contractors.

Shadyside avenue, East Liverpool and Liverpool township, Allison & Harris contractors with the Ohio Willite Surfacing & Paving company, surfacing contractor.

OPPOSE GRANTING OF BUS FRANCHISE

Opposition to the granting of a state franchise to the Minerva-Canton Bus company has been filed with the public utilities commission by the Canton-East Liverpool Coach company, operating between Canton and East Liverpool.

The new interest has proposed to operate a bus line between Minerva and Salineville by extension of their present route from Minerva through Augusta and Summitville to Salineville.

It is the contention of the Canton-East Liverpool Coach company that it holds prior rights, and that it now operates between Minerva and Kensington in Columbiana county.

AKRON WOMAN COMES OUT FOR PLANT JUICE

Terrible Pain in Side And Other Suffering From Stomach Reported Relieved for Mrs. Alice Tubb.

"I tell you I have never seen or heard of a medicine so worthy of a place in every home as Dillingham's Plant Juice," declares Mrs. Alice Tubb, 1384 Newton St., Akron, O.

"For weeks I had suffered with a mysterious pain in my side that caused me perfect torture and sleepless nights. But when Plant Juice was recommended to me and I began taking the medicine all this pain disappeared and I was restored to splendid health.

"For years I had suffered with attacks of indigestion, but Plant Juice just stopped all stomach distress I had after meals, and now I get real nourishment from my food and feel fine in every way. I tell you, Plant Juice is certainly entitled to a lot of praise for what it has done for me and I can't say half enough for it."

Mrs. Alice Tubb

Plant Juice is sold in East Liverpool by Mathews Original Cut Rate, 129 W. Sixth street, and by all leading druggists everywhere.

Says Bachelors Die Sooner.

Professor George Robertson of Edinburgh Royal College of Physicians, has declared that men between the ages of twenty-five and thirty-five, who continue to be bachelors, die on the average four years sooner than married men. Likewise they run "three times the risk of becoming insane."

MULKEY'S IODINE SALT

It is a pity that so many mothers of beautiful young daughters seem to disregard the warnings issued by health authorities in regard to Goiter. In this region any girl between 12 and 18 years of age is a probable victim of this malady. It may not only affect the mental and physical condition, but also reach the disfiguring stage.

The preventive for simple Goiter is MULKEY'S IODINE SALT, sold at grocery stores everywhere, and used the same as ordinary free-running salt. This is the brand officially approved. Read the certificate on label.

CONWAY TEARLE IN SCREEN HIT

Scores Triumph in "Sporting Lover" at American.

Conway Tearle, that most popular of screen lovers, scores a most palpable personal triumph in "The Sporting Lover," which was shown for the first time last night at the American theatre.

Tearle is a most gratifying actor at all times, and in "The Sporting Lover" he goes beyond himself. Barbara Bedford, who plays opposite him, shows stellar quilities in her delineation of a most difficult role. Miss Bedford has been appearing to better advantage in every new picture that she makes. We predict that she will be elevated to stardom within a very short period. Tearle is seen in the role of Captain Terance Connaughton, an Irish officer home from the front to check up on the castle and the many mortgages he has inherited from his ancestors. When he returns to the trenches he is wounded after a number of other occurrences and taken to a field hospital where he meets Lady Gwendolyn Cavens.

A romance develops, but is suddenly halted when an air raid demolishes the hospital and separates the lovers. After the war they are brought together again, with an army officer who had defrauded Connaughton having succeeded Connaughton in the lady's affenctions. Then the story really starts. What happens after that is too good to divulge in advance, hence our advice to those who appreciate thorough entertainment to see "The Sporting Lover" for themselves.

"The Sporting Lover" is an extraordinarily fast moving melodrama. It whizzes right along and leaves one with a feeling of having been well entertained. Alan Hale directed "The Sporting Lover." It is a First National picture.
